City Council met for its regular meeting Tuesday, June 1, with the following members present: Mayor Irvin St. Clair, Lindal Murray, Frank Ellis and Albert Field, city manager.

Frank Ellis made a motion, which was seconded by Lindal Murray, to reimburse Rev. Walter Bartholf $49.28 for expenses incurred in connection with the park board and park activities. The council also recommended that Mrs. John Watson and Rev. Walter Bartholf be reappointed to the park board.

Rev. Bartholf gave a report on future park developments and reported the need for sprinkler pipe which is to be purchased.

The general HUD grant funds were discussed and procedures involved.

A garbage ordinance was finalized. Frank Ellis made the motion to pass the ordinance and Lindal Murray seconded the

AT MEETING--23 Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma communities in the area served by Southwestern Public Service Company, including Muleshoe, joined the electric company in manning a booth at the American Apparel Manufacturers Trade Show and Convention in Dallas recently. Each community offered a free plant site to any interested apparel manufacturer and distributed information about their community at the trade show. Representing Muleshoe at the joint venture were, left to right, Don Harmon, Jerry Hutton and Lindal L. Murray.

Three members of the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation, Don Harmon, Lindal Murray and Jerry Hutton, have returned from a meeting of the National Apparel Manufacturers Association in Dallas. The trio reported a lot of good contacts made during their visit and expressed optimism about obtaining industry for Muleshoe.

The men were part of a group from 23 other cities, including two in Oklahoma and four in New Mexico who had booth space at the convention and offered a free five acre plant site to someone wishing to move their operation to the South Plains or expand by adding additional plant space in this area.

They said each town represented had contributed $75 for the booth space and each was offering the choice five acre plant site to interested manufacturers. He said interested manufacturers would have been required to begin operation within 18 months and employ a minimum of 75 employees.

Market Hall in Dallas was buzzing, said Hutton, with representatives from the 23 cities contacting the manufacturers in an attempt to interest them in locating in this area. He added that several good contacts were made and although the contacts made did not prove to be immediately fruitful, Hutton said they expect response to follow-up letters which will be sent from Southwestern Public Service Company, who sponsored the booth at Dallas. Hutton commented that he felt they did as much or more with mobile home manufacturers who were contacted the first two days the trio was in Dallas. He told the manufacturers about an ideal location in Muleshoe for such a manufacturing company, and existing buildings which would be ideal for building such large items as the mobile homes.

One advantage Muleshoe and this area would have, according to Hutton, is the savings which would be obtained in shipping the completed mobile homes. As it costs approximately 50 cents a mile to transport the mobile homes to the sale point, it costs approximately $350 for shipping from Dallas, and would only cost around $100 from Muleshoe.

Twelve manufacturing companies were contacted by telephone by the Muleshoe group, who told them of the advantages of locating in this area. Although none of the group contacted indicated an immediate interest, said Hutton, a number said they would be interested in the future.

He said the big thing in the entire visit was meeting and talking with people on the floor at Market Hall while the convention was in session. Southwestern Public Service Company officials said they were very pleased with the response and said they were highly optimistic about many of the manufacturers making a future decision to locate in this area.

Restriction On Swine Movements Extended

The Texas Animal Health Commission recently announced a quarantine order that reimposes restrictions on swine movements in Texas placed in effect March 29, to control hog cholera.

The new order was effective May 28, and it will remain in effect until further notice, according to Woodrow W. Bailey, Extension livestock and meats specialist.

All previous restrictions on swine movements contained in the previous order will remain the same, with the exception of one additional restriction.

The new restriction order will require holding all purchased swine for 30 days at the premise of the purchaser, and no movement will be allowed except for slaughter during the quarantine, Bailey says.

If swine are apparently healthy, this premise quarantine will automatically expire after the 30th day without any inspection, according to Bailey. He added that it is strongly felt that extending the quarantine control will bring Texas closer to the complete eradication of the hog cholera virus by the December 1972 target date. Although 22 cases of hog cholera have been confirmed since March 29, none of these cases have been connected with swine movements after that date.

Five counties -- Denton, Freestone, Wise, Parker, and Palo Pinto -- have been completely released from federal quarantine, according to Bailey. He added that Potter County has been placed under federal quarantine. Originally, all or portions of 33 Texas counties were under federal quarantine.

Bailey reminds producers that all swine can be moved, provided that proper inspections and permits are acquired.

Swine moving to slaughter can be transported to packing houses or public markets without inspection or written permits. Once at the market, they can't be legally sold as feeders, he said.

Swine can be moved for exhibition purposes on permit from the Executive Director of the Texas Animal Health Commission. Hogs going to shows must be inspected on the farm, earmarked or tagged, and accompanied by the permit.

Special breeder or feeder sales must be cleared with authorities in the animal health commission. Written permission can be granted with certain requirements, including on the farm inspection.

Swine may be moved one time with no diversion enroute from one farm to another if they are inspected on the farm and moved under permit.

Bailey also reminded producers that the old salvage procedure, where producers could remove apparently healthy animals from their infected or exposed herds, had been abolished in the previous quarantine order.

The Animal Health Commission warns that any person violating the statewide quarantine is subject to punishment by fines.

Inspection and permits can be arranged locally by contacting Bobby Henderson, Texas Animal Health Inspector. Forms also may be acquired from Bill Bickel, Keith Bray or Scotty Windham.

Boll Weevil Less Serious In Narrow-Row

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series of news articles on narrow-row cotton production.)
 What special effects narrow-row cotton may have on insect populations are yet to be determined. Cotton insect problems are generally minor on the Texas High Plains where the move to narrow-row cotton production is gaining momentum.

"We began to study the effects of narrow-row cotton on insect populations only last year," points out Dr. Dale Bottrell, research entomologist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock. "Our data is inconclusive to this point, but our long-range research program should uncover some definite findings. As expected, insect populations per acre were larger in fields planted to narrow-row cotton compared to cotton planted in conventional 40-inch rows. But, the insect population per plant appeared about the same."

Damaging populations of insect pests were not encountered during the study last year in the Lubbock area.

"We plan to expand our research project this year to include studies at two locations in the Rolling Plains," adds the entomologist. "Our greatest interest is to determine the influence of the narrow-row production system on boll weevil populations."

Narrow-row cotton may prove to fit into current schemes aimed at fighting the boll weevil, contends Bottrell. Since cotton produced in this manner matures earlier and allows for an earlier harvest, diapausing boll weevil populations may not build up so rapidly during the fall months. This would mean fewer overwintering weevils, the main goal of the High Plains Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program.

Higher Protein Research Study Is Underway

Cultural practices to produce higher protein in hybrid grain sorghum crops is the aim of a grain sorghum quality test to be conducted this year at High Plains Research Foundation.

To determine how cultural practices affect protein in sorghum, scientists have designed a test that will compare double-rowed and single-rowed sorghum under two irrigation methods, two rates of herbicide application and 18 different fertilizer treatments.

Included in the fertilizer treatments will be experiments to determine if sulphur applied with nitrogen will increase the amino acids now deficient in sorghum.

Scientists at the Foundation point out that cultural practices, as well as genetic factors may be a key to increasing protein quality of irrigated sorghum due to the higher protein content in dryland sorghum.

They say the test also is practical from the farmer's point of view. It has been reported that a few feedlots are paying premium prices for dryland sorghums because of increased protein content.

Livestock Breeders Can Get Tax Relief

Livestock breeders can obtain additional tax relief by virtue of the present drought under an obscure section of the Internal Revenue Code announced Congressman Bob Price in Washington yesterday.

Price issued a statement after obtaining a legal opinion from the Internal Revenue Service on the issue. The IRS opinion stated that if livestock held for draft, breeding or dairy purposes were sold or exchanged because of drought conditions, the sale or exchange constituted an involuntary conversion. Tax on any realized gains can be deferred for two years after the close of the first tax year in which any part of the gain is realized.

The Texas lawmaker pointed out that eligibility for postponing the tax on a ranchers gain was based solely on whether the livestock was sold or exchanged on account of drought conditions affecting water, grazing, or other livestock maintenance.

motion. The ordinance pertains to the use of new metal containers provided by the city and prohibits the disposing of garbage and trash on streets and vacant lots. The violation of the ordinance will be qualified as a misdemeanor.

The city is now in the final stages of having metal garbage containers placed throughout the entire town and the results have been very favorable in helping keep alleys clean as well as being beneficial in controlling the dog problem.

Mayor St. Clair expressed his appreciation to the public for their assistance in helping to utilize the metal containers.

The parking problem along US Highway 84 in front of the Dinner Bell Restaurant and Johnson Furniture was discussed. Councilman Ellis made a motion, seconded by Murray, to authorize the city manager to draw up an ordinance to prohibit parking on Highway 84 in the Dinner Bell, Johnson Furniture area. The ordinance is to be presented at the next council meeting.

Funds for the proposed new sewage treatment plant were taken under consideration and a possible change in construction plans resulted in the subject being tabled until the next council meeting in order to further investigate the plan changes. A joint meeting with the county commissioners court was proposed in order to determine the possibility of city participation in the subsidy of the local ambulance service.

needs. "A livestock breeder could take advantage of the deferred tax," Price commented, "to the extent he used the gains realized from this forced sale to purchase similar livestock within the two year grace period provided under the Internal Revenue Code."

The deferred tax, allowable under Section 1,103 (F) would operate as illustrated in the following example.

In January of 1968, a rancher bought 100 head of two year old medium quality bred heifers costing $185 a head. Because of drought conditions existing in May 1971, causing shortages in the supply of grass and hay needed to maintain this herd, the rancher is forced to cull out his heifers and their calves on the open market for $250 a pair. The tax basis of the sold heifers is $9,250. The gain realized on the sale is $3,250.

The capital gains tax on the profits from this sale is postponed if within the two year period allowed by the IRS, the $3,250 gain is used to purchase additional bred heifers. If only half the gain is so used, the remainder is subject to capital gains tax on a non-deferred basis.

Price pointed out that this tax relief only applies to livestock used for breeding ordering purposes and not to male animals because the latter are not considered by the IRS to be income producing capital assets. From a taxation point of view steers are treated as wheat, corn or inventory, whereas breeding or dairy cattle are considered to be capital assets which produce new products just as cotton looms produce fabric. Due to this distinction, proceeds from the sale of steers are treated as ordinary income, whereas proceeds from the sale of beef cows and dairy cows are treated as capital gains. For this reason, deferring taxes on ordinary income might actually work to the detriment of a rancher who as a result of the postponement might very well find himself in a higher income tax bracket than would otherwise have been the case.

Poetry Society Honors President's Prize Awarded To Two Poems

The Mule Memorial Chapter of the Poetry Society of Texas met in the basement of the Law Enforcement Building on Monday night, May 24, to honor Marion J. McDaniel, president of the chapter, with a farewell party.

Marion J. McDaniel has been Superintendent of Schools at Bula since 1964. He came to Bula as an English teacher and librarian from Woodson, Texas in August 1951 and stayed until July, 1956 when he accepted a position as superintendent of Pep. In 1964 he was recalled to Bula as superintendent.

The McDaniels have five children, a daughter, Marilyn Joyce is now Mrs. Morris Peterson, of Brownfield; Melton Davis is a student at Texas Tech after spending three years in the Armed Forces, two of which were in Vietnam; Gordon Lane graduated with distinction from Texas A&M on May 8, 1971 with a degree in Mechanical Engineering; Dwight Anthony was a 1970 graduate of Bula High School and Brian Craig will be a tenth grade student next school year.

The McDaniels are moving to Sidney Independent School District where he will be superintendent. It is located nine miles west of Comanche, Texas.

McDaniel is an accomplished poet among Texas poets having won several honors in this field. He won a major award in the Poetry Society of Texas in 1960. He won first Honorable Mention in the National Federation of the State Poetry Society contest and finished in the top ten in a major contest last year. His works have been published in several anthologies and he is listed in six different International biographical reference books. McDaniel has published two books of poetry, "A Beginners Luck" and "Leveling Off", and has 13 other books of 50 poems each ready for publication. He is now working on his 14th book and has 659 poems to his credit.

The chapter presented McDaniel with a plaque inscribed "Marion J. McDaniel, president, 1969-1971. Mule Memorial Chapter of the Poetry Society of Texas".

After the meeting, cake, cookies, chips and dips and coffee were served to those present.

During the last meeting of the Mule Memorial Chapter of the Poetry Society of Texas, two poems were presented prizes for the month. Winning were the following poems written by Mrs. Lonnie Merriott and Mrs. Howard Splawn. "Appreciation" was submitted by Mrs. Howard Splawn and reads, "Words of appreciation How they make one glow, A genuine compliment, Really bruids ones ego. Many put in work For years and years, And fight their way through, Their sorrows and tears. They don't necessarily seek. For honor and glory. They'er just doing their job. It's and old, old story. So speak up and say We thank you so much, And watch them work even harder. More worthy of your trust. Speak a word of encouragement. As you go along the way, And watch peoples reactions. To the complimentary words you say."

Mrs. Lonnie Merriott submitted the following poem, "Farewell", a farewell to Marion McDaniel.

"Mr. Mc is moving away Going "down home" he told us The other day Twenty years he's seen the children grow. But now he says it's time to go. He'll be missed in Bula land and by friends on every hand He's touched so many lives and changed their points of view. He's been like a father to some And an inspiring teacher too The desire for an education He has instilled in quite a few And a great love for poetry is the mark of the man we knew Mr. Mc always had a way with words and paper and a pen And he can aptly say the thoughts of hearts within. We'll miss him at our meetings Where we talk of poetry and such And we'll try to keep on writing in the ways he loved so much He's going back where he was raised and where his parents lived and died Where wild deer and turkey graze and water where the catfish hide The ties of yesterday are strong And it is hard to leave your home But it is time to move along And you are lured by the unknown New minds to reach, new lives to touch A new world waiting for your touch But we are thankful that you came And in our memory dust We shall see your footprints Where you have walked with us So we bid you fond Adieu And may God's blessings go with you."

Bula Head Start Presents Program

Tuesday evening May 25, Mrs. Larry Bowers and her aid, Mrs. Ben Davila, presented their Head Start pupils in a closing school program in the Bula school lunch room. A large crowd was in attendance.

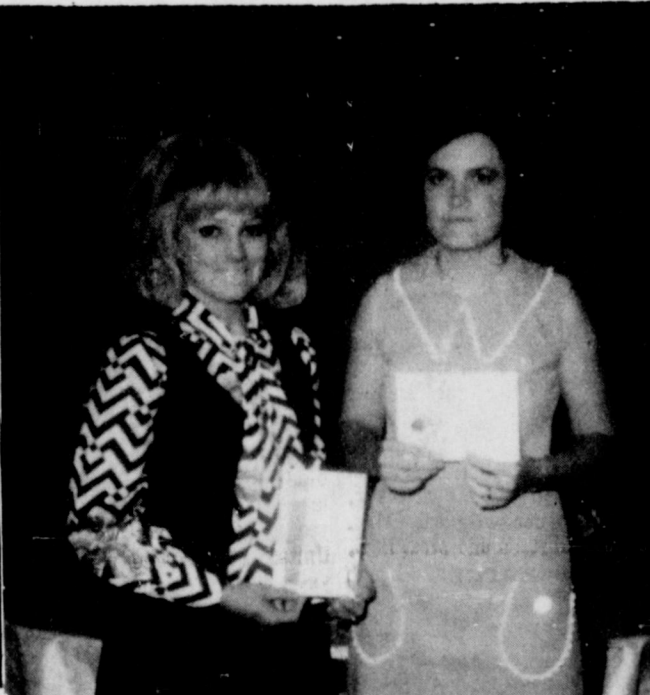

Welcome was given by Mrs. Bowers and the invocation was given by Superintendent Marion McDaniel. Each child introduced him or her self and gave their age, followed by Glenda Peacock (a student) leading in the Pledge of Allegiance and singing of America the Beautiful by all. Each child had a part on the program either giving a reading or singing a song. "Hokey Pokey", an active and singing game led by Mrs. Davila and all children participating, really brought laughter and cheering from the audience.

Following the entertainment, certificates of graduation were presented to 15 pupils by Mrs. Bowers. Benediction was led by Gaylon Bruns.

The evening was closed with mothers of the students serving cookies and punch to all present.

Children's work and pictures of the children in different activities were on display. This has been the first year for Bula to have a nine months Head Start program and it has been proven to be a very successful program.

MISS LISA DEANN MCGEHEE

Muleshoe Junior Rodeo Club To Sponsor Horse Program

Through fossil remains, it is evident that the horse's evolution has always paralleled soil and vegetation. In the beginning, little Eonippus, who was about the size of a Fox Terrier dog, had four toes on the front feet and three on the hind, had soft teeth, and was adapted to feeding on the herbage of the swamp. Gradually, he grew taller, the teeth grew stronger and harder, the legs grew longer, and all but one toe disappeared; thereby enabling him to feed further from water and adapting him to the prairies. It's only natural, in a world so big, that some equines should fare better than others. Thus, the ponderous horse of Flanders, progenitor of the modern draft horse, was the product of fertile soils, a mild climate, and abundant vegetation; whereas the diminutive, hardy Shetland Pony evolved on the scanty vegetation native to the long, cold winters of the Shetland Isles.

The effect of feed and nutrition as a creative force on the horse did not end with his domestication, about 5,000 years ago. At that time, man replaced nature as the horse's keeper, for, from that day forward, he assumed primary responsibility for the breeding, feeding, care and management of his charges. When one considers that among wild bands 95 percent foal crops were common and unsoundnesses were relatively unknown, it's apparent that the horse hasn't fared so well with man serving as his provider. Light horses are the fastest growing segment of the livestock business in America today. Horses numbers have more than doubled in the last ten years.

Why has the horse industry been booming? Here are a few reasons: First, horses have become a status symbol. In the Middle Ages, the rich man rode a horse and the poor man walked. When my father was a boy, the rich man rode in a horseless carriage and the poor man rode a horse. Today, the rich man has a car. Second, horse racing out-draws professional baseball, professional football and auto racing. Third, people have more leisure time. Fourth, more parents are coming to recognize that horses are wonderful companions for boys and girls; the animals occupy their time, and the youngsters don't get into trouble. Few horse owners are juvenile delinquents. Fifth, many older folks associate horses with hot, dirty work or with the drunken cowboy. However, in the thinking of the younger generation, horses are good clean fun. Sixth, competition!

During the past 25 years, remarkable progress has been made in the feeding of meat animals (swine, cattle, sheep). It takes 1/6 less feed per pound of gain and they are growing 21 percent faster. But no such progress has been made in horses.

Feed is the most important influence in the environment of the horse. Unless they are fed properly, their maximum potential in reproduction, growth, body form speed, endurance, and attractiveness cannot be achieved.

A few conditions that make it imperative that the nutrition of the horse be the best: First, leached and depleted soils. Second, confinement - many horses are kept in stables or corrals. Third, fitting yearlings - when force feeding young horses, it is important to their development and soundness that the ration be nutritionally balanced. Fourth, racing two-year-olds. Horses do not mature until they reach four or five years of age, yet we in the United States race more two year olds than any nation in the world. If the nutrient con-

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

By--Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex.--Sixty-second Legislature wound up its regular session with a bang and a roar--and a few whimpers.

In a photo-finish, the House-Senate conferees turned out a record $6.9 billion biennial budget for near-deadline consideration.

Lawmakers earlier agreed on a $617 million tax bill which will go into effect July 1, then followed up with $35 million worth of new taxes on liquor-by-the-drink and by-the-gallon.

Texas will be paying four percent sales (five, in most cities) and auto sales-rental tax, 18.5 cents a pack on cigarettes; $4.50 per $1,000 on corporation franchises; and $5 per barrel on beer. A 10 percent gross receipts tax will be levied on mixed-drink sales and $1.95 a gallon on liquor sales generally. A gasoline tax increase, approved earlier, was repealed in a subsequent bill.

Among other achievements for which the 62nd Legislature will be remembered are:

* Ratification of a federal constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18.
* Approval of a liquor-by-the-drink sales act and submission of a mixed-drink referendum to the first group of wet counties on May 18.

* Congressional and legislative redistricting.
* Submitted a constitutional amendment to authorize the convening legislature in 1974 to sit as a convention to rewrite Texas' constitution.

* Passed far-reaching bank law reform legislation.
* Creation of a tuition-backed revenue-bond fund to build new state colleges.

* Establishment (by constitutional amendment) of a $100 million bond fund to aid cities that build sewer facilities.

Lawmakers gave up on budgeting for welfare services for this biennium, and will return next year (if not sooner) to appropriate funds for 1973 assistance to the needy, meanwhile hoping for expanded federal aid.

AG OPINIONS--An appointee who served one day as "executive" of a printing company was ineligible for the "employer" member position on the Texas Industrial Accident Board, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:
* Governor does not have power to veto proposed constitutional amendments.
* A bill providing that a dry area annexed to a wet area shall occupy the same wet status as the annexing area is unconstitutional, as it violates the local option mandate.

* Applicants signing petitions for incorporation of a new town must be qualified electors who have resided in the area at least six months. Area must contain more than 200 inhabitants (who do not have to be qualified electors).

* Out-of-state witnesses in criminal cases receive compensation solely from the state, not the counties.
* Environmental Protection Act of 1971 is constitutional in authorizing private individuals to maintain legal anti-pollution actions on behalf of the public or to sue the state, but vagueness and caption of the bill offer constitutional problems.

* Bill authorizing commissioners courts in "counties of one million to 1.5 million" to prohibit keeping of hogs within 500 feet of a residence not in an incorporated city is unconstitutional.

* A hospital district in which an indigent prisoner was held by the sheriff is liable for his medical bills when it did not have adequate facilities and treatment had to be administered by another hospital.

* Texas Board of Licensure for Nursing Home Administrators has no authority to fix licensing fee of $50 per annum for "administrators in training."

COURTS SPEAK -- U. S. Supreme Court decision striking down Georgia's financial responsibility law poses a threat to Texas' law. Court said the law must provide for determination of fault before a drivers license is suspended.

Third Court of Civil Appeals here reversed the local court in a suit involving control of an Abilene bank.

State recovered $6,000 penalty from Texas Rockwool of Belton in an air pollution suit filed by the attorney general on behalf of the State Air Control Board.

State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers got a permanent injunction against a Del Rio man from practicing engineering or representing self to the public as a licensed professional engineer.
