FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1894.

TEXAS DEMOCRACY.

CHAIRMAN BAKER ISSUES HIS CALL.

The State Democratic Executive Committee to Meet in Dallas on the 19th Proximo.

OUTLINE OF THE BUSINESS WHICH IS TO BE TRANSACTED.

To Call a State Convention, to Make Nominations, to Recommend a Test of Affiliation and Basis of Representation.

Waco, Texas, Feb. 26.—Hon. Walter S. Baker, chairman of the democratic committee, issues the following call today:

To the Democratic Executive Committee of Texas: You are respectfully requested to assemble in the city of Dallas, Texas, at 10 o'clock a. m., on Monday, the 19th day of March, 1894, for the following purposes:

1. To call a State convention to make nominations for State officers, and to fix the time and place for holding this convention.

2. To recommend a test for affiliation in the democratic primaries throughout the State and a basis of representation for all counties.

3. To consider such other matters as may be submitted.

Democrats interested in the party are respectfully invited and their counsel earnestly sought.

Very respectfully, yours, WALTER S. BAKER, Chairman Democratic Executive Committee of Texas.

Mr. Baker declined to discuss the meeting, reserving his views to be laid before the members when the committee meets.

Wilson Criticized Ill.—San Antonio, Tex. Feb. 24.—J. H. Crandall, a business man of this city, arrived here today from Agua Calientes, Mex., and stated when he left that city, on Thursday, it was reported on good authority that Congressman Wilson, who had stopped off there to take the baths, was in a dying condition, and that the physician who was attending him had given up all hopes of his being able to leave the place alive.

When Mr. Wilson passed through El Paso he was a very sick man, but he exerted himself to respond to the many attentions shown him by the people of that city. In his exceedingly weak condition, the baths had a very injurious instead of beneficial effect.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The following telegram was received at the department of state this afternoon:

"City of Mexico, Feb. 24.—Secretary of the State, Washington: Mr. Wilson has developed a marked typhoid fever. General condition grave, though fever is yet of a mild type. Dr. Mallet Prevost, whom I sent from here to Agua Calientes to see him has had him removed to Guadalajara, which location, he considers, will give him the best sanitary surroundings in Mexico. To bring him to this city would be most dangerous. He shall have the best attention.

CONGRESSMAN J. W. Bailey, of Texas, is out in a lengthy explanation of the cause of his mistreatment by Postmaster General Bissell in the distribution of federal patronage in his district. He says that Mr. Bissell told him he did not think "his recommendations ought to be considered in making appointments" because he had "assailed the administration."

Mr. Bailey's reply is characteristic, and, regardless of the merits of the controversy between the two gentlemen, all good men must endorse Mr. Bailey's sentiments. Here they are: "I would infinitely rather take the punishment which the administration inflicts upon a democrat who does his duty as God gives him to see it, than to receive the special favors with which they reward subservient representatives and senators who betray their people to please the president."

THE SOUTH CRITICISED.

Abram S. Hewitt Says Her Unfit Men are in Congress.

New York, Feb. 22.—(Special to the Picayune).—A speech made by ex-Mayor Abram S. Hewitt at the dinner of the southern party last night, in which he criticised the southern statesmen in Washington, and indirectly referred to Senator Hill and his connection with the rejection of men for the supreme court bench, created considerable talk yesterday among the southerners in this city, and among other people, too.

J. C. Culhoun said that there was nothing the southern people admired more than frankness, and that when criticism was given in a friendly spirit and came from such a friend of the south as ex-Mayor Hewitt, it could be received in nothing but a friendly spirit. Dispatches from Washington this afternoon were to the effect that the southern statesmen were indignant at the remarks of Mr. Hewitt. Mr. Hewitt today seemed surprised that his remarks had become such a topic of conversation.

Mr. Hewitt's speech contained these sentiments among others: "Southern men, as a rule, are accustomed to take responsibilities, and I have observed that when they come here to New York they take all the responsibilities they can lay their hands on. They come here at the close of the war without money without influence, without prestige of any kind, and yet today there is no profession which is not assumed by men of southern birth. But I sometimes think that perhaps what we have gained has been the loss of the position from which you came, for comparing the men whom we see in public life representing the south today with the men who were in the house representing the south in the Union in the senate and in the house—comparing these giants with the representatives who now sit there, and applying the judge of statesmanship, which is only to be gained from a study of history, I am compelled to say that some great change has come over the south, either in the loss of its best men, or in the diversion of its best men to other pursuits besides those of statesmanship. One southern man is battling today in congress for something in which he profoundly believes and has absolute faith. He wants to win the prize. He might as well try to count a volcano. Worse than that, it is to be trying to win the prize by the use of the other side of a volcano. Get out of here, you southern senators that eat and drink and sleep and crawl and crawl and crawl, and the great man who for so many years represented them in the senate of the United States, have abandoned even the high position of senator and gone home to sackcloth and ashes rather than to have degraded the great commission which they held from their states, into the mere servitude of a politician."

The representatives who sit in congress from the south are not up to the standard, either of the demands of the situation. How do you account for it? I account for it in this way: At the close of the war everybody in the south was ruined. Every man who had any ability immediately betook himself to some kind of business by which he could support himself and his family. The man who had the most brains got out of the south. Those who could not get out stayed and devoted themselves to the development of the resources of which I have spoken. Those who could not get away, and could not make a living at home in any regular branch of business, went into politics, and they were mostly men who had not been trained as their fathers had been.

Tariff Matters.—Washington, Feb. 24.—It is now announced that the subcommittee of the finance committee of the senate or the three gentlemen at work on the tariff bill will present their work to the general committee on Monday. So far the result of their work has been kept very quiet, though here and there a man is met who professes to know what has been done.

The work of the three gentlemen mentioned is complete. The report goes that the bill, as it will be presented to the finance committee, contains a tariff of a cent on raw sugar and a cent and one-fifth on refined sugar; a tax of 50 cents on coal and a small tax on iron ore, but this can not be relied on. It is well authorized, that Governor has said that there will be a fight in the senate on the bill and this means that there is either no tariff contemplated on that article by the majority or that the tariff contemplated is unsatisfactory to the coal men; and so for as sugar is concerned Senator Jones, the chairman of the subcommittee, has said that if a tax were put on it such a tariff would have to be put on it by the senate itself. From this it is apparent that the subcommittee is not friendly to a sugar tariff and has not suggested it in their works.

THE ARMS FOR THE A. P. A.

It is that 5,000 Rifles Were Ordered by the Organization.

Toledo, Feb. 22.—The city is thoroughly stirred up over the fact that the American Protective Association here has armed itself, as was learned in the suit brought by A. J. Rummel against the Treasurer of Council No. 2 of this city. There was talk for several days that the council had been buying arms and wouldn't pay the bill, but it was generally discredited, as the public was loath to believe that a body of men would systematically go to such an extreme. The sworn evidence has completely set a side these misgivings so that the most conservative persons in Toledo are amazed. Today George W. Ostrander, the treasurer, against whom the suit was directed, talked very freely of the society's plans. Among other things he declared that Mayor Major, who is the acknowledged candidate of the society to succeed William McKinley as Governor of Ohio, had purchased one of the guns he had got for the society. Many other persons well known in Toledo are included in Ostrander's list, which is kept in the form of office records and not for the purpose of evidence.

The attention was called to the matter of United States District Attorney Allen T. Brynmaide of Cleveland, who said that he regarded the stories as rumors until the court records showed them to be true. He was dumfounded to know that such a state of facts existed. He could not see how the government could escape taking action in the matter, as under the Constitution citizens in Toledo have no more right to prepare themselves for war than men in the south had thirty-five years ago. Ostrander today says that he was instructed to make rates for 3,000 rifles, and that he understands the orders were filled among the various councils. Gundealer Rummel says the committee told him they wanted 3,000 of the guns. Nearly all that Ostrander says is corroborated by other members of the order.

City Election Notice.—Whereas on the first Tuesday in April next the term of office of Mayor, two Aldermen, City Attorney and Recorder expire, and it becoming necessary to elect successors to fill said vacancies. Now then I, J. W. Hall by virtue of authority vested in me as Mayor of the said city of Crockett do hereby order for the first Tuesday in April 1894, it being the third day of said month, an election to be held in and for said City for the election of Mayor, two Aldermen, City Attorney, and Recorder to serve for two years from the said first Tuesday in April, and Saul C. Arledge Esq., is hereby appointed manager at said election.

J. W. HALL, Mayor.

John Wesley Hardin.—Huntsville, Tex. Feb. 17.—John Wesley Hardin, the terror of Texas in the seventies, and one of worst desperadoes the world has ever produced, his victims being anywhere between twenty and fifty, with no count of negroes and Mexicans, today walked out of the Texas penitentiary a free man, having served a twenty-five year sentence.

Hardin terrorized not only Texas, but the Indian Territory, and indictments against him were numerous. He was finally captured in Florida, brought back and tried in Comanche county. He got a fifteen year sentence for one murder and ten for another, and on Jan. 5 1878, entered the penitentiary. He has served fifteen years, eight months and twelve days, by good behavior earning a commutation. For the first five years, of his incarceration he was stubborn, sullen and vicious. It required five years of all kinds of prison torture, with the flogging and the rack, to subdue him. He finally settled down to work in the tailor shop, and during the past ten years has been an exemplary prisoner. While he was a cruel, wanton murderer, he was devoted to his family, and will at once go to them.

He has a wife and three children and his parents were God-fearing people, having intended he should be a preacher. Since incarceration he has studied law, and declares his future life will be one of peace. He has succeeded in having quashed all but two of the indictments against him, and these will hardly be revived if he shows a penitent disposition. His release, however, will cause many a Texas officer a feeling of uneasiness.

Judge S. M. Thompson Dead.

Judge S. M. Thompson, aged 80 years, died Friday afternoon, and was buried Saturday afternoon in the city cemetery. The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church, and were conducted by Rev. S. F. Tenney and Dr. Marshall. He was born in North Alabama in the year 1813, and came to Texas when quite a young man. He was county judge of this county for four years, and has the name of being one of the best and fairest ever on the bench. A thorough Christian gentleman, courteous and genial as an associate and companion, his departure has left a vacancy not only in the family circle and about the hearthstone of home, but in all places where his face and form were familiar and where his presence was always greeted with delight.

The Courier deeply sympathizes with the family in this their great misfortune. A more extended notice will no doubt appear in these columns at some time in the near future which will do better justice to the subject of this sketch.

Thanks.—The ladies of the "Glenwood Association" return thanks to the citizens of Crockett for the liberal patronage of their "Martha Washington Feast" on last Friday.

Notwithstanding the ugly weather, the venture was a success—the handsome sum of $70 net, being realized. This encourages the ladies to announce "More to follow" of the same excellent character, in the way of oyster suppers, light teas, "midsummer night dreams" of ices etc.

It is to be hoped that Road Supervisor Smith will rustle up delinquents in road matters. No partiality should be shown particular localities, but evenhanded justice should be done all concerned. We have heard some complaint by our depot friends on account of work in the past. They say they have to pay the road tax or perform the labor, but some of the streets and roads in that vicinity have never been worked. They cite the street running from the public platform and on between the residences of Messrs. Valentine and Madden as an illustration of this dereliction of duty and want of fairness. "Equal justice to all and special favors to none" should be the motto governing this work.

GRAPELAND.

Mr. Collier—The snow last Saturday was an unwelcome guest. It reminded us of our boyhood days when such weather was always greeted with delight, and when our mothers wanted us to chop and bring in stove wood it was always too cold, yet at the same time we could tramp through it all day long, over hills and hollows tracking rabbits, hunting birds etc., without a murmur—don't you remember how it was yourself, once? There has been a great deal of sickness here during the last two weeks, with several deaths. La grippe, pneumonia etc., seems to be in the lead now.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Burson late of Athens, Texas, are in town visiting relatives. Mr. B. D. Davis died last Friday night, of Bright's disease, at Trinidad. He was buried at Dallys. Messrs. Hill & Dailey will move their stock of general merchandise to Dalys since the death of their business manager, Mr. T. T. Beazley.

Mrs. Hub. Whitescarver who has been quite sick for some time is now improving rapidly. Mr. Geo. W. Whitely's little babe was quite sick last week but is better now. Rev. J. E. Richie has been sick but is now up again. Some Palestine boys came down last week on a bird hunt. They bagged fifty-five quail and two rabbits. The farmers are fretting on account of the bad weather which is delaying work. Be ready boys, spring will open up directly and then you can make it home.

Last Saturday was the day advertised for the organization of a Third Party Club at Crockett.

White and black were invited to come forward and join. Judging from the response made to the call we should say that the people are taking very little interest in the plans of the populists. Saturday came and no club was organized. If there was, we failed to hear of it. In fact, there were fewer third party followers in Crockett than usual. The failure may be ascribed in part to the fact that it was a cold, disagreeable day, but the day was spring like and balmy compared to that eventful day in November next.

NOTICE.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between French & Chamberlain is this day dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. B. F. Chamberlain will continue the drug business at the Brick Drug Store. Seize Facias to Revive Judgment.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Houston county Greeting: Whereas, oath has this day been made before me by J. F. Leetiker that W. T. Rhone is a transient person so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him: Therefore you are hereby commanded that you, by making publication of this writ in some newspaper published in Houston county, if there be one, but if there be no newspaper published in said county then by publication in some newspaper published in the 3rd Judicial District of this state, but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial district, then by publication in the nearest district to said 3rd Judicial District once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, summon the said W. T. Rhone to be and appear before me at a regular term of the Justice Court for Precinct No. 1, in said County of Houston, to be held at my office in the town of Crockett in the county aforesaid on the 26th day of March A. D. 1894, to answer the petition of the said J. F. Leetiker, plaintiff, against the said W. T. Rhone, defendant, and to show cause, if any he has, why said petition should not be granted, said petition being and alleging in substance as follows:

That on the 27th day of December, A. D. 1892 in said court, plaintiff recovered a judgment against said defendant for the sum of two hundred and seven dollars and ninety cents, ($207.90) principal and interest on a promissory note executed by defendant to plaintiff, and interest on said judgment at 10 per cent per annum from said date and all costs of suit, that said judgment still remains wholly unpaid, that no execution has been issued on said judgment within twelve months after the rendition thereof, that said judgment has become dormant, but is still a valid and subsisting debt, and plaintiff prays for this writ of Seize Facias to revive said judgment so that execution may issue thereon.

Herein fail not, and of this writ make due return at the regular term of the Justice Court for Precinct No. 1, in said county of Houston to be held on the 26th day of March A. D. 1894, as the law directs.

Given under my hand this 5th day of February A. D. 1894.

AGAINST DRINKING WATER

A Man Who Was Rather Fastidious About Taking the Tank Cup. In a room where many people gather in a day is a water tank, and a porcelain cup hangs from it by a chain. A New York man, going up to it with a friend to get a drink of water, attempted to show the other how one might drink from a public cup and still not mingle lips, so to speak.

"You see," he said, "I do it this way. I take up the cup and touch my lips to it at this point, closest to the handle. Everyone, you know, naturally holds a cup by the handle. Holding it thus it is extremely awkward to get one's lips anywhere except on a certain part of one side of the rim, so that people without knowing it place their lips to almost the same spot. But as you see," he went on illustrating his action, "I twist it around in this way and get an untouched spot."

That was a good theory, but it was not borne out by facts. The two stood near the water cooler for some time in conversation. Meanwhile several people came up to get drinks of water. About half of them had the same theory as the first man, so that they all landed on the same place by intention. Of the rest some picked up the cup haphazard and drank from any side of the rim, so that their lips were as likely to touch the rim near the handle as any other place, some were boldy daring and didn't seem to care.

A Trade Echo 632 Years Old. In London there is a quaint old organization known as the Fellowship of Free Porters. It was organized some time in the thirteenth century and for nearly 500 years its members had the monopoly of the discharging of grain from boats coming up the Thames. A century ago the organization had 3,500 members, with a surplus which in 1852 grew to $31,000. The construction of docks and the abolition of message or measurement of coals destroyed the prosperity of the Fellowship. It has been languishing for several years and refuses to die because no provision has been made for the disposal of its funds. An arrangement has been made recently whereby the funds are to be distributed and meanwhile each member is to be paid ten shillings a week.
