The Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees met Monday night, January 17, During the meeting, the members heard the current financial report including a report on all categories of operating fund, studied report of bank balances of all funds, heard a report on income from the basketball games, heard report on lunchroom fund and inventory, approved payment of current bills, heard report on current tax collections, and approved a request from the Muleshoe State Bank to withdraw $20,000 in pledged securities that are maturing and $25,000 in pledged securities.

Also on the agenda was the following resignations that were accepted: Mrs. Barbara Finney, third grade teacher, Mary De Shazo Elementary School, for personal reasons; and Mrs. Karen Black, physical education aide, Mary DeShazo Elementary School, for personal reasons.

The board approved the employment of the following teachers to fill vacancies: Mrs. Sarah Ellen Dunaway, third grade teacher, Mary DeShazo Elementary School. She holds a B. S. degree from Eastern New Mexico University in Elementary Education with a minor in Library Science. She will replace Mrs. Barbara Finney.

Mrs. Justine M. Parker, special education teacher, Junior High School, She is a native of Ballinger, Texas, attended Hobbs High School, New Mexico Junior College and received her B.S. degree in Elementary Education from Eastern New Mexico University. She replaces Mrs. Kathleen Francis who transferred to Elementary Counselor.

During the Christmas holidays, it was reported that the following maintenance projects were completed: the floors of the cafeterias, band hall and numerous rooms on all campuses were cleaned and waxed; acoustical and insulation material was sprayed on the ceiling of the Junior High gym; paneling was installed in six classrooms in Senior High School; and the paneling in the Administration Office was completed.

A current enrollment report shows that there are now 552 students in Senior High School, 451 in Junior High School, 458 in Mary DeShazo Elementary, 399 in Richland Hills Primary, 25 in Special Education and 10 in Migrant Kindergarten. The total enrollment is 1895, 21 less than last year's total of 1916.

It was announced that the School Board Election will be held on April 1, 1972.

The board discussed criticisms of school personnel and set up the following calendar of dates for re-employment of personnel for the 1972-73 school year: February 21, 1972-principals, supervisors, counselors, coaches and fine arts directors; March 20, 1972-teachers; April 17, 1972-teachers over 65 years of age, who are requesting re-employment and teachers who have been employed for one semester.

The board then heard and discussed information received from the recent Federal Court.

Bailey County Judge Glen Williams and County Commissioner Precinct Two, Loyd Stephens, met with Roosevelt County Commissioner Jack Miller of Floyd, New Mexico, Friday to discuss the long delayed plans of a state approved road from Muleshoe into Portales. The proposed road will be straight out Farm to Market Road 1760 to the Clovis-Portales highway. This road will shorten the distance from Muleshoe to Portales by approximately 17 miles. The road is presently graded all the way through.

Miller told Judge Williams and Commissioner Stephens that New Mexico has started construction on their part of the road. The State of New Mexico and the county worked out cooperative arrangements for building the road with Roosevelt County building the road and the state hardsurfacing it.

Surveying will continue on the Texas side in their efforts to start construction on the shortcut. Bailey County must acquire and clear the 100 foot right of way and then the state will build the road at their expense and maintain it.

Because of a drainage problem in Bailey County, there will be addition right of way required in some places making the project more expensive than first thought.

The shortcut has 13.4 miles inside Roosevelt County and eight miles in Bailey County, most of it through deep sand. Roosevelt County obtained a 100 foot right of way and fenced it several years ago, but the road bed graded at that time has several hills which must be cut down to meet the New Mexico Highway Department's requirements.

Judge Williams, a long-time promoter of the shortcut between Portales and Muleshoe, stated that the road would be a benefit to both communities. He said that a major part of farm equipment and supplies used by Roosevelt farmers is purchased in Muleshoe. There

In 1916, the name was changed to Junior Citizens, J. C.'s for short. In 1918, the name was again changed to the St. Lewis Junior Chamber of Commerce. In 1920, the National Jaycee Organization was born, with Henry Giessenbier as the first president.

The young men of Texas followed suit and on December 15, 1918, Granville Moore of Dallas was elected the first president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce.

There are over 5,000 local clubs in this nation, with clubs in more than 80 free world countries teaching leadership training through community development to more than 350,000 young men between the ages of 21 and 35.

The Muleshoe Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized in 1947 with their purpose the same as many other young men in America.

The Muleshoe group elected John Smith as the first president and has been one of the most active civic organizations in the area since its organization.

In 1968, at their national convention in Detroit, the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce officially changed its name once more. Having never actually been affiliated with the Chamber of Commerce, the name was changed to the United States Jaycees. Following the convention, the Texas and Muleshoe organizations also followed the lead of the nation.

The Muleshoe Jaycee officers this year include Jeff Smith, president; Max King, first vice-president; Clarence Christian, second vice-president; Wayne Peterson, secretary; Dwyan Calvert, treasurer; Doyce Turner, reporter and Derrell Oliver, State Director. Directors are James Brown, Corky Green, Bill Russell, Gene McGuire, Glen Watkins and Duane Seay.

A few of the Jaycee's big projects during the past year were: bringing the Mobile X-ray unit to Muleshoe, Red Raider Day, the Miss Muleshoe Pageant, the Fourth of July Celebration, Miss Grain Sorghum Contest, Kids Day, Youth Football, Donkey Baseball, Halloween Carnival, the annual crane hunt, the Outstanding Young Farmer award, Jaycee week featuring the Bosses Night

"3,76 in '76 WEEK" . . . County Judge Glen Williams is shown signing a proclamation proclaiming this week, January 16 through January 22 as "3,76 in '76 Week" in Bailey County. Looking on is J. K. Adams, Bailey County Agriculture Agent. "3,76 in '76" is a program initiated by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to increase Agricultural income in Texas by one billion dollars before the end of 1976.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. this week issued its first seasonal report on quality of the 1971 High Plains cotton crop, a full month behind the normal date and at about the same time as the producer organization usually releases its "final" report.

PCG began compiling data on the production and quality of each year's cotton crop in its 25 counties back in 1958, and 1971 is stacking up as one of the poorest years, both as to production per acre and quality, in the 14 year period.

Per acre yields, though not yet known for certain, are now estimated at about 285 pounds, compared to the previous low of 349 pounds recorded in 1969. The all-time area high was seen in 1965 when average per-acre production came to 519 pounds. The 1970 crop turned out 389 pounds per acre.

Micronaire readings are also posting an all-time low. The first report on the 1971 crop shows average micronaire to be just under 3.0, well below the 3.2 of 1961 and 1966. High for the area, in 1958, was 4.0, and last year's micronaire averaged 3.7.

Staple length so far on this year's crop is 30.4 thirty-seconds of an inch, far below the 32.3 thirty-seconds of 1968 but above the 1963 historical low of 29.8 thirty-seconds. The 1970 crop staple averaged 31.1 thirty seconds.

Fiber strength, or Pressley, for 1971 has dropped from last year's all-time high of 85,000 pounds per square inch to 80,300 psi, but to date has held above the 14-year low of 73,000 psi set in 1966.

Grades are also below par for the area, as shown by the fact that only 16.9 percent of the crop has graded "white," as compared to last year's 41 percent and the 14-year high of 62 percent in 1959. Lowest level reached in this category, in 1966, was 9 percent.

PCG officials and others in the Plains cotton industry point out that the abnormally low quality characteristics and yields are the result of unseasonably cold, wet weather during late August and early September of 1971, a crucial period during the cotton growing season.

Quality reports are computer compiled by PCG on each year's crop from data supplied by USDA's cotton classing offices and by the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech. Grade, staple and micronaire figures are sent to PCG by the classing offices on one sample from each "sample sack" received from area gins. In addition, USDA supplies "pressley plugs" which are tested at the Textile Research Center for tensile strength and elongation.

The PCG reports are distributed without charge to members of the cotton trade, textile industry and others around the world, providing a current, detailed account of the qualities and quantities of cotton available from the High Plains.

Discussing the 1971 report, PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson said "Publicizing the exceptionally low quality of this year's crop is not a particularly pleasant chore, but the continuity of the information we supply to our customers is important, and our reputation for 'telling it like it is' is worth a great deal to us in our year-to-year efforts to promote greater use of High Plains cotton."

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm probably is unnecessarily disturbed over something he read, his letter this week indicates.

Dear Editor: According to an article I read during one of the half-times last weekend, when Congress gets back into session shortly the only woman in the United States Senate is going to propose a Constitutional amendment requiring members of Congress to be on hand often.

Absenteeism, she said, is the Senate's greatest disgrace and she is going to introduce a Constitutional amendment providing for the automatic expulsion of any Senator or House member not present for at least 60 per cent of the roll call votes in any session.

This is dangerous legislation and I hope the absent Senators and Congressmen will show up long enough to vote against it. You require a Senator or a Congressman to work 60 per cent of the time and the first thing you know some Washington bureaucrat will get the notion the rule ought to apply to everybody.

I don't want anybody coming out here to my place telling me if I don't work 60 per cent of the time I'll be expelled. I can't imagine Congress declaring it's unconstitutional to loaf.

Personally I always work more than 60 per cent of the time, but I work under my definition of the word, not some woman Senator's.

I don't know what Senators and Congressmen do while they're gone 40 per cent of the time, outside of running for President, but they've been on hand often enough now to pass more laws that most of us can obey.

Work is something I don't want anybody coming around to tell me what it is, and you straighten out the grammar if you want to. Mayor Lindsay of New York knows what I'm talking about. While in Florida last week announcing he's running for President and will campaign all around the country, and when asked what about his job as mayor, he said "I'm mayor of New York 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

Those are my sentiments exactly. I run this place 24 hours a day seven days a week and it's scare me to death to have some woman Senator come out here and pick my notion of work to pieces with a fine-tooth comb. I admire Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine but this time she's gone too far.

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm may get the ecologists in after him but that's his problem, not ours.

I have long felt that whooping cranes, like farmers and space scientists, ought to be preserved if possible, but lately I've begun to wonder how far man ought to go in trying to keep all endangered species alive.

For example, I read an article in a newspaper last night that reported wildlife biologists were disheartened because their efforts to raise black-footed ferrets in captivity so they could later be released were failing. The only four captured females in this branch of the weasel family died and the scientists aren't sure any more are living in their natural habitat which used to stretch from Texas to Canada.

That's too bad, I said at first, although frankly up to that point I didn't know there was such an animal as a black-footed ferret, although I know if you let an ecologist know that something is about to become extinct the fire of battle lights up in his eyes and he jumps into the fray. Wonder what they'd do if they heard the mosquito was becoming an endangered species?

But I read further in the article and found out the black-footed ferret, if he's still around, lives in prairie dog burrows and rarely shows itself during daylight, "preferring to stalk sleeping prairie dogs under cover of darkness."

Well, maybe ecologists want to preserve the ferrets but I have a notion the prairie dogs wouldn't be interested in that program at all.

There are times maybe when we should just leave things alone, letting prairie dogs, ferrets and other nations work their way out of their own problems. Yours faithfully, J.A.

Area Harvest 80 per cent Complete

The South Plains cotton harvest was eighty to eighty-five per cent complete on Friday, January 14th, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the U.S.D.A. Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock.

Cotton harvest operations continued over the area during the week but began to decline slightly of Friday as the harvest neared completion.

The U.S.D.A. Classing Offices at Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa and Levelland classed 135,000 samples during the week ending Friday, January 14th, bringing the season's total to 869,000. At this date last year the 1970 harvest was virtually complete and samples from 1,619,000 bales had been classed. Grades of the cotton classed at the Lubbock office were about the same as those of the previous week.

Low Middling Light Spotted was the predominant grade at Lubbock last week with 40 per cent of all cotton classed. Strict Low Middling Light Spotted made up 15 per cent, Low Middling 8 per cent and all Spotted and Tinged grades 28 per cent.

Staples were predominantly 29 to 31. Twenty-eight per cent had a staple length of 29, 53 per cent stapled 30 and 11 per cent was 31.

Only three per cent of the cotton "milked" in the Lubbock office was in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9, 5 per cent "milked" 3.3 and 3.4, 26 per cent 3.0 through 3.2, 44 per cent was 2.7 through 2.9, and 22 per cent was 2.6 and below. The Consumer and Marketing

Service of the U.S.D.A. reported increased trading in the new crop cotton. Cotton prices fluctuated during the week but ended the week $5 per bale lower. Prices ranged from 28 to 32 cents with most cotton selling between 29 and 31 cents.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.0 to 3.2 micronaire range were: Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, Staple 30-31.05, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted; Staple 31 - 31.20, Low Middling Light Spotted, Staple 30-30.65, Low Middling Spotted, Staple 30-29.60 and Low Middling Spotted, Staple 31-29.60.

Prices paid farmers for cottonseed ranged from $40 to $70 per ton with most prices in the $48 to $54 range.

Here's how we beat the system.

For years, the competition has looked at Gifford-Hill's 360 pivot sprinkler system as the one to beat.

They've done their best to build a system that looks as sophisticated and acts as sophisticated.

But now, just about the time they think they're getting close, we beat our own system.

For 1972, we've added new features that still make the 360 the most dependable, the most versatile and safest system you can buy.

The 360's new direct gear drive has bearings completely immersed in oil and fewer moving parts which mean less chance for malfunction.

The new collector ring eliminates rewinding cable.

The new alignment control linkage has positive control that reacts instantly to any misalignment. If there is a malfunction, the entire system shuts off automatically.

The new intermediate control panel is moisture-proof. The base is aluminum. The cover is Kydex plastic. It's non-corrosive, non-conductive, chemically inert, ultraviolet resistant and constructed to prevent the collection of condensation.

The new automatic end gun control option is located at the pivot panel. This solid state control allows you to turn the end gun on or off as desired.

The new weather-proof coating is designed to give maximum protection from severe exposures.

The primer is fine zinc particles dispersed in a high strength plastic binder.

The top coat is a non-oxidizable, corrosive and chemically inert, vinyl acrylic material.

Together the two coats provide protection similar to galvanized materials, but superior when exposed to highly corrosive, high humidity atmospheres.

The only thing we haven't improved lately is the water pattern. Not even we can figure out a way to do that. Yet.

You can't beat our system. So, join us. For a demonstration.

COLLEGE STATION--"Bread rates high as one of our most important foods," reminds Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist at Texas A&M University. The average homemaker buys 250 pounds of bread and rolls each year, she notes.

Bread is usually labeled an energy food, but Mrs. Clyatt said that it is also an economical source of protein. "It furnishes significant quantities of iron and three B vitamins when enriched. The proteins in bread are best utilized by the body when eaten with such foods as milk, eggs and meat."

For maximum nutritive value, the specialist suggests choosing bread that is marked "enriched" or "whole grain." Enriched and whole wheat breads also provide iron, thiamine and niacin. Riboflavin levels in enriched bread climb slightly higher.

"The use of milk solids also adds to the nutrient value of bread, especially to the calcium value," Mrs. Clyatt said. According to the specialist, people often falsely assume that breads differ greatly in calories. She explains that it's the thickness of the bread slice that effects, the calorie content. A slice of white enriched bread from a pound loaf cut into 20 slices contains 60 calories. A thinner slice from a pound loaf cut into 26 slices has 45 calories.

"When buying bread, Mrs. Clyatt says to choose by weight and not size. "Otherwise, you may spend money for air. A two-pound loaf usually costs less per pound than a one-pound loaf."

"Pricewise, the standard white loaf is usually the least expensive item on the bread counter," she said. "Prices on speciality breads and rolls climb sharply."

Purpose for use also ranks as an important key in bread selection, Mrs. Clyatt adds. Choose soft bread for sandwiches and a compact, firm loaf for toast. "Day-old bread makes an economical choice for stuffings, French toast and bread crumbs," she said.

"When storing bread, use a clean, dry, well-ventilated bread box," the specialist suggested. "Keep the loaf tightly wrapped in its original wrapper, except bread with a crisp crust, which is stored unwrapped to preserve crispness. Storage life is short," she said.

"If you want to keep bread at home for more than a few days, freeze it, she advised. Zero temperatures preserve flavor, freshness and original moisture if the bread is wrapped securely in moisture-vapor proof material.

The specialist said that bread may be stored in the refrigerator to retard mold growth, especially during hot weather. "But refrigerator temperatures cause staling and a loaf kept refrigerated one day will stale as much as one left at room temperature for three days."

Two piece suits are still in the picture and the halter top is being shown. Sarongs or wrap around skirts can be worn with these for beach wear.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

We are certainly at the height of the soup season. The soup kettle, in most American homes has given way to the can of bought soup. Although there are many fine canned soups, it is hard to beat a great big bowl of "home made" vegetable soup.

In you are interested in saving money on your food budget, you can have soup once a week. Save meat stock. Add to it the bones from chicken or any fowl, chop bones, roast bones, and other meat bones.

This stock pot should be boiled up once a day. In the old days great grandmother kept a stock pot going on the back of the stove all the time.

It is possible to make an excellent stock with 2 pounds of shin meat with bone. Add a beef bone and for extra flavor a veal knuckle. The knuckle is filled with gelatin and add both texture and flavor.

There are endless varieties of soup. Some are perfect served before a meal. Some are cold, thin or thick. A favorite for this season is the "all-in-one" soup. This soup is made with vegetables and good stew meat. It is thick and nourishing and needs only bread, salad and a dessert to accompany it to be a luncheon fit for a king or any "hard-to-please" husband.

Congressman Bob Price

In testimony before the House Public Works Committee, Congressman Bob Price (R-Texas) has called upon the Congress to launch an all-out effort to clean up the Nation's waters.

Speaking in behalf of his bill which has been included as the subject of hearings by the Committee, Congressman Price declared that the Nation can no longer afford delay in preserving and restoring our water supply which is essential to all human life and activity, including use in the home, power generation, food production, and industrial processes.

Congressman Price expressed concern over certain water pollution bills which would establish goals that are simply unattainable. The Congressman warned that the setting of unrealistic goals could be counterproductive and could "if too fervently sought, divert funds and resources from other critical problems, including the abatement of air and land pollution. Elimination of the discharge of pollutants is an ideal to be striven for; but a realistic goal must be set, capable of attainment, recognizing both the essentiality of clean water and the other demanding social needs of the nation."

Congressman Price noted that clean water is a matter of great concern to all Americans, and certainly to West Texas residents who are dependent on water for their homes, their farms and ranches, and a variety of recreational uses.

The Congressman concluded, "I believe the future of West Texas depends primarily upon having an adequate water supply, and it shall continue in my efforts to search for a solution to this most pressing need."

President Nixon is to be praised for his courage in vetoing the highly controversial and unnecessary Child Development Act which was included in the Economic Opportunity Amendments bill. Aside from the dangerous precedent that would have been established by putting the Federal government in the child care business, the bill, which I voted against in the House this week, would have amounted to a spending commitment of $100 million this fiscal year, $2 billion for fiscal year 1973, and additional billions in years thereafter.

Aside from the Child Development provisions, I also opposed this bill which would have provided additional money for other controversial aspects of the 'poverty program,' including funds for legal services which have in the past been used to defend radical groups engaged in riots and violence in our cities.

Congressman Bob Price has received word of a White House decision to release an additional $109 million for the electric loan program of the Rural Electrification Administration. The $109 million is an addition to the budget figure of $329 million which REA has been operating under since the present fiscal year began July 1. Immediate release of the $109 million brings the total for the Rural Electrification Program to $438 million for this fiscal year.

Congressman Price in commenting on this announcement said, "I am pleased that the president was able to release these funds which are of great importance to rural residents throughout northwest Texas. I have strongly supported this program in the Congress and have continued to urge that the president make these funds available so that progress in the Rural Electrification Program will not be delayed."

Congressman Price concluded, "The recent White House Conference on Aging underlined what is common knowledge. And that is our failure as a society in providing equitable treatment to those who have given of themselves to the building of our great Nation. Let us face up to reality, and by so doing we can make a better effort toward fulfilling our commitment and obligations to America's senior citizens."

R. F. KENNEDY MOVED Washington--The body of Robert Kennedy, who had been buried near his brother, John F. Kennedy, has been transferred to a permanent site in Arlington National Cemetery. The government is paying up to $181,000 of the cost estimated at $747,000.

Eggs Subject Of Cholesterol Studies

COLLETE STATION--Does eating too many eggs really cause high cholesterol levels? Several recent reports have cast serious doubt on this idea, said Dr. David B. Mellor, Extension poultry marketing specialist at Texas A&M University.

"Cholesterol is a normal body compound produced in the liver and found in all body cells," Dr. Mellor said. "It's especially abundant in brain and nerve tissues. The normal person forms cholesterol constantly, with little effect on the diet."

"In fact, in Framingham, Mass., a recent study involving heart disease and diet caused researchers to conclude that diet had no effect on the incidence of heart disease."

Another recent development indicates that sugar, not cholesterol, may be involved in atherosclerosis--a form of heart disease, Mellor reported.

New York internist and diet specialist Dr. Robert C. Atkins stated recently that the volume of sugar and other carbohydrates in American diets is doing the most heart damage.

The internist said that 63 percent of his patients show a reduction in their cholesterol level, even though there's no attempt to limit their fat or egg intake.

"The real 'cause' of heart disease is not known," Dr. Mellor said. "Several factors besides diet play important roles. Certain populations are more susceptible than others. Some families have a genetic trait which causes abnormally high cholesterol levels. Statistics also indicate that men are more susceptible to atherosclerosis than women."

Mellor asserted that eggs do contain a relatively high level of cholesterol. "However, a normal healthy person may produce six to eight times more cholesterol each day than the amount contained in an egg. So it doesn't seem logical to remove eggs from the diet in light of present knowledge. The egg is one of the best and most economical sources of protein which our bodies need daily."

Restrictions Put On DES In Stock Feed

COLLEGE STATION--The U.S. Department of Agriculture has placed additional restrictions on the use of diethylstilbestrol (DES), a synthetic growth promoting hormone used in livestock feed. The new ruling becomes mandatory on January 8, according to Dr. Frank Orts, meats specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Under the new program, federal meat inspectors will hold all cattle and sheep from slaughter at least seven days unless the animals are certified as not having been fed DES or as having been withdrawn from DES at least seven days before slaughter.

According to Orts, there are three alternatives for handling cattle and sheep at slaughter:

1. The animals may be slaughtered if certification requirements have been met.
2. The animals will be held

After three days men grow weary of a wench, a guest, and rainy weather.

One symptom of an undetected hearing loss is the inability to hear balanced sound from high fidelity or stereo record players. Officials urge that persons experiencing this symptom have a hearing test, either by a medical ear specialist, at a hearing clinic or from a hearing aid dealer.

Mr. Campbell reminded landlords that 30 days written notice is required before a rent increase can go into effect.

Tenants questioning raises in rent must first attempt to obtain an explanation or justification from the landlord prior to reporting an alleged violation to the IRS. If the landlord refuses to meet with him, or if after the meeting the tenant believes the increase is a violation, the IRS should be provided with a copy of the landlord's notification and a written statement describing the alleged violation.

Current information on the Economic Stabilization Program is available at local offices of the Internal Revenue Service.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
By Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—An interesting political poll was taken at the Gulf Coast Press Association's board of directors' meeting in Houston January 8. Fourteen newspaper publishers were asked: "Who do you think will win the 1972 Governor's race in Texas?"

Seven said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, four named Dolph Briscoe and two listed Gov. Preston Smith. The same editors were asked about their vote.

Eleven voted for Dolph Briscoe, two for Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and one for Governor Smith. SENATE CAMPAIGN—The 1972 political campaigns moved into full swing with announcement by former U. S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough that he would make a comeback try for a Senate seat.

Yarborough, 68, revealed his plans in a series of whirlwind news conferences at Austin, Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and San Antonio. He seeks the Democratic nomination to oppose Republican Sen. John Tower.

Barefoot Sanders of Dallas, already running for the Senate as a Democrat, welcomed one-time political ally Yarborough to the race as "one of our fine senior citizens." He said both Yarborough and Tower "are out of touch with the majority of Texans."

Yarborough said he had never had so successful a campaign opening day. He stressed his nearly-14 years' experience as a progressive senator, and said in answer to questions about his age: "I'll be around campaigning as long hours as anybody else, if not longer."

The former senator's entry took some of the spotlight away from the warming governor's race where Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe are starting to mix it up.

Five Democratic candidates are moving around the state in the lieutenant governor's race. Treasurer Jesse James, Comptroller of Public Accounts Robert S. Calvert and Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White during the last week announced for re-election. Calvert and James are expected to draw some opposition.

State Rep. Frances Farent-hold of Corpus Christi announced she is "taking a serious look" at prospects for a gubernatorial race, but has not ruled out challenging Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

SCHOOL DECISION APPEALED
The State Board of Education voted unanimously to appeal the monumental federal court decision that the Texas property tax method of financing schools is unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, the Board assumed responsibility for drafting a new plan for supporting the school system and ordered a task force be formed to do the study job in the event an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court fails.

The state, according to Texas Research League, has several options. One is full state financing, which by 1974 would require an expenditure of a billion dollars a year just to maintain the status quo.

Another alternative is state-local financing that would provide approximately equal resources for each child. The League suggested multi-district taxing regions over present operating districts to provide equalization by regions.

A decision, the League noted, must be made as to whether the goal is educational expenditures at the present level in rich districts or at a lower "average level." The latter would mean reducing the number of teachers and lowering salary supplements in some districts to create more positions and higher salaries in the poor districts.

REPUBLICANS EAGER—Texas Republicans in a recent meeting here boasted of wide-open opportunities in 1972 presidential and U.S. Senate races, for doubled state legislative strength and possible election of a governor.

Scandals in state government and prospects of single-member house (legislative) Districts Offer the GOP its biggest chance to elect candidates and achieve reform through two-party government, the Republican State Executive Committee was told repeatedly.

The GOP issued verbal invitations to unhappy Democrats and Independents, regardless of political philosophies, to enlist in Republican ranks.

SHORT SNORTS
Governor Smith is considering a recommendation for a statewide food stamp program which would call for about $17 million in state aid to counties and would produce $286 million in federal assistance for the needy.

Industrial development of Texas last year may rank second only to record 1969, according to the Texas Industrial Commission.

The Texas Supreme Court met on Wednesday (Jan. 19) review of a case in which Rep. Jack Blanton of Carrollton seeks to force Dallas County Democratic Chairman Earl Luna to accept his state senate filing fee. Luna claimed Blanton hadn't lived in the district long enough.

Rural development may be the answer to pollution, urban crowding and rural poverty, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White contends.

The governor asked President Nixon to declare Bowie, Delta, Fanning, a disaster area due to recent flooding.

An advisory council for technical-vocational education has slated 29 conferences over the state.

The 1972 Miss Texas Universe beauty pageant will be held in San Antonio April 10-15.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. My landlord has just raised my rent, but won't show me any records justifying the increase. Can I refuse to pay?
A. Tenants may refuse to pay added rental charges unless the landlord makes available records showing the base price for the units, and the reason for any increase between the base price and the maximum price he was allowed to charge during the freeze. The IRS has cautioned landlords against raising rents—even within Price Commission guidelines—unless they keep complete records on rental practices and make the records available to tenants whose rents are to be increased.

Q. Do wholesalers have to comply with the base price posting requirements applicable to retailers?
A. No.

Q. Does an employer have to apply to the Internal Revenue Service for permission to make retroactive payments for services performed during the freeze by employees receiving less than $2 per hour straight time or for one-time fringe benefit increases which came due for employees during the freeze?
A. No. In these cases, employers may make retroactive payments on their own determination, subject only to compliance checking by the Internal Revenue Service.

Q. Are state unemployment compensation payments subject to controls in Phase II?
A. State unemployment compensation payments are not wages or prices within the meaning of the governing statute and are not controlled. This is true whether or not a particular state's program is funded in whole or in part by employer contributions.

Q. Do the economic controls apply to college tuition charges?
A. Yes, tuition, as well as room and board are covered.

Q. Do pretiffers and reporting firms use the same form to notify the Price Commission of price increases?
A. Yes. Form PC-1 (PC-IR for retailers and wholesalers) should be used by both firms with annual sales of $100 million or more to notify the Price Commission in advance of price increases and file quarterly reports and those firms with annual sales between $50-100 million that are merely required to report quarterly. The Price Commission will process requests for price increases only if submitted on those forms or facsimile copies. These forms are available at Internal Revenue Service offices.

All other manufacturing, service and professional firms who do not have to file Form PC-1 to validate their price increases, but must maintain records of such increases in their files may find the form useful for computing and recording in the files any price increases put into effect.

Q. Service charges such as utility, parking meter and bridge tolls were subject to Phase II, while licenses and fines such as vehicle licenses and parking tickets were exempt. Does the same situation apply to Phase II?
A. Yes. Unless specifically altered by regulation or published rulings, policy rulings issued by the Cost of Living Council and interpretations issued by the Office of Emergency Preparedness continue to be applicable after Nov. 13, 1971.

Q. Are increases in pay resulting from promotions excluded from the 5.5 percent limitation set by the Pay Board?
A. Bonafide promotions are excluded from the 5.5 percent annual aggregate limitation, since remuneration goes with the job, not the man.

Q. May a retailer who does not have the required display of base prices in his store raise his price?
A. No. The Price Commission specifically requires the retailer to prominently display the base price of all food products unless exempt. For items other than food, the retailer is required to prominently display either those 40 items in each department which have the highest dollar sales volume or those items which amount to 50 percent of total dollar sales for the department, whichever is less. These displays must be posted on or before January 1, 1972 and no price increases are allowed until they are posted.

Q. How does a citizen or a firm obtain information or a ruling with respect to the economic stabilization regulations issued during the post-freeze period?
A. The Internal Revenue Service will answer inquiries and issue rulings regarding the stabilization program. There are more than 360 IRS offices throughout the country where inquiries and complaints can be made.

Requests for rulings and for exemptions or exceptions to stabilization regulations should be in writing and directed to the IRS district office in the area where you live or work. There is at least one IRS district office in every state.

Q. What court action can be taken against an individual or firm that violates a provision of the economic stabilization program?
A. The Justice Department may seek a civil injunction to stop persons from raising prices, wages or rents higher than is permitted. Failure to comply with the injunction would place the violator in contempt of court and subject to civil penalties. In addition, the Economic Stabilization Act provides that upon conviction for a willful violation, a person may be subject to a fine of $5,000 for each violation.

Q. What businesses are subject to prenotification and reporting of their price increases?
A. Firms with annual sales or revenues of $100 million or more are subject to prenotification and reporting. In general, these firms must notify the Price Commission in advance and obtain approval of proposed price increases. In addition, they must file quarterly reports with the Price Commission. Firms with annual sales or revenues between $50 million and $100 million must file quarterly reports with the Price Commission, but they do not need to obtain advance approval of price increases.

Q. What wage and salary adjustments must be prenotified?
A. Wage and salary adjustments which affect 5,000 or more employees, and all wage and salary adjustments for employees in construction must be prenotified and approved by the Pay Board before they are made effective.

Wage and salary adjustments which affect from 1,000 to 5,000 employees must be reported to the Pay Board. For this group no prenotification is necessary.

Q. Does the Internal Revenue Service have any publications available explaining the economic stabilization program?
A. — Answers to many basic questions about Phase II will be found in Publication S-2, "General Information--Economic Stabilization Program," available free from IRS district offices throughout the country.

This eight-page booklet has been printed and stocked in limited quantity because early revision of the publication will be made necessary by the issuance of new stabilization regulations. Once the new regulations are published, the IRS will prepare a revised booklet and make it available to the public.

Q. Are non-depreciable capital improvements of a business "allowable costs"?
A. — No. Capital investment which is not subject to depreciation is generally not a cost of doing business under generally accepted accounting principles and thus would not be an "allowable cost."

Q. — What reasons should be given to support a requested exception from Price Commission guidelines and in what form should the request be submitted?
A. — The request should contain sufficient information to establish to the satisfaction of the Price Commission that the application of a regulation from which an exception is being sought would result in a serious hardship or gross inequity to the person. The request should state the person's name and address, the proposed price increase, the section of the regulations from which an exception is requested, and the manner in which that section affects the proposed price increase. The person should specify the extent to which the regulation should not apply to the increase. No exception will be granted in any case unless the person establishes to the satisfaction of the Price Commission that the exception is not part of a plan which has as one of its principal purposes the avoidance of the purposes of the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 and the Price Regulations. The request should be submitted in writing to the District Director of Internal Revenue for the district in which the person has his residence or principal place of business.

Q. What court action can be taken against an individual or firm that violates a provision of the economic stabilization program?
A. The Justice Department may seek a civil injunction to stop persons from raising prices, wages or rents higher than is permitted. Failure to comply with the injunction would place the violator in contempt of court and subject to civil penalties. Once the new regulations are published, the IRS will prepare a revised booklet and make it available to the public.

Are non-depreciable capital improvements of a business "allowable costs"?
A. — No. Capital investment which is not subject to depreciation is generally not a cost of doing business under generally accepted accounting principles and thus would not be an "allowable cost."

What reasons should be given to support a requested exception from Price Commission guidelines and in what form should the request be submitted?
A. — The request should contain sufficient information to establish to the satisfaction of the Price Commission that the application of a regulation from which an exception is being sought would result in a serious hardship or gross inequity to the person. The request should state the person's name and address, the proposed price increase, the section of the regulations from which an exception is requested, and the manner in which that section affects the proposed price increase. The person should specify the extent to which the regulation should not apply to the increase. No exception will be granted in any case unless the person establishes to the satisfaction of the Price Commission that the exception is not part of a plan which has as one of its principal purposes the avoidance of the purposes of the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 and the Price Regulations. The request should be submitted in writing to the District Director of Internal Revenue for the district in which the person has his residence or principal place of business.

What court action can be taken against an individual or firm that violates a provision of the economic stabilization program?
A. The Justice Department may seek a civil injunction to stop persons from raising prices, wages or rents higher than is permitted. Failure to comply with the injunction would place the violator in contempt of court and subject to civil penalties. In addition, the Economic Stabilization Act provides that upon conviction for a willful violation, a person may be subject to a fine of $5,000 for each violation.

What businesses are subject to prenotification and reporting of their price increases?
A. Firms with annual sales or revenues of $100 million or more are subject to prenotification and reporting. In general, these firms must notify the Price Commission in advance and obtain approval of proposed price increases. In addition, they must file quarterly reports with the Price Commission. Firms with annual sales or revenues between $50 million and $100 million must file quarterly reports with the Price Commission, but they do not need to obtain advance approval of price increases.

What wage and salary adjustments must be prenotified?
A. Wage and salary adjustments which affect 5,000 or more employees, and all wage and salary adjustments for employees in construction must be prenotified and approved by the Pay Board before they are made effective.

Wage and salary adjustments which affect from 1,000 to 5,000 employees must be reported to the Pay Board. For this group no prenotification is necessary.
