KNAPP ON WEEVILS.

The Doctor Gives Some Added Information to Cotton Growers.

Lake Charles, La., July 13.—The following has been given out here:

There seems to be a great deal of uneasiness among the farmers and business men of the territory that has been invaded by the boll weevil for the first time this year. We are glad to see this, as it means that they are the more ready to act upon advice as to the best means of controlling the weevil.

They can make a crop, but it is a fight between them and the weevil, and the people can win out if they make up their minds that they will. To do so they must be sure that the cotton has plenty of distance. It is, of course, now too late to correct any error in the width of rows, but this can be remedied to a certain extent by giving the plants plenty of distance in the drill. Eighteen inches to two feet is none too much, and with rank growing cotton even this can be increased. The object of this is to be sure that there will be an abundance of food at the disposal of the plants and that the hot sun may shine on as many infested squares as possible. It dries them up when they drop on the ground and the immature weevils perish.

If the cotton is growing too rapidly this should be checked by root pruning. Plow a deep furrow on one side about eighteen inches from the plant. It can also be checked sometimes by topping.

If you have your land in fine condition, many mature weevils that drop into the hot, finely pulverized, dry sand will perish. This habit of the weevil of dropping to the ground when the stalk is disturbed is a point in favor of the fight. If your land is well pulverized, during the heat of the day a great many weevils will be destroyed in this way.

You should pick up and destroy all infested forms. This is best done in the early morning. Later, during the heat of the day, brush the weevils and infested forms off by brushing the cotton with a pine top, striking across the row so as to knock as many forms and weevils as possible into the middles. This knocks both forms and weevils into the hot, dry sand and many mature weevils perish, if the sand is finely pulverized and free from trash.

Plowing the weevils or infested forms under the soil will not destroy them, unless they are covered very shallow, as the moisture in the soil prevents this, and they will work out of a depth of four inches—much deeper than they can be buried without injury to the plant.

In connection with these precautions should go thorough cultivation. The soil should be kept finely pulverized and shallow cultivation should be practiced at least once a week. This cultivation should be kept up just as long as possible. It should extend well into August at least, even at the risk of injuring some cotton. Picking the squares and the brushing should also be practiced at least once a week, and kept up as long as possible.

1. Pick up as many squares as possible in the early morning until 10 or 11 o'clock.

2. Cultivate behind the picked area, so as to avoid covering squares.

3. From 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. brush the weevils and infested squares off of the cotton into the hot, dry sand. It kills the mature weevils, dries up the squares and the immature weevils perish.

You can gain confidence in your ability to win out by a simple illustration. Drop a few weevils into the finely pulverized, hot dry soil and in less than ten seconds they will be dead. This emphasizes the importance of the dust mulch. Dry, hot weather is the greatest enemy of the weevil, and at the same time is the condition best suited to the most rapid development of the plant, provided a dust mulch is maintained so as to prevent the escape of moisture.

That these methods will win has been proven thousands of times. We give one instance from last year's experience: A field of fifteen acres, plowed eight times and hand picked, produced twelve bales of cotton at $50, equal to $600. Another of ninety acres, plowed three times, produced fifteen bales, equal to $750. The first produced $46.15 worth of cotton per acre, while the latter netted only $8.33. The man who plowed eight times received compensation at the rate of $5.76 per plowing. The other received only $2.77 per plowing.

You can make cotton. As said above, it remains with the individual. If the people will make the fight they will win.

Trusting this will be of some encouragement, yours very truly,
S. A. KNAPP,
Special Agent in Charge.

Parcel Shower.

On last Saturday afternoon Miss Pauline Bronberg threw open her lovely new home and invited her friends to join in a "parcel shower" for Miss Georgia Satterwhite, who is to be married on Tuesday next. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Hyman Harrison of Palestine, sister of Miss Pauline, and by her introduced to the bride-to-be.

The color scheme of white and gold was carried out most artistically in the hall and double parlors. In the door between the parlors hung a monogram O. S. made of white and gold flowers. In the library the cool and restful pot plants were the only decoration; behind a bank of ferns, delightful punch was served.

During the afternoon many musical numbers were given by Miss Aldrich and Miss Wootters. The guests were given a love story among the flowers. Miss Ethel Wootters proved to be good at guessing and won the pretty embroidered handkerchief which was given as a prize. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Minette Satterwhite, the entire party marched out into the hall where the bride was seated in an alcove and from above a basket covered with white and gold ribbon was let down, filled with many parcels containing evidences of love from friends of the bride. ### EDITOR COURIER:

In addition to what was said in last week's issue of the COURIER in regard to the Fourth of July celebration at this place, we wish to say it was our pleasure to have with us on this occasion Mr. John A. McConnell and wife of Crockett. Mr. McConnell was here in response to an invitation extended him by the good people of Arbor to deliver an address on this grand occasion, which he did in words full of humor and good logic. Since Mr. McConnell has proven conclusively that he belongs to that race of men ever "equal to the occasion" it is useless to offer further comments. We can only say that to know Mr. and Mrs. McConnell is to love them. We hope to see more of them in the future. A CITIZEN.

Treasury Department

Office of Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D. C., June 14, 1907.

Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The First National Bank of Lovelady," in the town of Lovelady, in the county of Houston, and state of Texas, has complied with all the provisions of the Statutes of the United States, required to be complied with before an association shall be authorized to commence the business of banking;

Now therefore I, William B. Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, do hereby certify that "The First National Bank of Lovelady," in the town of Lovelady, in the county of Houston, and state of Texas, is authorized to commence the business of banking as provided in Section Fifty one hundred and sixty nine of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

In testimony whereof witness my hand and seal of office this 14th day of June, 1907. WILLIAM B. RIDGELY, (Seal) Comptroller of the Currency.

AN EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

To be Conducted by United States Department of Agriculture, on Public Roads.

Washington, D. C., July 10.
EDITOR COURIER,
Crockett, Texas.

Dear Sir:

Statistics recently compiled by this office show that there are nearly 2,500,000 miles of public roads in this country, only a small percentage of which are improved. Necessarily it will be many years before a large percentage of this great mileage will be improved, and in the meantime it is of the utmost importance that we make the best possible use of facilities at hand. An expenditure of nearly $80,000,000 per annum is being applied to the maintenance of these roads, and it is safe to say that the loss from improper methods is well up in the millions.

There are certain principles which underlie the art of road building and maintenance, and certain methods known to many engineers and road builders which are easily understood and as easily put into practice. Unfortunately, these simple principles and methods are not universally known. The press is the only agency through which it is possible to reach every road district in the country and insure a general consideration of the subject. Therefore ask your co-operation in a great educational campaign to be conducted through the columns of the newspapers in each county of the United States.

Our plan is to send out to each paper once a month a plain, practical article not to exceed 1000 words in length, designed to give such information as can be easily applied to local road conditions. This article will be specialized to meet the conditions prevailing in each section of the country. We ask that you give this article a prominent place in your paper, and conduct in connection with it a question column in which your readers may set forth the difficulties they encounter in the maintenance of the roads under their charge. These questions may be forwarded to this office at stated intervals under a franked envelope and the answers will be made as quickly as practicable.

I trust that you will let me hear from you at the earliest possible moment, and I should be glad to have any suggestions from you as to the best plan of co-operation between the Government and the press in this educational campaign.

Very respectfully,

L. W. PAGE,
Director.

The Smile

that won't come off, appears on baby's face after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that smile on baby's face. If you keep this medicine on hand, you will never see anything else but smiles on his face. Mrs. S.—Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since. Sold by Murchison and Beasley.

FROM THE SUNNY SOUTH.

J. C. Stockton, and Old Missourian, Writes from His Home in Texas.

Crockett, Tex., June 9, '07.
Editor Herald,
Stanberry, Mo.

The Herald comes regular bringing tidings of joy at hearing of some friends good fortune, and tidings of sorrow for those who have lost their dear ones. So many are the changes in just one short year that it makes us feel sad. We ever wish for the success of Stanberry and her people. I wish you were here to help us eat roasting ears (not blisters) but corn that in a few days will be hard to eat, planted from Feb. 14th to the 30th, as fine as you ever saw. Blackberries, dew berries, grapes, plums and figs in abundance, peaches (very short crop) in fact a very unusual season. We have 100 acres of very nice looking cotton, but a great many have had to replant until they have used all their seed and can buy no more. The rains have been very heavy. Our pastures are full of fine fat cattle. They stay fat the year through on this Bermuda grass of which I have about 700 acres with an abundance of water. We have never suffered from heat here as in Missouri. There was possibly 8 or 10 days all last summer that we called extremely warm, no heat prostrations always a balmy breeze from the Gulf. Come down and take in the regular excursions down to Galveston $2.45 round trip from here; $4 to San Antonio.

I have been serving on the U. S. grand jury. Tyler is a nice place. The labor problem here is interfering with farming as the negroes are getting much better wages at the saw mills and the new railroad building. Every good responsible person wanting a change of climate and work or to farm would do well to write me. They can't starve if willing to work for crops and gardens will grow almost the year around. Now for fear Major Hand will not stop at our plantation to write us up before our time expires for the Herald I will enclose one dollar to help the good cause along.

Sincerely your friend,

JAMES C. STOCKTON.

The man who lives in a town and does his best for its advancement is a patriot, but the fellow who soaks the public for every cent he can get and shoves the money down into his pocket without contributing so much as a farthing for the promotion of that which makes his dollars, should be more liberal, for fear that when his selfishness is once discovered he may lose chances to do better. It is a poor policy to pinch a dollar when the public good is at stake.—Grand Prairie Graphic.

Boy's Life Saved.

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Miss Pauline Bromberg gave a parcel shower Saturday afternoon for Miss Georgia Satterwhite, whose coming marriage to Mr. E. T. Ozier of Chicago has been announced. It was one of the nicest ante-nuptial affairs witnessed in Crockett in some time. Many useful and handsome gifts were tendered the coming bride and their acceptance was graciously acknowledged by the fair recipient.

The Farmers' Union picnic at Latexo Tuesday was well attended and a good time was had. The Union held sessions at Latexo two days (Monday and Tuesday), and Tuesday was the day for speaking by Mr. E. A. Calvin. The members of the Union for miles around came with their families and lunches. At dinner time the lunches were spread and a general invitation extended to all. The crowd was well fed, no one on the ground failing to receive a personal invitation to eat. The editor was there and came away feeling as if he would weigh forty pounds more than when he went.

Mr. E. T. Ozier and Miss Georgia Satterwhite were very quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Satterwhite, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. S. Roney of the Baptist church. Only immediate relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Ozier took the 8:10 train for their bridal tour, which will include different points in and out of the state. While the wedding was kept very quiet, a number of their friends assembled at the station to bid them godspeed on their journey through life. Congratulations and best wishes were showered on them, also a large quantity of rice.

Mr. E. A. Calvin, state lecturer for the Farmers' Union, made a talk at the court house Monday night, as was previously advertised. Mr. Calvin arrived on the afternoon train from the north and was taken in charge by Messrs. J. D. Hill and J. R. Howard, who introduced him to our citizens. Mr. Calvin was entertained at supper by Mr. Howard. At 8:30 he began his talk at the court house, after an introduction by Judge W. B. Wall. Mr. Calvin is a splendid speaker, has a pleasing address and was well received by his audience. He was heartily endorsed at intervals and it was evident that his audience was thoroughly in sympathy with his remarks. THE COURIER regrets that more of our business men were not out to hear him. The audience was made up largely of farmers, some of whom came from the remotest parts of the county.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar's bill." Sold by Murchison & Beasley.

WOMEN WORSE THAN MEN.

Say, brother, never by word, sign or insinuation malign the character of a girl or woman. No matter how pure or sweet a woman may be, the meanest scoundrel on earth can damage her character, tarnish her fair name and forever cloud her life by a suggestion or insinuation. The meanest man on earth is he who would resort to such a damnable thing.—Ladonia News.

That is all very true, but your remarks should not have been addressed to your brother alone. Your sister should have been included. It is a fact that has always been past my understanding that the most dangerous enemy to a woman's character is another woman's tongue. Men are bad enough, but they are not so bad as women in this respect. It is the exception when a man speaks slightly of a woman's name, but it is the exception when a woman will not do it. As a rule, when a man says anything that casts a shadow on the chastity of a woman, he knows what he is talking about. A woman speaks of what she suspects, or hints at what is possible, and makes her language as hurtful in suggestiveness as a direct charge. It seems that one woman would have sympathy for another woman, even if she knew her sister were weak. But not so. Men forgive woman any sin, but women never forgive the slightest indiscretion in one another and, furthermore, they never permit it to be forgotten.

I heard a woman just the other day speak of the girlish prank of one who is now the mother of a family of sons and daughters and who has lived a model life for years, but the incident was spoken of in a way that left little doubt in the mind of the hearer that the good woman had once fallen very low. The truth is that there, was nothing wrong in the act spoken of, save that it had given ground for a suspicion, originated in another woman's heart and had been spoken by her lips, and had lived to throw a shadow over an innocent life.

I know women whose hearts are so tender (?) that they cannot bear to see a worm dangling from a hook, and who shudder at the thought of a wounded bird, but who will deliberately stab a sister woman with words that cut and kill—words that bring more agony to suffering hearts than if they were blades of steel thrust into the vitals. They know no pity when their victims writhe under the torture, but they seem to think that they have done a righteous deed.

Oh, the pity that it is true! Oh, the shame that we will tolerate women who make it their pleasure to tell their suspicions; to recite, with nod and wink, the "things they have heard" concerning another. They are more dangerous than vipers; more despicable than those thieves who steal our purses, and are worse at heart than the weakest of their sex.

Yes, when it comes to the meanest, and lowest, and most despicable character of slander of a woman's good name the kind that surmises, and suspects, and damns with spoken doubt and half concealed truth, women can carry off the palm. I hate such characters as I hate the devil, whose children they are. I had rather live in a den of snakes than to be associated with them, and I think the poor nameless girls who fill the dens of infamy are spotless characters compared to the woman who will blight the life and kill the soul of her innocent sister with words of venom and of shame.—Bonham News.

The District of Columbia has the greatest population per square mile of any other section of the country. The figures are slightly more than 3,839. In Alaska there is only one person per ten square miles. Rhode Island is second to Washington with 407 persons per square mile.

The first arrest under the juncrow law, in Fort Worth, was made on Friday, the day the law became effective. The party was a white man who refused to vacate a car assigned to negroes. The case will be tried in the county court.

Jimmie Green and Henry Heyn, both of Marshall, have invented a process for making soft peanut candy. They have been awarded a patent and the application for the right was the first ever sent to Washington for making candy.

A new law provides that prisoners may be released on bail during trial. Formerly those out under bond were required to remain in custody of the sheriff or go to jail during trial. The new law became effective on July the 12th.

From Gregg's Palestine Speech.

About 11 o'clock Mr. Harry Myers introduced the orator of the day, Congressman A. W. Gregg, who made one of the finest speeches that ever Southerners had the pleasure of listening to. Mr. Gregg's whole address was a magnificent tribute to the South and her noble sons. He defended the Confederacy's position in the war, and declared it was the South that held up the Constitution and tried to keep it inviolate; that her course had been grossly misrepresented in Northern histories, and that the the conflict between the blue and the gray was wrongly called "The War of the Rebellion," and had at the last congress been officially denominated as "The Civil War." He told how proud the South and her children should be of the part her soldiers and statesmen played in that mighty struggle, and quoting from prominent Northern public men of the last generation and the present, showed the change of sentiment which has taken place, and how our beloved Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and other heroes were now being praised instead of condemned. He compared the feats of Southern arms with those of other nations, and declared the men who followed the stars and bars to have been unequaled in their bravery.

When he concluded with a splendid and eloquent appreciation of the lovely, patient, unselfish, devoted women who stood by the soldier boys in gray, and who continued to bless them with their smiles, he was greeted with great applause, and the Veterans crowded around to shake his hand and congratulate him.

SUPERINTENDENT KING

Of Palestine Schools Gets Important Appointment.

Prof. Walker King, superintendent of the Palestine schools, has received notice of his appointment as president of the Summer Normal Board of Examiners, which board will meet in Austin on July 23rd, to pass on the papers of the various summer normals held in the state. The board is composed of some twenty-five of the leading educators of the state, and the presidency is an important commission. This is a compliment to Palestine and to Superintendent King, and one of which the Herald feels very proud.

BOLL WEEVIL EXPERIMENT.

Turpentine Makes the Bugs Leave the Cotton.

Alexandria, La., July 11.—News has been received of an experiment with turpentine which has apparently driven the boll weevil from the cotton fields about Couchatta, La. An oat sack is dipped in a solution of three parts water to one of turpentine. This sack is attached to a plow by suspending it on a pole to the plow handles near the beams. The sack is then dragged through the cotton field. The scent of turpentine on the ground for over a week without renewal has driven weevils and other bugs away. About one gallon of turpentine was used to every four acres.

Bad Burn Quickly Healed.

"I am so delighted with what Chamberlain's Salve has done for me that I feel bound to write and tell you so," says Mrs. Robert Mytton, 457 John St., Hamilton, Ontario. "My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee. I applied Chamberlain's Salve and it healed beautifully." This Salve allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. It is for sale by Murchison & Beasley.
