VOLUME XXV—NO. 39.

District Court.

Wade Mosely, murder; case reset for November 4.

Paschal Manson, assault to murder; case called Monday afternoon and continued for term on account of absence of prosecuting witness.

E. W. Thompson, fraudulent disposition of mortgaged property; dismissed on motion of district attorney.

Walter Henderson, murder; case set for November 5 and 50 veniremen ordered. Henderson was indicted last week for killing Bony McCullough, a pear peddler. The killing occurred near J. M. Satterwhite's gin, southeast of Crockett, on Monday of last week. McCullough was in the act of selling pears to the negro women at the house, when Henderson, becoming enraged, got a shotgun and killed him. Henderson then went to the gin and told Mr. Satterwhite that his wife had been assaulted and had killed a negro in self-defense. Mr. Satterwhite went with Henderson to the house and saw enough to convince him that Henderson himself had done the killing. He arrested Henderson and telephoned to Sheriff Phillips to come and get him, which the sheriff did on Monday night of last week.

Tom Nolle, theft of cattle, 3 cases; plea of guilty in 2 cases and verdict of 2 years in each; third case dismissed. Nolle is a negro, and stole cattle near Crockett and Latexo, selling them at Grapeland. He was tried Monday.

Claud Bayle, murder; case set for November 23 and 75 veniremen ordered. This negro is under indictment for complicity in the murder of Haislip, which occurred in the public road near the fair grounds last spring. He escaped at the time and was arrested soon afterward in a Palestine saloon.

Taylor Leonard, violating liquor laws; set for Tuesday of this week. Leonard is a negro and there are 26 cases docketed against him. He operated near the river in the northwestern part of the county.

Henry Murchison, burglary; set for Thursday of this week.

Joe Rawls, theft of cattle; defendant under arrest. There are ten cases against Rawls, who is a young white man of good family. He was at one time a deputy sheriff at Crockett and later the constable at his home town, Grapeland.

Dick Wilburn, murder; continued for the term. Wilburn is under indictment for murder committed at the time when one of the English boys was killed and another wounded in the Stubblefield school house fight last summer and when he himself was shot and wounded. Stubblefield school house is in the southeastern part of the county. The fight, which was with pistols, was in the daytime and in a crowded house.

Nelson Booker, theft of cattle; set for Wednesday of this week. Booker is the negro who was shot through the intestines when he resisted arrest at Weldon. He is in jail and has completely recovered.

Oscar Hart, violating liquor laws; 2 cases and set for November 9.

Will Glasper, robbery; set for October 28.

Dick Smith, assault to murder; plea of guilty to aggravated assault and fine of $25.

Frank Ellis, assault to murder;

same as above.

The grand jury turned in another batch of bills Saturday and recommended the appointment of a finance committee. The grand jury is again in session this week.

A case consuming most all the latter part of last week was the suit for the probate of the will of Mrs. A. E. Beathard, deceased. The court ordered the probate, which will be in the county court.

On Monday the county jail contained 28 prisoners. Almost every crime is represented from murder to "bootlegging." The grand jury and the district court have their hands full, as well as the sheriff and the jailer.

Resisted Arrest.

Henry McKinney, living at or near Plain, in the extreme eastern end of Houston county, was shot in the arm and badly wounded on last Friday morning. The wound was inflicted by officers attempting to effect his arrest, in which they failed.

Mrs. Lewis Green, mother of Joe Green, justice of the peace at Ratcliff, was laying down a rail fence, we are told, to let some cows in a pasture. We are unable to find out who the pasture belongs to. When the fence was almost ready for the cattle to pass through, it is said, Henry McKinney appeared and with threats made Mrs. Green put up the fence. The matter was reported to the justice of the peace and a deputy sheriff at Ratcliff, who went to McKinney's house with a warrant to arrest him.

When Mr. Green and the deputy sheriff, John Hamner, started to enter the front yard gate, McKinney opened up on them with a shotgun, we are told. The officers returned the fire with their pistols, wounding McKinney in the left shoulder and arm. Our report is that McKinney then barricaded himself in his house and the officers were compelled to retreat.

After the officers left, Norris McKinney, a brother, happened along and stopped at the house, where Henry McKinney lived alone. Finding his brother wounded, he procured Dr. C. O. Smith of Ratcliff to dress the wounds. Messrs. Green and Hamner having returned to Ratcliff, it was decided for Constable Spoon English and Deputy Sheriff Jack Howard to go with Dr. Smith and effect McKinney's arrest. Before reaching the house, which was some distance into the country, Constable English concealed himself, and Deputy Howard entered with the doctor. While the wounds were being dressed, the constable came in and the arrest was made.

Constable English and Deputy Sheriff Howard, conveying McKinney on a cot in a hack, reached Crockett Friday night and placed their prisoner in jail.

Stop Those Early Bronchial Coughs.

They hang on all winter if not checked, and pave the way for serious throat and lung diseases. Get a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and take it freely. Stops coughs and colds, heals raw, inflamed throat, loosens the phlegm and is mildly laxative. Best for children and grown persons. No opiates.—W. A. King, successor to I. W. Sweet. Adv.

Peanut Industry Proposed.

Crockett, Texas, Oct. 25, 1914.

To the Farmers of Houston County: The mention made by some of the papers recently concerning my success this year in raising Spanish peanuts has caused me to get many inquiries about them—how I planted, harvested, price received, etc. It seems to be a settled fact in the minds of the farmers that they must plant something else besides cotton.

I do not approve of the movement launched to have a law passed to prohibit the planting of any cotton for 1915, for I think this is too extreme a measure. It would do the farmer very little good, for by the time the price went up most of the cotton would be out of the hands of the farmer and into the hands of the speculator. Such a law would force millions of dollars worth of gin machinery and oil mill machinery to stand idle for a year and would put thousands of people out of employment.

Now, Mr. Farmer, just, because some man makes a big speech and rattles a bell branded "Farmer," don't go wild and follow it into your own destruction. The farmers, themselves, are the only ones who can remedy this situation and it cannot be done entirely in one season. If we were to not plant any cotton in 1915 and plant all grain, we would be facing the same serious situation for a market for grain that we are now facing for cotton.

But back to the peanut proposition. It would be equally as foolish to plant the entire crop in peanuts, for with present conditions, a few farmers could supply the local market. But we can make a market for them, and I believe I have thought out a plan whereby we can solve the problem. I have had some correspondence with a manufacturer of a peanut picker in order to get prices, etc. For $1000 we can get a peanut picker, hay press and a gasoline engine to run them. Now let all the farmers around Crockett plant a few acres in peanuts next year and let us get one hundred farmers to take a ten dollar stock, each, in a co-operative company, and get a peanut threshing plant and place it in Crockett. The farmers can bring their peanuts to this plant as they now bring their cotton to the gin, have their peanuts sacked and the vines baled for hay. A ready market can be had for the hay put up in this way, as we could ship in car lots, and the government demonstrator for this county, Mr. H. W. Beeson, told me this week that the peanuts can be readily sold for one dollar per bushel. By this co-operative plan the farmers would own their own threshing plant and would get back the revenue paid as toll for threshing, sacking and baling, all at a very small expenditure of money by each one. The farmers around Lovelady, Weldon, Grapeland, Kennard and Ratcliff could organize in the same way.

Now, Mr. Farmer, if you are interested in this matter let it be known. The papers will be glad to publish an article from you, and if enough interest is manifested we can later call a meeting and get things started. We can't sit around and howl about hard times and six cent cotton, but must be, preparing for next year, and that at once. Let us have your views in next week's papers. I shall have more to say about the value of peanuts as a crop at another time. Yours truly, O. C. Goodwin.

Cotton Shipments Not Half.

On Saturday of last week Crockett had shipped 2018 bales of cotton. On the same date a year ago Crockett had shipped 4331 bales. These figures were obtained from the railroad freight office. Cotton shipments this year are not half what they were at this time last year.

What Would You Do?

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all dealers. Adv.

Positively Masters Croup.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cuts the thick, choking mucus, and clears away the phlegm. Opens up the air passages and stops the hoarse cough. The gasping, strangling fight for breath gives way to quiet breathing and peaceful sleep. Harold Berg, Mass., Mich., writes: "We give Foley's Honey and Tar to our children for croup and it always acts quickly."—W. A. King, successor to I. W. Sweet. Adv.

CURIOUS GRATITUDE.

A Story at His Own Expense That Jacob Riis Used to Tell.

The late Jacob A. Riis was a good story teller, but there was one story that he used to tell to his friends with especial glee, even though he was the "goat" of it.

It seems that soon after he took up his residence on Long Island he decided to build a house. He went to an Austrian whom he had known in the days when he was poor and friendless, and who had since prospered. Riis asked him for a loan on mortgage. Riis' friend insisted that the money should be regarded as a gift. Riis would not consent, and the matter eventually was left as a loan (of which no written record was made) which was to be paid back at the borrower's convenience.

"Years passed," Riis used to add, "and somehow I never had the money to pay my friend. Then I heard he was ill and went to see him. I found that he had become estranged from his family and had many talks with him regarding his expressed desire to leave his property to distant relatives in Austria. Incidentally, he again told me that his loan to me was not to be repaid. Eventually he made a will, in which the bulk of his estate was given to the people of Austria.

"Well, my old friend died, and of course the family contested the will, alleging that the testator was of unsound mind. The Austrian crowd learned of my intimacy with him and of the fact that I had seen him often toward the end of his life, and I was called as a witness at the hearing of the suit to upset the will. I took the stand and told as fully and as frankly as I knew how of my relations with the dead man and of the talks I had had with him, making it clear that he was sound in mind if not in body, and knew what he was doing when he left his money outside the immediate family. Incidentally, in talking of my old friend, I told the whole story of the loan of years before.

"And would you believe it," Riis always finished with a chuckle, "when those Austrians won their suit and got possession of that estate the very first thing they did was to demand from me payment of that unrecorded loan. And, by golly, I paid it too!"—New York Post.

Mistaken.

Menzel, the German artist, was a regular patron of a certain Berlin wine shop. One day, says the Berlin Record, a man and wife came in and sat down at his table, and presently Menzel noticed that the woman was making fun of him.

Calmly he drew out his sketching book, gazed at the woman awhile as if to study her face for a portrait and then commenced to draw. Her husband immediately took notice: "I forbid you to draw a picture of my wife. Stop it!" he exclaimed angrily.

Menzel made a few finishing touches, and then, passing the sketching book over to the man, he inquired, with a laugh, "Is that your wife?" He had drawn a goose.

Speed of Vessels.

"One knot" is a measure of the velocity—not a measure of the distance—and means one nautical mile per hour. It therefore includes the measure of distance and the measure of time. It is wrong to say "a vessel runs twenty-three knots an hour." Either "twenty-three knots" or "twenty-three miles an hour" is right. But it is apparent from the above that for the same reason it is wrong to say, "The day's run was 537 knots," because you wish to express the distance which that boat ran in one day. It should read, "The day's run was 537 nautical miles."—New York Times.

Butcher's Custom.

William, earl of Warren, in the time of King John, while standing upon the castle walls saw two bulls fighting in the castle meadow till all the butcher dogs pursued one of the maddened bulls quite through the town. The sight pleased the earl so much that he gave the castle meadows, where the duel of the bulls began, for a common to the butchers of the town, after the first grass was mowed, on condition that they should find a mad bull the day six weeks before Christmas day for the continuance of that sport forever.—London Standard.

ECCENTRIC STEVENSON.

Anecdotes That Show Him in Some of His Many Queer Moods.

Throughout his life Robert Louis Stevenson was often unreasonable, but this very unreason seems always to have had a quality and a charm of its own, which only endeared Stevenson the more to those who suffered under its caprice. Two anecdotes may serve to show:

A young Church of England parson, who knew him but slightly, was roused one morning about 6 o'clock by a message that Stevenson wanted to see him immediately. Knowing how ill his friend was, he threw on his clothes and rushed into Stevenson's room, only to see a haggard face gazing at him from the bedclothes and to hear an agonized voice say, "For heaven's sake—have you got a Horace?"

Another friend received from Italy a present of some Christmas roses, to which particular associations gave a personal sentiment and value. Stevenson was seeking high and low for some flowers—the occasion, I think, was the birthday of a girl who could never live to see another. He heard of the arrival of these. He came, he stated the paramount necessity of depriving his friend, and he bore the flowers away. The two stories might end here and show Stevenson in rather an unamiable light; their point is that neither of his friends ever dreamed of resenting his conduct or regarding it with other than affectionate amusement.

Often in the evening he would turn into the billiard room, and there his talk might be heard at its best. A fellow visitor has given a spirited and sympathetic description of him in those days and adds: "Once only do I remember seeing him play a game of billiards, and a truly remarkable performance it was. He played with all the fire and dramatic intensity he was apt to put into things. The balls flew wildly about, on or off the table as the case might be, but seldom threatened a pocket or got within hand's breadth of a cannon. 'What a fine thing a game of billiards is,' he remarked to the astonished onlookers, 'once a year or so.'"—From Graham Balfour's "Life of R. L. Stevenson."

The Farmer.

Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man. Man may be civilized in some degree without great progress in manufactures and with little commerce with his distant neighbors, but without the cultivation of the earth he is, in all countries, a savage. Until he gives up the chase and fixes himself in some place and seeks a living from the earth he is a roaming barbarian. When tillage begins other arts follow. The farmers are the founders of civilization.—Daniel Webster.

Cockroaches.

Of all creatures of our houses the cockroach is the most detested. Housewives may be surprised to learn that a cockroach can live five years and that it takes a year to develop to maturity. The female lays her eggs in a horny capsule like a spectacle case, which she carries about with her until she is ready to deposit it in some suitable place. Later she returns to help her baby cockroaches out of their shells.—National Geographical Society Bulletin.

Lucky For Otto.

An old German was delivering a self imposed address on military science.

"My son Otto," said he, "goes off to the war and wears a high hat. Along comes a bullet, right through the middle of it. Had he been wearing a cap, Otto would have been killed!"—Everybody's.

Sheriff's Sale.

Notice is hereby given that on the first Tuesday in November, A. D. 1914, being the third day of said month, within lawful hours, at the Court House door of Houston county, in Crockett, Texas, as sheriff of said county, I will sell to the highest bidder for cash, those fifteen parcels of land situated in said Houston county, Texas, and described as follows:

The State of Texas
 To the Sheriff or any Constable of Houston County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon O. S. Cummings, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the nearest county to your county, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Houston county, to be holden at the court house of said Houston county, in the town of Crockett, on the fifth Monday after the first Monday in February, A. D. 1915, the same being the eighth day of March, A. D. 1915, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 7th day of October, A. D. 1914, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court, No. 5528, wherein James S. Shivers & Co., a private corporation duly incorporated under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Texas, and doing business in Houston county, Texas, and J. E. Downes, who resides in Dallas county, Texas, are plaintiffs, and O. S. Cummings is defendant, and said petition alleging:

That, heretofore, to wit, on the thirteenth day of April, A. D. 1910, the defendant made, executed and delivered to these plaintiffs his certain promissory note for the sum of $711.29, bearing date on the day and year aforesaid, payable to the order of plaintiffs at Crockett, Texas, and due on the thirteenth day of October, A. D. 1910, bearing interest at the rate of ten per centum per annum from the first day of February, A. D. 1910, until paid, and providing for ten per cent additional thereto on the principal and interest then due as attorney's fees if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, or if suit is brought on same, whereby defendant became liable and bound to plaintiffs and promised plaintiffs to pay them the sum of money in said note specified, together with all interest and attorney's fees due thereon, according to the tenor and effect thereon, said note being in words and figures substantially as follows:

 $711.29.

Houston, Texas, April 13th, 1910.
 Six months after date for value received I promise to pay to the order of J. E. Downes and James S. Shivers & Co., Inc., in their office, Seven Hundred and Eleven and 29-100 Dollars, at Crockett, Houston County, Texas, with ten per cent interest per annum from February 1st, 1910, until paid. And in the event default is made in the payment of this note at maturity, and it is placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, or suit is brought on same, then an additional amount of ten per cent on the principal and interest of this note shall be added to the same as collection fees. O. S. Cummings.

That plaintiffs have placed said note in the hands of an attorney for collection and have contracted to pay him the ten per cent stipulated in said note, the same being reasonable and the usual and customary fee. That said note is past due and unpaid, and defendant, though often requested, has hitherto failed and refused and still now refuses to pay the same or any part thereof, to plaintiffs' damage in the sum of $711.29.

Plaintiffs pray for judgment for their debt, $711.29, for interest, attorney's fees, costs of suit, and such other general and special relief, in law and in equity, that they may be entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness John D. Morgan, Clerk of the District Court of Houston County.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Crockett, this the 7th day of October, A. D. 1914. 4t.

John D. Morgan, Clerk,
 District Court, Houston County.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

What Would You Do?

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and know its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Peru, Ind., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all dealers. Adv.

NO REDUCTION BY LAW.

The legislature has adjourned without passing a cotton acreage reduction law. We do not know but what that is best, after all. There is a tendency toward too much regulation by law, any way. Now let every man who expects to make a living reduce his cotton acreage according to his own judgment. Years ago, when the bottom dropped out of the corn market and corn sold in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri at 20 cents a bushel, there was no clamor in those states for an acreage reduction law. The farmers of those states simply bought hogs and cattle which they fattened with their cheap corn and sold at a profit. Now let our cotton farmers follow the example set by the corn growers. They have not the cheap corn, but they have the cheap cotton, and the same principle is applicable. Instead of so much cotton next year, let them produce more feed for hogs and cattle. Sitting down and crying hard times, or waiting on the government to do something, is not going to help anybody. Cotton is cheap and is going to stay cheap for a year or more. The best thing to do is to get busy and grow everything that may be consumed on the farm and a surplus for the market. We find that a majority of our farmers have already done and are doing these things and are able to manage their own affairs without governmental aid through additional legislative enactment.

WHY COTTON IS CHEAP.

Under date of October 14, 1914, the department of commerce at Washington submits some interesting figures. The government's report shows that, due to the lack of a market for their products, some of the cotton mills of our own country are not running. Business is slow and some of the mills cannot dispose of their fabrics. Whenever the country resumes its normal buying activity there will be a stronger demand for the products of the cotton mills and a resultant strengthening in the demand for cotton itself. The cotton mills of this country consumed this year during the month of September 415,194 bales. They consumed during the same month last year 442,435 bales. This decrease in the number of bales consumed is attributed to the slowness of the cotton fabric market. When the mills are selling slowly they buy slowly. Cotton exports to Europe during September of this year amounted to only 125,778 bales, while exports to Europe during September of last year amounted to 930,328 bales. It ought to be plain to any one who reads these figures why cotton is cheap and it ought also to be plain that the present crop is going to remain cheap. The price of next year's crop will depend on the amount grown next year and the amount carried over from this year. The war may last for years.

Next Monday is collection day again—the day of all days when everybody should loosen up and set their coin to circulating. It is a lamentable fact that some people who have the money are so afraid they will never get any more that they will not pay their bills promptly. And then there is the public nuisance who makes a laughing thing of his obligations. There are many good men who cannot pay their debts, but their regrets at not being able to do so are of such sincerity that it is no laughing thing to them. If you have the money, pay the man you owe and thus help him pay the man he owes. The man he owes may be the man who owes you.

We have talked with many farmers lately who are in good shape, so far as making a living is concerned. They have everything on the farm that they need except clothing. They have cotton to sell and when they sell their cotton they will buy all necessary clothing. For another year they are planning to use the same business judgment that a banker or a merchant would use in conducting his business—they are going to devote less time to the unprofitable crops and more time to the crops that, at the least, promise a reasonable profit. Farming is a business with them and they are already busy laying their plans.

November 3 is election day—next Tuesday. Let every loyal democrat rally to the flag or be prepared for some surprises. Enemies of democracy are abroad in the land, proclaiming that the democratic administration is responsible for the lack of a foreign cotton market—for the war in Europe! Enough of the uninformed may be made to believe this rot to produce some surprises on election day, here and there. Rally to the flag and to the polls!

The attention of careful buyers is invited to the large double page and single page advertisements in this paper this week as well as to the smaller advertisements of the business people. The buyer may, by taking a copy of this week's paper, sit in his home and calculate to a certainty what his bill of goods is going to cost him when he comes to town. Crockett's live merchants make it possible for him to do this.

A Houston county farmer who made a success with Spanish peanuts this year has interested himself in the promotion of a peanut growers' organization. His proposition will be found in the Courier this week. We refer to the letter of O. C. Goodwin, touching on the subject of organization for the handling of the peanut industry. Read Mr. Goodwin's letter, and if you have any suggestions to make, let the Courier have them next week.

A city depending solely on one industry is an unstable city. If that industry falls, the city falls. The greatest city is the city with the largest variety of industries. So it is with any country. That country depending on a single crop is a very unstable country. The crop fails and the country faces disaster. The country producing the greatest variety of crops is the safest. And so it is with the individual producer.

A "buy a pig" movement is now the movement to join. No farmer can sell 6 cent cotton and buy 20 cent bacon without coming out the small end of the horn. But he can make the big end of the "horn of plenty" his by growing bacon. "Buy a pig."

We must return to the days of hog and hominy and true democratic simplicity.

Bought a Bale Here.

Bondy & Lederer of New York, manufacturers of Tom Keene cigars, last week bought a bale of cotton in Crockett. They instructed their travelling representative to buy 100 bales in Texas and to use his judgment as to where to buy them. The only restrictions were that he buy them from needy persons and pay 10 cents a pound for middling or better. Their salesman called to his aid Mr. Arch Baker and it was decided to buy the cotton from Mrs. Rose Hartley, a worthy lady living near town. The bale, weighing 505 pounds and bringing Mrs. Hartley $50.50, is now on display on the sidewalk in front of the Decuir-Bishop Drug Company.

Toned Up Whole System.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have done more for me than I ever dared hope for," writes Mrs. Esther Mae Baker, Spencerport, N. Y. "I used several bottles of these tablets a few months ago. They not only cured me of bilious attacks, sick headaches and that tired out feeling, but toned up my whole system." For sale by all dealers. Adv.

Why Not Publish It?

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes: "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers. Adv.

Still in the Laundry Business.

I take this opportunity of notifying my friends and patrons that I am still in the laundry business and will make a specialty of dyeing and all kind of fancy cleaning, hat work, or anything that can be done at a first class laundry. I will have a basket going to Houston, leaving here every Tuesday morning. I also represent the Crockett Steam Laundry and will be able to give customers a choice of having their laundry done here if they prefer. I will not be on the laundry wagon, but will call as usual Monday and Tuesday, or any time you ring me at Arledge Tailor Shop, telephone 159. Your friend, J. W. Arledge.

W. T. Hutchens, Nicholson, Ga., had a severe attack of rheumatism. His feet, ankles and joints were swollen, and moving about was very painful. He was certainly in a bad way when he started to take Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "Just a few doses made me feel better, and now my pains and rheumatism are all gone and I sleep all night long."—W. A. King, successor to I. W. Sweet. Adv.

Foley Cathartic Tablets.

You will like their positive action. They have a tonic effect on the bowels, and give a wholesome, thorough cleaning to the entire bowel tract. Stir the liver to healthy activity and keep stomach sweet. Constipation, headach, dull, tired feeling never afflict those who use Foley Cathartic Tablets. Only 25c.—W. A. King, successor to I. W. Sweet. Adv.

Arrested for Murder.

Zeke Williams, a negro, was arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Phillips for the murder of a negro, Robert Winn, on the Rhodes Trinity river farm Monday night. Winn was killed in a house by being shot through a window. On Saturday Sheriff Phillips arrested another negro, Will Kirksey, for the same crime. Both men were arrested in the neighborhood of the killing and are being held for the grand jury.

Restaurant Moved.

M. Scarborough wishes the public to know that he has moved his restaurant from the east side to the south side of the public square. He is now located in the Bromberg building, adjoining the new building, where he solicits a continuance of your patronage. His restaurant is well equipped for supplying the wants of the people in that line. It is a place where you can take your family and enjoy a good meal at a small cost. Oysters are served in season. It.

Visits the Wheat Country.

James Anderson left last week for Levine, Montana. Mr. Anderson came to Houston county from Wisconsin a few years ago and has done well here, accumulating some property and making friends. He has not sold out here, but has been wanting to visit Montana for some time and thought this a good time to go. He says that reports from Montana indicate that good times are prevalent there on account of the big wheat crop. He expects to return to Crockett after a brief stay in the north and wants to keep posted by having the Courier follow him to his Montana address.

Citrolax! Citrolax! Citrolax!

Best thing for constipation, sour stomach, lazy liver and sluggish bowels. Stops a sick headache almost at once. Gives a most thorough and satisfactory flushing—no pain, no nausea. Keeps your system cleansed, sweet and wholesome. Ask for Citrolax.—W. A. King, successor to I. W. Sweet.
