MAN'S LEG CRUSHED ON RAILROAD TRACK.

A. J. Pyle, a Weches Farmer and Minister, Meets With Serious Accident on Industrial Track.

A. J. Pyle, a white farmer and minister of the Weches section and 40 years old, happened to a serious accident Tuesday morning in Crockett at 11:15 o'clock. Mr. Pyle, in company with Mr. Kellett of Weches, had come to Crockett with his wagon loaded with cotton seed. He sold the seed to B. L. Satterwhite's buyer and drove his wagon to Satterwhite's seed house, which is across the railroad yard—from the Crockett oil mill. He was delayed in delivering his seed on account of other wagons unloading and, while waiting, walked across the railroad yard from Satterwhite's warehouse to the Crockett oil mill, crossing the seed-house track about four car-lengths north of the railroad scales and passing between the seed house and the mill house into the oil-mill grounds. Returning shortly over the same ground, he was caught under a freight car and his right leg crushed.

No one saw Mr. Pyle as he came from between the buildings and stepped in front of the freight cars, but he was seen to fall and roll from the track. Those who were first to reach him found that only one wheel of the car trucks had passed over his leg, but that was sufficient to crush it into pulp. Doctors B. S. Elliott and W. W. Latham were summoned, and after bandaging the injured leg to stop the blood flow Mr. Pyle was removed to Dr. Elliott's operating room, but during the afternoon taken in an automobile to the railroad hospital at Palestine for the removal of the leg.

Southbound local freight train No. 33, in charge of Conductor R. W. McWhorter and brakemen O. L. Race, P. O. Hammond and B. H. Miller and drawn by engine No. 251, was weighing in some cars on the track scales at the oil mill seed house. As the cars were weighed they were pushed down the house track, and Mr. Pyle, unseen by the men at work, stepped in the way of one of the cars. Before he came into view the cars were started, and before he could throw himself completely from the track his leg was caught under the wheel and crushed between the knee and ankle.

SMALL HOUSTON COUNTY DISPLAY HER PROGRESSIVENESS?

Indications Are That She Will—Enthusiasm Over Exhibit for Houston Carnival Parade.

Messrs. H. A. Fisher and R. H. Wootters are working up an exhibit for Houston county that will be a credit to any county.

Wesley Chapel is already in on the deal and will have a splendid exhibition of farm products.

Grapeland was visited by these gentlemen last week. Grapeland said it was the opportunity they were looking for and that they would go to work immediately in arranging their exhibit. Other towns have since been visited and all signify a readiness to arrange exhibits.

It is the purpose of Messrs. Fisher and Wootters, who are devoting their time without pay or expectancy of personal gain, to have every community represented in a general county exhibit to be concentrated at Crockett and shipped to Houston, where the carnival association has offered the use of a float in the carnival's industrial parade. After the exhibit has served its purpose in the parade and carnival, it will be transferred to the Houston city hall, where permanent exhibition space has been secured. The plan is to add to the exhibit from time to time and make it permanent.

It is an opportunity for an exhibition of the county's progressiveness or an exhibition of its unprogressiveness. Which will it be? Indications are that it will not be the latter.

Enthusiasm is the word.

Postoffice Site to Be Cleared.

The lot recently sold by R. E. McConnell to the national government for the location of the federal building and postoffice is soon to be cleared of the old airdome theatre and other buildings that now occupy it. This lot will then be ready for the federal building and postoffice which will be erected by the national government whenever an appropriation is made by congress. The appropriation will be made whenever the city's population and the business done at the Crockett postoffice justify the expenditure by the government. That time will be governed by the rules of the congressional committee on federal buildings. The congressman from this district can assist by laying before the committee at the proper time the city's growth in population and its increase in postoffice business. Every city, when it reaches a certain size and does a certain amount of postoffice business, is entitled to a federal building, but the matter must be brought to the attention of and laid before the federal building committee by the congressmen. The policy of the government, as a matter of economy, is to make an advance purchase of the building lot.

Oil Prospects Active.

Houston county oil prospects are again coming to the front. Some visiting oil men were in Crockett Tuesday and went out to the site of the proposed operations, 14 miles east of town. These men are expert oil well operators and their visit instilled new confidence in the proposition. Lumber for the derrick is now being placed on the ground, and machinery for boring is to be shipped from Conroe by way of Lufkin to Kennard, which is only four or five miles from proposed operations.

Lands Subject to Forfeiture.

The following list shows the lands in Houston county subject to forfeiture for non-payment of interest due the general land office of the state of Texas November 1, 1914. The general land office department has been unable to obtain responses from all of those to whom notices have been mailed and is now asking the co-operation of the newspapers in reaching delinquent owners. The commissioner of the general land office is unwilling to declare forfeitures without exhausting all means to reach those who must suffer the consequences. Lands in Houston county subject to forfeiture, for non-payment of interest, and if not paid will be for sale January 1, 1916:

Grantee, Dr. W. H. Brown, 441 acres.
Grantee, A. Bryant, 44.20 acres.
Grantee, J. M. Dowling, 11 acres.
Grantee, John Smelley, 39½ acres.

Welcome, Jurymen.

District court opens in Crockett next Monday, October 11. The Courier extends a welcome from the city of Crockett to the jurymen. Some of you will be brought here who do not want to come, but we hope your stay may be made pleasant. The Courier office is open to you and we have an extra desk and the daily newspapers at your disposal. Come to see us.

"PIGGIE."

Oh, Piggie, the pride of the pig sty.
You are like the baby that's fed
On the milk of human kindness,
And I like your color—it's red.

Such a wee little pig when you started,
To promise pork sausage and fat;
I laughed at the big undertaking,
Ham sandwich, souce, and all that.

Oh, Piggie, I've a faint-recollection
Of your appetite when it was small,
But now, when you are asked to divide,
You invariably gobble it all.

With never a thought of the roosters,
Whose noses reach the third row;
When a crack in the fence is left open,
Destruction to make a whole show.

You are growing to look like your mother,
With more petting and push than she knew—

With such a thing as a ribbon to fasten,
No matter how pretty and blue,
You are a pig like the rest of the piggies,
In the sun and the dust and the dew.

THE LAW OF THE PUBLIC ROAD.

Very few people in Houston county want more than half the road, but too many of them want that half out of the middle. In driving, whether automobile, wagon or other vehicle, it is well to remember to keep to the right and thus avoid confusion. The rule in overtaking and passing other vehicles is to pass on the left. The vehicle that is overtaken should keep to the right.—Crockett Courier.

There are many people who misunderstand or are ignorant of the laws governing travel on public roads, which causes much friction and sometimes trouble.

We publish below an excerpt from the law on this subject, which we are sure will be of interest to all users of the public roads:

Sec. 44. Whenever any person shall meet another on any public bridge or road, traveling in carriages, wagons, carts, automobiles, motorcycles, or other vehicles, each person shall turn to the right of the middle of the traveled part of such road or bridge, so that each shall not occupy more than one-half of the traveled part of such road or bridge.

Sec. 45. Any person desiring to pass another on any public road or bridge from the rear, in any wheeled vehicle, shall by some signal notify the person in front that he desires to pass. It shall then be the duty of the party in front to turn to the right of the traveled part of such road or bridge.

Any person offending against either of the above sections shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars.—Longview Leader.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER.

This is the way it looks to a writer who has traveled some, and watched for reasons why a town prospers: "Stand by your town newspaper. If there is anything in your town worth talking about, ten chances to one your little town paper had a hand in putting it there, and if there exists any unsightly or unsavory nusance, twenty chances to one it will stay their until your town editor sees it or smells it and wipes his pen on the town board's breeches. If anybody beyond the walls of your little burg ever learns that there is such a place as Peaceville, it will be through the town oracle.

"Every town gets its money's worth in the town newspaper. It's the wagon that carries all your good things to market. It ought to be kept in good repair. In many cases it would pay to grease it, paint it, keep its running gear in shape and shelter it at the public expense.

"Stand by your local newspaper. It's the guardian and defender of every interest, the forerunner and pioneer of every advance movement and the sturdy advocate of law and order. Take it away, and it would not be six months before the town would look as if it had been doped. Business would drag, society would yawn and grass would grow between the cobbles."

OPINIONS OF IMPORTANCE GIVEN BY ATTORNEY GENERAL

Only 25 Wild Game Birds Can Be Shipped—Mill Hands and Laborers Have Lien Upon Labor's Products, Etc.

Austin, Tex.—In an opinion rendered this week the game, fish and oyster commissioner, the attorney general's department held that the number of wild game birds that are permitted to be shipped is twenty-five, except wild duck, of which forty-five may be transported upon filing the affidavit required by article 891 of the penal code of the state.

The commissioner of insurance and banking was advised that mill hands and laborers performing any service in the preparation and manufacturing of lumber are given a statutory lien upon all the products of their labor and the machinery, tools, fixtures, etc., used in connection with the performance of their labor. This lien is, however, only for the wages of such laborer. The lien does not apply to a superintendent or manager. In order to fix a lien for labor it must appear that the person claiming such lien is within the classes named in the statute.

The county attorney at Floresville was advised that where a party makes application for or opposes the appointment of a guardian for a habitual drunkard, and on the trial thereof he is defeated, the cost should be adjudged against him; that where the person is found to be a habitual drunkard the cost should be paid from his estate, if sufficient; and, if insufficient, the cost should be paid by the county. If the defendant be discharged, the person at whose instance the proceeding was had shall pay the cost, unless such proceeding was instituted by an officer acting in his official capacity, in which case the cost shall be paid by the county.

The county attorney at Carrizo Springs was advised that the $100,000 appropriated by chapter 47, acts 34th legislature, is not apportioned to the different counties; that in order for the commissioners court of the various counties to ascertain when such appropriation is, or about to be, exhausted they should communicate with the controller; that the act expressly provides the state shall not be liable after the appropriation has been exhausted. Therefore, when the appropriation has been exhausted, there will be no law authorizing the payment by the state and future legislatures would have no authority to make appropriations or pay deficiencies.

The board of water engineers was advised that the Irrigation act of 1913 undertakes to give to any person, corporation, irrigation district, etc., constructing or operating an irrigation canal the right to acquire by condemnation a right of way over private lands and also lands for pumping plants, etc., and, also, that whether the taking of the land of another for a right of way and for a pumping plant, in order to irrigate private land, is a public use or not is a question to be determined by the courts, after a full development of all the facts of the particular case, and that portion of the Irrigation law which undertakes to give the right of eminent domain for such purpose should not be held inapplicable until the particular facts of the case have been developed and passed upon by the courts.

The assistant attorney general in the court of criminal appeals was advised that cattle shipped from Mexico into Texas, the destination of which is beyond the boundaries of this state, which are unloaded and fed in this state, are not subject to inspection by county inspectors.

THE TEXAS GAME LAWS ARE NOT BEING VIOLATED

Wardens Finding No Trouble Enforcing Law—Duck Season Opens Oct. 15—Rules Outlined.

Austin, Tex.—According to reports that are reaching the game, fish and oyster department, the wardens in the respective sections of the state are finding no trouble now in enforcing the game laws and are reporting that only in rare instances are the laws being violated in respect to bag limit and killing of quail out of season.

Because of the fact that the duck season opens in a few weeks, the department is urging its wardens to use every precaution in the prevention of the killing of ducks previous to that date. Oct. 15 is the time settled upon by statute for the killing of ducks. This is a federal statute. There are state statutes, however, dealing with the hunting or ensnaring of ducks by any other means except a gun, "held to and shot from the shoulder."

The killing of wild ducks at night is prohibited under a special statute provision in the counties of Harris, Jefferson, Galveston, Brazoria, Matagorda, Nueces, Aransas, Refugio, Lavaca, San Patricio, Cameron, Hidalgo or Calhoun. The hours wherein it is violation of state statute to kill is between sunset and sunrise. Special attention will likewise be given the shipment of ducks, and the necessity of having a license to hunt under certain stipulations.

Income $10,000,000 Smaller.

Washington—The treasury's income for September was just a little more than $50,000,000 and about $10,000,000 less than the ordinary disbursement of the month. For three months of the current fiscal year just ended the receipts have been about $38,758,000 below the disbursements. The treasury still has a net balance of almost $41,000,000 aside from many millions to its credit outside Washington.

TEXAS BORDER PATROL FIGHT MEXICAN BANDITS

American Troops Fired On, But Pursue Bandits Into Brush, Who Make Escape.

Brownsville, Tex.—The American cavalry patrol and about half a dozen Mexicans had a running fight Sunday near La Feria, about thirty miles up the Rio Grande from Brownsville. The Mexicans tried to ambush the Americans, but failed. There were no known casualties on either side.

Major Edward Anderson of the Twelfth Cavalry, in charge of patrol district along the river front about La Feria, reported that Lieutenant John A. Considine of Seattle, Wash., and three men of the Sixth Cavalry, while on patrol, saw the Mexicans ahead. Considine counted three. His men thought they saw two more hiding in the brush. These Mexicans opened fire at short range when the cavalrymen suddenly came upon them around a curve in the road.

Lieutenant Considine slipped from his horse, leading his men to the roadside, and they advanced on the Mexicans at a run. The Mexicans ran into the prickly brush when the Americans had a long running fight, firing in the direction of the noise in the brush as the Mexicans went through. Reinforcement closed in from several directions, but the bandits escaped.

Armed Mexicans, who appeared from the American side of the river to be bandits, were seen to be gathering this week near Rio Bravo, Mexico, a short distance above the place of the last Mexican raid. Estimates of the number of these alleged bandits went as high as 500. Along the river in that section American army patrols are strengthened and prepared.

United States Cavalry Fired On.

Brownsville, Tex.—A patrol of the Twelfth United States cavalry was fired on three times Wednesday in the vicinity of the La Feria pumping plant, twenty-five miles above Brownsville, and on the bank of the Rio Grande. Two of the shots came from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, the noncommissioned officer in command reported, while one shot was fired from the American side. In reply, the troopers, twenty in all, fired three rounds each into the surrounding brush, but failed to locate persons responsible for the shots.

ENGLAND IN NOTE TO U. S. DENIES TRADE IS COVETED

Claims Unfavorable Reports Regarding Policy Have Been Inspired by Agents of Germany.

Washington—Great Britain's answer to reports widely circulated in this country that she has been interfering with legitimate trade of the United States with neutral European nations for the benefit of her own exporters, is given in a note handed to Ambassador Page at London by Sir Edward Gray, the foreign minister, and made public at Washington Saturday by the state department. Data and figures are quoted at length to prove that where British exports and re-exports have increased, the growth of similar trade from the United States has been many times as large, while in many cases there have been vast increases of American exports compared with decreases in those from the United Kingdom.

The note, which is in response to the British ambassador's report of a conference at the state department to the unfavorable impression created in the United States by reports of increases in British trade with northern European countries since the war began, suggests also that statements concerning Great Britain's policy have been inspired by German agents.

Aug. 13 is the date of the document, which was transmitted by mail instead of cable.

FIRE DESTROYS RAILROAD REPAIR SHOPS AT MARSHALL

Texas & Pacific Coach and Paint Shops at Marshall Burn—Damage Is Estimated at $500,000 to $750,000.

Marshall, Tex.—A loss estimated at from $500,000 to $750,000 was suffered by the Texas & Pacific Railway Company in the burning of its coach and paint shops, the system storeroom and contents, and about fourteen passenger coaches and freight cars early Friday morning.

The fire started in the big coach and paint shop, all one mammoth building, located in the western end of the shops and midway between the freight car shop and the storeroom, the space between being but a few feet. The paint and oil supplies for the company were kept in a basement in this building, but it is supposed that the fire started on the main floor, from what cause is not known.

Fourteen passenger and freight cars were consumed. The number of coaches has not been accurately stated but it is said that four of them were just ready to be put into service this week. As new coaches cost about $18,000, it is believed that these four alone were worth about $70,000. Workmen in the coach shop lost tools valued at approximately $6,000. It is said that about three hundred men have been thrown out of work.

Taxes Called to Avert Deficit.

Austin, Tex.—In order to avert, if possible, a deficit in the state treasury, Comptroller H. B. Terrell Friday addressed a letter to the 249 tax collectors in Texas urging upon them to remit at once all tax collections. Collection of 1915 taxes began Friday throughout the state.

Saw Mill Fire Loss Is Great.

Zwolle, La.—Fire that originated in the filing room at the plant of the Sabine Lumber Company and was fanned by high wind Thursday night destroyed the saw mill, capacity 100,000 feet, and dry kilns, causing a loss estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000.

BEDSTEDS MADE OF DATE PALMS

So many wounded allies have been taken from the Dardanelles to Egypt that the erection of numerous temporary hospitals has been necessary. To equip these quickly, bedsteads were made of date palm trees. They resemble bird cages, and the material is so supple that they are as comfortable as if they had the best of modern springs. The photograph shows wagon loads of these beds on the way to a hospital.

Dear Uncle George:

I received your letter yesterday and I think I appreciated it more than any letter I have received in a good long time. You would hardly believe it if I should tell you that I thought of you more than any one else when I was at Manassas, Bull Run, Spotsylvania Court House, Fairfax Court House, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Antietam Creek, Sharpsburg, Harper's Ferry, Winchester, and other historical points, but it is true nevertheless. I pictured the armies in battle arrayed, and whenever I think of the Confederate army, I always think of you, as one of the staunch old veterans who supported the Confederate flag so nobly. I think Clara was as proud of your letter as I was. I am sorry now that I did not buy folders giving full description of Gettysburg battlefield. I sent my father a folder covering Sharpsburg pretty fully, and I want you to borrow this from him and see for yourself just what improvements have been made. The improvements at Sharpsburg, Harper's Ferry and Antietam Creek are nothing to compare with the improvements at Gettysburg.

You are correct in that the old battle grounds are vastly different from what they were when you fought and bled there. The national government has taken over these battle grounds and has spent millions of dollars in beautifying same. There are thirty-eight square miles in the Gettysburg battlefield, containing 24,460 acres of land, of which amount 2500 acres have been laid out in government roads and memorial sites. There are 51 miles of gravel road and 35 miles of macadam roads, winding in and out through the beautiful parkways. There are 1296 monuments that have been erected by various states in commemoration of their shattered regiments. There are 385 mounted cannons on the Gettysburg field which are placed and pointed just as they were used in those memorable days of strife. There are five steel observation towers, 75 feet high, which have been erected in order that visitors may get a better idea of the battle grounds. Battlefield Park at Gettysburg, as well as National Cemetery at Antietam, are beautiful beyond description. On Battlefield Park alone the national government has spent seven million dollars, and the result is a noble monument to the fact that our government appreciates the shed blood of her fallen heroes. The national cemeteries at both Gettysburg and Antietam are beautifully laid out and there are thousands of headstones to mark the resting places of the bodies that were removed and buried side by side in these beautiful places. In the national cemetery at Gettysburg there are 3654 Union bodies which have been reclaimed and placed in this cemetery, and I do not know how many Confederate soldiers. I suppose that only a small per cent of the 28,000 Confederate soldiers killed or missing upon the Gettysburg battlefield were ever given the rites of burial.

I have no idea how much money the various monuments represent, but some of them cost as high as $200,000 each, and are magnificent monuments. Nature could not have devised more beautiful spots for her battles than at Gettysburg and Antietam. The old hills are sodded in grass and are mowed regularly. The surrounding hills and mountains add to the picturesqueness of the place. At Sharpsburg, the bloody lane is still there, although it is fenced in and the macadam road is at the side. In fancy I could see the Confederates charging up this road and see them mowed down by the Union shrapnel. The bloody cornfield is still there; the piper buildings and the old Dunkard church, but the corn is gone, and the church looks rather quaint, surrounded as it is by modern roads and other improvements.

I, too, wished you could have been there with me, for I felt real patriotic. When you left there it was a scene of carnage, but seeing Gettysburg today is vastly different. It means seeing beautiful scenery of the great National Park, threaded with the finest of avenues and adorned with costly memorials. I know that you would have some trouble in reconciling in your own mind the Gettysburg of today, or the Antietam of today, with the battlefields of yesterday.

They have at Gettysburg a cyclorama which gives the Gettysburg of 1863, and then you have only to step outside of this building and compare it with the Gettysburg of today. This wonderful picture was painted by an eminent French artist who secured all information from official records at Washington. He spent weeks and weeks at Gettysburg, studying the fields under the guidance of officers, making sketches and photographs. He interviewed a host of living witnesses of the battle, both Northern and Southern, and when, after several years' work, it had been completed, and minor changes made, it is agreed by all that there is a wonderful exactness in every detail, and is equal to an instantaneous photograph of the progress of the battle, a perfect presentation and representation of the Gettysburg with which you are so familiar. This picture is enclosed in a large circular building and, I suppose, extends sixty or seventy feet from the floor to the ceiling. Standing in the center of this building, you are supposed to be in a position a little north of the Bloody Angle. There one looks northwest over country where the first day's fight took place. To the northeast is Cemetery Hill and Culp's Hill where Lee failed to turn the Union right, as he had hoped to do. To the south are the Round Tops and the left of the Union line vainly stormed by the invincible Longstreet. You can see the cavalry clashing miles to the east in an attempt to get around the Union line and to break the Union army in two. You can see that impetuous, immortal charge of Pickett, following a two hours' artillery duel. It is a wonderful painting, and the longer you look the more you see. It seems that the smoke of battle is actually rising and drifting away on the breeze.

Enjoying it as I did myself, I could not help but think that the realistic scenes there presented would have brought tears to the eyes of an old soldier, like Uncle George. I am sure that my patriotism was at its highest point, but even so, I am frank to state that I would rather have been driving through the battle grounds in an automobile, reading the bronze tablets, viewing the magnificent monuments, and thinking of what happened fifty-two years ago than to have been in the trenches, side by side, with only the arm of the Lord to protect you from the hail of the Union bullets. I guess I am a coward, but I do not think I would like to take chances on the Lord's arm being sufficient protection against what you went through in your younger days.

Did you cross what is now known as the Burnside Bridge, over Antietam Creek, and do you think you would recognize the Harper's Ferry of today or John Brown's Arsenal?

There is more to be told, but will wait until I see you, as this letter has already assumed larger proportions than I thought when I started to write you. Taken all in all, I had a wonderful trip, and am very glad indeed that the opportunity presented itself.

With much love to you and auntie, I remain sincerely your nephew,
G. M. Worthington.

How an Engineer Keeps Well.

Railroad engineers are more exposed to catching cold than other workers. E. G. Dunaphant of Monette, Mo., has run a Frisco engine for 25 years and all the medicine he has taken is Foley's Honey and Tar. He writes: "I always keep it in my house and recommend it to all who have a bad cough or cold." Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Chronic Constipation.

"About two years ago when I began Chamberlain's Tablets I had been suffering for some time with stomach trouble—chronic constipation. My condition improved rapidly through the use of these tablets. Since taking four or five bottles of them my health has been fine," writes Mrs. John Newton, Irvan, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

On October 8, 1914,

The Cranford Drug Company, of Alba, Texas, phoned to The Eucaline Medicine Company at Dallas, the following:

"Express us One Dozen Admirine Tonic Sarsaparilla, and ship us by freight Five Dozen more." Alba people have been using Admirine Tonic Sarsaparilla for ten years. They know that it stops Chills and Fever promptly, relieves the system of Malaria and prifies the blood when it is disordered from Malaria Poison. Price $1.00 per bottle. Ask for it. For sale by Crockett Drug Co.

COTTON

We are prepared to handle cotton to the best advantage and solicit consignments. Our commission for handling is $1.00 per bale, which covers all charges for the first month after the cotton arrives in Houston, except freight and interest on money advanced. After the first month an additional charge of 30 cents per bale, per month, or fraction thereof, will be made to cover extra storage and insurance.

Our financial resources and storage facilities are practically unlimited, and we will make liberal advances on cotton consigned to us, whether it is to be sold on arrival, or held indefinitely, and every bale of cotton received by us will be kept under cover in a modern, fireproof warehouse from the date received until it is sold.

Interest on money advanced will be charged at the rate of 6 per cent per annum for actual time used.

Daily quotations, shipping tags, blanks and any other supplies needed will be sent free on application.

Correspondence solicited.

Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a bad bronchial cough. I felt its beneficial effect immediately and before I had finished the bottle I was cured. I never tire of recommending this remedy to my friends," writes Mrs. William Bright, Ft. Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Two Children Had Croup.

The two children of J. W. Nix, Cleveland, Ga., had croup. He writes: "Both got so choked up they could hardly breathe. I gave them Foley's Honey and Tar and nothing else and it completely cured them." Contains no opiates. Cuts the phlegm, opens air passages. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Your Property.

That is what your prescription is when the doctor hands it to you. Now, Mr. Customer, you have a right to take that prescription wherever you like. We offer you a close price as an inducement. You don't have to take it to the drug-store that charges you a big price just because the prescription says so. Assert your independence and take it where it is to your advantage. We offer you an inducement in price. We fill it right and fill it for less. It. Crockett Drug Company.

Peanuts a Good Price.

McLean & Riall at Grapeland sold Spanish peanuts last week for 62½ cents per bushel, f. o. b. Grapeland. Grapeland people were complimented on the condition of the nuts, the buyer declaring that Mr. Murchison's thresher produced better results than any he had seen. Even the Benthol picker, he claimed, cannot do the work that a J. I. C. thresher does. People around Grapeland are enthused and threshing is proceeding rapidly. It.

No Limit.

When it comes to the price of your prescription, some druggists consider the clear blue sky the limit as to how high they should charge you. Lots of soft talk about scientific work and the drugs being chemically pure is all the satisfaction you get when you slide him a dollar and fifty cents for a small bottle of medicine. You say, "That's too much, Mr. Druggist." He says, "That's filled just right," and you are frequently paying twice as much as you ought to pay. Try us for a reasonable price. It. Crockett Drug Company.

Farmers in Cotton Parade.

The Pearson Chapel Farmers' Co-operative Association, forming a parade of 31 two-horse wagons, came to Crockett Friday with 71 bales of cotton to be marketed in a lump. The line of parade was from the west, extending through town to Church street and back across Public square. Finding that a better price could not be secured by selling in bulk, some of the men sold individually while others left their cotton in the warehouses. They offered 108 bales, some of this cotton being already in the warehouses here.
