REVIEW OF THE EVENTS OF 1924

Chief Happenings of Twelve Months at Home and in Other Lands.

Many events of great moment marked the year 1924. First of these in importance undoubtedly was the formulation, adoption and putting into operation of the Dawes plan for the payment of German reparations and indirectly the financial and economic regeneration of that country and Europe generally. The success of this scheme means much for the entire civilized world. Having been devised mainly by Americans, it adds to the prestige of America.

Wars were few and not especially important internationally. The outstanding ones were the civil war for the control of the government of China, the attempt of Spain to conquer the rebellious tribesmen of Morocco, the suppression of a rebellion in Mexico and a long drawn-out revolutionary movement in Brazil. There were also several of the always-to-be-expected internecine conflicts in Central America. On the whole Mars had rather an idle year. For a time the alarmists talked of war between the United States and Japan over the Japanese exclusion clause in the new American immigration law, but the crisis was passed safely, for the time at least.

Great Britain experienced the novelty of being under a Labor government which was fairly successful until it got tangled up with the Russian Soviets, whereupon it was ousted, the Conservatives winning the parliamentary elections by large majorities. Stanley Baldwin again became prime minister. During the first quarter of the year the soviet government of Russia won recognition from almost every important country except the United States, but the soviet leaders continued to recede from their Bolshevik principles. Socialists captured the government of France and Herriot became premier. President Mustafa Kemal of Turkey and Dictator Mussolini of Italy were subjected to severe attacks from political opponents and were forced to more liberal attitudes.

In the United States the biggest event of the year was the national election, together with the sensational Democratic convention which resulted in the nomination of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, and the independent candidacy of Senator LaFollette and Senator Wheeler on a radical platform. Despite the oil reserve scandal that had laid the Republican administration open to attack, the voters of the land, by a plurality of about 10,000,000, decided that Calvin Coolidge should continue in the presidential office, with Charles Gates Dawes as vice president. During the long months of the campaign business in the United States had languished, but immediately after the election it revived rapidly, and at the same time there began a considerable boom in securities on the stock exchanges.

Music and Visitors.

At the Lions' Club luncheon Wednesday, an exceptionally fine program of music was given by Mrs. A. M. Decuir and Mrs. C. W. Wells and their Methodist church orchestra of seven instruments. The program was one of the best the club has yet had, and the orchestra not only reflected great credit upon itself, but upon the city of Crockett as well, all members of the orchestra being residents of this city, all of which very much pleased the Lions' Club and brought forth encore after encore. An enjoyable feature of the music program that was not on the program was the singing of Mr. Posey of Brownwood. Mr. Posey gave two numbers that brought prolonged applause. He is a brother of Mr. F. M. Posey of Crockett and is on a visit to his brother and family. In a brief after-dinner talk, Mr. Posey said Crockett was the best town he had seen since leaving Brownwood, an assertion he can safely make in his home city.

Buildings Going Up.

The brick buildings under construction by J. M. Lockey, on the street to the railroad station, one block from the public square, are nearing completion. These buildings will add considerably to the appearance of that part of the business district.

A number of new residences are under construction in various parts of the city, which is a good sign of prosperity.

Crossing Discontinued.

The railroad crossing near the passenger station has been discontinued by the railroad company. All traffic for the west side of the railroad at the passenger depot has been turned through the viaduct north of the station. This does away with one dangerous grade crossing.

Brown-Powell.

On Monday evening, January 5, at the residence of Rev. S. F. Tenney in this city, occurred the marriage of Miss Evelyn Frances Brown to Mr. Leon Powell of Griffin, Ga. The marriage was witnessed by a few close friends and relatives. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Joe Brown Stanton, and was at home from college for the holiday vacation. The groom came from Georgia to spend the holidays in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton, parents of the bride. While it was known among intimate friends that the couple were sweethearts, it was not known that their marriage was to occur so soon, and the announcement of the marriage Monday evening came somewhat as a surprise. The bride is one of Crockett's most talented and attractive daughters while the groom comes of a prominent Georgia family. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Tenney, the Presbyterian pastor. The bride and groom left Tuesday morning in an automobile, the gift of the bride's parents, for Griffin, Ga., to which city they take the best wishes of all Crockett people for a successful married life.

Christian Church.

Now that the holidays are over and the weather is more favorable, we are on the upgrade again in our Sunday school attendance. We should do still better next Sunday, and we need the presence of every member to make this possible. Our school is improving by coming more largely on time, and this is encouraging. Last Sunday we had a splendid portion present before we began. Let us keep this up, for the work of our King demands just as much promptness and business as any earthly matter. The prayer meetings that we are having at the churches this work should help all the church services next Sunday. We need such services often. The subject Sunday morning will be, "Christ Our Savior and Lord," and the evening subject will be "Christ the Way, the Truth and the Life" (John 14:6).

Everybody is invited to all these services.

Albert T. Fitts, Minister.

The Cotton Crop.

The cotton warehouse is weighing very little cotton now, practically the entire crop being already weighed. On Tuesday the record showed 15,730 bales had been received as compared with 17,630 bales weighed to January 6 last year. The 1924 crop receipts will fall 1900 or 2000 bales under the 1923 crop weighings.

The largest portion of the cotton has already been shipped to the larger markets. There are, however, about 3700 bales still in the hands of local growers and buyers. Very little shipping is now going out.

Farm implements and feed are being received in large quantities at the station for the beginning of the 1925 crop, by the merchants and planters.

One Improvement Follows Another.

The seven miles of concrete road on the west San Antonio road was opened a week ago and the people of Crockett have been taking frequent automobile rides on this road, enjoying the smooth travelling surface. This road also serves to bring the rich Trinity river territory in easier reach of Crockett, giving the farmers a good road throughout the year for getting to town. This road is a great improvement in the county's highway system and several other roads of this type may be constructed in the near future.

CITY AUDITORIUM NEARLY FINISHED

The construction of the city auditorium is progressing rapidly. The auditorium will be two stories high, except for the store and library building on the side across the street from the Baptist church, which will be one story.

Three store buildings with a lobby between them will be included in the building, and the auditorium and stage will be located back of these. The second story will furnish a large balcony to be used in connection with the stage. Seats for eight hundred to a thousand people will be furnished, according to the plans for the auditorium.

This auditorium will be appreciated by the citizens of Crockett, who have long needed such a building.

Y. W. A. Social.

In spite of the inclement weather most every member of the Y. W. A. and one visitor, Mrs. Garner, gathered at the home of Mrs. Alton Lemay on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 30, for the missionary social meeting. The missionary topic for December was "School Girls Here and There." Mrs. G. E. Ellis, the leader, read a part of the 14th chapter of Mark. This was followed by a chain prayer, and the following program: Paper, "Southern Baptist Training School for Girls," by leader. Paper, "School Girls in Japan," by Mrs. D. O. Kiessling. Hymn, "Make Me a Channel of Blessings." Paper, "School Girls in China," by Mrs. Harry Ellis. A prayer for missionaries on foreign fields closed this most interesting program. We were then entertained with games, which afforded much merriment. We were also delighted with songs by little Ann Kiessling, June and Joe Kennedy Adams.

Our hostess then served a delightful salad course. In this home with its wide-spread hospitality and warmth of welcome, together with the holiday season in our hearts, marks this as one of our best and long to be remembered gatherings.

Crockett Cattle Shipments.

The local railroad station is having a week of heavy cattle shipments. Tuesday the first car went out, the cattle being sent to Westfield by parties from Elkhart.

Arnold Bros. are shipping eight cars to pastures near Laredo. This is one of the largest shipments that have been made recently. These cattle are to graze in this territory until market conditions favor reshipment.

J. H. Green will ship three cars of beef cattle to the Fort Worth market Saturday. Houston county still retains an excellent supply of beef stock as well as the family milk cows.

A. & M. Banquet.

Among the enjoyable affairs held during the Christmas holidays was the banquet of the Crockett A. & M. Club at the tea room on Friday evening, December 26. The Aggie spirit prevailed to give the club members and their guests a very pleasant evening, and an evening to be long remembered.

$34,500 for Licenses.

It is estimated that Houston county will register 2300 automobiles and that the registration fee will average $15 for each car. Mrs. Sallie Lundy, 72 years of age, fell on the cement walk at the residence of John LeGory Friday evening and sustained a broken hip. Mrs. Lundy was taken on the southbound night train to a Houston sanitarium, the fracture being serious on account of her age. Last account was that she was resting well. Her many friends in Crockett hope for her speedy recovery.

Bankrupt Stock Sold.

The bankrupt stock of groceries owned by H. J. Phillips was sold Tuesday afternoon to satisfy creditors. The sale included the stock of groceries and feed, store fixtures and unpaid accounts due H. J. Phillips, and was made by an officer representing the bankrupt court and to the highest bidder. B. L. Satterwhite, Crockett broker, being the highest bidder, became the owner of the stock, fixtures and accounts. The Courier is not advised as to what disposition will be made of these by the purchaser.

Legislators Frown on Word Puzzle Hose.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 7.—The usual measure against high heels is soon to make its appearance in the legislature, according to a member. But this year it may have a companion. Some legislators are against the new cross word puzzle stocking, which fashionable women are said to have adopted. The legislator, who asked that his name be omitted, said he believed that with a woman governor the women of the state should assist the woman executive in unholding feminine charm and dignity.

Woman Is Prey of Jellybean Hijackers.

Houston, Jan. 7.—The jellybean hijacker is with us. His specialty is, naturally, women. Two youths in all the glory of bell bottomed trousers hid in the shadows along McKinney avenue and Jackson street Monday night and, as would be expected, selected a woman victim for their holdup. Georgia Howard, 706 Saulnier street, reported to police that the two bandit sheiks took $7 from her purse, and shook a mean bell bottom getting away.

Office Created to "Get" Jesse James Abolished.

Kansas City, Jan. 6.—When train bandits infested Missouri more than 50 years ago, the State legislature created the office of county marshal for Jackson county for the sole purpose of "getting" Jesse James, notorious train bandit. After 53 years, during which 16 men have worn the badge of marshal, the office went out of existence today by act of the 1923 legislature.

MRS. MEHARG OF PLAINVIEW IS NOMINATED

American Legion Commander Is Selected for Adjutant General.

Temple, Texas, Jan. 6.—Selections for appointments for adjutant general, state banking commissioner and secretary of state were announced here this afternoon by Miriam A. Ferguson, governor-elect of Texas. A woman, Mrs. S. W. Meharg of Plainview, was appointed state secretary.

Mark McGee of Brownwood, commander of the Texas department, American Legion, was named adjutant general.

C. O. Austin of Dallas, banking commissioner during Jim Ferguson's second administration, was selected by Mrs. Ferguson for the same office.

The selection of Mrs. Meharg as state secretary was made by Mrs. Ferguson, her husband said, "in appreciation of the vote and support given her (Mrs. Ferguson) by the women of the state, especially the wives, daughters, mothers and sisters of those who toil and who make up a great mass of Texas citizenship."

The appointment of Mr. Austin as banking commissioner was urged by more than 350 State banks, it was announced at Ferguson headquarters. He is described as a loyal supporter of Ferguson in every political campaign since the return of the Fergusons from Austin.

Selection of Mark McGee as adjutant general, it was intimated, was made "without the backing of anyone." His name was suggested by General John A. Hulien.

McGee supported Mrs. Ferguson in the recent campaign. He rose to the rank of a colonel in the army during the World war and is a successful lawyer of Brownwood.

Other appointments announced are:

Member of the State board of control for six years—Roy I. Tennant of Temple.

State prison commissioner—W. R. Dulaney, Houston.

State dental board—Dr. T. W. Dee, Houston; Dr. J. C. Johnson, Atlanta, and Dr. J. Burt Thomas, Sulphur Springs.

The naming of members of the board of pardons revives that board which was abolished by Governor Pat M. Neff. Sebastian was chairman of the board when James E. Ferguson was governor.

Mr. Tennant, named a member of the board of control, is a close neighbor of the Fergusons in Temple and was Mrs. Ferguson's staunch supporter during her campaign. He is a real estate man.

W. R. Dulaney, for the State prison commission, formerly lived in Bell county and formerly was superintendent of the State prison at Huntsville.

The new game, fish and oyster commissioner is well known in sporting circles of the State and is an expert trap shooter.

New London, Conn., Jan. 6.—The gas sloop La Felice, laden with liquor, estimated in value at $40,000, was captured near Montauk Point, Long Island, early Tuesday by a coast guard patrol boat after a chase of two miles, during which the patrol boat fired two shots. $34,500 for Licenses.

It is estimated that Houston county will register 2300 automobiles and that the registration fee will average $15 for each car. Legislators Frown on Word Puzzle Hose.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 7.—The usual measure against high heels is soon to make its appearance in the legislature, according to a member. But this year it may have a companion. Some legislators are against the new cross word puzzle stocking, which fashionable women are said to have adopted. The legislator, who asked that his name be omitted, said he believed that with a woman governor the women of the state should assist the woman executive in unholding feminine charm and dignity.

Woman Is Prey of Jellybean Hijackers.

Houston, Jan. 7.—The jellybean hijacker is with us. His specialty is, naturally, women. Two youths in all the glory of bell bottomed trousers hid in the shadows along McKinney avenue and Jackson street Monday night and, as would be expected, selected a woman victim for their holdup. Georgia Howard, 706 Saulnier street, reported to police that the two bandit sheiks took $7 from her purse, and shook a mean bell bottom getting away.

Office Created to "Get" Jesse James Abolished.

Kansas City, Jan. 6.—When train bandits infested Missouri more than 50 years ago, the State legislature created the office of county marshal for Jackson county for the sole purpose of "getting" Jesse James, notorious train bandit. After 53 years, during which 16 men have worn the badge of marshal, the office went out of existence today by act of the 1923 legislature.

MRS. MEHARG OF PLAINVIEW IS NOMINATED

American Legion Commander Is Selected for Adjutant General.

Temple, Texas, Jan. 6.—Selections for appointments for adjutant general, state banking commissioner and secretary of state were announced here this afternoon by Miriam A. Ferguson, governor-elect of Texas. A woman, Mrs. S. W. Meharg of Plainview, was appointed state secretary.

Mark McGee of Brownwood, commander of the Texas department, American Legion, was named adjutant general.

C. O. Austin of Dallas, banking commissioner during Jim Ferguson's second administration, was selected by Mrs. Ferguson for the same office.

The selection of Mrs. Meharg as state secretary was made by Mrs. Ferguson, her husband said, "in appreciation of the vote and support given her (Mrs. Ferguson) by the women of the state, especially the wives, daughters, mothers and sisters of those who toil and who make up a great mass of Texas citizenship."

The appointment of Mr. Austin as banking commissioner was urged by more than 350 State banks, it was announced at Ferguson headquarters. He is described as a loyal supporter of Ferguson in every political campaign since the return of the Fergusons from Austin.

Selection of Mark McGee as adjutant general, it was intimated, was made "without the backing of anyone." His name was suggested by General John A. Hulen.

McGee supported Mrs. Ferguson in the recent campaign. He rose to the rank of a colonel in the army during the World war and is a successful lawyer of Brownwood.

Other appointments announced are:

Member of the State board of control for six years—Roy I. Tennant of Temple.

State prison commissioner—W. R. Dulaney, Houston.

State dental board—Dr. T. W. Dee, Houston; Dr. J. C. Johnson, Atlanta, and Dr. J. Burt Thomas, Sulphur Springs.

Tax commissioner—Edward Edwards, Clarksville.

Members State board of pardons—W. P. Sebastian, Breckenridge, and J. N. Aldridge, Gilmer.

Member of board of State Teachers college—A. B. Martin, Plainview.

State fire marshal—J. J. Timmins, Austin.

The naming of members of the board of pardons revives that board which was abolished by Governor Pat M. Neff. Sebastian was chairman of the board when James E. Ferguson was governor.

Mr. Tennant, named a member of the board of control, is a close neighbor of the Fergusons in Temple and was Mrs. Ferguson's staunch supporter during her campaign. He is a real estate man.

W. R. Dulaney, for the State prison commission, formerly lived in Bell county and formerly was superintendent of the State prison at Huntsville.

The new game, fish and oyster commissioner is well known in sporting circles of the State and is an expert trap shooter.

Dr. Sappington, selected for State health officer, is a former mayor of Galveston, and frequently has visited the hospitals in Temple.

Timmins, to be named State fire marshal, now is connected with the State insurance commission at Austin.

HOPE IS SEEN FOR DEBT SOLUTION

Report From Herrick Is Received by Cabinet at Regular Session.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Two distinct advances in what Washington officials hope will result in amicable adjustments of the perplexing war debt and claims tangles with France and Great Britain were marked Friday in official advices emanating from the Paris and London governments.

As regarded by administration leaders here, the most important developments in the two situations was the report from Ambassador Herrick that he had received a communication from the French finance minister containing elements of a plan worked out by him for refunding of war debts to the United States. The ambassador's report was received by Secretary Hughes and the news given at once to the cabinet meeting in regular session at the White House.

Regarding the question of claims collections by the United States from Germany, now the subject of diplomatic exchanges between the State department and the London foreign office, it was said the latest note from London on that subject had been received and would be answered before January 6, when the allied finance ministers gather in Paris to discuss the allocation to their governments of proceeds to be paid by Germany under the Dawes plan.

In this connection, it was said, Secretary Hughes believes the claims controversy would be satisfactorily disposed of before the present series of notes between Washington and London terminated.

Another development of the day which gave relief in certain quarters here was the statement issued by the British embassy which at once disposed of widely disseminated reports that Montagu Normal and Sir Allan Anderson, officials of the Bank of London, had come to this country on business connected with international debts and claims matter. The embassy's statement declared the visiting financiers had come to attend to personal affairs of a banking nature and had no intention of extending their trip to Washington.

THE TEST OF A MAN.

"The place to take the test of a man is not the forum or the field, not the market place or the amen corner, but at his own fireside. There he lays aside his mask and you may judge whether he is imp or angel, king or cur, hero or humbug. I care not what the world says of him, whether it crown him with bays, or pelt him with bad eggs; I care never a copper what his reputation or religion may be; if his babes dread his home-coming and his better half has to swallow her heart every time she has to ask him for a five-dollar bill, he is a fraud of the first water even though he pray night and morn until he's black in the face, and howls hallelujah till he shakes the eternal hills. But if his children rush to the front gate to meet him and love's own sunshine illumines the face of his wife when she hears his footstep, you may take it for granted that he's true gold, for his home's in Heaven and the humbug never gets that close to the great white throne of God. I can forgive much in that fellow mortal who would rather make men swear than women weep; who would rather have the hate of the whole he-world than the contempt of his wife—who would rather call anger to the eyes of a King than fear to look in the face of a child."—William Cowper Brann.

NO LYNCHINGS DURING 1924

GOVERNOR NEFF CHALLENGES STATEMENT OF NEGRO SCHOOL.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 2.—Governor Neff Friday challenged the statement of the Tuskegee Negro institute, Tuskegee, Ala., that there has been a lynching in Texas during 1924. He wired the institute authorities to cite the name of the person they claim was lynched, and to give the circumstances.

There has been no lynching in Texas for two years, he said.

Governor Neff answered what he said was criticism in editorials of Texas newspapers, regarding his responsibility for lynchings of 1922 and 1923. If he was to be blamed for them, he declared, his critics should then be ready to credit him with the absence of lynchings during the last two years.

He stated the Tuskegee institute charged Texas with a lynching in 1923, but the facts of that case were a negro was confined in a jail at a Rio Grande Valley town, and that the jail burned, apparently ignited from inside.

DOWN ON THE FARM.

Written for the Courier.

Down on the farm about half past four, I slip on my pants and sneak out of the door; out to the yard I run like the dickens, to milk ten cows and feed the chickens.

Clean out the barn, curry Nancy and Jiggs, separate the cream and slop the pigs; work two hours, then eat like a Turk, and, by heck, I'm ready for a full day's work.

Then I grease the wagon and put on the rack, throw a jug of water in an old grain sack, hitch up the horses, hustle down the lane, must get cotton out for it looks like rain.

Look over yonder—sure as I'm born, cattle's on the rampage and cows in the corn; start across the medder, run a mile or two, heaving like I'm wind-broke, wet clean through. Get back to the house, then for recompense, Nancy got astraddle of the barbed wire fence.

Joints all aching and muscles in a jerk, I'm fit as a fiddle for a full day's work.

Work all summer till winter is nigh, figure up the books and a big sigh, worked all year, didn't make a thing, got less cash now than I had last spring. Now some people say there ain't no hell, but they never farmed, so they can't tell. When spring rolls round, I take another chance, while the gringe grows longer on my old work pants. Give my suspenders a hitch, my belt another jerk, and, by heck, I'm ready for a full year's work.

ALCOHOL A POISON.

Alcohol is a poison. In chemistry and physiology this is its proper place. Many readers may receive this dogmatic assertion with a "Pooh, pooh!" "Fanaticism and folly," "We know better!" Let me support the assertion, therefore, with authority. "The sedative action of alcohol on the brain," says Christianson—and we know no higher authority either as regards poisons or the article of the materia medica—"Constitutes it a powerful narcotic poison."—The late Professor Miller, Edinburgh University.

It is a recognized fact in the medical profession that the habitual use of alcoholic drinks, predisposes to tubercular infection. It is also recognized, I think, by most physicians that alcohol as a medicine is harmful to the tubercular invalid.—Frank Billings, M. D., Chicago, Ill., Former President American Medical Association. The only proper use of alcohol to an ordinary healthy person is its disuse.—Sir Victor Horsey, M. D.

Basket ball, coming as it does between the foot ball and base ball season, is rapidly gaining prominence among high schools and colleges. The games listed above bring six of the eight Southwestern conference (the major college organization in this section of the country) into action.

Sick Headache

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. I would get constipated and feel just miserable—sluggish, tired, a bad taste in my mouth, . . . and soon my head would begin hurting and I would have a severe sick headache. I don't know just who started me to taking but it did the work. It just seemed to cleanse the liver. Very soon I felt like new. When I found Black-Draught so easy to take and easy-acting, I began to use it in time and would not have sick headaches."

I. G. N. ENGINE OVERTURNS ON SHARP CURVE

Engineer Not Expected to Recover From Injuries; Fireman Is Killed Instantly.

Palentine, Texas, Jan. 4.—One trainman was killed, another injured seriously and a third hurt to a less extent Sunday afternoon when a freight engine on the International-Great Northern railroad turned over on a curve four miles west of here. Will Parsons, fireman, was crushed to death. Thomas M. Webb, engineer, was badly burned and is not expected to live. Both live in Palentine. T. T. Hooper, of Taylor, head brakeman, was injured, but is expected to recover.

The train was going west and left the rails at the curve, turning over on a dump several feet high at the side of the track. Cars were piled onto the engine and the wreckage required hours to clear away.

Highways leading to the scene of the wreck were jammed by automobiles, as large crowds attempted to drive to the scene.

Engineer Webb died Monday morning about 8 o'clock in the hospital at Palentine.

A COMMUNITY CANNOT LIVE WITHIN ITSELF.

The following timely article is from the Mississippi Builder, which is doing a good work for the state of Mississippi:

"During the eighteen years that the writer has been engaged in publicity work, we have visited hundreds of cities, towns and communities, among which we have found a few that thought they could live without the co-operation of the rest of the world. These communities have never amounted to much, in fact, they have grown smaller, until they have been lost in the progress of the other communities that were seeking the co-operation of others and forging ahead. Yet, sometimes the backward ones wake up to the necessity of getting on the band wagon of progress.

"No, a community cannot live within itself, for no matter what the resources are or the advantages possessed, there must be an outlet somewhere. A progressive spirit of co-operation with others must be instilled and inoculated into the minds of the people, so that all progressive movements may have the right support for good. If you, as a community, will not do anything in co-operation with your neighbor, your neighbor will not do anything for you. You cannot go out and invite people to come in, and tell them that they must forsake the rest of the world. The markets of trade are like unto an endless chain covering the whole world, and if you let it go by without catching on, you are sidetracked and soon forgotten. The greatness and upbuilding of your community are just what you, as a citizen, make it."

What the Builder says is true, and it is also the case with individuals. They cannot live alone, but must co-operate with one another. In fact, the man, the community or the nation which lives for self alone, will never broaden nor flourish, nor achieve that for which they were intended.—Newton (Miss.) Record.

MAN FINED $2 AND COSTS FOR SLAYING TWO

Media, Pa., Jan. 2.—A fine of two dollars and costs of $1000 were Friday imposed on Daniel Molla, 17, convicted of involuntary manslaughter in killing one man and pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter in killing another. The men killed were John J. Kennelly and Leslie Wetzel, motorists, who were said to have lost their way late at night in Chester, Pa. Molla claimed that he heard the men outside his home and fired at them in the belief they were burglars. The court, in imposing sentence, said the verdict indicated that the shooting was not actuated by malice, but imposed the fine and costs because Molla had not exercised care in handling a deadly weapon.

CONSISTENCY IS THE SOUL OF ADVERTISING.

Consistency is held to be the soul of advertising for the small retail dealer in a pamphlet on "Small Store Advertising" issued by the domestic distribution department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The department lays down the general rule that "every merchant must make himself known in order to conduct a profitable business." It then goes on to explain the methods best adapted to the use of the small store owner by which this may be accomplished.

By way of parable the department points to the despised onion. "The onion," it says, "is a plebeian vegetable; tear-compelling, self-assertive and slightly vindictive; a fermenter of domestic strife and a bane upon polite conversation. It is to be tolerated, perhaps; not sought. But turn the magic light of advertising upon the onion and what then happens? It becomes an appetizing, health-giving and blood-enriching gift of benign nature, more delicious than the ambrosia of Olympus and as salubrious as the breezes from a forest of pines."

UNFAIR TO PUBLIC.

Radical labor leaders will make another drive to pass the Howell-Barkley railway labor bill, abolishing the railroad labor board.

It is doubtful if this bill to abolish the present railway labor board, on which the public, the railroads and labor are represented, can be passed.

The bill would simply eliminate the public from a voice in railroad wage questions which would be left entirely in hands of railroad operators and labor leaders.

So long as the public retains the right to regulate rates, it should also have a hearing on wage questions, as it pays the bill.

QUALITY, NOT CHEAPNESS, IS WHAT COUNTS

A number of letters from publishers that come to the secretary contain striking testimony as to why some of the printing of country towns is done away from home. While we receive many letters written on creditably printed stationery, we get some on which the printing would not be countenanced by any self-respecting business man.

The letterheads, the envelopes, the statements, in fact all of the printing that goes out from the office of the business man to the outside world is an advertisement of his business, and poor printing injures it. For that reason he cannot afford to use poor printing, and that is what he too often gets from the local printer in some towns.

Quality in any product will get more business than a cheap price, and that is especially true of printing. Price cutting will not take away any great amount of the printer's business unless the price cutter is producing a quality of work that is as good or better than that of the man from whom he takes his business.

There are too many printing offices in the country where anything is good enough as long as it can be read. The "good enough" kind of printing will not get by with the average business man of today. He knows good printing when he sees it; he knows the value of good printing, and will not be satisfied with any other kind.

Much of the poor printing that is turned out in country printing offices is produced on good machinery, but by careless workmen, and there is no place in modern business for the careless workman in any line.

Patronizing home industry is an excellent principle, but home industry must meet the demand for a quality product. The home-town printer cannot expect the business men of the home town to sacrifice their interests by buying printing that will injure them, simply because the printer needs the money. Every printer should study the quality of his product, and be able to produce attractive typography and good presswork, before he can expect 100 per cent of home patronage. He will have but little or no price trouble in selling his home-town business man if he is delivering the real quality printing. If he is not doing that he cannot reasonably expect their patronage.—Wisconsin Press Association "Howler."

FAMOUS UNCLES IN FICTION

Up to About Thirty Years Ago Mrs. Stowe's Hero Might Be Said to Be Favorite.

Who is the most famous uncle in literature? Thirty years ago only one answer could have been given. It would have been "Uncle Tom," who dwelt in the world-renowned "cabin," and whose sufferings did much to hasten the emancipation of his fellow slaves, London Answers states. He was only an "uncle" by courtesy, just as many an old woman is addressed as "granny" who has no other claim to that title except age.

Almost as well known today is another "uncle by courtesy," also a negro. This is the immortal "Uncle Remus," whom Joel Chandler Harris depicts so inimitably as relating to a little white boy the fanciful doings of Brer Rabbit, Brer Fox, Brer Tarapin and Brer B'ar. Uncle Remus is a universal favorite, and all the children are his nephews and nieces.

Probably the most humorous uncle in literature is that Uncle Podger who hangs a picture in J. K. Jerome's "Three Men in a Boat," whilst undoubtedly the most saturnine is Uncle Ralph Nickleby, in Dickens' masterpiece, and the most horrible that frightful old miser uncle of David Balfour, in Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnaped."

The creator of Sherlock Holmes has a very attractive uncle in the best of his French novels, "Uncle Bernac," and those who are above military age will recall the long-suffering "Uncle Harry," who endured a week's misery with "Budge and Toddy," in that once world-read book, "Helen's Babies."

Road of Good Intentions.

In an effort to regulate, if possible, the erratic ways of the motorist, the Jeffersonville board of works recently placed a "silent policeman" of the mushroom type at the intersection of Spring street and Court avenue, where the police could stand in their office and watch how well the motorists obeyed it. For a time a good many kept cutting the corners, but the police were encouraged when they saw one careful driver. He came east in Court avenue intending to turn to his right, south on Spring street. Suddenly he caught sight of the "silent policeman"; he remembered what it was there for; determined that it must at any cost be circumnavigated, so swung his machine well over to the north, or left side, passed in a beautiful curve around the "mushroom," came in on the left side of Spring street and so around to his proper station again. "That man certainly is trying hard," commented Captain Summers, watching from the police station.—Indianapolis News.

Arab Robin Hood.

Al Ikbal, an Arabic newspaper, reports the escape from Ceylon, whither he was expelled by the British government from Mesopotamia, of the notorious Sayid Taleb claimant to the throne of Iraq, and known from Basra to Bagdad as the Arab Robin Hood. He is stated to be seeking a refuge in the country of Ibn Saud, the sultan of Nejd, who, according to Moslem law, will be compelled to offer him hospitality. No news of Taleb's escape, however, has reached official circles in London, where it is declared that Ibn Saud, who is in receipt of a subsidy of £60,000 a year from the British government, will doubtless inform the high commissioner of Mesopotamia of the arrival of his unwelcome guest. Sayid Taleb attempted to influence the recent royal election in Mesopotamia in his favor by corruption and bribery, and he was about to declare war on the British government with a handful of followers when he was expelled.

A False Start.

It was the seventeenth round. The two pugilists looked like drowned rats. The referee held up his hand. "Them last rounds don't count!" he announced, hoarsely. "The fight will have to start all over again!"

A low growl ran through the vast assembly.

"What's the trouble?" roared an individual in the tenth row.

"The trouble is," explained the referee, "that the moving-picture man has struck a bad spot in his film, and the pictures are no good. Are you ready up there, professor? All right! Shake hands, boys! On my right we have—"

Lumber Waste for Fuel.

"Hog fuel," consisting of sawdust, shavings, ground-up edgings, slabs and trimmings, is widely used throughout the northwestern lumber fields, but only as an incidental; and the disposal of this material is usually a charge against the mill. A central heating plant has now been erected in Tacoma, designed especially for the burning of this fuel and, with no provision for handling any other. The fuel arrives on barges and is handled by a five-ton clamshell bucket and a system of conveyors.—Scientific American.

COMMON SENSE AN UNCOMMON THING

Let's all make a New Year resolution to promote an era of common sense. Let the idle rich, with minds sickened from unemployment, experiment with fancy theories, but let's insist that they confine their experiments to their own class. They would not be rich if they had not some ancestor who had followed the rules of common sense in amassing the wealth which they now find so troublesome. The portrait of a grandfather in overalls—it would be a crayon enlargement, probably—might not harmonize with the old masters in the gallery of a modern mansion, but it would serve to recall the reigning generation to a sense of who they are, from whence they sprang and of the hard knocks that someone had to endure in order that they might enjoy their present ease.

Common sense is industry, right living, justice, giving our neighbor his due and exacting our due from him. America grew to greatness on common sense. Brilliance there was, of course, but reading the history of this country you will note that every time that brilliance showed a tendency to depart from sense or to become subversive, and the brilliant leader drew a sufficient following, there was trouble. When human nature gets to be something different from what it is and always has been, it will be time to try new guides.

A good road, like virtue, is its own reward.

QUIET CHRISTMAS FOR LOVINGTON

Lovington passed through one of the quietest holidays in its history. The weather was so cold that it was well nigh impossible for many people to get away from home. Many of our people had already gone to other parts of the country to spend the holidays and very few of them returned until the last of the week and many of them delayed their coming till Monday and Tuesday of this week.

There was little or no disorder reported and every one seemed to be on their good behavior. The boys seem to have realized that there are other ways of enjoying themselves than trying to be toughs and rowdies, a lesson that some of the visitors who occasionally come here would do well to learn.—Lovington, N. M., Leader.

JUMPING AT CONCLUSIONS.

This is a true story that shows how dangerous it is to jump at conclusions. A member of a St. Louis church came to her pastor with the following problem:

She was going down town one morning to do a little shopping, and she put a ten dollar bill in her bag. She hurried off as soon as breakfast was over in order to get an early street car and to do her shopping before the stores were crowded. On the way to town she noticed that her bag lay open at one side of her lap near the other occupant of her seat. She took it up and anxiously looked into it. Glancing furtively around, she saw a bill in the apron pocket of the woman beside her. It had evidently been thrust in hastily; it was crumpled and protruded far enough to let its denomination be seen. It was a ten dollar bill and could be no other than the one missing from the open bag. What should she do?

The woman studied her neighbor. She was of the laboring class, neat but poor. Her face showed the lines of a hard, joyless life. It would not be right to expose the poor creature, even though she had stooped to dishonesty. But she must have the bill back. She needed it, and besides it was not right to be a silent party to a wrong. At last she decided upon what seemed the only possible course. She would slip the bill out of the apron pocket and say nothing. That she did.

After a morning in the shops she returned home, took off her hat and started to lay it on the bed. There on the white counterpane, looming large and green was a ten dollar bill. The very one she had thought was lost. She remembered now that she had left it there. She had stolen a bill from the poor woman beside her.

Sick at heart, the lady advertised in every paper, but no one replied. Then she turned the bill over to the minister until she could find the stranger. There is one person at least who will never again jump thoughtlessly at a conclusion.—Youth's Companion.

THE OLD LOG SHACK.

Just across the blue grass medder where the creek went murmumin' by, where the poppies and the daisies used to smile up at the sky, in the days of blessed memories, the days that can't come back, we built it and we loved it—our little old log shack. It had no fancy doin's; it was kind o' rough and plain; but the harp strings of the angels never played a sweeter strain than the melody of laughter from our healthy, strappin' boys in that dear old shack where Love was queen and

Women Do the Buying

☞ The modern woman is a business woman. She makes eighty per cent of all purchases made in retail stores. She is an astute, clever buyer and runs her house on a strictly business basis.

☞ The modern woman is constantly in touch with the stores and their offerings. Through the advertising she knows the lowest prices, the best qualities and the latest commodities. Long before she leaves the house for a shopping trip, she knows exactly what she wants, where to get it and how much to pay.

☞ She buys merchandise of established reputation. If it's clothing, she knows how well it should wear and what the style should be. If it's food, she knows what to expect in nutrition values and price. If it's a vacuum cleaner, she knows what kind of service it should give.

☞ Ask her and she will tell you that it pays to read the advertisements. It will pay you, too. It will save you time, money and effort. It will help you dress better, eat better, sleep better and live better.

keeper of our joys. We loved it in the mornin' when the dew was on the flowers and in the summer's benediction seemed to bless the fletin' hours; when the purple tinted bugles of the mornin' glory vine just seemed reachin' up toward heaven like, to catch the joy divine. We love it in the evenin' when the sun had gone to sleep and the shadows from the west land came a-driftin' soft and deep; and we loved to linger near it and to look out on the night when the moon was full o' glory and the stars were leakin' light. No wonder that we loved it; for our whole great world was there; and we built it in the golden days when life was young and fair; and its roof of rough hewn shingles was a chunk from heaven's dome, and its walls were good as jasper for our paradise of home. We live up in our town house now with fixin's fine and new, but the memory of old days keeps a-soakin' through and through; and we keep a-sayin' to ourselves, "There's something that we lack." Oh, I wonder if we left it in our little old log shack?—Cisco American.

CHEER UP.

Remember this:
When Abraham Lincoln was a young man he ran for the legislature in Illinois and was badly swamped.

He next entered business, failed, and spent 17 years of his life paying for the debts of a worthless partner.

He was in love with a beautiful young woman to whom he became engaged—then she died.

Later he married a woman who was a constant burden to him.

Entering politics again, he ran for congress again and was badly defeated.

He then tried to get an appointment in the U. S. land office, but failed.

He became a candidate for the U. S. senate and was badly defeated.

In 1856 he became a candidate for the vice presidency and was again defeated.

In 1858 he was defeated by Douglas.

One failure after another—bad failures—great setbacks. In the face of all this he eventually became one of the country's greatest men, if not the greatest.

When you think of a series of setbacks like this, doesn't it make you feel kind of small to become discouraged, just because you think you are having a hard time in life?—Anonymous.

LINK IN THE FAMILY CIRCLE.

As an entertainment and educational device, the radio is far surpassing motion picture theaters, dance halls or any other form of public amusement.

A new horizon has been opened up by radio to millions of families living in the country, the town or the big city, a new means of culture.

The world in its larger centers is offering programs of good entertainment and instruction to people in their homes both by day and night, the new marvel drawing families together.

Young and old, instead of wandering idly in search of diversion, can hear an orchestra, a band, a pipe organ, a religious service or a good play, in their own home, be it in a city, on a farm, or miles away in mountains or desert.

There are lectures for the serious minded all the way from literature to electricity, and specialists give the latest ideas in dress, dancing, gardening or the various fields of scientific progress.

As broadcasting stations are enlarged to give better service over wider areas, radio will give still greater service to the nation.

Basket Ball Team Ready.

Under the direction of Coach Abernathy, formerly of Mississippi university, the Crockett Hi basket ball team is working for the opening of the season. An auto wreck injured Bynum, guard for two years, to such an extent that he can not take his expected place. Sickness took Julian, tall center, from the club. These men will be almost impossible to replace.

Odom and Parker will be the mainstays at forward. Captain Breazeale will probably guard the Hi goal with the other guard and the center chosen from Dillard, Traylor, Kelley, Dean and other candidates.

The team expects to play a game Friday, provided arrangements can be made, and the club is anxious to hear from the teams of the county wanting games.

SPORTSMAN IS MERE KILLER,

SULPHUR SPRINGS MAN
 PLEADS FOR PROTECTION OF BIRDS.

The following has been received by the Dallas News from John A. Stevens of Sulphur Springs:

I do not wish to raise an argument with the entomologist or the ornithologist or anybody else, but as a plain, every day, always at it, sandy land East Texas farmer I want to give out some hard-headed, cold-blooded, frog-hearted, blue-livered facts.

The voice of the quail, as an old negro said, "Am done ceasted."

On my three little farms I once had lots of quails and other birds and no grasshoppers to bother me. And now I have practically no birds and thousands of grasshoppers—they are now a menace.

At the beginning of this fall I had four quails left, all hens, no roosters, and no possible increase. I think they have driven out the lone four and killed them in the last few weeks.

I was a daily observer of birds before they were all killed. I know their habits, I know their food, I know for what purpose they seem to have been created.

I know that with one doubtful exception there is not a bird in East Texas that does not feed on one or many insects.

The laying of eggs and propagation of bird life depends as much on a meat food as does that of a chicken or turkey. Will a quail eat boll weevils? Yes or anything else he can swallow, just like a chicken.

The main purpose in nature, however, of the quail, is the destruction of grasshoppers. They eat them while the hoppers are small. Quails and hoppers are hatched off about the same time and the coveys of young quails go in abreast, like young chickens, and eat the young hoppers when they are but little larger than a gnat. Nature has provided that the hoppers should furnish the main meat food for the quails in the quail-growing season, which is identical with the hopper-growing season; also that the quails should hold the hoppers in check and keep them from menacing the crops and the ranges.

There are especially three more of the greatest birds in East Texas that are slaughtered as targets, just for fun, because they are gentle and easy to kill. They are the red-headed peckerwood, the sap-sucker and the yellow hammer. The meadow lark and the blue jay are also good birds that are gentle and butchered just for fun. All these birds, except the meadow lark, are the common enemies of the boll worm, the peach worm, cut worm, etc.

The peckerwood stands at the top as the enemy of the boll worm. He, with the other birds mentioned, pecks into the nose of an ear of corn, in roasting ear state, and gets the corn worm, thus preventing him from making a fly and laying the cotton field full of boll worms.

I believe, from experience, that one of these first birds mentioned is worth 100 pounds of seed cotton a year.

The destruction of bird life in the United States, if not stopped, will one day cause actual suffering from hunger and cold among especially our 55 per cent of urban population.

DO YOU NEED SHIPPING TAGS?

DO YOU NEED CIRCULARS?

Do you need printing of any kind—or, rather, are you going to need any within the next few weeks? If so, phone us and we will come for the copy, or bring it to the office, as you desire.

We have plenty of time just now to devote to your printing. We can give you good work on every job. It takes time to do printing right and for this reason we urge you not to wait until we have to “rush” your job through in order to deliver it when you need it.
