BAPTIST 75 MILLION CASH ROUND-UP CAMPAIGN

Dallas, Oct. 6.—Approximately $2,000,000 will be expended by the Baptists of Texas during the year 1920 on buildings which are now under construction or which have recently been completed at the various institutions for higher education fostered by the denomination in this State. This is by far the greatest building program ever undertaken by Texas Baptists in one year, and it is possibly the largest undertaken by a single denomination in any State in the South in the same length of time.

This extensive program has been made possible through the recent 75 Million Campaign which was carried to success by Southern Baptists. A campaign is now on in Texas known as the 75 Million Cash Round-up Campaign looking forward toward the collection of the remainder of pledges due this year. One-fifth of the $16,000,000 pledged by Texas in the 75 Million Campaign will be due November 5. Approximately $2,000,000 has already been collected.

The money which is being expended on buildings this year has been allotted as follows: Baylor College for Women, Belton, $480,000; Baylor University, Waco, $350,000; Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, $350,000; Howard Payne College, Brownwood, $125,000; Simmons College, Abilene, $175,000. An allotment of $750,000 has been made to the Dallas Greater Medical Center, $375,000 of which is to be used in the erection of a dispensary building providing added quarters for the training of physicians and nurses.

An additional fund of $170,000 has been provided which is being used in assisting congregations to build churches at various points over the State which are considered strategic and needy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Young County—Greeting:
 YOU ARE HEREBY COMANDED to summon J. S. Norton by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return date hereof in some newspaper published in Young County, to appear at the next regular term of the Justice Court of Precinct No. 1 in Young County, Texas, to be held at the court house thereof in Graham on the fourth Monday in October, 1920, same being the 25th day of October, 1920, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 10th day of September, 1920, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court number 1816, wherein The John E. Morrison Co. is Plaintiff and J. S. Norton is Defendant. Said Plaintiff claiming an unpaid balance of $119.12 on an open account for goods, wares and merchandise purchased by the Defendant from Plaintiff.

Herein fail not, but have before this court on the first day of said term this writ with your return showing how you have executed the same.

Witness my hand this the 10th day of September, 1920.

C. D. BREWTON,
 Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 1, Young County, Texas.

NEAR EAST RELIEF

Dallas, Sept. 28.—Over 100,000 little helpless Christian orphans in Armenia and the Near East are looking to America for food this coming year, according to an announcement made today by Charles L. Sanger of Dallas, State Chairman of the Near East Relief Organization.

"Of this number," Mr. Sanger said, "54,600 are housed in Near East Relief orphanages, while 56,039 others are receiving partial support through the operation of soup kitchens, bread lines and clothing-distributing centers."

The appeal to be made to the people of Texas this year for the support of these little Christian orphans will be along the lines of orphan "adoption," with the establishment of orphan "adoption" clubs throughout the State. An orphan "adoption" has been figured as the pledging of ten dollars a month for a period of one year, which amounts feeds, clothes and shelters an orphan for that period of time.

"Upon the people of Texas rests the responsibility of caring for 5,000 such orphans on this basis," O. M. Lowry, State Secretary of the Near East Relief, said, "which number has been assigned to the care of Texas. Unless food and support is furnished these little orphans for this period of time, it will be necessary to close the doors of our 229 orphanages and turn these little ones out upon the streets and deserts to perish from hunger and cold as they were immediately following the atrocities of the Turk."

Contributions towards the support of Armenian orphans can be made through the State office of the Near East Relief at Dallas, and the appeal being sent to the people of Texas is for immediate support before winter sets in in the stricken area. "At the present time," Mr. Lowry said, "there is only sufficient food for several months now in orphanage storehouses and additional flour and supplies must be rushed immediately, or else thousands of little Christian orphans will perish."

NATURE IN A RAGE

Violence of Typhoon Is Almost Beyond Belief.

Writer Vividly Describes Scene When Great Windstorm Wrought Havoc in Harbor of Hong Kong—Boats Piled on Shore.

"I had been anxious to see a typhoon," says Edwin Tarrisse, who has spent some years in the East, "and I had my wish gratified in Hong Kong more than once. The strength of the wind at such times is greater than one would have thought possible. It whips ships helplessly adrift from the firmest moorings and with sudden blast takes away the corners of houses and sends projecting verandas flying across the street.

"During the night of one gale the residents for the most part shut themselves closely in their houses, carefully securing their doors and windows, and so remained with constant apprehension and dread lest the dwelling should be swept away and themselves be entombed in the ruins.

"Once, while the storm was at its worst, I ventured down to the Praya to see the crowd of Chinese boats that had been blown inshore and piled up in a mass of wreckage just below the city. The sky was of dark leaden color, and the wind caught up the crested waves and sent them in long, white streaks of vapor across the scene, through which the dismantled ships were dimly descried drifting from their moorings.

"The heavy, stone-faced wall of the Praya had given way, and the great granite blocks had been washed in upon the road. Half-blinded by the waves as they leaped over the road and dashed in angry foam against the houses, and buffeted by the wind, I made slow headway to the east end of the settlement, where a number of foreigners were attempting to rescue two women from a small Chinese boat.

"We had to cling to the lamp posts and stanchions and seek shelter against the doorways and walls. Advantage was taken of a slight lull in the storm to fire off rockets, but these were driven back like feathers against the houses. Then, long lifeboats were dragged to the pier, but the first was broken and disabled the moment it touched the water, while the second met a like fate and its gallant crew were pitched out into the sea.

"In short, every effort proved abortive, and as darkness set in the unhappy women and their boat were reluctantly abandoned to their fate.

"Next morning, the whole length of the Praya presented a scene of wreckage and desolation. Many of the Chinese, notwithstanding their shrewdness in predicting storms, had been taken quite unawares and hence the fearful sacrifice of life and the loss of property which ensued."

Where Old Jewelry Goes.
The United States assay office at New York has recently received much gold and silver in queer articles for conversion to bullion or coin.

The charges for converting gold and silver are less than those made by any private company, which circumstance brings to the assay office dealers in precious metals, pawnbrokers, jewelers, gold and silver producers and banks. It is no unusual sight to see a dealer bring in a lot of jewelry made up of a gold mesh bag, brooches, scarf pins and rings. This is weighed in bulk and a receipt given which includes no statement of value. All the articles are melted as a whole, and the owner given the privilege of receiving in payment gold or silver bullion or cash.

Some time ago the executrix of an estate sent a silver chandelier of enormous proportions, but hopelessly out of style. It was reported to have cost $20,000 fifty years ago. Melted it brought about $2,700.

Whales Not Deep Divers.

Although it is a common belief among sailors that whales, when they "sound," descend to enormous depths in the ocean, and, although it has been estimated that the larger whales commonly dive to a depth of almost two-thirds of a mile, yet a member of an antarctic expedition challenges these statements and avers that about 300 feet is the maximum depth to which a whale can dive, says the Sun and New York Herald. He bases his statement partly on the fact that the fish on which they feed and to obtain which they are accustomed to sound, dwell near the surface, and partly on the fact that at the depth of 1,000 yards or more the pressure is so great that they could not withstand it, and that their muscular strength is not sufficient to propel them into the regions where it prevails.

Advices Walking on Tiptoes.

Walking on tiptoe a few minutes daily is the form of exercise prescribed by Dr. Gautiez, a French physician. It brings into action little used muscles of back and abdomen as well as those of calf and thigh, stiffens the spinal column and neck, and promotes chest breathing in place of the abdominal breathing common from constant walking on the heels. It gives the benefit of gymnastic running without the useless heart fatigue and loss of breath. It is pronounced the most convenient form of physical culture, and its efficiency is easily tested. But it must not be assumed that the deforming practice of wearing high-heeled shoes has the advantages of the few-minute-a-day exercise.

GOT NO CREDIT FOR SONG

How Thomas A'Beckett Wrote a Version of "Hall Columbia" and Another Man Claimed It.

There are three patriotic songs known as "Columbia," and there is not always as much care in distinguishing them as there should be, the Philadelphia Record remarks.

In "Songs That Every Child Should Know" Dolores Bacon has included "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," which she credits to Dr. Timothy Dwight. That eminent man, so closely identified with the history of Yale, wrote another "Columbia."

"Columbia, Columbia, to glory arise, The queen of the world and the child of the skies."

Both "Hall Columbia" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" are Philadelphia products, though the tune of the former, known before Joseph Hopkinson set the words to it as "The President's March," has a somewhat obscure and disputed origin. Both of these songs were born on the stage; they were written for the benefit of actors. An actor named Fox appealed to Hopkinson to write some verses that he could sing to "The President's March," and the result was "Hall Columbia," produced in 1798.

Thomas A'Beckett, whose son of the same name died last year, wrote to Admiral Preble an account of his composition.

"In the fall of the year 1843, being then engaged as an actor at the Chestnut street theater in Philadelphia, I was waited upon by D. T. Shaw (then singing at the Chinese museum) with the request that I would write him a song for his benefit night. He produced some patriotic lines and asked my opinion of them. I found them ungrammatical, and so deficient in measure as to be totally unfit to be adapted to music. We adjourned to the house of a friend (R. Hartford) and I then wrote the two first verses in pencil, and at Miss Hartford's piano I composed the melody. On reaching my home I added the third verse, wrote the symphonies and arrangements and made a fair copy in ink and gave it to Mr. Shaw, requesting him not to give or sell a copy."

Shaw, however, procured its publication by Willig of Philadelphia as a song "written, composed and sung by David T. Shaw, and arranged by T. A'Beckett, Esq." A'Beckett asserted his rights and obtained their admission, but "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean" has often been published as Shaw's work.

Another Crime Charged to Rat.

The rat, already perhaps the most unpopular of all living creatures, earns fresh odium from the discovery that it may be responsible for the spread of cancer. Of the rats brought from a certain sugar refinery to the laboratory of Professor Fibiger, of Copenhagen, many were found to have cancer of the stomach, and investigation has tended to show that this resulted from eating the cockroaches with which the refinery is infested. A nematode worm was discovered as a parasite of the cockroaches, the female being one and one-half to two inches long and one-two-hundred and fiftieth inch in diameter, while the male is only half as large. A number of rats fed on these cockroaches and on the eggs of the parasite developed inflammations and cancer of the stomach. Of rats fed on the eggs, 116 which developed gastric affections included 14 that died in 30 to 40 days without developing cancer, and 54 that eventually died from quite typical cancer of the stomach. The tumors all continued to increase in size as long as life lasted.

Not Dobbin.

The little boy of the farm was showing the visitor, who happened to be a literature teacher in one of Indiana's higher institutions of learning, over the farm. He commented often, but sometimes not as wisely as a farmer would have commented on the points of interest. They happened to pass a field in which was an animal whose place has partly been usurped by the auto industry. He leaned against the fence and gazed on the sight. "Poor Dobbin, your day of usefulness is over," he sighed. "No doubt a shining new flivver has taken your place." "No, sir," the little boy offered information. "Her colt hurt its foot in the pasture yesterday, so dad left it in the barn today while she grazed."

School for Belgian Farmers.

The Belgian government has hit upon a novel scheme of teaching the farmers of the country better methods of farming, says Motor. The idea of a school for farmers is not new, but the idea of taking the school to the farmer by means of a motor caravan is certainly novel. The school building consists of three units, one powered with a gasoline motor; in short a building section on a motor truck. With this powered unit go two trailers and the three rolled into position and joined together make the commodious and convenient class room.

Gravity Labeler Useful.

The gravity labeler makes a wide departure from all previous belt machines as one of extreme simplicity, says the Scientific American. Starting from a receiving shelf, the cans roll down an inclined track, passing first over an open tray of adhesive and then over the label stack, picking up a label in their progress. The cans then pass under a battery of brushes, then firmly affixing the labels. The machine will work at lightning speed, being limited only by the rate at which operatives can place cans on the inclined shelf.

SPECIAL DAYS WILL FEATURE STATE FAIR

Dallas, Texas.—The great State Fair of Texas which swings wide its gates October 9 for a sixteen day's exposition, has made every effort to take care of all activities by scheduling of special days. Something will be doing each day of the sixteen not alone to attract the great mass of a million and more people who will pass through the exposition gates, but for the particular concern of every organization. Nobody has been overlooked. Sunday, October 10, will be Scandinavian Day; Monday, October 11, Wholesale Manufacturers' Day; Tuesday, October 12, Mexico Day; Dallas Day; Columbus Day; Wednesday, October 13, Fine Arts Day; 36th Division Day; Thursday, October 14, Cattlemen's Day, Texas Elec-tic Medical Association Day, Kiwanis Day; Friday, October 15, Texas School Children and Teachers' Day, League of Texas Municipalities Day, Kidd-Key Day, Orphans Day, County Agents Day, Texas Swine Breeders' Association Day, Elks Day; Saturday, October 16, Press Day, Traveling Men's Day, East Texas Day, West Texas Day, Texas-Oklahoma A and M Day, Harrison County Day, Rainbow Day, Boys' Club Day, Cumberland University Day; Sunday, October 17, Junior Chamber of Commerce Day, American Legion Day, 90th Division Day, Legislative Day; Monday, October 18, G. A. R. Day, Women's Relief Corps Day, Texas Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Club Day; Tuesday, October 19, Confederate Veterans' Day, Good Roads Day, Texas Congress of Mothers Day; Wednesday, October 20, Farmers Day, Panhandle and Plains Day; Thursday, October 21, Texas Jersey Cattle Day, Home Demonstration Agents Day, Girls' Club Day; Friday, October 22, Nut Growers' Day; Saturday, October 23, W. C. T. U. Day; Sunday, October 24, Closing Day.

110 MUSIC PIECES TO GIVE HARMONY

Dallas, Texas.—State Fair of Texas officials had made preliminary arrangements when they planned construction of barracks to house the great Estado Mayor Band from Mexico to take care of one hundred men members of the great band. It now develops that there will be one hundred and seventeen pieces of music in this wonderful organization.

The Estado Mayor Band is sent from Mexico City by the Mexican Republic as official recognition by that republic of the great State Fair of Texas, the thirty-fourth annual exposition of which swings its doors October 9 for a sixteen day's show.

Daily afternoon and evening concerts will be given by this remarkable assemblage of musicians.

Persons who have heard this band of over 100 pieces declare the music which it gives forth is in no sense band music. More than that, they declare, it is a combination of band music and orchestra music, bursting forth in one great crescendo of harmony from so many instruments. Inquiries which have been received by State Fair of Texas officials concerning concerts to be given at the state's interest is being taken in its approaching thirty-fourth exposition.

SPECIAL RATES TO DALLAS GRANTED FOR STATE FAIR

Dallas, Texas.—Special rates on all railroads have been granted during the season October 9 to 24 on account of the State Fair of Texas at Dallas. The tickets upon which rates are granted this year give ample time to arrive before the great exposition and return when it is over. The state fair management this season anticipates an attendance of a million and one half people.

ALONE—WITH A BOOK

Doesn't there come a time when even your best friends jar upon you? Do you not sometimes have moods when nothing seems in harmony with you but natural things and you have an irresistible impulse to flee from your fellows?

At such a time you need a book. Out on the green grass under a whispering tree—

Or half-way up the mountain, the noisy town below—

Or at home in the evening under your reading lamp—

Something priceless will come back to you—vision, inspiration, harmony, poise.

NEVADA RICH IN MINERALS.

The exploitation of Nevada's wonderful mineral deposits has made greater strides during the past few years than ever before in the history of the region, due to the demand brought about by the European war. The annual production of gold, silver and copper has increased from $21,500,000 in 1901 to approximately $50,000,000 at present.

INCE SUPER PRODUCTION COMING TO GRAHAM

The story of "Behind the Door," written by Gouverneur Morris and starring that virile player, Hobart Bosworth which will be shown at the National Theatre Saturday, October 16th, afforded Mr. Thos. H. Ince ample scope for the employment of his genius as director of gigantic spectacles. It is a story the logical development of which holds one spell-bound from start to finish. It is a thrilling narrative of tremendous dramatic strength at times and the finale, which is disclosed by shadows "behind the door," and which breathes tragedy born of relentless vengeance of a man who has been deeply wronged, is one of the strongest seen by motion picture audiences here in many a day.

Osiar Krug, the part played by Mr. Bosworth, is a taxidermist in a small town where people are wont to gossip about their neighbors, right or wrong. At the outbreak of the war between the United States and Germany, rumor has it that Krug is a German spy, and one day, to vindicate himself, Krug thrashes a crowd of men who are reviling him, and immediately enlists in the navy.

After he is assigned to the captaincy of a merchant vessel, it develops that Krug has secretly wedded Alice Morse, the charming daughter of a banker. She is turned out of her home by her indignant parent, and disguising herself as a Red Cross nurse, she joins her husband aboard his ship. After a cruise of some days the vessel is torpedoes and Krug and his wife are forced to take to a boat for safety.

The couple fare badly during the next few days in the open boat, when suddenly a submarine appears from the depths. Krug hails the U-boat, which is commanded by Lieutenant Brandt, who signals them to come aboard. Krug assists his wife to the deck of the submarine and is preparing to follow her when Brandt orders the crew to thrust his boat away. Krug blasphemes and swears vengeance upon Brandt, who laughingly forces Alice into the conning tower, and presently the U-boat submerges, leaving Krug alone on the face of the deep.

Krug is rescued by a passing vessel and again rejoins the merchant marine. In the days that follow he sights and sinks the same submarine. Of all the crew, Brandt alone is saved, and recognizing him, Krug plunges into the sea and saves his life. He takes him to his cabin and behind the locked door obtains the full story of Brandt's iniquitous conduct toward Krug's wife. The Hun, steeped with liquor, fails to recognize Krug and he gloats drunkenly as he reveals the story of Alice's sufferings and death at his hands.

Krug trusses up Brandt and proceeds to wreak vengeance upon him. Although the audience are favored with all the details, the shadowgraphs employed by Mr. Ince tell the frightful story of an enraged strong man's vengeance for the wrongs done him and his by a ruthless foe. It is in these scenes that Mr. Bosworth reveals his art—a pictorial display that will linger long in one's memory.

Incontestably, "Behind the Door" is a remarkable photoplay. As the suffering wife driven to madness and death by a ferocious brute, Jane Novak has one of the strongest roles of her screen career. The support generally is of the high Ince standard, the players including such well known players as Otto Hoxman, Wallace Beery and J. P. Lockney. The photoplay is well worth seeing at any price.

W. J. Treue, of Pittsburg, Kansas, spent the first of the week here on legal business. He is an erstwhile Grahamite and has become quite prominent as a lawyer in the Sunflower State.

CITY OFFICIALS TAKE CHARGE IN GALVESTON

Galveston, Oct.—Galveston's city officials this morning wore the cloak of authority for the first time since July 14, when Mayor H. O. Sappington, the city commissioners and the police force were removed by order of Governor W. P. Hobby for alleged interference with enforcement of martial law. At 12:01 o'clock this morning Capt. O'Brien Stevens, provost marshal, representing Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commanding the Texas national guard here, relinquished the work of policing the city to Chief of Police Sedgwick and his regular force.

Captain Joe Brooks, veteran Texas ranger, as a representative of the governor, will supervise the police activities, and under an agreement reached between city officials and the governor, will remain in this capacity as long as the governor deems it advisable to keep a personal representative in the city.

Martial law in Galveston, which resulted from what Governor Hobby construed as failure of the city administration to properly protect non-union longshoremen on the Mallory and Morgan line docks, has been in effect since June 7. According to the view of the governor the lack of protection for the non-union workers was largely responsible for the demoralization of coastwise shipping and the unprecedented congestion of freight along the waterfront here.

POPULATION OF TEXAS 4,661,027

The census figures announced Monday gives Texas 4,661,027, an increase of 764,485 over the 1910 census.

Texas is expected to retain its present rank of fifth most populous state. Texas has made wonderful progress during the past ten years and when all the work is completed we are sure Texas will make a good showing along many lines.

RECALL STORES STRAW VOTE

The most accurate and far reaching straw vote of any presidential election ever attempted in this country is now under way. Millions of ballots will be cast in this test vote, and at least two weeks before the November elections those who follow this straw vote will be able to tell without fear of contradiction who is to be the next occupant of the White House, and by how many votes he will win.

In order to accomplish this titanic task eight thousand Rexall Drug Stores in the United States have been designated by the United Drug Company, of Boston, as the balloting points. In each store a clerk has been detailed to conduct the ballot and thus insure a sure and fair test to vote. There will be no stuffing of the ballot boxes nor will there be any repeating.

The big unknown quality in the forthcoming election is the women's vote. In order to accurately compute this vote, two ballot boxes have been installed in each Rexall Drug Store, one for the male vote, the other for the women. Each night the vote will be counted, that of men and women totaled separately.

Each ballot clerk, in each town or city, after compiling his local vote, will telegraph his returns to a central point in that state. This state captain, in turn, will compile the total vote for the state and telegraph these returns to the Straw Vote Director at the Boston office of the United Drug Company.

In addition to this state captain, after giving the vote for his state will be returned back to each Rexall Store in his State, where they will be prominently displayed on each store window.

The Boston office, after receiving the reports from all forty-eight states will compile the total national vote, for men and women, separately, and a bulletin will be issued each night, together with the total figures by States, which will be sent back to all the eight thousand drug stores and to many newspapers and news agencies throughout the country.

In order to handle this straw vote an interchange of upwards of thirty thousand messages, telegraphic and telephonic, will be necessary each day. Beginning October 1, announcement will be made daily of the vote, and with eight thousand drug stores to draw upon, it is safe to say that many million votes will be cast and compiled.

An actual test of the Rexall Straw Vote was made in the last presidential campaign. While balloting was conducted only nine days in all the stores, yet several million votes were cast and five days before election the figures were announced.

This test showed that President Wilson had been re-elected by a small majority. It showed that he would carry California and also New Hampshire, an announcement which brought indignant denials from those opposed to him. When the total vote cast in the Rexall Straw Vote were compared with those cast in the November election, they differed from the actual figures less than one-half of one per cent. With thirty days of balloting in the present test vote, not only can the readers be kept in momentary touch with the temper of the public, but they will get a very definite idea as to how the women of the nation will vote on November 2 next.

AMERICAN LEGION OFFERED A $5,000,000 GIFT

Chicago, Oct. 3.—The board of directors of the Knights of Columbus today voted to offer the American Legion $5,000,000 for the purpose of erecting a memorial building in Washington.

The building, which would be in memory of the Americans who died in the war, would contain an auditorium seating 20,000 with quarters for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the G. A. R., the Spanish War Veterans and similar societies. Ownership of the structure would be vested in the American Legion and it would be governed by a board of directors. Of the fund offered, $1,000,000 would be used as an endowment for upkeep of the building.

The $5,000,000 represents the balance of the $40,000,000 collected by the Knights of Columbus for war purposes and will not be taken from the fund with which the organization plans to continue its national work.

A committee has arranged to meet Colonel Galbraith, head of the Legion, in New York within a few days to make the proposition to him, but he has not yet been informed of the proposed gift.

WILSON APPEALS TO COUNTRYMEN FOR LEAGUE

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Wilson in his first campaign appeal made directly to the people, urged the indorsement of the League of Nations' issue at the election and declared "the whole world will wait for your verdict in November as it would wait for an intimation of what its future is to be."

The President characterized as "absolutely false" assertions that Art. 10 of the league covenant would make it possible for other nations to lead the United States into war. There was nothing in the covenant, he said "which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of Congress to declare war or not declare war, according to its own independent judgment, as our Constitution provides."

The text of the appeal follows: "My Fellow-Countrymen: The issues of the present campaign are of such tremendous importance and of such far-reaching significance for the influence of the country and the development of its future relations, and I have necessarily had so much to do with their development, that I am sure you will think it natural and proper that I should address to you a few words concerning them. Every one who sincerely believe in government by the people must rejoice at the turn affairs have taken in regard to this campaign. This election is to be a genuine national referendum. The determination of a great policy upon which the influence and authority of the United States in the world must depend is not to be left to groups of politicians of either party, but is to be referred to the people themselves for a sovereign mandate to their representatives. They are to instruct what they wish done."

"The chief question that is put to you is, of course, this: 'Do you want your country's honor vindicated and the treaty of Versailles ratified? Do you in particular approve of the League of Nations as organized and empowered in that treaty? And do you wish to see the United States play its responsible part in it? You have been grossly misled with regard to the treaty, and particularly with regard to the proposed character of the League of Nations, by those who have assumed the serious responsibility of opposing it. They have gone so far that those who have spent their lives, as I have spent my life, in familiarizing themselves with the history and traditions and policies of the Nation, must stand amazed at the gross ignorance and impudent audacity which has led them to attempt to invent an 'Americanism' of their own, which has no foundation in any of the authentic traditions of the Government."

"Americanism as they conceive it reverses the whole process of the last few tragical years. It would substitute America for Prussia in the policy of isolation and defiant segregation. Their conception of the dignity of the Nation and its interest is that we should stand apart and watch for opportunities to advance our interests, involve ourselves in no responsibility for the maintenance of the right in the world or for the continued vindication of any of the things for which we entered the war to fight."

"The conception of the great creators of the Government was absolutely opposite to this. They thought of America as the light of the world, as created to lead the world in the assertion of the rights of peoples and the rights of free nations; as destined to set a responsible example to all the world of what free government is and can do for the maintenance of right standards, both national and international. This light the opponents of the league would quench. They would relegate the United States to a subordinate role in the affairs of the world."

"Why should we be afraid of responsibilities which we are qualified to sustain, and which the whole of our history has constituted a promise to the world we would sustain? This is the most momentous issue that has ever been presented to the people of the United States, and I do not doubt that the hope of the whole world will be verified by an absolute assertion by the voters of the country of the determination of the United States to live up to all the great expectations which they created by entering the war and enabling the other great nations of the world to bring it to a victorious conclusion, to the confusion of Prussianism and everything that arises out of Prussianism. Surely we shall not fail to keep the promise sealed in the death and sacrifice of our incomparable soldiers, sailors and marines who await our verdict beneath the soil of France."

"Those who do not care to tell you the truth about the League of Nations tell you that Art. 10 of the covenant of the league would make it possible for other nations to lead us into war, whether we will or not. This is absolutely false. There is nothing in the covenant which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of Congress to declare war or

INSANITY OF BURNING GINS

Reports of the burning of cotton gins and of warnings to ginners to close down until the price of cotton is higher, under penalty of having their gins burned, have come from five cotton growing States during the past few days.

Such ignorant lawlessness is to be condemned, not only because the destruction of property in this manner is a crime and not to be countenanced in any circumstances, but because far from accomplishing anything for the cotton farmer it aggravates the situation. We are not unmindful of the distressing situation in which many of the farmers find themselves as a result of the fall in the price of cotton. It is a situation which menaces other classes in several of the States, for the very foundation of the prosperity of those States is threatened. But that would not justify such violent acts, even though such acts were calculated to help the situation. The destruction of cotton gins might easily mean greater loss to the farmer whose cotton is thus not only kept off the market, but becomes valueless to him so far as obtaining loans is concerned. The place to hold cotton is in a warehouse, not in the field, for the receipt for stored and reasonably protected cotton becomes collateral, whereas cotton left in the field might become almost a total loss before the market improves.

It should be emphasized that starting as is the news of the burning of the cotton gins, such acts are isolated incidents and they do not represent the attitude of the great bulk of the cotton farmers. They are to be sure, are facing the grim situation which has caused these acts of violence with misgivings, but they have not turned blind anarchists. The wiser men among them will recognize immediately that such destruction of other people's property is calculated to injure and not to help their cause, and that it tends to forfeit the moral right which is theirs to exact co-operation in the protection of the value of their property. The situation is distressing, but it calls for cool and deliberate action and not the venting of an insane desire to injure somebody else. If it is such as to lead men to commit such crimes, it ought to be of sufficient seriousness to awaken the bulk of the farmers, bankers and business men to the urgent need of collective action in marketing their own cotton slowly. That is the only practical course open, and whatever can be accomplished at all can be accomplished only by following such a course.—Star-Telegram.

NEWPORT LIFE ON SCREEN

Elsie Ferguson's latest photoplay "Counterfeit," which is coming to the National Theatre Friday, October 15, is said to portray faithfully life in the homes of the rich at Newport. The sets used were copied exactly from the interiors of the summer palaces at the ultra-fashionable resort. An especially elaborate and beautiful scene reproduces a ballroom with a fountain in the center. "Extras" thoroughly in keeping with the surroundings were selected and some of the gowns and jewels worn are declared to be striking. Newport is the setting for the activities of the character played by Miss Ferguson—a Southern girl in the Secret Service seeking to capture a band of counterfeiters who have been traced to society's summer capital. A love story runs through the exciting incidents of the plot. The leading man is David Powell, and the picture was directed

WHISTLE BOTTLING WORKS

The Graham Bottling Works has had a successful season and are already making plans for an increased business next season. The company is composed of courteous business men and deserve the success already obtained and with enlarged quarters and improved methods the company will continue to grow and prosper.

not declare war according to its own independent judgment, as our Constitution provides. Those who drew the covenant of the league were careful that it should contain nothing which interfered with or impaired the constitutional arrangements of any of the great nations which are to constitute its members. They would have been amazed and indignant at the things that are now being ignorantly said about this great and sincere document.

"The whole world will wait for your verdict in November as it would wait for an intimation of what its future is to be."

TEXAS PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Austin, Oct. 6.—Three new health workers have been added to the field staff of the Texas Public Health Association, to aid in bettering health conditions in Texas, the Association announced today. Two of the new members are expert public health nurses, and the other an experienced health and social worker.

"Many calls have been coming into the Association for health service," said D. E. Breed, executive secretary of the Texas Public Health Association, "asking for health surveys, examinations of the children in the schools, formation of new anti-tuberculosis societies, lectures to children and adults, and other health work. We have not in the past had enough field workers to answer all these calls, but we now hope to be able to meet these requests promptly with our enlarged staff."

"The people of Texas are beginning to realize the value of health work among the children, such as the school nursing of the public health nurse and the Modern Health Crusade which this Association conducts in the Lone Star State. They are recognizing the necessity for health surveys and for anti-tuberculosis work, as well as for an intensive fight to prevent other contagious diseases."

The new health workers are Miss Agnes Randolph, R. N., Miss Catharine Harrell, and Miss M. Elizabeth Seymour, R. N.

Miss Randolph was formerly the executive secretary of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association. She is a trained nurse and has had wide experience in anti-tuberculosis activities. She is also a member of the board of directors of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Miss Harrell is a native Texan, and comes to the Association from Gainesville where she was executive secretary of the American Red Cross, and was on the staff of the State Training School for Girls in the same city. She took a course in social service work at the University of Texas, and graduated from the Southwest Texas State Normal College at San Marcos.

Miss Seymour attended the Western College for Women at Oxford, Ohio, and the Teachers' College at Columbia University. She is a graduate from the Illinois Training School for Nurses, Cook County Hospital, Chicago, and has done social service and public health work in Chicago, Cleveland and New York City.

FIRE PREVENTION

It has been declared that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. It is equally true that an ounce of fire prevention is worth ten pounds of fire fighting.

The man who is constantly on the alert to ward off fire has a faith that is far stronger than has the man who is careless with his property and who depends upon the zeal of fire-fighting companies and the number of pounds of water pressure maintained by the waterworks.

Keep your premises free from filth. Keep them free from trash. Keep them insured against destruction by your care, rather than trust solely to your insurance policy and to the power of firemen and their fire-fighting machinery.

A pall of smoke ascending from your property goes to feed the maw of the fire-god can have no silver lining. It is a black cloud and in nine cases out of ten leaves a black mark on your conscience.

Don't save all your energy to fight fires after they start; use some of it to prevent them.

The problem of fire prevention is unquestionably of more importance than fire control. The records of the State Fire Marshal's office show a fire loss of more than $7,000,000 for the year 1919, most of which was the result of everyday fire dangers, fully 75 per cent of which could have been avoided by the exercise of care.

The fire waste presents a condition not a theory, and the subject should be taken into our schools for careful study. To teach the child what common fire hazards are, and the need for their elimination, is to instill a spirit that will work much good toward minimizing the number of fires. The average child loves responsibility and

Do You Have Wandering Pains?

Pains which appear suddenly, now in the legs, later in the arms, frequently in the back, sometimes in the back, sometimes sharp, sometimes dull or numbing, are often a symptom of irregularity or deficiency in the action of the kidneys. When a kidney medicine is wanted, we recommend with proper encouragement would grow up with a contempt for carelessness that would bring about marked changes in the fire record of Texas.

Electricity is a wonderful thing. It is a trinity of mysteries. It has power, it has heat. When properly confined it is man's servant, it is woman's labor-saver.

But carelessness with electricity means danger, for it has a remarkable capacity for providing fuel for the fire demon. A careful inspection of electric wiring today may save a cankering regret tomorrow. There is no light of prosperity, no power to undo, no heat to make the heart glow in the ruins of a home!

Is your house wired properly? Has time corroded the insulation that confines this wonderful force to the little copper wires? Don't suppose so—do you know it?

If the wiring in your residence is not inspected and made safe, you may pay out the savings of a lifetime as a result.

A lot of useless papers thrown into a pile in the corner to be removed when it is convenient, has cost the wealth creators more money during the last twenty-five years than has been spent in wars.

Trash invites the fire demon to have an inning. A lot of rubbish, papers, odds and ends of stuff, that ought to be disposed of or properly stored, for the time being in the far corner of a store, or a room, or in the cellar, has been a most active handmaiden in the matter of starting fires. A burning match, a half-consumed cigar, a cigarette carelessly dropped into this pile makes a story for the newspapers. It does more than this—it makes it harder for you to get insurance cheaper. It makes waste of the products of labor and it has no redeeming feature.

Quit dumping your trash. Stop inviting disaster by carelessness. If your neighbor is indifferent about his trash, admonish him and that should be visited by a fire you will have to assist in paying him what he loses, and that he may burn you out—besides. And, ask him to join you in a clean-up campaign on Fire Prevention Day—October 9th.

ARE YOU PROTECTED AGAINST FIRE?

This is Fire Prevention Week and everybody is studying how to prevent fires. Too many people do not give this subject as serious thought as they should. We should think of our neighbors' property as well as our own. Everything possible should be done to prevent destructive fires.

Fall of the year is here and grass will soon be dry and easily burned.

The continued rains during the summer have caused a heavy growth of grass which has grown around fences and houses. As soon as it is dry enough to burn the occupants of houses should burn the grass about their places. The greatest of care should be exercised in burning the grass as much property is destroyed each year by the careless burning of grass. It should not be burned late in the afternoon or at night but should be burned in the morning and a hose should be ready in case the fire reaches a fence or house.

All trash about the place should be raked and burned or hauled away. Flues should be examined carefully by some one who understands how to make proper examination. A few dollars' spent this way might save us thousands later on.

Many of us use gasoline and kerosene stoves and many fires are caused because we are careless with them. It is not much trouble and may be much cheaper to turn the fire out if we leave the house and relight it on returning.

It would not be a bad policy to have an electrician examine the electric wiring of our houses occasionally. Many fires are caused each year by poor wiring. We can not be too careful about fire. It is too late after the house is on fire.

Another thing should be carefully considered while we are on the fire subject. Are you protected by fire insurance? Everyone should carry fire insurance. A few dollars a year will pay for the insurance of a residence. It is better to carry insurance forty years and never have a fire than to fail to carry insurance and have your property destroyed. Be safe and insure your property.

DRY WEATHER AIDS FARMERS

The continued dry weather has been a great help in harvesting the crops. Some fall crops would be benefited by a rain but cotton and corn and other crops already made need dry weather.

The grasshoppers and weevils ruined some of the cotton but some sections of the county are reporting good yields. Cotton is being picked rapidly but not very much is being sold. Farmers can not afford to raise cotton at the present price of labor and sell at the prevailing market.

WHITE ELECTRIC COMPANY MOVED TO EAST SIDE

The White Electric Company moved this week to the east side of the square, where they will have more room for their fast growing business. For sometime the company has occupied small quarters in the National Theater building. Their business has grown so that they sought larger quarters.

The company is now located in one of the new brick buildings on the east side where they have more room and are able to display their fine line of electrical goods.

Mr. White extends an urgent invitation to every one interested in electrical goods to visit his store.

The Graham Light Company will also have an office in the building with Mr. White.

We do not laugh enough. There is nothing more pleasant to the ear than the merry laugh of a happy, joyous person, and nothing drives away gloom and care like a good, hearty laugh. Laughter and good humor make a happy, pleasant home and a cheerful bright home is the greatest safeguard against the temptations for the young. Parents should guard against this and spare no pains to make home a cheerful spot.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Strausel, of Breckenridge, have moved to Graham.

Mrs. Leslie Holcomb returned last Monday from an extended visit with relatives in Oklahoma. She was accompanied home by a sister.

$10,000.00 Worth of Ford and Fordson Parts

Full and Running Over

Our Stock Room is full of Genuine Ford and Fordson parts. We have an assortment of parts that would enable us to build either a Ford passenger car, a Ford One Ton Truck or a Fordson Tractor from the ground up. Then too, those parts are Ford-made—each according to its use—so that they are exact duplicates of the original parts now in your car, and will give the same constant, hard wear.

Our shop is equipped with up-to-the-minute tools and machinery, specially designed, so that we can properly and promptly take care of your repair work—from a minor adjustment to a complete overhaul. And the mechanics who will do the work for you are men who understand the Ford mechanism and who know the Ford way to do the work.

We are Authorized Ford Dealers; we not only give Ford service but we sell Ford cars, Fordson Tractors and Ford One Ton Trucks as well. So, it is easy to understand that we have more than a passing interest in your car.

Drive to our garage, for Ford and Fordson Parts, Ford service or Ford cars—Come to authorized Ford headquarters and be on the safe side of dependable repairs.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Nat Price, Jr., Reporter
The students of the high school enjoyed a very interesting talk from Dr. C. R. Taylor Monday morning. His subject was based on the great territory of the United States and the great number of foreign people in the United States, their menace to us if the people of America do not prepare themselves and stand in readiness to cope with the coming situation. Such talks are very interesting and we especially enjoyed as he related several amusing anecdotes.

Regular morning exercises are now being held by the students in the chapel. Everyone has been required to get song books and new songs are being learned.

In accordance with the usual custom the pupils of G. H. S. will be dismissed early during the coming days of the chautauqua.

At a meeting of the Junior Class last week it was announced that the Juniors would be hosts to the Seniors and Football Boys at a party to be given in the near future.

Although the G. H. S. boys were defeated in the game against Haskell they showed a steadfastness of spirit nowhere to be excelled.

Belle McCluskey of South Bend has re-entered school. She has been sick for the past week.

Herman Morton was absent Monday on account of sickness. A girls basket ball team will be organized soon. There will also be a basket ball team for the boys who are not on the football team. Balls and other necessary equipment will be ordered at once.

If a sufficient number wish to attend the State Fair it is probable that we will have one holiday for the occasion.

Several new residences are being built in Graham at the present time. We have been unable to get the names of all who are now putting up residences. More building is going on just now than for several weeks.

NAT PRICE'S NEW RESIDENCE COMPLETED

So many new residences have been built this year that it is hard for The Leader to keep up with them as they are completed. Mr. and Mrs. Nat Price recently moved into their new home on South Cherry street. It is one of the desirable homes in Graham. They kept in mind the true Graham spirit while planning and building. It is large and commodious. Every comfort and convenience found in the modern home has been installed. They are justly proud of their new home which is a credit to the town.

TEXAS GIRL SCREEN STAR

Lucy Cotton, who has the chief feminine role in "The Miracle of Love," the picture at the National Theatre next week, is a Texas girl who has sprung into much prominence recently for her fine work on the stage and screen. Miss Cotton started her dramatic career in "The Quaker Girl," playing second understudy to the star until a fortunate (for Lucy) accident gave her the opportunity to appear in the lead and attract the attention of the manager and the public. That was the beginning of a speedy rise to fame via "Little Women," "Turn to the Right," and "Up In Mabel's Room."

In "The Miracle of Love" Miss Cotton has the part of a young English Duchess, married to a worthless nobleman, who endures her fate until she meets the younger son of a noble family and falls in love with him. A dramatic story is woven around their tangled fortunes which turns out happily for the two principals. Some realistic British atmosphere has been produced in the picture, including a notable scene in the House of Lords. Wyndham Standing plays opposite Miss Cotton. The picture was directed by Robert Z. Leonard.

BABY LOSES DIAMOND RING

Baby Claire Medill, four-year-old daughter of Matt Medill, manager of the North Texas Supply Company in Graham, gave her fond parents another of the many little thrills of family life last Saturday when she tiptoed to the chiffonier, obtained her mother's diamond pendant, valued at $350 and neatly and forever disposed of it in the city drains.

Medill says he is convinced more than ever that rearing a family isn't a bit more exciting than hunting lions in the jungles of Africa. But Daughter Medill, when interviewed by reporters, was busy making mud pies and from her winsome smiles it appears that she hasn't time to let diamonds be a worry in her young life.

ETHEL CLAYTON PICTURES WINS AUDIENCE WITH APPEAL

Do you enjoy seeing motion pictures in which folks you know play the different roles? If you do, you are an admirer of the type of screen entertainment which Ethel Clayton has been offering lately. Here is one star who seems bent upon portraying us as we are. Her stories have that intensely human note, which somehow warms the cockles of a film audience's heart's as no lavish setting or "stunt stuff" can do.

In "The Thirteenth Commandment," the picturization of Rupert Hughes' strong story, Miss Clayton demonstrates that the wife who spends more than her husband earns and gives nothing in return is, to say the least, a very poor sport. "Young Mrs. Winthrop" was a deserved success, because Miss Clayton in a thoroughly sympathetic and appealing manner portrayed the young wife who seeks indiscreet pleasures because her husband's over-devotion to business gives frequent periods of loneliness. Surely a common enough state of affairs.

And now Miss Clayton is coming to the National Theatre next week in another of those attractively human dramas "A Lady in Love." In this one, she is a sheltered convent girl, in love with love, who marries unwisely and lives to rue it. Of course, there is another man, and happiness awaits them at the end of a troublous trail. Harrison Ford is the leading man. Walter Edwards was the director, and it is a Paramount Arcraft picture.

NO AID FOR NOSE

Science Unable to Improve Human Sense of Smell.

Really, in That Field, the Leading Thinkers of the World Are Completely Baffled—Any way, Would Knowledge Be Desirable?

Some time ago there was held in England a "Wonders of Science Exhibition" which served to reveal many things to the public unfamiliar with work done with the microscope, the microphone and the megaphone. The microphone magnifies sound as the megaphone does things seen. The megaphone is the instrument used by the scientist in taking pictures of things shown by the microscope. More people are familiar, to some extent, with the microscope than with the megaphone. They know it is possible to hear a fly walk or a caterpillar crawl.

Many other wonders of science were shown at Sorbiton, but neither there nor anywhere else has science demonstrated its ability to help the sense of smell. It can do marvels for sight, hearing and touch, but not for the humble and useful nose. In that field the accomplishments of science have been nil.

Let a man stand two miles, say, to windward of the point where a herd of caribou will cross an open plain over which a fresh breeze is sweeping and it must be apparent that only an infinitely minute particle of whatever matter may be given off from his body or clothing can possibly reach the nostrils of any one deer in the herd. Yet, if the man is completely screened from sight by a rise in the surface of the ground the caribou will nevertheless catch the taint in the air. They would be warned of the presence of a wolf in the same way.

Yet science is utterly unable to detect anything which the olfactory nerve of the deer senses and identifies. It cannot see with a microscope anything in the air which came from the man. It cannot find any such substance with a chemical test of any kind. Instead of aiding the sense of smell, it is entirely incapable of matching it. Here is another realm for science to invade and subdue; but would the conquest be altogether desirable? It is a question whether the average man needs to smell more things or sense more acutely the things he smells already. It is thought that the gains would not offset the losses under the prevailing conditions.

Coins Memorialize Pilgrims.
Models for the Pilgrim half dollars issued by the treasury department in commemoration of the tercentenary anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims were brought to Washington the other day by William Carroll Hill of Boston, secretary of the Pilgrim Tercentenary commission of Massachusetts, and deposited with Ray Baker, director of the mint.

The models are the work of Cyrus E. Dallin, the sculptor, and the designs have been approved by the commission. The coin will bear on one side the head and shoulders of a typical Pilgrim intended to represent Governor Bradford, with his history of Plymouth colony under his arm, and on the reverse side a representation of the Mayflower. The entire issue of 300,000 coins has been assigned to the commission, which will distribute them through the National Shawmut bank of Boston. National banks in the principal cities of the country will have an opportunity, through the Shawmut, to obtain an allotment of the coins for their respective districts.

The Experiment.
There is a story told concerning a careful mother whose three children horrified her one day by producing for her inspection three exceedingly bilious-looking toffee apples.

"They're very pretty, my dears," she lied bravely. "But really you mustn't eat them. I've heard of little children dying through eating colored toffee apples."

Then she took the sweets away and put them out of reach—as she thought—on a shelf in her dressing room.

She imagined that would do the trick; but early next morning she heard a sound out on the landing, and, going to see who was astir so early, found Elsie trotting along the passage.

"What are you doing, dear?" she asked. "It's not six o'clock yet."

"Going to see if Lick and Arthur are dead yet," replied the eight-year-old miss. "T'p not."

Made to Suit.
Finley P. Dunne—"Mr. Dooley"—laid down his gorgeous Sunday magazine section.

"It says here," he observed, "that a western scientist is at work trying to transform a black man into a white man, and it says, by jingo, that the experiment is going to be a complete success."

Mr. Dunne nodded thoughtfully. "Wonderful," he said. "Wonderful! And yet, come to think about it, they've been doing the same thing for a great many years by means of white-wash."

Silent Embarrassment.
"Nobody talks about the bathers' costumes any more."

"No," replied the beach constable. "They've got to be so improper you don't let on you noticed 'em."

WORDS MADE BY ANIMALS

Many of Those in Common Use Can Be Traced to Domestic and Wild Beasts.

Monkey-tricks, a combination used nowadays to mean practical jokes, is quite new, but the prefix "monkey" is very old.

The boatmen on our canals call a small barge a monkey-charge, and the mechanic calls the adjustable spanner in his tool kit a monkey-wrench. The step of a bus on which the conductor stands is known as the monkey-board.

A bat-call is a tin whistle, and a cat's paw the medium who does another's dirty work. Catskins are the flowers of the willow, and cat-lap is weak tea.

Our friend the dog is rather badly used. We speak of dog-rose, dog-briar, dog-wheat, dog-grass, dog-eared, and each epithet implies inferiority.

The word "horse" is also used to imply inferiority, roughness, coarseness. A horse-laugh is a vulgar guffaw; a horse-chestnut is the poisonous acid sort as distinguished from the sweet chestnut; while horse-play is rough play such as 'Arry and 'Arrlet indulge in.

The commonest use of the prefix "horse" is in connection with "power." It is commonly referred to as "h. p.," and is the universal unit of comparison between steamships, motorcars, locomotives, etc.

The fox enters a good deal into common speech. We call shaming "foxing," and a crafty man is "an old fox," but why a certain dance should be called a fox-trot one cannot say.

The fox suggests the hare, and that timid animal also has its use in language as well as in soup. A man who is as mad as a March hare is said to be "hare-brained." The harebell is one of our prettiest flowers, but the possession of a hare-lip is generally thought to be the result of the interference of some malicious spirit at birth.

Then we have the "calf-love" of the very young man, and the "sheep's-eyes" of the very coy maiden, the pig-tail of the forger, and the pig-tail of the flapper.—London Tit-Bits.

Locust Plague of 1915.

A very severe locust plague that visited Palestine and Syria in the spring of 1915 proved a blessing in disguise for the British armies. The locusts ravaged the country from the borders of Egypt to the Taurus mountains, consuming every green thing. Vegetables and fruit disappeared as if by magic.

The shortage of all kinds of fodder was a most serious matter and greatly operated against the movement of the Turkish forces on the Egyptian front. When the locusts were first seen in Jerusalem, attention was drawn to them by the sudden darkening of the bright sunshine. The destruction wrought by the pests was enormous, more especially as the Garden of Gethsemane was stripped.

The streets of Jerusalem were carpeted with masses of insects. When anything approached, says John W. Whiting, United States vice consul at Jerusalem, in the Wide World, it seemed as if the entire surface of the ground moved, producing a most curious effect on one's vision, and causing dizziness, which in some cases was so severe as to produce a sensation not unlike seasickness. When fall came the country was cropless, even olive groves having been destroyed.

Most Efficient Light.

Fame and fortune await the scientist who discovers the secret of the familiar firefly or lightning bug. No one has been able to tell how the little insect produces the flashes of light we see twinkling about us on dark nights. Careful scientist tests have proven, however, that this light is produced with about one four hundredths part of the energy which is expended in the flame of a candle. Considering the strength or rather feebleness of the firefly this light is believed to be the most efficient form of illumination known today. If this method could be understood and put to work it is calculated that the energy exerted by a boy in driving a bicycle would be sufficient to run a powerful dynamo or light many miles of street lamps. The light of the firefly is practically heatless and it is believed among scientists that the future of the lighting industry of the world depends upon the discovery of a heatless light.—Boys' Life.

"A. E."

Darrell Fitzgib in his book on "A. E." (George Russell, the Irish writer and mystic), explains the pen name thus: "Wanting at one time a new pen name, he subscribed himself as Aeon. His penmanship not at all times being the most legible, the printer deciphered the first diphthong and set a query for the rest; whereupon the writer, in his proof sheets, stroked out the query and stood by the diphthong." Since then, however, Mr. Russell has abandoned the diphthong and prints his pen name as two separate letters.—St. John Ervine in the North American Review.

RAYLESS GOLDENROD POISONOUS TO LIVE STOCK

Washington, Oct. 4.—Following investigations of a live stock ailment commonly known as "alkali disease" or "milk sickness," the United States Department of Agriculture has found the rayless goldenrod to be the probable cause. Experimental work with this plant produced symptoms corresponding to those characteristic of this disease. Investigations by the department included regions in New Mexico, Texas, and Arizona where "alkali disease" has caused many fatalities among domestic animals. The rayless goldenrod is known to botanists as Isocoma wrightii; in Arizona cattlemen sometimes call it "Jimmy weed."

Dr. C. C. Marsh, poisonous plants specialist for the Bureau of Animal Industry, has found the plant to be poisonous to cattle, sheep and horses. Among cattle, typical symptoms are droopiness and weakness. If the animals become excited or attempt to travel far their motions become jerky and their legs seem to give way. Some are unable to get up after falling. The fattest cattle are usually the ones first affected. Considerable numbers of work horses and stock horses have died in the regions mentioned from influences now attributed to the rayless goldenrod. Horses frequently died in from one to three days after showing symptoms of poison. Sheep show symptoms similar to those of cattle and horses, and it is also likely that burros are poisoned by the same plant.

The rayless goldenrod is a stout perennial herb commonly growing about two feet high, though under favorable circumstances it may reach a height of four feet or more. The heads are numerous and have yellow flowers. It grows generally on alkaline soil, and very luxuriously on the banks of irrigation ditches. In some localities the rayless goldenrod makes a thick hedge.

To prevent losses from this poisonous plant, the department points out the feasibility of eradicating it from pastures. When dug out to a depth of two or three inches it seldom reappears; this plan of eradication is practicable where the growth is not too extensive. When plants are too numerous to be dug, reliance must be placed in moving the animals so that they can get no more of the poison and may receive an abundance of good feed. In the regions mentioned care should be taken not to force live stock to graze on scanty pasture containing the rayless goldenrod.

October 9th is going to be a lively day around The John E. Morrison Company's store. They tell us that they are getting a lot of bids for that Cole's Hot Blast Heater which is on display in their window, and will be auctioned off on the 9th of October to the highest bidder.

Mayor of Dallas Invites All Texas Children and Teachers to State Fair

MUNICIPAL BUILDING
CITY OF DALLAS
FRANK W. WOZENCRAFT, Mayor

To the Children of Texas and Their Teachers September 9, 1920

As a firm believer in, and friend of, education, I want every pupil and every teacher in Texas to visit the State Fair. I want them to learn the lessons it teaches and to have the fun a visit will afford. I have asked Honorable E. J. Klost, President of the State Fair, to let me invite all the children of Texas and their teachers to visit the Fair as my guests and Mr. Klost, with his ever-present desire to help accomplish worthwhile projects, has granted my request. I take this means of extending you an invitation and I am going to be disappointed unless all of you accept.

The day set aside is Friday, October 15. If you will write to Mr. W. H. Stratton, Secretary of the Fair, Dallas, Texas, and tell him how many tickets your school can use, he will send tickets admitting you to the grounds and to the afternoon performances at the Coliseum and the grand stand. All you have to do is to write to Mr. Stratton for the tickets. Of course, the tickets will not be good any day except Friday, October 15, and I am going to look forward to meeting all of you personally at the Fair that day.

HOBBY CALLS UPON TEXAS DEMOCRATS TO AID PARTY

Austin, Sept. 29.—Governor Hobby in a proclamation issued today, calls upon the Democrats of Texas to subscribe liberally to the Democratic national campaign fund. The proclamation follows:

Notwithstanding the numerous vicissitudes and trials our country has undergone during the past four years, it has come forth unscathed.

Today its people are prosperous. The trying times of war days are matters of history. This nation looks forward upon an era of happiness and prosperity unknown for generations.

War by moral force rather than by force of arms is possible. No more should the flower of our manhood go forth to die on Flanders fields as martyrs and sacrifices for principles.

The great agricultural interests of our country find protection in governmental agencies. Feeling the pulse of financial conditions is the federal reserve banking system. Democratic principles have guided the ship of state.

Our people know the character of the government of the United States during the past four years. They know the fundamentals of proposed Democratic administration for the ensuing four years.

That Cox and Roosevelt, Democratic standard bearers may be properly presented to the people of the United States, that their platform demands may be known, that the Democratic administration may be continued, funds are necessary. The call is urgent. We must support the national campaign committee in every way possible.

I, William P. Hobby, governor of the state of Texas, therefore, call upon the loyal Democrats to subscribe liberally to the Democratic national campaign fund, and urge them to send in their subscriptions at once to the state headquarters, 387 Western Independence building, Dallas.

In testimony hereof, I have hereto signed my name and caused the seal of the state of Texas to be affixed, this the 28th day of September A. D. 1920.

W. P. HOBBY,
Governor of Texas.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP
Management, circulation, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of The Graham Leader, published weekly at Graham, Texas, for October 1st, 1920.

State of Texas, County of Young ss. Before me a County Clerk in and for the State and County aforesaid, personally appeared Edgar McLendon, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the editor of The Graham Leader and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse side of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:
Publisher, The Graham Leader Co., Graham, Texas.
Editor, Edgar McLendon, Graham, Texas.

Managing Editor, F. H. Bowron, Graham, Texas.
Business Managers, F. H. Bowron and Edgar McLendon, Graham, Texas.

2. That the owners are:
F. H. Bowron, Graham, Texas.
Edgar McLendon, Graham, Texas.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are:
R. G. Graham, Graham, Texas.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders, and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

IVAN
The outlook for Ivan seems good. Investors are coming in almost every day and buildings are under course of erection.

The Norton well No. 1 came in strong Saturday afternoon, which means much to the oil interest in this locality.

Uncle Jim Williams and daughter, Mrs. Smart, of Portales, New Mexico, spent several days last week visiting relatives and friends and looking after their real estate at this place.

On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Steele and their daughter, Charity, and Mr. and Mrs. John Steele, of Ivan, visited at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Jams Lawrence of Gooseneck. There they met Mr. and Mrs. George F. Parsons, old time friends who resided for many years in the Cedar Creek community. The ties of friendship which have ever existed between them seemed to be drawn closer as they talked over the events and incidents of by-gone days. Mr. and Mrs. John Steel moved to the Steele home on Cedar Creek today.

YOUNG CO. OIL & GAS MAKES RECORD

A. L. Barnes, secretary and general manager of the Young County Oil and Gas Company, has made an enviable record for his company.

Mr. Barnes has operated successfully in the best oil fields of Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois and Texas. He was connected with the Marlin Oil and Refining Company, Ponca City, Oklahoma, when he was employed by the Brady Brothers Drilling Company to develop the Prairie Oil and Gas holdings. He came to Graham in November, 1919, and being an experienced oil man immediately saw the opportunities offered in the South Bend district. He organized the Graham Oil Syndicate in February, 1920. The company had 40 acres in the South Bend field and Mr. Barnes began at once to make preparations for drilling the Graham Syndicate well. This well has been completed and is now making more than 100 barrels daily on the pump. The Graham Syndicate was organized with a capital stock of $70,000.00 and the company's holdings is now worth $250,000.00.

Understanding the oil business as he does Mr. Barnes thinks the door of opportunity around South Bend has just begun to open and that in the near future big money is in store for those who invest now. He believes so strongly in this territory that he is putting his own money into the proposition.

The Young County Oil and Gas Company was organized in September—just seventeen days ago. The company has 120 acres, Stephen Dennison survey, one-half mile from the Graham Oil Syndicate producer, and less than three-quarters of a mile from the McCluskey producer. A complete California rig is on the lease and the drilling contractor is rigging up. Drilling will begin next week and the well will be completed within fifty days.

Mr. Barnes has proved his ability during the twelve months that he has been here and has the confidence of our local people. Several local business men have joined him in the new enterprise and Mr. Barnes is of the opinion that before the well is finished the stock will more than double in value. His experience in the oil fields in different states leads him to believe that the oil sands around South Bend will be producing long after the black time in other sections have failed.

You will find Mr. Barnes' large ad in this issue of The Leader. He asks you to read it carefully and see if you do not think that the door of opportunity is just beginning to open in Young county.

TEXAS MUSIC COMPANY

A few weeks ago The Leader made mention of the new music house for Graham. The opening of this music company has been delayed but a part of the Harmon building has been leased and the company is planning to open about October 15th.

The Texas Music Company has stores in Breckenridge and Eastland. Mr. B. Post, who has had several years experience in the music business, is manager. The company will carry a full line of Baldwin pianos and Brunswick and Columbia phonographs. A complete line of music supplies will be carried in stock.

Mr. Post will have a first class music house and invites music lovers to visit his store in the Harmon building on the northwest corner of the square.

We owe it to the community in which we live to do everything we can in every way possible that will be to its advantage. Our neighbor's prosperity means a great deal more to us than someone's who lives elsewhere. We should bear this in mind in buying our goods. We can afford to pay our home man a firm price for his wares rather than send our money away, knowing as we do that every dollar our own citizen makes will help in sustaining our schools, churches and public institutions. It pays richly to patronize home industry.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

The Graham Chamber of Commerce is interested in securing new business enterprises for Graham and enlarging and making better all business establishments already here. It is interested in getting a new railroad and all other enterprises that make for a better and larger Graham. It is also interested in protecting from fire the present property.

Last week The Leader published the proclamation from our Mayor, E. S. Graham, calling upon the citizens of Graham to take all precautions against fire. The Governor of our State has also issued a proclamation asking our people generally to take every precaution to prevent fires.

The fires in Galveston, Ranger, and other places recently should cause us to stop and think before we put up our stoves for winter. The flues should be inspected, and every precaution taken to prevent fires that will destroy property. All the rubbish about the place should be raked in piles and burned or hauled off. Grass should be burned as soon as it is dry enough but the utmost care should be exercised in burning it. Many residences have grass growing close to the house and if this is not burned some one will carelessly throw a match, cigar, or cigarette in the yard some night and as a result a residence or perhaps hundreds of them will be burned.

The Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to accompany Secretary T. E. Wallace on an inspection tour of the business district Saturday. This committee will study the fire hazards in the business section of town. All flues should be carefully inspected before stoves are put up for the winter. All rubbish about the business houses should be hauled away.

It has been a long time since Graham had a disastrous fire. If everyone will exercise due care and caution we can prevent these destructive fires that visit cities from time to time. The president of the Chamber of Commerce, S. B. Street, is very much interested in the subject of fire prevention and is anxious for our people to study this subject and do everything possible to lessen the danger of fire. He has installed in the Street & Co. stores one 20-gallon fire extinguisher on trucks and two 5-gallon extinguishers. The Beckham National Bank has ordered one 20-gallon and three 5-gallon extinguishers. The John E. Morrison Company has ordered one 20-gallon extinguisher. Other business houses are placing orders for these extinguishers. Every business house in Graham should own one or more of them.

While we are on the fire prevention subject we would like to suggest that every one take an inventory of their fire insurance policies. Some one might get careless and thereby cause a disastrous fire. If this should happen are you fully covered by insurance? It pays to carry insurance for we never know when a fire caused by some careless hand will quickly carry away your property. Too often we wait until our property has been destroyed before we think of insurance.

COMMITTEE ON MEDICAL COLLEGE MEETS TODAY

Austin, Oct. 3.—Representative Leonard Tillotson, before leaving Austin, said in referring to the committee appointed by the Governor to conduct an inquiry into the advisability of the continued maintenance of the University at Galveston, or its removal therefrom, that the primary purpose of the resolution being to determine whether or not the medical school should continue in Galveston, the committee would necessarily devote its attention, first, to the determination of the one primary question, and that it was not probable representations from other localities looking to the establishment of the school in such communities would be entertained until the committee had determined its action with reference to Galveston. He further said: "The probabilities are that the committee will meet in Galveston on the 4th and will confer with the Board of Regents of the University. After the meeting with the regents, the committee will doubtless reach a conclusion with reference to the continued location of the school at Galveston, and upon that decision will depend whether or not representations will be invited from other communities for the location of the school."

LYCEUM COURSE

There is certainly a treat in store for Grahamites in every one of the seven numbers of the lyceum course which has been procured for this season. This is a higher priced course than the one given last year, and it brings to us twenty artists along different lines. Some of them come from Canada.

The first number is scheduled for October 15 and is to be given by "Columbia Sextette," then follow at intervals through the winter and spring.

The Liberty Belles, artists on violin, mandolin, ukelele, guitar, Irish harp and piano—also in song. Ralph Parlette, not an entertainer yet he entertains; not a funny man, yet the audience laughs every little while—and cries; one of the most unique, best loved and best known men on the platform.

The DeMille Quartette, a male quartette famous throughout Canada, assisted by Miss Hilda Buckingham, pianist.

S. S. Henry and Company, magician and artist with his assistants, presenting spectacular brilliant and awe-inspiring mysteries, and lightning sketches in crayon colors and in sand. Musical Arts Quartette, a male quartette, artists also on saxophone, cornet, violin, cello and piano. Halwood Robert Manlove, "the Man of Many Faces," a lyceum comedian.

Each program is well worth a dollar for each one is full of interest, clean, brimful of good things given by entertainers of rare ability.

Season tickets are on sale at Doty's Drug Store or they may be obtained from the ladies of the Civic League.

Get tickets early so that you may get your choice of reserved seats. Adult season tickets (reserved seat) $4.25; child's season ticket (reserved seat) $3.50.
