Young Lawyer Makes Transportation Aid Good In Brownfield Bill Changed

You have often heard the old expression that "a rolling stone 40 provides for the same schedule gathers no moss." That might be of payments on transportation as applied to the subject of this that of 1938-39. The following is sketch, Joe J. McGowan, lawyer and abstractor of this city. It is true that Joe for a year or so, when the going got rough when Brownfield was small, and the territory had few people, he had a chance to move to Fort Worth and form a partenership with some well established lawyers. But Joe never could get his mind off the little city of the Plains, which just kept on growing, with fast development of the farm area about it. In the meantime, he married the lady of his choice, Miss Radford of Quanah, and they decided to move back to Brownfield even if they did have to wait some on development. Joe's people lived at Paducah, but nei-

BAPTIST CHURCH

The Bible School and both Camay Soap, 3 bars preaching hours were reasonably well attended last Sunday. Many new faces and visitors were in the audience and they are always welcome and if they do not rush away our people will surely tell them so and make them feel at home. Often strangers expect too much when visiting in a new place but they should show some disposition to meet the pastor and the people and it will generally be he means of becoming acquainted. The best way for Baptists to do when moving into any new locality is to present themselves for membership and have their former church send a letter of ands or some lien or encumberrecommendation which speaks ance thereon, but that she has volumes of new people and engood and perfect fee simple title ables them to come into confidence in their new home.

The B. T. U. or organization in Christian service in the church is far from what it should be in our church. A new emphasis needs to be placed on this work and every other organization in the church should help promote this failing work as not half of the young people for whom this organization was originally designed are cooperating to say nothing of those older. Something should be done about it, very few are so perfect in Christian growth that they can not improve.
