Why Vote For Consolidation?

In 1930, the year that marked the erection of the last building to be added to the Brownfield Public School System, there were some 600 pupils enrolled in the Brownfield Schools. The plant was built to house properly something like 900 pupils. At present, there are 1251 pupils enrolled in the Brownfield Public Schools, and along with the natural growth that will come, the building program will also become more serious.

At present, the Brownfield High School is the educational system that services some 300 square miles of territory. There are only 5 1/2 square miles in the Brownfield Independent School District. It is not reasonable to believe that 5 1/2 square miles can or should furnish an educational plant for 300 square miles. It is evident that some form of cooperative effort be exerted on the part of all people and districts served. For this reason, the authorities of the Brownfield Schools along with interested people in this entire area have worked out the Brownfield Consolidation Plan, which will be brought to a vote at the school house in each district involved on April 12th.

WHY SHOULD I VOTE FOR THIS PROGRAM IF I LIVE IN ONE OF THE OUT-LYING DISTRICTS?

First: It has been proven beyond a shadow of doubt that a high school cannot be maintained in each small district. In 1939 the eight districts involved in this consolidation lacked over $2,000.00 paying current expenses and warrants that were not payable at that time had to be issued. In most cases, these schools were educating only the first seven grades. You can be your own judge about the cost that would be necessary to add a high school. This cost would make it impossible for each small district to maintain a high school.

Second: A public supported institution needs both a solid permanent valuation and a flexible valuation base. Rural land is not flexible and never can be, for it is worth about as much today as it will be ten years from now. For that reason, I would vote my way into a school district which had both types of valuation—the solid, permanent type and the flexible type. Last year approximately $500,000.00 in actual building increase took place in the Brownfield district. With one exception, this one year's increase is double the total valuation of any one rural district involved in this consolidation program. This fact should convince you that the natural growth of a district will take care of all building problems that come up in the future, if the taxable base is large enough in the beginning.

Third: I would vote for the Brownfield Consolidation Plan because I would be allowed the democratic right of representation in the tax equalization program that will be used. (This plan of tax equalization has been discussed and published.)

Fourth: I would vote to consolidate with the districts involved in this consolidation plan because the Brownfield High School will offer some 40 credits and more to the high school students who attend, in comparison with a maximum of 27 in any other high school plan that you might affiliate with. These courses include all academic courses that lead to college entrance, as well as numerous commercial and vocational courses designed for practical services. Such courses as Vocational Agriculture, Home-making, Typing, Stenography, Bookkeeping, Industrial Arts, Music, Band, Junior Business Training, and many others of practical value are being offered.

Fifth: The district outlined in the Brownfield Consolidation Plan is large enough to mean security to all of its constituents. It is large enough to meet any emergency that might be caused by legislation or any change in the state educational program. This in itself should create a feeling of security and satisfaction.

Sixth: All people want to participate in a school program as well as benefit therefrom. The Independent School District set-up is the best plan for people who actually desire participation in their school program. In other words, the people who make up an independent school district come nearer being able to determine their own destiny than in any other type of school government.

Seventh: Since some plan for education of the high school children in the rural districts must be chosen, I would vote for consolidation with the school districts involved in the Brownfield Consolidation Plan because Brownfield is my trading center, my home town, my highway center, my marketing center—I am already affiliated with Brownfield, Texas, in every way other than school.

Eighth: Under consolidation, this area could operate a much more satisfactory and economical transportation system.

Ninth: The consolidation way is the Democratic way, and I like that way of doing things.

Tenth: A much better teaching situation will be established under consolidation. All teachers may be specialists in their fields. No teacher will have to teach more than one grade. All courses of study will be the same throughout the district and no child will have the disadvantage of changing from one school with one course of study to another with a different course of study.

IN CONCLUSION, this is my line of reasoning; since the emergency has come that makes a change in our school set-up absolutely necessary, I would choose the Brownfield Consolidation Plan for these reasons: 1. It is the most economical way out; 2. It offers the best school for the money in the county; 3. It offers me the right to continue to participate in my school program; 4. It gives me a sensible, reasonable, tax equalization program; 5. It affiliates me in a school way as well as a business way with my home town.

WHY SHOULD I VOTE FOR THIS CONSOLIDATION PROGRAM IF I LIVE IN THE BROWNFIELD SCHOOL DISTRICT?

First: No town can exist without a trade territory—so why could it be reasonable that a town school could exist without the same territory base?

Second: The Brownfield School District has a large, flexible, valuation which is necessary in any school district that is to show progress, but it does not have a large, permanent, valuation base, which it needs. A land base is the best form of permanent base and this consolidation plan involves over 300 square miles of land as compared with the 5 1/2 that make up the Brownfield District.

Third: The cost of the per-pupil education in a large unit is approximately one-half the per-pupil cost for education in numerous small units. Last year, theoretically, the eight small units involved in this consolidation plan spent some $10,000,000 more than would have been necessary in a large unit. Every dollar that is lost to the trade territory of Brownfield is lost to Brownfield. There can be no denial of that fact.

Fourth: Bonds voted in excess of 7% of the real estate value of a district are considered poor investment. At present, the valuation assessment in the Brownfield School District could furnish a base for not more than $30,000,000 more in the way of bonded indebtedness. Under the consolidation set-up with no raise in total valuation assessment, approximately $100,000.00 in bonds could be voted and sold. The building

Believes Brownfield To Be Substantial

Secretary T. L. Patterson permitted us to read a letter from a gentleman of a thriving, or has been thriving, oil town in a nearby state. The man in question stated that he believed Brownfield was destined to be the most substantial town in this entire section, adjacent to the oil fields.

The man had some modern cabins, modernly furnished, and money to build some more, but he did not have the money to clear up what he already owed FHA, and move them. He wished to trade for property here along the highway, and stated that he referred anyone to the Retail Merchants Association of his home city as to his willingness to pay his debts.

Evidently he had investigated the conditions here, and had been told by filling station men that they had to send people on to Lubbock for rooms almost every night. This only goes to show the seriousness of the housing problem in Brownfield. While we do not suppose there is a man that would put up $700 for a stranger, we nevertheless need his additional houses.

That brings up the matter of location of a government flying school here. Should one be located the cadets would be housed in barracks. But what would become of their officers, instructors and mechanics? This is something for each and every one of us to think seriously about.

Of course we do not have the school yet. We may not get it. That remains for a committee of our officers to decide. But even if we do not get it, the housing problem in Brownfield is still a serious one.

Nearly 2200 Cars Registered in Terry

Herbert Chesshir, deputy assessor-collector for Terry county, informed us Wednesday afternoon, that up to that time 2192 cars had been registered in Terry county; 222 trucks, and 267 farm trucks.

Owing to the fact that the truck load limit has been raised, and the license on many trucks will therefore likely be hiked, Mr. Chesshir stated that time for registering trucks had been extended, and that not more than half of them in Terry had been registered.

The truck load limit has been raised from 7000 pounds to 38,000, but the load will depend to a great extent on the size of the truck, wheel base, number and width of wheels and several other matters, such as weight of truck.

City Election Returns Old Councilmen

While a considerable number voted in the city election, Tuesday, the affair was rather light. All three of the old Councilmen, M. J. Craig, C. J. Smith and Herman Chesshir were re-elected by quite substantial majorities, which shows that the people in general are pretty well pleased with services rendered by these men.

The following is the vote as given us Wednesday morning:

M. J. Craig	92
C. J. Smith	98
Herman Chesshir	99
O. V. Newton	28
Homier Newman	49
Alton Webb	56
C. E. Ross	41
L. Nicholson	26
Kyle Graves	46

Workmen Remodeling State Bank Building

The owners of the Brownfield State Bank building recently let the contract for several more offices in the building, to be finished modernly. The stairway will also be moved and remodeled, giving the bank some more room in the rear. The stairway will be just east of the Toggery.

At a later date, it was stated to a reporter, the bank expects to occupy all the first floor offices except that occupied by the Toggery.

REA Extension Studied In Terry

The Terry County Board of Development is making every effort to secure extension of the REA service lines in Terry County.

Officials of this organization have received word from Congressman George Mahon that he is doing everything that he can in behalf of Terry County.

Mr. Mahon has advised that the application for the extension of this service in Terry County was No. 59 from the state of Texas and that there were 12 or 15 applications ahead of ours that had not received any favorable action yet.

He further stated that he was informed by the REA officials that the number of applications received and the amount of funds requested have far exceeded what had been anticipated and that, consequently, it has been impossible to favorably act on all applications.

Mr. Mahon said that in discussing the situation with officials of the REA, they expressed the hope and urgently requested that the people here in Terry county not lose interest in the project and continue to bear with them in working the situation out. It is possible that additional funds will be made available for the further expansion of the REA program prior to the beginning of the new fiscal year. If that happens, the application of the Lyntegar Electric Cooperative will no doubt, be among those to receive an early allotment. Just a short time back the House of Representatives passed the agricultural appropriations bill in which provision was made for funds in the amount of $100,000,000 to be used in REA loans for the new fiscal year beginning July 1st, 1941.

We are indeed fortunate in having a man such as Mr. Mahon in Washington, who takes the personal interest in us that he does, and the people of Terry County may rest assured that he will do everything possible for them.

We See Some Of The Nice New Homes

Sunday afternoon the writer and wife took time out to visit two of the newer homes in Brownfield, the Jack Holt and the C. L. Aven homes. There are hundreds of the newer and more modern homes in Brownfield, and it is interesting to visit them.

It is wonderful what the architect, the carpenter, plumber and electrician can make out of materials with their complicated tools. The modern home is just so far ahead of the old fashioned home in beauty and convenience of arrangement, that there is no comparison.

A young couple, or more properly speaking, a couple not so young, get a great kick out of building a home, especially their first one. The only drawback is the wait for it. The workmen just won't hurry the job, it seems.

A Good Way To Get Some Work Done

Had Ed Thompson and son, Phillip in this week doing a lot of work on our yard, as he had his land all up ready for planting time. We got sorry for him, not having anything to do, and persuaded them to come in and spend about two days hard work leveling up the yard, and planting grass, fertilizing, etc.

Now Ed thinks he will get something for this hard work, but we feel that we accommodated him in giving him a job. He would have gotten so still and lazy waiting for planting time, that he would have been worthless when that time rolled around.

Now if you think of some farm friend, who has nothing to do right now, and your yard needs spading or leveling, send out after him. Be a good neighbor. But at least feed him at noon.

Elder W. S. Boyett and Mrs. Boyett visited friends in Seminole Friday.

Texas Farmers Not Receiving Income Share

Figures recently compiled of the income of farms and farmers of the ten greatest corn-hog-cattle producing states, reveal startlingly, that individual farmers and farm owners of Texas, are not getting a fair share of the returns for their labor.

Despite the fact that Texas ranks third among the high ten income states, income per farm is next to the lowest of the ten states, only Missouri receiving a lower per farm share.

Iowa, the great corn-hog-cattle state, leads the country in farm cash, as usual, with a total of $728,506,000 last year. The income per farm is $3,184.

Other great dairy-live-stock-poultry states follow in the order named:

	1940	Per Farm
2—California	$650,410,000	$4,738
3—Texas	579,192,000	1,179
4—Illinois	571,624,000	2,511
5—Minnesota	428,550,000	1,966
6—Ohio	346,226,000	1,408
7—Wisconsin	315,476,000	1,624
9—Indiana	306,725,000	1,539
10—Missouri	302,097,000	1,082

Among these leaders are Wisconsin, greatest dairying state, leading in cheese and condensery products; Minnesota, leading in butter-making (300,000,000 Lbs.) New York third in cows and first in fluid milk; Iowa, second in buttermaking, fourth in dairy cows.

FLOWER EXCHANGE

The Maids and Matrons Club are sponsoring a flower and shrub exchange Saturday, April 12th. All persons having plants to give are urged to dig and label them and call one of the following: Mesdames A. H. Daniell, C. C. Primm, Leo Holmes, E. C. Davis, Redford, A. J. Stricklin, or bring them to the place to be designated in next week's paper.

This exchange which has been sponsored for more than 20 years by Maids and Matrons club, is open for anyone in this trade territory regardless of whether you bring plants or not, but if you have plants to bring they would be appreciated.

Rev. Anderson Moves To Plainview

We had a letter this week from our friend, Rev. J. E. Anderson, who for the past three years has been the pastor of the Baptist church at Plains, during which time the membership has been doubled. He has recently moved to Plainview, where he will make his home for the present.

For several years, Rev. Anderson was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Brownfield, and always took a leading part in any movement for the betterment of the community. He was instrumental in helping to build up the American Legion, as he was a chaplain during the first World War, and served as chaplain of the local post all the time he lived here.

The same thing may be said about his activities during his pastorate at Plains. He has been a leader in the Boy Scout movement there, assisted in teaching in the Plains schools, and was a member of the Draft Board from its organization. We have an idea that the Plains people will greatly miss the activities of Rev. Anderson for the community benefit.

Some Information For The Draftee

Co. A Reception Center Fort Bliss, Texas

Well folks, Uncle Sam is really increasing his army. Since my last letter, several thousand draftees have passed through this reception center. They come and go so fast that a group from Terry County arrived here, were processed and shipped out before I knew that they had been inducted. Last Sunday I saw a few of the fellows including the Blair and Hare boys and found out that they had been assigned to a field artillery unit here at Ft. Bliss. They told me that acting as personal handmaid to a horse was a great life. I hope that future Terry County draftees who are sent to Ft. Bliss will look me up when they arrive. I might be able to help them over a few rough spots.

Last time I promised to pass on a few hints to future draftees—here they are:

About the first question arising in the mind of a draftee is "What should I take with me when I go to the Army?" While Uncle Sam supplies his soldiers with razors, towels, a toothbrush, and a shaving brush, he doesn't supply him with razor blades, tooth paste, shaving soap or hair oil, so lay in a good supply of those articles. It is a good idea to bring several extra towels and wash rags since only one bath towel and one face towel is issued. You will be completely clothed including underwear, but it is a good idea to bring along extra underclothing and socks. A warm sweatshirt or jersey also helps a great deal on these cold snappy mornings. The new soldier will find out that he has to keep his shoes shined every hour of the day, since Uncle Sam doesn't furnish shoe polish or shoe brushes the draftee should supply himself with those articles and it is advisable to buy a top quality brush.

Draftees are permitted to keep their civilian clothing and after they are stationed permanently they will be permitted to go to town in their civilian clothing so it is up to the individual to decide what he wants to bring in the way of clothing. My only advice is that it is best not to bring too much when he is first inducted but to wait and have other clothing sent to him when he is assigned to a regular post. If you have brown shoes, bring them in preference to other colors because they can be worn with uniforms. It is also a good idea to bring along a hand mirror and four or five coat hangers will come in mighty handy.

Buttons have a way of disappearing from shirts and pants so go to some variety store and buy yourself a little sewing outfit with needles, thread, buttons, pins and scissors. If you have an electric pants presser throw that in your kit and your cleaning bill will be a lot less. They may be a little offside, but believe me, these Army doctors (pill-pushers) are a rough lot so lay in a supply of aspirin and laxatives. I spent three days in an Army Hospital with the flu and was treated with one aspirin each day. Had to go to a drug store when I was discharged in order to get medicine to doctor myself with. Incidentally a little first aid kit including bandage, adhesive tape and iodine makes a good addition to your outfit. Many of the things mentioned here can be obtained after you have left the reception center where I am located, and are permanently assigned to a regular outfit.

You can do without anything and everything I have mentioned as a matter of fact, but there are one or two things you can't get along without, first—a sense of humor and second, a determination to make the best of things as they come your way. As a rule the draftee is treated in a civil manner and made to feel at ease; but now and then some "would-be" tough regular army member tries to rub it on the "boy scout soldier" as they call us. I'll let you know how to take care of that kind of heel in my next letter.

Uncle Jimmie Green Visits His Sisters

Last week Leslie Green and wife made a trip to New Orleans, La., to visit their daughter, Mrs. Unger. They were accompanied by Leslie's father, Uncle Jimmie Green, who first visited his sister, Mrs. C. A. Lord, of Beaumont. Later he and his three sisters, Mrs. Lord, Mrs. Wayne, Adams of Georgetown, and Mrs. W. A. Ross of Burnet met at the home of the latter.

Leslie and wife picked Uncle Jimmie up on their return. He reports that he certainly enjoyed the visit, the scenes of his childhood, and the beautiful bluebonnets that are now in bloom in south Texas, as well as the companionship of his sisters.

It appears to us that Old Hitler is kinder getting his knitting mixed, and might have to do some more real fighting, and even us lay warriors know that he is getting his men fearfully scattered. But more fighting and less bellying seems to be on tap for "old Hit." And, apparently old Mussio the Mussle hasn't made a speech from the balcony of the Forum in some days. About all he can do to keep his shirt, these days.

There was a bit of criticism of a man last week down at John Tarleton College, the man being termed "a backwoods legislator." It seems that the legislative committee, visiting state colleges had called at Tarleton, and the cadets headed by their band and others decided to stage a parade for the visiting lawmakers. One of the solons is reported to have sat down, struck a match on the bottom of his shoe, smoked and kept his hat on as the flag passed, and the band played the Star Spangled Banner. It seems to the Herald that a man well enough up to win a seat in the lawmaking body of Texas, should know enough to stand at attention when the flag goes by.

From the Association of American Railroaders, the Herald has a very interesting little booklet, called Quiz. Between the lids of that book are 400 questions and 400 answers to question that the uninitiated railroaders would love to ask and have answered about the operation of railroad, the bridges, tunnels, signals, and what have you. We got so interested in the book that we read the whole thing through before we quit.

Our old fuss-mate, the Hon. Charles A. Guy of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal wants some real old time licorice, which he designates as a confection, but which we used in our youth as a substitute for tobacco, so we could spit between our fingers in the fireplace like the grownups. The best substitute we know, Charley is navy tobacco, that can be found at your grocers. Of course you will find lots of licorice in it, mostly diluted with a weak solution of some tobacco and alfalfa, and one of our friends says some of the ingredients are found around mule barns. But it will sure make you spit, Charley.

The Herald has never been very keen for special editions. In the 32 years under the present management, only two have appeared from the press of the Herald. It always appeared to us that for several weeks and sometimes longer, our merchants feel just a bit bored and disgusted, and rather talk about the weather than advertising when approached. Nor has the Herald ever divided its profits with even our best friends or clubs on editions. We don't believe that anyone would approach any store or bank in the city and ask for a share of the profits for just one day or week. Then, newspapers should have some semblance of ethics, it appears to us.

The Baptist people handed in quite a strong resolution this week on papers that carry statistical advertising for the United Brewers, which is their privilege as free Americans. But the Herald has an idea that when churches refuse all monies donated by people they know drink beer and liquor, as well as some that sell it, they will have a better right to ask papers to cut their revenue from advertising. Newspapers run a lot of stuff they don't endorse, but newspapers have to live and pay debts just the same as other business institutions. Suppose the churches were to ask all dry goods men, grocery men and others to refuse to sell to people who drink or sell beer or whiskey? Just suppose they ask the bankers to refuse their deposits or the cafes to feed them? One is about as consistent as the other. We still believe in a free press, free speech, and the right to assemble. We even said about what we wished to say during the KKK epidemic.

CHEESE AND CHEER

Terry County Herald: Farmers in a South Plains co-operative marketed 1,250,000 pounds of cheese manufactured in their plant during 1940. Their cheese scored highest of thirty-four other plants selling to the southwestern division of a national cheese company.

State Press: Cheese is a universal foodstuff, and nutritious to boot. Recently there was a big book about an American professor, a crackpot by habit, who got himself into the Spanish civil war on the side of the revolution. He lived in a cave for several days with a miscellany of obscene natives, and their food was rabbit stew, wine, cheese and a bit of whisky now and then. The cheese tasted like a goat smells, he admitted, but otherwise he seemed rather happy with his gang. We don't mind saying he was a crackpot because he ate cheese with the goat taste. It is not that we condemn goat cheese forthrightly—for mountaineer sportsmen. It is only that we wish to contrast good American cheese, from cow milk, a clean and wholesome product, produced under sanitary conditions. It is bad that we of the South have been so neglected of cheese in our diet. We used to buy it by the nickel's worth occasionally, with five crackers to go along with same. It was a cheap and refreshing lunch and didn't have to be cooked. Any good food that doesn't have to be cooked is commendable from the housewife's standpoint. There are some foreign cheeses so strong they taste like caviar, which is to say like exle grease. Let us avoid them and choose our good Texas cheese, mild and tonal and ready to be served without cooking.

The above was not originated by the Herald, coming perhaps from the Tech College. Anyway it and State Press' comment make good reading matter.

Red Cross Committees Are Appointed

A meeting of the local Red Cross chapter was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the basement of the Baptist Church. Mrs. T. L. Treadaway, who is chairman of the "War Production Relief" of the organization, appointed the following committees: Mrs. J. L. Cruce, in charge of Knitting; Mmes. E. G. Akers, Dave Finney, Dube Pyeatt, Lonnie Huckabee and Culver, "Cutting and Planning;" "Packing and Shipping," Mmes. D. M. Evans and R. N. McClain; "Records of War Production Relief Cards," Mrs. Jack Bailey; Chairmen of Volunteer Red Cross Workers, Mrs. Marion McGinty, Plains; Mrs. Kenneth Furr, Gomez; Mrs. Grady Patton, Johnson; Mrs. Floyd Copeland, Meadow; Mrs. Claude Merritt, Tokio; Mrs. E. C. Willis, Pleasant Valley; Mrs. C. A. White, Harmony; Mrs. Money Price, Challis; Mrs. J. J. Gunter, Pool; Mrs. Jim Webb, Lahey; Mrs. Vic Herring, Scudday.

Ladies of the community are urged to help with this worthwhile humanitarian work. The group will meet to make garments each week day except Monday, from 1 til 5 or 5:30 o'clock at the Baptist Church. They are still in need of sewing machines and Mrs. Treadaway requests that anyone who has one to loan, contact her at once, please. You do not have to be a fine seamstress to take part in this work, there will be experienced ladies present to help you. LET'S ALL DO OUR SHARE.

Cotton Belt Protein Bowl of Nation

Editor's Note: This is the 10th article of a series, "Blending Livestock with Cotton," published as a service to farmers and stockmen.

Even more important than the football fame of cotton-growing States as the location of the Sugar Bowl, Rose Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Orange Bowl and Sun Bowl is the fact that the South is the nation's "protein bowl." Southern states are far ahead of other regions in production of the major protein concentrates essential for "teamwork" of grains and roughages in balanced livestock rations.

Cottonseed meal and cake from the South's cotton fields account for half of the nation's total supply of vegetable protein concentrates this season, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports. These efficient, economical feeds supply protein not only for the growing livestock industry of the South, but also for many livestock raisers of the Corn Belt and much of the Western Range Area.

Along with its cottonseed meal and cake, the South produces most of the nation's peanut meal, and an important part of the soybean and linseed meal, among the protein concentrates. With hundreds of cotton oil mills equipped to convert farmer's crops into efficient feeds, the Cotton Belt's farmers and livestock producers have many advantages over other livestock-producing areas.

Because of the importance of protein in efficient livestock feeding, such protein concentrates as cottonseed meal and cake are the key to the balanced rations that livestock must have for best results in feeding. "Teaming up" with grains and roughages, cottonseed products increase the value of these farm feeds in balanced rations because they supply protein lacking in these farm feeds in balanced rations because they supply protein lacking in these feeds. In addition, supplemental feeding of cottonseed cake or meal adds to the value and efficiency of farm and range grasses and forage.

"Teamwork" among crops in balanced farming, as well as in balanced feeding, is made possible in the South by the production of cottonseed products. Cotton acres of the Southern farm are just as much a part of the feed production as acreage devoted to corn, oats, grain sorghums, pastures or other feed crops. Farms that grow cotton, along with other feed crops, and make proper use of the feed products made by cotton oil mills from their cottonseed, are producing virtually all of the nutrients needed by their livestock.

Recognizing the importance of cotton as a source of protein concentrates, agricultural and livestock authorities of the South, today, are stressing the place of cotton in the development of the livestock industry and in any completely-balanced farming program. They emphasize, also, the major importance of the feeding of cotton seed products to livestock on cotton farms as a means of maintaining soil fertility, since it has been proved that the major part of the plant food removed from soil in growing cotton may be restored to the soil by feeding cottonseed products and utilizing livestock manure.

RESOLUTION, ADOPTED BY DISTRICT NINE CONVENTION AT BROWNFIELD, MAR. 26, 1941

WHEREAS, there is a flagrant disregard of the wishes of the People in "Dry" territory in our District, in that some newspapers are accepting for publication certain subtle and skillfully prepared deceptive advertisements in support of various kinds of alcoholic drinks, and

Whereas, we deplore the compromising attitude of such newspaper, publishers as thus betray their constituency for the price of such advertisements, and

Whereas, we deplore the evil effects of such advertising so adroitly mixed with local news in even "home town" weekly papers, and

Whereas, we believe the best interest of our people and our country demand a correction of this evil;

Therefore, we, the representatives of nearly 40,000 Baptists in 185 churches of District Nine, comprising twenty-one counties, in the Plains Territory, assembled in annual session at Brownfield, Texas March 25-26, 1941, hereby call upon the newspapers of this District to manifest more interest in the decency and sobriety of our citizenship, by refusing to print such liquor advertisements, regardless of the efforts of the Liquor interest to "buy" influence, and

We commend the religious leaders of our churches for exposing and denouncing such schemes to build up support for such nefarious and diabolical business as the traffic in liquor.

We recommend that this resolution be sent to each Newspaper of the district with the suggestion that it be printed as news, and that Pastors and others give due publicity to it in their congregations.

Do You Need Another Bed?

If you need another bed for home, why not make one? A substantial bed can be made at home with a few tools, material which are not very costly, and a few hours of labor, according to the County Home Demonstration Agent.

This bed doesn't cost much. The total cost for such a bed, if you buy everything and have no materials on hand will be about $2.00, depending, of course, on prices of materials which vary in different localities. The bed is 6'4" long, 4'6" wide, and 1'8" off the floor.

For a double bed, you would need:

- 1 piece 1"x8"x10' for the end pieces.
- 1 piece 1"x8"x14' for sides.
- 1 piece 4"x4"x4' for legs.
- 2 pieces 1"x2"x7' cleats for slats to rest on.
- 5 pieces 1"x4"x10' for slats.
- 4 dozen screws, 1 1/4".
- A few 8 penny finishing nails.
- 2 rollers.
- 4 bolts at each corner will make the bed more secure.

And if you want a head on your bed, you will need 1 piece, 1"x12"x10'.

For further information see the county home demonstration agent.

Mrs. V. N. Sibley was a Lubbock visitor Monday.

- Payrolls—8.3 per cent higher.
- Automobile sales—34.4 per cent higher.
- Electric power consumption—up 19.9 points.
- Building permits—3 per cent lower.
- Commercial failures—27 with total liabilities of $351,000, compared to 18, with liabilities of $180,000 a year ago.
- Charters—72 new firms capitalized at $1,316,000, compared to 126 capitalized at $3,010,000 a year ago.

Article Number 3 Farm Program

Businessmen and farmers alike will benefit under the supplementary cotton program.

For the retail merchant from whom the farmer will purchase the cotton goods, it will mean additional business. For the farmer and his family, it will mean more clothes and other cotton materials.

If every cotton farmer in Terry county cooperated in the supplementary cotton program by reducing his cotton acreage enough to earn $25, merchants in the county would benefit from an additional $50,000,000 in the purchase of cotton goods, Loe Miller, County AAA Administrative Officer, points out.

In the last of the question and answer series this week, the AAA official discusses how to use cotton order stamps. Forms for signing up on the Supplementary Cotton Program will be ready after April 14th.

How To Use Cotton Order Stamps

26. Q. After the cotton farmer has been given cotton stamps for voluntarily reducing cotton acreage under the Supplementary Cotton Program, what can he do with them?

A. He can use them in any cooperating retail store or mail order house, in exchange for new products made entirely in the United States. Bindings, buttons, and other fasteners and trimmings shall not be considered in determining whether such commodity is made entirely of cotton.

27. Q. How will he know whether a store is cooperating in the Program?

A. By asking within the store. However, experience of the Department of Agriculture with a similar program, the Cotton Stamp Plan, shows that nearly every retail store which sells cotton goods does cooperate. Most cooperating stores will display signs announcing their acceptance of cotton order stamps.

28. Q. Can purchases be made by mail?

A. Stores which qualify under special Surplus Marketing Administration mail order regulations will be authorized to accept cotton stamps on orders sent by mail, in addition to their authority to receive cotton order stamps on over-the-counter transactions.

29. Q. What are some of the cotton products that can be bought with cotton stamps?

A. Cotton piece goods, dresses, shirts, pants, overalls, children's and infants' clothes, underwear, mattresses, blankets, work gloves, plowlines, stockings, and any other cotton product.

30. Q. May cotton stamps be used to buy second-hand clothes or renovated mattresses?

A. No. Cotton stamps may be used to buy only new products which are made entirely of cotton.

31. Q. Will persons using cotton stamps get the same cotton products as persons who pay cash?

A. Yes, and at the same price.

32. Q. May retail merchants give change to customers using cotton stamps?

A. No.

33. Q. Since merchants cannot give change and since cotton stamps are printed only in 25-cent denominations, what is done when the price of the cotton goods purchased does not come out exactly to 25 cents, 50 cents or some other multiple of 25?

A. Suppose the purchase price is 60 cents. (1) The customer could give two cotton stamps representing 50 cents to the merchant and pay the additional 10 cents in cash, or (2) the purchaser could give the merchant three cotton order stamps representing 75 cents and buy some other cotton goods product that costs 15 cents, or (3) the customer could give three cotton order stamps representing 75 cents to the merchant and receive from the merchant a credit slip for 15 cents which could be used later for the purchase of cotton goods at the same store.

34. Q. Will retail stores accept cotton stamps that have been taken out of the stamp book?

A. No. Cotton stamps must be taken out of the stamp book at the time the purchase is made—except when sent with an order for cotton products to a store qualified to accept cotton order stamps by mail.

35. Q. Will anyone other than the person to whom the cotton stamps are issued use them?

A. The person to whom the stamps are issued signs his name on the stamp book. Then, only the person to whom the stamps are issued or a member of his family

An All Out Drive For Safety

AUSTIN, Apr. 1—It will be an "all-out aid" drive for safety when the third annual Texas Safety Conference is held in Houston, April 8 and 9, George Clarke, executive secretary of the Texas Safety Association, stated in announcing program highlights of the conference.

"There can never be too much emphasis placed on safety," Clarke said, "but at this time, there is a need more than ever before for a more vigorous drive for safety. This applies equally to industry as well as to traffic. During this period when all interest is centered in production for the national defense program, we must not lose sight of safety."

"Every phase of safety will be covered at this year's conference by national and state authorities in fields of industrial, traffic and school safety."

Congressman Martin Dies of Orange, chairman of the House committee on investigation of un-American activities, will speak at the opening session of the Conference. His address is expected to be of particular interest to industrial men.

At the Safety Award Banquet on the evening of April 8, awards for traffic safety records established last year will be presented to mayors of eight Texas cities. Also, winners in the 15 divisions of the Texas Fleet Safety Contest will be presented with awards.

Miss Vivian Winston of Canadian visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Winston, the past week end.

Miss Mary Katherine Rice and Rebecca Butler of Lubbock were week end guests of Mrs. Bill Ed Watson.

Defense Production Speeded Up

The Federal Reserve System announced activity in defense production raised the System's index to a record high of 141 for February, with particular increases at machinery plants, aircraft factories, ship yards and railroad equipment plants. The report showed other increases in the cotton textile, rubber, chemical and wool industries, with pig iron, coke, and non-ferrous metals production "near capacity."

The War Department announced increases in production at Army arsenals as follows (comparing monthly production of 1939 with monthly production of 1941): 500 percent increase in small arms ammunition, 1,200 percent increase in artillery cartridge cases, 900 percent in fire-control instruments, 3,000 percent in artillery shells, 1,600 percent increase in Garand semi-automatic rifles, and 900 percent in smokeless powder.

Director Knudsen urged every factory owner who believes he is equipped to handle a defense contract of subcontract to write or go to the Regional Office of the Defense Contract Service, at the Federal Reserve Bank or Branch Bank which serves his region. He said: "Every manufacturer large and small who has suitable machinery . . . must be enlisted."

Ginger Can Play Any Sort of Film Role

It's not without reason that Ginger Rogers is rated the most versatile star on the screen today. Some stars are noted for their dancing but can't do anything else. Others are fine comedienne but would be lost in serious drama. Still others deliberately pick unpleasant emotional roles because there isn't much competition, but would speedily lose their following if they essayed a modern sophisticated comedy part.

Ginger isn't like them. She can do, and has done, anything of a histrionic nature, and has steadily widened her circle of admirers with every new type of performance. She did flappers and meaneers and gold-diggers in her early days in Hollywood, and had swell time doing so and became highly popular in such roles—which is a tribute in itself.

Then she soared to the heights as the leading feminine dancer on the screen—a distinction no one has yet successfully challenged—in her pictures with Fred Astaire.

In between her tapershorean flings she began to make pictures with other stars—William Powell and James Stewart and George Brent and the younger Fairbanks. These weren't dancing pictures. They were picked to prove that Ginger Rogers was an actress as well as a dancer, and they did just that. But they didn't completely satisfy Ginger.

So two years ago she quietly but firmly put away her dancing slippers and set about acting in all directions. She proved herself one of the best funsters on the silver sheet in "Bachelor Mother," and then she proved herself equally capable as an emotional actress in "Fifth Avenue Girl" and "Primrose Path," and followed that with an excellent exhibition of her talents for whimsical romance in "Lucky Partners."

In her newest vehicle, "Kitty Foyle," Ginger has a role that is different from anything she has done before. It is that of the spirited, courageous, generous Irish girl from Philadelphia, one of the twenty million white collar girls in America's offices, who is the heroine of Christopher Morley's widely-discussed novel.

Her experiences in romance and in business comprise the basis of the film as they do of the book, and their presentation through a unique first-person method of film story-telling make the part an outstanding one. It again proves the versatility of the young lady from Fort Worth.

Has Picture of Old Eastland Courthouse

Our old and tried friend, Sam Davison of the Meadow section was in to see us one day last week, and showed us a faded picture of the Old Eastland County Courthouse at Eastland, Texas.

What makes this old courthouse famous is the fact or myth that when it was built back some 40 years ago, a horned frog, "Old Rip," was put in the corner stone, and many reliable citizens maintain that when the old courthouse was dismantled in the 30ties to make room for the modern courthouse structure. Old Rip was still there and very much alive.

The old frog or rather lizard was exhibited all over the United States, and there became a demand for these little, harmless reptiles from many sections, and Boy Scouts and other boys made some money gathering them up.

Sam has made Terry County a mighty fine citizen for the past 18 years.

CHAIN-STORE TAX REPEAL

The recommendation of the House Committee on Taxation at Austin that the chain store tax be repealed was founded upon substantial evidence showing that the levy was punitive not against the chains but against the consumer, the producer and business in general.

The innocent bystander usually is the victim of taxation intended to punish someone. The chain store levy was an effort to handicap, if not drive out of Texas, retail organizations which were regarded somewhat as "foreigners" by their critics.

Proponents of the chain stores made out a strong case, showing that their organizations afford important outlets for Texas farm and manufactured products.

The Texas Legislature should repeal the chain store tax, in line with the House committee's recommendation. Punitive or discriminatory taxes should have no place in the State's revenue raising program—Star Telegram.

NOVICES TAKE A BEATING

Ascap, the organized music composers and publishers, who have ruled radio, theatre and concert music and collected a stiff tax for a number of years, finally overstepped so far that there was a revolt and the radio and others dropped Ascac music and at a much lower price.

The public rubbed its eyes for a few days then enjoyed the change, while Ascac Czars began to feel the lack of public attention and watched their business slip away.

Like others who do without publicity, Ascac almost perished before realization came.—Clarensen News.

THEY RODE BY RAIL

Last January, the railroads gave a superb example of the efficiency of their service. This example wasn't a prepared stunt—it was made in the ordinary course of business.

During that month, the railroads transported 207,000 members of our military forces without the slightest difficulty or interference with other traffic.

To handle this unusual passenger traffic required 633 routings. These were made by the individual railroads involved, in cooperation with the Military Transportation Section of the Association of Railroads.

In past periods, the railroads have demonstrated their ability to handle extraordinary quantities of freight without delay, confusion, or car shortages, and now they've proven an equal degree of efficiency in expediting the transportation of passengers.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Minnix have returned from a four-week vacation in Southern Arizona and California. They accompanied their son, Kelly, to San Diego where he has entered four years training in the U. S. Navy. The recruiting officers told Mr. and Mrs. Minnix that so far Kelly was the youngest to enter training in recent years, as he is only 17 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Minnix report a most wonderful trip and say anyone taking a vacation to California should go in the spring time as the country is more beautiful now than any other time of the year. The mountains and deserts are carpeted with gorgeous wild poppies, lilies and verbinas, which make a very pleasant picture to gaze upon. However, Terry County looks mighty good and is "Home Sweet Home" to them.

Ginger Rogers, who recently appeared—(with Ronald Colman co-starred) in "Lucky Partners," shares stardom with none in her latest screen creation — the title role of the "white-collar girl" in Christopher Morley's best-selling novel, "Kitty Foyle," which has been brought to the screen by RKO Radio. In this picturization of "the natural history of a woman" Dennis Morgan and James Craig are co-featured in support, as the two men who are rivals for the permanent possession of Kitty's affections. Shows at the Rialto Theatre Friday and Saturday.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

The Sunday School Adult Mission study was completed last Sunday and every class paid tribute to the material and their teacher. It was a course with facts that every person needs to know.

"Ever Onward" is the motto of Christian men and women. Like the mother in the home who never finds an end to her work, the church moves on from day to day. There is no end to its program, but one way to hinder the progress is not to come to church and Sunday School. Our church needs you. Brother Hanks will preach Sunday morning on the crucifixion of Christ with the subject "Jesus Said Unto Them, 'Weep Not For Me But Rather For Yourself and Your Children.'" His evening topic will be "Steadfast Face."

The pastor and missionary committee hope to get all of our benevolent offerings in by Easter Sunday. If you can, please bring yours by then.

The building committee met Tuesday night and voted to start work on the church immediately. The excavation work probably will begin Wednesday. This gives us a great deal of pride and satisfaction. Soon we'll have a building with classrooms for every class in Sunday School.

The finance committee would be grateful for any offering on the building.

BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

Good congregations last Sunday with 392 registering for the Bible study period and six coming into the fellowship of the church.

The regular Spring revival began Wednesday evening and it is hoped that the membership learns about it before the meeting is over as there has not been any previous announcement. There is no extra help employed for this meeting as the local forces will bring the music and pastor Rogers will do the preaching and the Lord is ready and willing to bless those who come in the right manner.

The ward has been quietly passed around among people who are classed as poor and not able to have extra good clothing that they will not feel at home in our new church building and among our people and we wish to admonish our own membership to invite such people to our church and make them feel at home while they are there as that was the purpose of furnishing this building, that the "poor have the gospel preached to them" and we do not say it to boast but because it is a fact that we have more poor folks in our membership than any other congregation in the community and such things are circulated for a designing motive and we hope it will never be necessary to mention it again.

We realize there are many people within reach of this Church and the meeting now in progress who are rejecting Christ and we invite them especially to the services as some of them will no doubt be in eternity before another meetings, and we invite the membership of other congregations to bring their unsaved friends into the services.

Our Bible study period should

MARSHA HUNT - BOB STERLING
GENE REYNOLDS
DIRECTED BY HAROLD J. BUCQUET

Bob Lawrence kept apologizing as though somehow the secretary of a Chamber of Commerce could be held responsible for the weather but, as a matter of fact, the scene was rendered even more striking by the thin mist that rose like faint smoke from the Comal River in Landa Park, one of the most beautiful spots in Texas. The river is only three and one-half miles long and it is New Braunfels' boast that it is the only one in Texas (if not the entire nation) that starts its course in a city and runs its course entirely within the city limits.

Despite its brevity, the Comal is declared to have the greatest flow of any stream in the state. Fed by springs, it never falls in the driest season but pours forth an estimated 300,000,000 gallons of water daily, and always at a temperature of 70 degrees.

A walk through grass with drops of silver, stepping carefully to avoid breaking spiders' fragile webs spangled with dew, and we came to the river's starting point—clear water flowing gently over ferns. Gaining volume and speed as it swelled by other springs, the rivulet.

Happened to run across a graceful tribute the other day that was paid a while back to Senator Morris Sheppard: "He is a true gentleman; and it is almost a definition of a gentleman to say that he is one who never inflicts pain. He makes light of favors when he does them and seems to be receiving a favor when actually he is conferring it. He is a great debater

Edward Arnold as the gangster overlord in "The Penalty," thriller-packed tale of a killer who walks into a trap baited with a blonde he couldn't stay away from and a son he loved more than life itself. Lionel Barrymore has a vital role in the new picture, and others prominently cast include Marsha Hunt, Robert Sterling and Gene Reynolds, playing Arnold's son. The picture opens Tuesday on the Rialto screen for a two day showing.

MORE CATTLE SHIPPED AT A BETTER PRICE

AUSTIN, Apr. 1—The modern Texas cattle trail—the railroads—took 3,801 cars of livestock to markets at Fort Worth and in other states during February, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

These shipments—3.8 per cent larger than in February a year ago—included 2,110 cars of cattle, 691 cars of calves, 782 cars of hogs and 218 cars of sheep.

The cattle movement showed a 3.4 per cent increase over February, 1940, calves 9.9 per cent, hogs 32.1 per cent. Sheep shipments showed the only decline—from 400 to only 218 cars.

PLAYED FOR PRESIDENTS

Older than the National Capital, the United States Marine Band can glimpse back over its stirring history of more than seven score years.

Established in 1798, the band was already two years old when it set out from Philadelphia to the new capitol at Washington, traveling most of the way afoot, while its instruments and supplies were hauled in Conestoga wagons over deeply-rutted roads and dusty trails. The journey took two weeks.

Arriving in the capitol in July, 1800, the band gave its first concert a few weeks later. In December of that year the tiny band could muster no more than two oboes, two clarinets, two French horns, a bassoon and a drum.

At that time our capitol was hardly more than a sprawling group of log cabins in a wilderness. Today it is one of the show cities of America, while the band of sixty-seven musicians is the equal of any musical organization of its kind in the nation.

Thomas Jefferson, often called the godfather of the band, heard and appreciated its music. Its present leader is Captain William F. Santelmann, U. S. M. C.

The band has played at scores of official functions. Beaus and belles of bygone era danced to its stately minuets. White House weddings have been enlivened by its presence.

On more solemn occasions it played a final requiem for Presidents Harrison, Taylor, Garfield, McKinley and Harding. Today its versatile musicians are able to perform either as a band or as a symphony orchestra. The band has written its own harmonious page in the musical history of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Havran of the City Tailors, spent Sunday in Seymour visiting his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gage spent Sunday at Whitharrell visiting her mother.

Representing young love thru-out the world! Ann Rutherford and Mickey Rooney, as the sweet-hearts of the Hardy Family pictures, make their latest appearance in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," opening Sunday on the Rialto screen. This time their problems and laughs revolve around their struggle to graduate from high school.

Texas Playboy Band
Passes Through

The Texas Playboy Band passed through Sunday and stopped for a few minutes at the Hancock Cafe before going on to Hobbs where they had an engagement Monday night. Other engagements in Texas included San Angelo, Abilene and Wichita Falls, before they return to Tulsa, Okla., where they play over KVOO as well as make records for nickelodians.

They played at the Cotton Club, Lubbock, Saturday night, but as the Old He had only been out of the hospital a few days, it was thought best not to drive up there. One of the members of the band, Alton Stricklin, is a nephew of the editor, playing the piano in the band. Alton got to stop just a few minutes with us. We expected him to run down Sunday morning on the bus and wait here for the band bus.

Bob Willis, head of the band, was formerly connected with W. Lee O'Daniel and his Lightcrust Doughboys but resigned a few years ago to form his own orchestra of some 18 pieces. Bob is not a stranger in west Texas, owning two sections of fine land in Lamb county, near Sudan.

THE RADICALS
ASKED FOR IT

Reports to the effect that the Federal government is planning to establish some sort of a new labor mediation board, with wide powers, should not come as a surprise.

Certain segments of labor have shown themselves completely irresponsible. They have delayed the defense drive. They have stopped production in important factories. They have, in short, taken advantage of the nation's need to "demand the moon."

There seems to be no other solution than aggressive governmental intervention in labor disputes. About all the radicals in labor have achieved is to place the labor movement in disrepute in the minds of millions of Americans.

BROWNFIELD FRIDAY — SATURDAY TEXAS

Why Vote For Consolidation?

Fifth: The larger a school unit is, the more economical the cost of education becomes. The same principle that applies to business applies to schools, for your school system is one of your largest businesses. Consolidation means participation in costs as well as benefits. Certainly no fault can be found with a system in which all people who benefit from a school, also, participate in its upkeep.

Sixth: The larger a high school unit is, the more possible it becomes to add necessary departments—the more possible it becomes to serve in every respect all of the people. A small high school must of necessity spend its money first upon college entrance courses, and in many cases does not have the student body nor the money to maintain practical, useable departments which equip the boy and girl to make a living.

Seventh: It is no more practical for a city to gather itself together within the fold; take care of its own problems and participate in no other, than it is practical for the rural community to do the same. The rural valuation needs the city valuation and the city valuation needs the rural.

IN CONCLUSION, the people in the Brownfield School District along with the people in the Brownfield rural trade territory, must look farther ahead than just tomorrow. These two things can always be depended upon:

1. Parents and other forward looking people will in the end educate the youth of their communities no matter what the tax load may become.

2. The larger the valuation base, the more reasonable it is to believe that natural growth in valuation will follow growth in schoolatics, and tend to normalize taxation; and that the laws that involve volume and overhead are no more true of business than they are of schools.

F. S. A. MEETING

An interesting and educational meeting was held March 21 at 2:00 P. M. in the district court room for borrowers of the Farm Security Administration. Mr. Dennis Lilly, R. R. Supervisor, presided at the meeting and introduced the following:

Mr. Orville W. Richardson, assistant R. R., who spoke on "Poultry Hints;" Miss Maretta Holloway, County Home Demonstration Agent, whose subject was "The 1941 Mattress Program;" Mrs. Roger Nevels, Home Supervisor, discussed "Frame Gardens and the Cooperative Purchasing of Garden Seed;" "The Supplementary Cotton Stamp" and "Food Conservation Program" was explained by Mr. Loe Miller, A. A. Administrator. Presentation of "Live At Home Awards" for 1940 were made by T. L. Patterson, Sec'y. Terry County Board of Development. Six families received awards for having produced 75 percent of their living on the farm (according to F. S. A. requirements), and thirteen families received them for producing 60 percent of their living on the farm. In addition to the above speakers, Mr. W. R. McDuffie, Cashier of the First National Bank, was present and spoke a few words of praise for the F. S. A. program. He commented especially on the F. S. A.'s method of keeping records on the farm and said that he thought it a good step for farmers as well as other business men.

Approximately 100 farm men and women attended the meeting.
