Cotton Variety Tests Announced

LUBBOCK -- Performance results from evaluations of nearly 100 cotton varieties in 1975 have been announced.

The top five varieties, which include two new lines, were Tamcot SP21, Tamcot 788, Quapaw, GSA71 and Paymaster 303. The latter two are recently released varieties.

Under the direction of Dr. Levon L. Ray, cotton geneticist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, tests were conducted at Lubbock and near Lamesa in Dawson County and in cooperation with Dr. Douglas Owen at the Experiment Station at Halfway in Hale County.

At Lubbock, cottons were evaluated under dryland and irrigated conditions, on land with severe Verticillium wilt infestations and in a narrow-row production system.

Over 50 commercially available varieties and about that number of unreleased, experimental varieties were tested last season. said Ray

The Plains Cotton Growers and the Lamesa Cotton Growers organizations provided financial support for conducting the tests. Ronnie Culp, grower, and County Extension Agent LeRoy Colgan, Jr., cooperated in the comparative performance of varieties and help them detect and correct any weakness their variety might have, he added. "Selection of the wrong cotton variety can be costly for the producer," he said. "Many excellent varieties are available but they must be matched to specific production conditions to assure maximum profits.' Ray said Tamcot SP21. Tamcot 788, Quapaw, GSA71 and Paymaster 303 were the higher yielding varieties when averaged over the Lubbock and Dawson County tests. "GSA72 and Paymaster 303 are new varieties which may not be familiar to many growers. Delcot 277 was the top yielding variety in the Dawson County test. This variety has tolerance to nematodes, fusarium wilt and Verticillium wilt, but it is an open boll variety. Its tolerance to nematodes may have been partly responsible for the high

The report showed some newer varieties which yielded well in a supplemental test at Lubbock were Early Cot 32, Early Cot 33, Dawson B-25 and Tamcot SP-23. Acala 1517-70 yielded well at Lubbock but was not among the high yielding varieties in the Dawson County test.

Yields were "very low" in the Verticillium wilt tolerance test. Acala B3080, the highest yielding commercially available variety, produced less than 200 pounds of lint per acre, the report indicated. But several wilt tolerant experimental varieties produced over 200 pounds of lint per acre, and in a double row test under severe wilt conditions yields of two experimental strains exceeded 400 pounds of lint per acre.

In varieties common to both the single and double-row tests, yield was increased 64 percent or 142 pounds of lint per acre with the narrow row spacing under severe wilt. In tests where wilt was not a significant problem, yields were increased an average of 14 percent with the double-row planting.

Early Cot 31 in the double-row varieties showed good potential, especially for disease tolerance and adaptation to narrow-row.

Sudan News By Mrs. Wayne Doty

The Sudan Hornet Band was in the UIL contest held last Thursday at Wayland Baptist College. They received a one rating and two elevens in concert and a one in sight reading. According to Band Director, Bob Bryant and others in attendance, the group played exceptionally well. The band is planning a contest trip to Canon City, Colorado April 29 through May 3. They will be working for money to help finance the trip as well as practicing their music and marching.

It has been announced that Danny Williams, a Sudan senior has signed a letter of intent with the University of Texas at Arlington. The Williams' were there recently and said the school was happy Danny signed with them.

James Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Graves, a Sudan junior classman has been named to the All-State football team.

The Sudan Jazz band attended a recent contest in Lubbock, held in the Tech ballroom. They received a trophy for first place in class B. An outstanding musician certificate was presented to Martha Withrow. This is a young band, doing all the work on their own outside school hours, therefore they receive no credit for their work. The band will participate in the annual "Spring Sling", a concert and cake auction to be held in the near future. Money from the proceeds will be used to help finance their trip to Canon City, Colorado.

to the unsaved and it is not entirely out of place with such an application. But it will be observed that it was originally spoken by Isaiah to the devout Jews of his day and was equivalent to a pastor's appeal to his own members. There are four very striking lessons to be found in it EXHORTATIONS: There is alays a need for pastors to exhort to his members that they may cling to God and to give God a chance in their lives. It is not always a question of one's salvation - but many times it is a question of one's usefulness. It will be worth our while to remember that the true pastor always carries his members in his heart and many times he talks to God about them in secret - and many times he appeals to them publicly and privately to give God a larger place in their hearts and lives. There is a great need for an application of this truth today. So many of our members live on a low plane and there is necessity for an earnest, warm-hearted exhortation from the pastor because of the waywardness of his sheep. This statement seems to imply that many people seek to hide from God and run away from Him, and for that reason the appeal comes for men to seek the Lord. It is no wonder that many people get so little out of their religion when you consider how little they give to their religious needs. They starve their souls and then wonder why they die early. God is an experience and is found only in one's personal experience with Him. He can not be learned from sermons, nor from the Bible but God is learned by and through an experience of a personal nature.

IMPLICATIONS: The statement implies that there may be time when God could not be found. This does not mean that God will cease to love - but it does mean that our hearts will no longer respond to His love. It does not mean that God ceases to call - but it does mean that we may refuse to hear His call. The statement also implies that God is nearer to us some times that He is at other times. Every Christian realized when he goes to pray that this fact is true. There is a great danger of our traveling beyond the reach of His voice. This statement also implies that too many of us are not on intimate enough terms with God. We hope to spend eternity with Him and yet we are not on speaking terms with Him in this life. Speaking terms with mama sometimes leads us to speaking terms with God. In other words, if a child is taught right - it is pretty well understood that he has a better chance of living right when he

ADMONITIONS: There is an admonition for a changed life. "Let the wicked forsake his throughts and let him return to the Lord." Which implies that those things that are inconsistent with God must be put out of our lives if God is to mean very much to use. Our lives can never be what they ought to be as long as these things remain with us. Are we willing to pay the price of a good life? Are we willing to pay the price of a happy life? Many people want to be happy, but they are unwilling to pay the price of happiness. Many want to be useful - but are unwilling to pay the price of usefulness.

ASSURANCES: God will have mercy on you - this is clearly stated and it is great assurance to any man who needs mercy. Let us remember that God is not a tyrant - demanding a pound of flesh. He is more anxious to forgive us than we are to be forgiven. God will abundantly pardon, is also clearly stated which means that our pardon will be full and free - instantaneous and abundant.

toxic substance which largely restricts the meal from the normal seed to feed for ruminant animals. Without the gossypol, cottonseed could become a valuable source of food grade vegetable protein.

'Gregg Seed Farms, Lambright Seed Farms and Rogers Seed Company have commercially available glandless varieties. Most other companies developing varieties for this area have advance glandless experimental varieties.

Ray said 16 glandless varieties were evaluated in a test with two normally glanded check varieties, Tamcot 788 and Paymaster 111A, in 1975. The glanded check varieties had an average yield of 377 pounds of lint per acre and the glandless cottons an average of 375 pounds of lint per acre.

In comparing glandless and glanded varieties which have been grown in this test over the past three years, Ray found that the average yield was 589 pounds per acre for the glanded and 579 pounds per acre for the glandless.

Varieties were evaluated in conventional single-row and double-row tests at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Halfway. Dr. Douglas Owen was in charge of these tests.

Tamcot SP21 yielded 749 pounds of lint per acre, exceeding the next highest yielding variety, Paymaster 464, an experimental glandless variety, by more than 150 pounds. Generally, the earlier maturing varieties had the highest yield.

In contrast to the results obtained at Lubbock, the average yield of varieties common to both tests was 51 pounds per acre higher in the single than in double-row tests, Ray said. Top yield in the double-row test was 577 pounds of lint per acre from GSA71 and Paymaster 266-28, an experimental variety.

"Although a high yield potential is essential in an acceptable cotton variety, there are other characteristics which also must be considered," he added. "Fiber properties, espeically grade, staple length and micronaire, can have a large effect on the price received.

"However, the grower should recognize that the market premiums and discounts vary from year to year. At times it may be quite profitable to grow a variety with a long fiber; whereas. in other years premiums for longer staple may be very small.

"The same is true for micronaire," he said. "In general, longer fiber means lower micronaire, so the grower needs to consider the relative current magnitude of the price differentials for both micronaire and length.'

Ray said variety can also affect grade. For example, Tamcot SP-21 has very few plant hairs. and this variety generally produces a better grade than most other varieties. Other attributes such as seed yield, gin turn-out, stromproofness, disease resistance, and insect resistance can be important, also, he added.

A report summarizing the results of tests in Lubbock and Dawson County will be available on request through the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center at Lubbock. This report supplies yield, fiber and ginning information which will be helpful to cotton producers in variety decision making, Ray conclud-

Cotton Prices Steady To Weaker

Grower prices were 75 cents to $1.50 per bale lower during the week ending March 26, according to Paul R. Dickson, In Charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock. Farmers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 32, 42, 33 and 43; staples 29 through 31, mikes 3.2 and lower for 42.50 to 44.00 cents per pound.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported trading was slow and growers offered cotton in light volume.

well as this famous one . . . even beat it in some respects. You should consider them, too. They'll help you get exactly the right hybrid mix for whatever mother nature has in store for this season:

Number two in popularity with Southwestern farmers . . . 3306 is a hybrid with strong stalks and outstanding ear retention. Especially good in light soils, it has good drouth and heat tolerance and is a good performer on irrigated or non-irrigated land.

An exciting new hybrid that has an even greater yield potential than 3369A. The added yield potential comes, in part, from a little later maturity while having the root and stalk strength to stand until harvest. It stays green later, too. This one can add significant profit to your corn crop.

Another new, good yielding hybrid. It's a little earlier than 3369A with exceptionally fast dry down. It has made from $9 to $12 more profit per acre than ordinary hybrids because of its fast dry down. It has long slender ears on small, hard cobs . . . really great for combining.

Texas Industry Week

Texas has come out of the national recession with flying colors, although, admittedly, we never did feel the pinch as badly as the other states in the union.

Texas industry is responsible for the reason the Texas economy continued to expand, Texas unemployment figures are among the lowest in the nation and Texas is leading the country in the number of new manufacturing jobs.

Governor Dolph Briscoe has designated April 1-7 Texas Industry Week to thank the farsighted industries in Texas which continued to expand and the new industries that moved into the state.

The Texas Industrial Commis sion reports that in 1975 nearly 200 major new industries set up shop in Texas and almost 300 expanded.

In response to a request from Governor Briscoe, more than 37,000 jobs for unemployed and underemployed Texans have been identified through the Governor's Job Creation Campaign to make TEXAS FIRST in economic development. This usrely indicates Texas is First.

"These are the sorahums I'd plant if I farmed in this area."

'Drouth, disease, insects, wind storms . . . taking everything into account that can plague a crop in this area, these are the sorghums

It's my job to know which are the best varieties for each locale in the states of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. For the last five years I've had Crop Information Centers, Standard Comparison Tests and Uniform Strip Tests in this immediate area. In these carefully controlled tests, I've evaluated most of the sorghum varieties a farmer might consider planting. I've had the same headaches and frustrations you've had. My plantings have suffered the same weather conditions, epi> demics and infestations yours have. Based on these tests, there is no doubt in my mind what I'd plant in 1976 if I farmed hereabouts.

8311 is a champion producer of high test weight, yellow endosperm grain. Pioneer introduced this golden bronze hybrid three years ago and it's been setting yield records in this area ever since. One reason is its ability to yield in the face of too wet or too dry weather, insects or disease. Another reason for the high yields is that 8311 tends to adjust its maturity to the growing season in a particular area. Whatever else you plant . . . put in some 8311.

An outstanding new yellow endosperm hybrid with about the same maturity as 846. This hybrid has a superior yield record. The plant has excellent roots and stalks. Heads exsert well above the flag leaf and are uniform in height. Pioneer brand 8501 has good tolerance to smut, MDMV, downy mildew and greenbugs. It performs well under stress and has semi-open heads that add to its good appearance.

A WORD ABOUT GREENBUGS Tolerance to both greenbugs and maize dwarf mosaic plus high yield potential give these two sorghum varieties an economically significant advantage that you'll want to consider for your grain sorghum crop in 1976.

Performance of seeds or the crop produced therefrom may be adversely affected by factors beyond our control including environmental conditions, insects and diseases. The limitation of warranty and remedy attached to each bag of Pionee brand seed is a part of the terms and conditions of the sale
