Government Advertising.

The Herald of last Friday, in noticing the arrival of General Meigs, takes occasion to exhibit its usual mendacity in the following manner:

There is another matter we will refer to in connection with the General's visit to our city, namely the Quartermaster's advertising. There is no doubt, but the government has lost many thousand dollars in the last two or three years by having its advertising done in papers having almost literally no circulation. We are aware that the direction of this advertising has been controlled, not by the Quartermasters, but by the Clerk of the House of Representatives, under a stupid law of Congress, applicable to the unreconstructed States. But as Texas is soon, we hope, to be readmitted into the Union, and the matter of advertising will then pass under the control of the Quartermaster's department, where it rightfully belongs, we hope General Meigs will cause his advertising to be done in papers having the largest circulation, and that will do it upon the most advantageous terms for the government.

The Herald man knows, if he knows anything at all, that the government has never lost a dollar by advertising in the loyal newspapers of the South, for the following reasons:

First, many of the Republican newspapers have a larger circulation than the rebel sheets published in the same localities—just as the Express and Free Press exceed in circulation the Herald. And with regard to this latter fact—that is, that the Express and Free Press have a larger circulation than the Herald—we challenge the Herald man to exhibit the facts and the figures.

Second, no man interested, or desiring to interest himself in any government contract, would look for an advertisement of the kind in a sheet so flagrantly and unbecomingly hostile to the general government as the Herald has constantly been—notwithstanding the fact, that it professed an inclination to become "loll" over the order of the Commanding General in honor of 8th of January anniversary.

Third, even if it were true, which we deny, that the Herald could give a larger circulation to an advertisement than the Express, it is evident to any one, knowing the character of its bigoted, scandalous and slanderous publications, that the generality of its subscribers are not of the class, either able or willing to serve the Government by any fair or honest contract. A sheet, constantly given to vilifying every government official, except, when, as in this case of advertising, it would毫不hesitatingly fawn upon anything human for the sake of lucrative patronage, is not the one in which any intelligent, upright business man would expect to find official advertisements.

But we can, for once, agree with the Herald, when it says, in the same article: "We cannot but believe that San Antonio possessed advantages for the transportation, storage and forwarding of government supplies over any other point in Texas;" but when it adds, that "San Antonio has been denied her just proportion of the public business for a long time past;" we are at a loss to comprehend its meaning, unless it be, that the Herald has not had the Quartermaster's advertising. "Just?" Just to whom? That is the question. What are the just demands of San Antonio, or any other point, when the economical and proper execution of the functions of the government are concerned? Simply that economy, dispatch, and a thorough accomplishment of the objects desired are secured. We thought it unwise, when the Headquarters of this military department were removed to Austin, although the Commanding General had good reason for making the experiment, and we believe has been convinced by experience of the error; yet, we would not be willing, were it a thousand per cent, more benefit to us alone, or to this city at the expense of the government to have the best interests of the general Government sacrificed in order to furnish our own city, or any other city, with the profits of its patronage.

And in saying this we would not have it understood that we are wanting in the laudable desire to advance the best interests of San Antonio, for we truly love and revere the good old city; but we are earnest in this matter, "not that we love Caesar less, but Rome more."

Republican Constitution.

At the request of many of the oldest and most consistent Republicans of the State, from different sections, a call is hereby made upon the National Union Republicans of Texas, who supported in good faith the adoption of the Constitution, and the claims of Governor Hamilton in the recent election, to meet in consultation, at the city of Austin, on Monday the 7th day of February, 1870, for the purpose of giving expression to our satisfaction at the almost unanimous adoption by the people of the liberal Constitution framed by the friends of Governor Hamilton, in the Convention, and the prospect of the early restoration of our State to a government of laws and of the people; and also to present to the people a vindication of our action in the recent canvass against the misrepresentations that have been so actively disseminated against us as National Union Republicans, and to respectfully petition the Congress of the United States to order an investigation of the irregularities and frauds which are known to have been practiced and allowed in the late election, and to take such other steps as may be determined upon for the benefit of our State and People.

J. L. HAYNES,
Ch'r Rep. Ex. Com.

We publish the foregoing, which we find in the Austin Republican of the 19th inst., without charge, because we have a word or two to say, not only upon the "call," but upon the Republican's comments thereon.

The call professes to be made "at the request of many of the oldest and most consistent Republicans of the State"—taking care to say—"from different sections." Our contemporary explains who these "consistent" men are when it says, "but for such men as Hamilton, Pease, Caldwell, Paschal, Stribling, Bell, Turner, Haynes, Mills, Jack Evans, Cooper, Bacon, and a host of other Spirits, there would never have been a Republican Party in Texas."—These are the very men, and none others, with a few trifling exceptions, at whose request this call is made. They are, indeed, "from different sections," but in no sense are they representatives, unless it be of the fungus growth which attaches itself to every live political party merely for the sustenance they can draw from its success, and not from any principle. These are the very men who so recently sold themselves to the most unscrupulous agitators in the so-called Democratic Party, for the sake of office. They were not only willing to rupture the Republican Party in our State, but also to endanger the hopes for readmission, entertained by every true friend of the State, in order that they might obtain a temporary control of the offices. Their intrigues among themselves, and back-door communications and bargains with the enemies of the present administration, with the enemies of the well settled plan of reconstruction are well known, not only to the really "consistent" Republicans of the State, but to the President and to the Congress of the United States.

THE TEST OATH IN TEXAS.—WASHINGTON, Jan 10.—General Reynolds, commanding the military district of Texas, has forwarded to Gen. Sherman the petition of certain citizens of that State, asking that a law be passed by Congress to punish persons who are guilty of wilful false swearing in taking the iron-clad oath. It seems that there are a large number of disqualified persons who, for the sake of obtaining office, have subscribed the test oath, and there are no means of punishing them under the laws of Texas. What the Texans ask is, that Congress pass a general law on the subject which shall be applicable to all the late rebel States, and place the execution of it in United States Courts. Gen. Sherman has laid the matter before the Reconstruction Committee.

GOLD EXCITEMENT IN MONTANA.—Mr. Cavenagh, delegate from Montana Territory, has just received a letter announcing very rich and extensive gold discoveries on Cedar Creek, which runs down the eastern slope of the mountain range separating Montana and Idaho Territories. These deposits are said to rival anything in California. Three hundred and twelve dollars are said to have been panned out of one hole, and the writer alleges that he has seen $2 to the pan taken out with great regularity. There is great excitement in Montana, and thousands are already on their way to new diggings.

Josh Billings gives some advice to a young lady as to how she shall receive a proposal: "You oughter take it, kinder looking down 'em, with an expreshun about half-tickled and half scart. After the pop iz over, of yore luvver wants to kiss you, I don't think I would say yes or no, but let the thing kind o' take its own course."

My Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine has been in almost daily use, Sabbath excepted, for over ten years, doing the work, both coarse and fine, for a family which, for seven years, consisted of more than forty persons. During the whole ten years it has needed no repairs of any kind, and its condition is so good now that I would not exchange it for a new machine. So perfect is its running order that it has not required a second needle in over three years.

Petition for the Removal of Disability.

For the benefit of those who may desire to apply to Congress for the removal of disabilities, we have drafted and publish the following form of petition:

To the Hon. Congress of the U. S.: The petition of A. B., a citizen of

In the county of _____, and State of Texas, respectfully makes known that he is by the Constitution and laws of the United States laboring under political disability, from the fact that he took part with the Confederates in the late war against the government of the United States.

Your petitioner further represents that since the close of the war, he has performed all the duties incumbent upon him as a citizen of the United States and has discountenanced any and all disloyalty thereto, and that he has since that time and now is, a loyal citizen of said Government, in favor of its perpetuity and is ready, willing, and determined to labor therefor.

Wherefore your petitioner prays that his disability may be removed and that he may be also exempted from taking the Test Oath, and so will ever pray, &c.

(Signed.)

Take care to acknowledge your signature before the County Clerk, County Judge, or Notary, and have him to certify to your identity and that he believes the statement in the petition to be true; and also obtain if convenient, the recommendations of influential Union men, to be written upon the petition, or attached thereto, and have their signatures and identity certified to, by one of said officers. Send your petition on to some one of the Texans now gone to Washington, or to some friend there, or address it to the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The form of petition may be varied to suit the taste of the applicant.

The famous Casa Pearl has reformed. She won, recently, some money at the Baden-Baden (gambing hell), and with it bought a little villa at Belleville, where she says she will live in strict retirement. Her diamonds are said to be worth nearly three hundred thousand francs, and a leading Parisian jewelry firm has offered to pay her for them an annual pension of eighteen thousand francs during her life.

Chinese Jugglers.

The Chinese jugglers and their curious tricks are often a matter of great interest to a stranger. Unlike the modern prestidigitator, he has no apparatus, no tables with drawers, no baskets and boxes with false bottoms—therefore his tricks seem all the more wonderful. One trick I remember that was never tired of seeing, it was so curious, and at the same time so beautiful.

The juggler is furnished with a square tile of white porcelain, apparently not different from any other piece of white ware. He asks you what flower he shall make appear on the surface. Perhaps you say a red rose. He waves a brush over the plate few times; the brush has apparently no color in it, and he has no color near him, and in a moment the flower appears on the tile, with its appropriate leaves, as if painted by a most skillful hand. When you have admired it sufficiently, he passes his hand once more across the picture, and it is gone.

You ask to see a water lily next, and with a few waves of the same brush he produces it, without a moment's hesitation, and wipes it away in the same manner. No matter what flower you ask for, so long as it is one with which the juggler is acquainted, he will paint it for you. The growth, blossoming, and fruit bearing of a seed planted before your eyes, in a little mound of earth on the pavement beneath your window, is another of the inexplicable tricks of their jiggery; and it becomes peculiarly difficult of explanation when the fruit you see grow, and are afterwards plucked to eat, is not in season, and therefore not to be procured in the market.

PLANTATION BITTERS

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachatics.

As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Wherever it is introduced it becomes a standard article—a medicinal staple. It is to-day the best and purest tonic, and the most popular medicine in the civilized world—be sure and get the genuine. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Country Stores.
