The wings of Time are black and white, Pied with morning and with night.
Mountain-tail and ocean deep Trembling balance duly keep.
In changing moon and tidal wave Gleams the food of Want and Have, Gauge of more and less through space, Electric star or pencil plays.
The lonely earth amid the walls
The heavy through the eternal halls A make-weight flying to the void, Supplemental asteroid,
Or compensatory spark, Shoots across the neutral Dark.

Man's the elm, and Wealth the vine; Staunch and strong the toudria twine; Though the frail ringlets thee deceive, None from its stock that vine can leave.
Fear not, then, thou child of firm, There's no god dare wrong a worm; Laurel crowns cleave to deserts,
And power to him who power exerts.
Hast not thy share? On winged feet, Lo! it rushes thee to meet;
And all that Nature made thy own, Floating in air or pent in stone, Will rive the hills and swim the sea,
And, like thy shadow, follow thee.

An opponent of woman suffrage—one of the feminine persuasion, we are constrained to believe—permeates the following malicious lines:
The rights of women who demand, Those women are but few;
The greater part had rather stand Exactly as they do.
Beauty has claims, for which she fights At ease, with winning arms;
The women who want woman's rights, Want, mostly, woman's charms.

OFFICIAL LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES, Passed at the Second Session of the Forty-First Congress.

CHINA—1868.
ADDITIONAL articles to the treaty between the United States and China, of June 18, 1868.
By the President of the United States, A PROCLAMATION.
Whereas, certain additional articles to the treaty now in force between the United States of America and the Ta-Tsing Empire, signed at Tientsin the 18th day of June, 1868, were concluded and signed by their plenipotentiaries at Washington, on the 26th day of July, 1868, which additional articles are, word for word, as follows: Additional articles to the treaty between the United States of America and the Ta-Tsing Empire of the 18. of June, 1868.
Whereas since the conclusion of the treaty between the United States of America and the Ta-Tsing Empire (China) of the 18th of June, 1868, circumstances have arisen showing the necessity of additional articles thereto, the President of the United States and the august sovereign of the Ta-Tsing Empire, have named for their plenipotentiaries, to wit: the President of the United States of America, William H.
Seward, Secretary of State, and his Majesty the Emperor of China, Anson Burlin-game, accredited as his Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, and Chih-Kang and Sun Chia-Ku, of the second Chinese rank, associated high envoys and ministers of his said Majesty, and the said plenipotentiaries, after having exchanged their full powers, found to be in due and proper form, have agreed upon the following articles.
ARTICLE I.
His Majesty the Emperor of China, being of the opinion that, in making concession to the citizens of foreign powers of privilege of residing on certain tracts of land, or resorting to certain waters of that empire for purposes of trade, he has by no means relinquished his right of eminent domain or dominion over the said land and waters, hereby agrees, that no such concession or grant shall be construed to give to any power or party which may be at war with or hostile to the United States the right to attack the citizens of the United States or their property within the said lands or waters, And the United States, for themselves, hereby agree to abtain from offensively attacking the citizens or subjects of any power or party of their property with which they may be at war on any such tract of land or waters of the said empire. But nothing in this article shall be construed to prevent the United States from resisting an attack by any hostile power or party upon their citizens or their property. It is further agreed that if any right or interest in any tract of land in China has been or shall hereafter be granted by the government of China to the United States or their citizens for purposes of trade or commerce, that grant shall in no event be construed to give the Chinese authorities of their right of jurisdiction over persons and property within said tract of land, except so far as that right may have been expressly relinquished by treaty.

ARTICLE II.
The United States of America and his Majesty the Emperor of China, believing that the safety and prosperity of commerce will thereby best be promoted, agree that any privilege or immunity in respect to trade or navigation within the Chinese dominions which may not have been stipulated for by treaty, shall be subject to the discretion of the Chinese government and may be regulated by it accordingly, but not in a manner or spirit incompatible with the treaty stipulations of the parties.

ARTICLE III.
The Emperor of China shall have the right to appoint consuls at ports in the United States, who shall enjoy the same privileges and immunities as those which are enjoyed by public law and treaty in the United States by the consuls of Great Britain and Russia, or either of them.

ARTICLE IV.
The twenty-ninth article of the treaty of the 18th of June, 1868, having stipulated for the exemption of Christian citizens of the United States and Chinese converts from proscription in China on account of their faith, it is further agreed that citizens of the United States in China, of every religious persuasion, and Chinese subjects in the United States, shall enjoy entire liberty of conscience, and shall be exempt from all disability or proscription on account of their religious faith or worship in either country. Cemeteries for sepulchre of the dead, of whatever nativity or nationality, shall be held in respect and free from disturbance or profanation.

ARTICLE V.
The United States of America and the Emperor of China cordially recognize the inherent and inalienable right of man to change his home and allegiance, and also the mutual advantage of the free migration and emigration of their citizens and subjects, respectively, from the one country to the other, for purposes of commerce or trade, or as permanent residents. The high contracting parties, therefore, join in prohibiting any other than an entirely voluntary emigration for these purposes.
They consequently agree to pass laws making it a penal offence for a citizen of the United States or Chinese subjects to take Chinese subjects either to the United States or to any other foreign country, or for a Chinese subject or citizen of the United States to take citizens of the United States to China or to any other foreign country, without their free and voluntary consent respectively.

ARTICLE VI.
Citizens of the United States visiting or residing in China shall enjoy the same privileges, immunities or exemptions in respect to travel or residence as may there be enjoyed by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nation. And, reciprocally, Chinese subjects visiting or residing in the United States, shall enjoy the same privileges, immunities, and exemptions in
be enjoyed by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nation. But nothing herein contained shall be held to confer naturalization upon citizens of the United States in China, nor upon the subjects of China in the United States.

ARTICLE VII.
Citizens of the United States shall enjoy all the privileges of the public educational institutions under the control of the government of China, and, reciprocally, Chinese subjects shall enjoy all the privileges of the public educational institutions under the control of the government of the United States which are enjoyed in the respective countries by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nation. The citizens of the United States may freely establish and maintain schools within the Empire of China at those places where foreigners are by treaty permitted to reside, and, reciprocally, Chinese subjects may enjoy the same privileges and immunities in the United States.

ARTICLE VIII.
The United States, always disclaiming and discouraging all practices of unnecessary dictation and intervention by one nation in the affairs of domestic administration of another, do hereby freely disclaim and disavow any intention or right to intervene in the domestic administration of China in regard to the construction of railroads, telegraphs or other national internal improvements. On the other hand, his Majesty, the Emperor of China, reserves to himself the right to decide the time and manner and circumstances of introducing such improvements within his dominions. With this mutual understanding it is agreed by the contracting parties that if at any time hereafter his imperial Majesty shall determine to construct or cause to be constructed works of the character mentioned within the empire, and shall make application to the United States or any other western power for facilities to carry out that policy, the United States will, in that case, designate and authorize suitable engineers to be employed by the Chinese government, and will recommend to other nations an equal compliance with such application, the Chinese government in that case protecting such engineers in their persons and property, and paying them a reasonable compensation for their service.
In faith whereof, the respective plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty and thereto affixed the seals of their arms.
Done at Washington the twenty-eighth of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight.

[Seal.] WILLIAM H. SEWARD, ANSON BURLINGAME, CHIH KANG,
SUN CHIA-KU.
And whereas the said additional articles have been duly ratified on both parts, and the respective ratifications of the same have been exchanged.
Now, therefore, be it known that I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States of America, have caused the said additional articles to be made public, to the end that the same, and every clause and article thereof, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.
In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.
Done at the city of Washington, this fifth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-fourth.

TEXAS ADMITTED!

Bill Passed without the House Proviso!!!

AUSTIN, March 29th, 1870.

SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS:

The following telegram has just been received from Washington:

"Sherman by masterly efforts, seconded by Colfax, defeated the filibusters."

"The Texas bill has just passed without the House proviso."

NEWCOMB.

Farm Labor.

We have again and again referred to the great inducements that are offered to farm labor in Texas.

We have spoken of the advantages of a free, deep, and productive soil—clear of stumps and stones, and a climate at once temperate and genial, where winter is brief and nominal, where land is almost without price, and the highest wages paid for labor.

We have dwelt upon these inducements in our columns, that farmers in less favored sections of the world, might understand and embrace the munificent and peerless opportunities that are now offering to all industrious newcomers.

We publish a paragraph from the Cincinnati Commercial with regard to the pay of farm hands, showing the steady demand for farm labor.

That paper says:

Thirty years ago the farm hand received nine dollars per month and board. In 1866, the average had increased to twenty-six dollars per month, or nearly trebled. Now the average, taking the country through, is twenty-five dollars and thirteen cents. That is to say, the price of farm labor has declined but slightly during the past three years, although the prices of agricultural and nearly all other products have materially declined during that time, and the laborer can now obtain nearly two bushels of wheat for the labor which would pay for one bushel in 1866. No more striking comment could be furnished than is here presented, upon the great demand for labor all over the country.

The liberal wages which these statistics show to be paid in the agricultural districts, demonstrates that there is no necessity for any one being out of employment. New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, particularly Chicago and other large cities, are now overrun with unemployed individuals, able-bodied men, laying on their oars, and anxiously watching the advertising columns and waiting at the labor agencies for something to do.

It is reported that a horse thief, of the Mexican persuasion, was hung on the river, about ten miles below town, on the night of the 25th inst. Verily, Mexican stock is going up.—San Marcos Pioneer, of the 12th inst.

Horrid! Is this light, jocular and witty spirit, an index of public sentiment in Western Texas, in respect to taking the life of a human being by "lynch law"?—Austin State Journal.

We took occasion to comment in fitting terms on this murderous deed, which will remain as a reproach and a stain on the community of San Marcos, until they clear themselves of responsibility by some practical effort. In the beautiful village of San Marcos, one of the most costly and elegant school buildings in the State is now being built. This shows a spirit of manly progress and civilization, that needs only to be aroused, to render the perpetration of such midnight murders forever impossible.

We can by no means acquit the Pioneer for thus throwing its influence into the scale of barbarism.

Curious Coincidence.—Cameron, Clay, Curtin, respectively conducting Columbia's correspondence with the Czar.

THE truth is, southern arguments overwhelmed northern adversaries and intermeddlers, and, being defeated they resorted to coercion. We never appealed to arms. We fought in self-defence.—Houston Times.

Indeed, Who captured Federal forts and arsenals in a dozen places, forced the surrender of three thousand United States troops in Texas, and fired the fatal shot at Sumpter which was the signal gun of the civil war? All this was done (strictly in self-defence we presume) before the troops of the North were called to arms by the President. It is time that this silly chatter about "self-defence" was ended among sensible men at the South. Let that voracious historian Pollard have a monopoly of such stuff.

Our Frontier.

Our entire frontier seems to be always in an uproar. We never heard from there without hearing of some Indian alarm—if not depredation. The severe rebuke given them in Comanche county recently, may cause them, at least, to be a little more cautious in that county, and we hope may deter them from visiting there any more.

We have some hope that in a short time our frontier will be better protected than it has been for a long time. (It is pleasing to notice that the Governor has called the attention of the President, particularly, to the miserable condition of those people. Senator Flanagan expressed himself freely on the subject, and said he would do what he could in the matter. They are certainly influential men with the Government, and we say we really have reason to hope for better times.)

The change of policy in regard to protection, mentioned by Governor Davis, is a very important recommendation. The old system has failed in every instance on our frontier. The old ranger-plan seems best to us. Place twenty-five well equipped men, of frontier habits and identity (with pay sufficient to justify them in taking the position), on the most frequently traveled routes by the Indians, and we are well satisfied that within twelve months they would have the frontier well protected. With such guarantee of safety, the population would, in a short time, become dense enough in many districts that are now completely overrun by the savages, to protect themselves, and prevent them from attempting to commit outrages.

Brown, Comanche, San Saba and other counties, that are not now available, contain some of the finest lands in the State, and the range is unsurpassed anywhere. We hope for a speedy change of plan, and active work, the good effects of which may be seen before next fall.—Belton Journal.

A Bigoted Bishop Extinguished.

Prof. Huxley is a leading exponent of the views of Mr. Darwin. Just after the "Origin of the Species" was first published, the subject came up at the Oxford meeting of the British association, in which Samuel Wilberforce, the Bishop of Oxford, participated. The Bishop is a man of elegant, oleaginous manners, who has acquired the sobriquet of "Soap Sam," which he wears very good naturedly. A lady once asked him how he came by this curious title, to which he neatly replied that "It must be because I so often get into hot water, and all ways come out with clean hands."

The bishop closed a sarcastic speech against the Darwins by turning to Prof. Huxley, their leading representative, and blandly asked in the presence of the large audience: "Is the learned gentleman really willing to have it go forth to the world that he believes himself to be descended from a monkey?"

Prof. Huxley rose and replied in his quiet manner: "It seems to me that the learned bishop hardly appreciates our position and duty as men of science. We are not here to inquire what we would prefer, but what is true. The progress of science from the beginning has been a conflict with old prejudices. The true origin of man is not a question of likes or dislikes to be settled by consulting the feelings, but it is a question of evidence, to be settled by strict scientific investigation. But, as the learned bishop is curious to know my state of feelings upon the subject, I have no hesitation in saying that were it a matter of choice with me (which clearly it is not) whether I should be descended from a respectable monkey, or from a Bishop of the English Church who can put his brains to no better use than to ridicule science and misrepresent its cultivators, I would certainly choose the monkey!"

The storm of applause which followed, showed that the hit was appreciated, and Huxley was afterwards known as "the man who had extinguished 'Soapy Sam.'"

THE ZONA LIBRE, or "free belt," on the Rio Grande, by which the revenue of the United States is being enormously and shamelessly swindled, and the Mexican revenue also greatly damaged, is attracting the grave and even indignant attention of our Government. Colonel Dawson, Supervisor of Customs for this District, informs us that this matter is now being investigated by the appropriate committee of Congress, and that it is not improbable that a demand will be made upon the Mexican Government for the abolition of this legal Sodom and Gomorrah. He says that, on a visit to Camargo, he was cognizant of the loss to the Mexican Government of $20,000 in customs by one shipment of silver. But the damage to the American revenue amounts probably to millions. Moreover, the Mexican side of the Rio Grande is being thickly settled, while the American side is becoming a desert. We sincerely trust Congress will take steps to crush out this iniquity, and also all the other rascalities, cattle and horse stealing, by Mexicans, Indians and whites, of which Eastern Mexico is the headquarters and refuge. American power is the only law that will ever bring about peace and order in that wretched country.—Houston Union.

THE valley of Egypt, comprising an area of about one fifth of that of South Carolina, was covered, in the days of Diodorus Siculus, with fifteen thousand cities and towns, containing a population of perhaps seven millions. The stupendous ruins which remain, bear witness to the science, wealth, and grandeur of that land of wonder, at a very early period and for many centuries. The Egyptians had little, if any, commerce with other nations in early times, and all this amazing wealth and grandeur were due to agriculture alone.—Rural Carolinian.

The people of Norway carry in their fishing boats a water telescope or tube, three or four feet in length. They immerse one end in the water, and then, looking intently through the glass, they are able to perceive objects ten or fifteen fathoms deep as distinctly as if they were within a few feet of the surface. So, when they discover plenty of fish, they surround them with their large draught nets, and often catch them in hundreds at a haul, which, were it not for these telescopes, would frequently prove a precarious and unprofitable fishing.

About half the currency in circulation at Denver is in Chinese coin. Horace Greeley says that he so reads history that the fall of the Roman Empire was largely caused by drain of gold and silver out of the Empire to the East. The circle is complete now, however. The Orient brings its coin to the Occident, on an eastward line. The laws of the world, and social laws as well, are immutable, and work themselves out.

EXTRAORDINARY EMIGRATION TO KANSAS.—The emigration to Kansas is unprecedented in the history of the State. The railroad company has been obliged to order additional rolling stock to meet the requirements. The first shipment of Colorado cattle over the road has taken place. There are 10,000 head at Kit Carson's awaiting shipment.

Troy has developed the latest thing in weddings. Man and woman stand up alone before a looking-glass, join hands, and "in the presence of those witnesses," agree to take each other for husband and wife.

The correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal says, Revels, the Mississippi Senator, acquitted himself very handsomely in his maiden speech. He read well, has a good voice, and this writer says, is capable of teaching some of the white Senators good manners.

A niece of Mrs. Partington upon being told by a young law student, that in the country where he resided they held court four times a year, exclaimed: "La me! why you ain't half up in the business; the young fellows here comes a courting three times a week."

THE People's New Discovery.—The public have discovered that there is one preparation, and ONLY ONE, by which gray hair can be reinvested with the tinge that nature bestowed upon it without staining the skin. They see that PHALON'S VITALLA, OR SALVATION FOR THE HAIR, is transparent, and produces richer browns and black than any of the offensive dyes. Sold by all druggists.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Editor of the San Antonio Express:

Notice that the provisional city authorities have re-enacted, and amended the Ordinance of January 10th, 1865; also, that in section 34, in this amendatory Ordinance of January 3rd, 1870, they call on the delinquents who are in arrears to the city...

Immediately after the day of secession, in February, 1861, a party of rebel ruffians followed me to my farm in Blanco county, with the avowed purpose of hanging me as a traitor to Texas.

I hold, that after the day of secession, all obligations in Texas, such as the city interest, were suspended, and remained so during the war, which, by a late decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, ended in September, 1865.

I am willing, and have been ready to settle all my arrears with the city, and with a desire on my part to do so, I forwarded a memorial to the provisional city authorities, in November 1865; after some months delay, my memorial was rejected.

PHALON'S
"VITALIA;"

Salvation for the Hair.

For Restoring to Gray Hair its Original Color

PHALON'S "VITALIA" differs utterly from all the "dyes," (?) in use. It acts on a totally different principle. It is limpid, fragrant, and perfectly innocuous, precipitates no muddy or flaccid matter, requires no shaking up, and communicates no stain to the skin or the linen. No paper curtain is necessary to conceal its turbid appearance, for the simple reason that it is not turbid. It is, to all intents and purposes, A NEW DISCOVERY in Toilet Chemistry.

Phalon's "VITALIA" is warranted to effect a change in the color of the hair within 10 days after the first application, the direction being carefully observed.

IT IS AS CLEAR AS WATER!
AND HAS NO SEDIMENT.
