Dwindling Water Threatens Crops

Dwindling water sources in the Texas High Plains will significantly reduce dollars generated by crop production by the year 2015, according to Dr. James E. Osborn of Texas Tech University. However, he said livestock gains will more than compensate for economic losses.

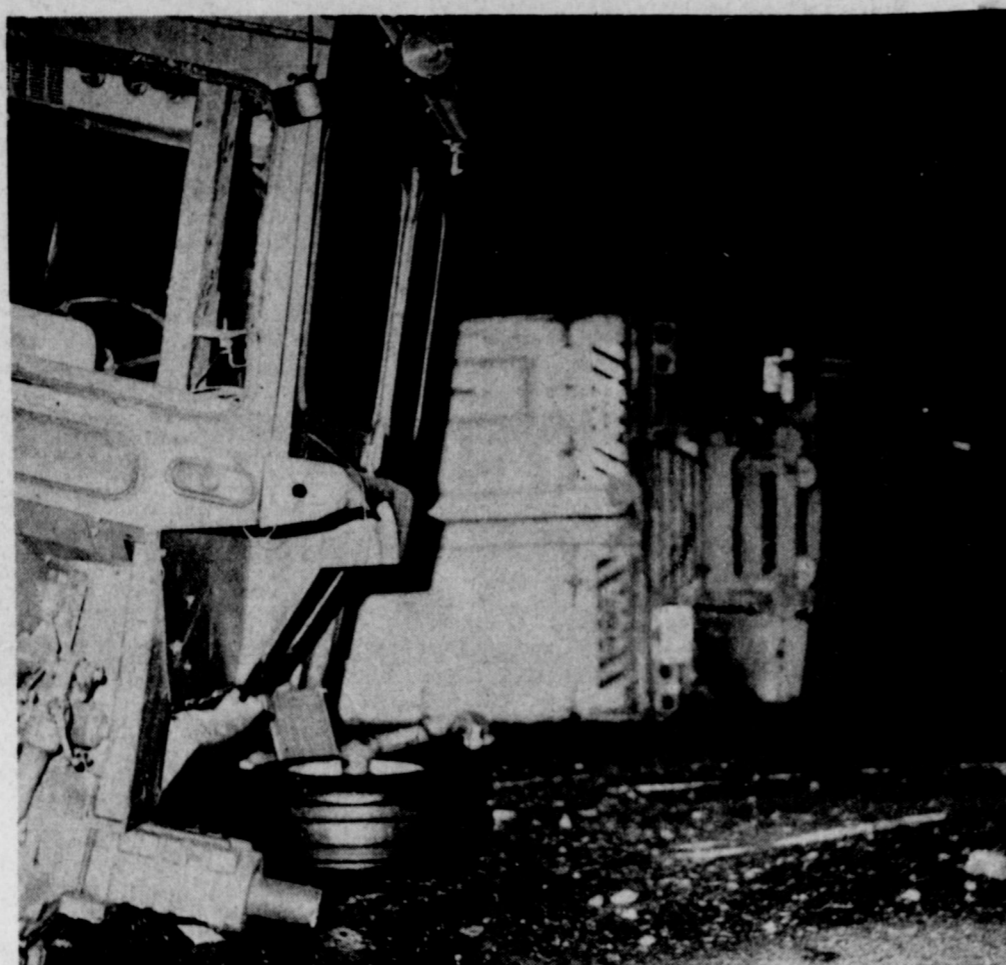

A Texas Tech University study estimates that the area will lose almost $170 million in crop production by 2015, but will gain more than $215 million in feedlot livestock, based on 1967 estimates.

Lamb County Co-op Gets REA Loan

Congressman George Mahon's office announced Tuesday a new REA loan to Lamb County Electric Cooperative Inc. in Littlefield for $2,241,000 at two percent interest to finance service for 658 additional consumers.

The loan will also be used to finance 93 miles of distribution line and two miles of transmission line. It will also be used to finance systems improvements including substation facilities.

Lamb County Electric Cooperative serves Lamb, Bailey, Cochran, Hale and Hockley Counties.

WRECKED TRACTOR AND TRUCK...A Wednesday morning accident between the tractor in the foreground, the truck and a pickup resulted in injuries to four persons. Two of the victims were hospitalized and the other two released after emergency treatment at West Plains Medical Center. Driver of the truck in the background was transferred to Lubbock for treatment of severe electrical burns.

Youth Conservation Repairing Refuge

Take a bright-eyed, eager group of 15-18 year old area boys and girls, put them with six group leaders, and send them out with paint brushes and brooms, post-hole diggers and tractors; and you have the makings of an outstanding work force.

Such a group is spending the next six and a half weeks at the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge in a myriad of activities, putting a bright and shiny face on the long-established wildlife refuge.

Starting on Monday of last week, the young people from Bailey, Lamb and Cochran Counties have already pruned trees, shaped them and cleared underbrush, as well as cleaning and repainting the refuge water tower and stand. They are building fences, and repairing fences. They drive from a wide area to spend six hours a day in labor and an additional two hours a day in classroom study in environment.

Their leaders are school teachers and environmentalists, who teach them good work practices and how to protect the environment, as well as safety practices. At the same time, they are busy for the summer.

Monday morning, one group was busy completing the work on the water tower; as another group was cleaning out the fish pond, and hauling away debris. A third group was busy drilling holes, deepening them with post-hole diggers and preparing to put a new fence on the back of the wildlife refuge property.

Progress Horse Club Places Overall Fourth

The Progress 4-H Horse Club will be working for First Place next year at the Texas 4-H Roundup meet. The group attended the 1977 two-day event held June 7-8, at Texas A&M at College Station.

Representing Bailey County and District 2 of Texas for the Progress 4-H Horse Club were Curtis Carpenter, Sharla Farmer, Casey Farmer and Tommy Wheeler. The team won fourth place overall in Horse Judging out of the 28 teams competing. Third place was also won as a team effort in Halter Confirmation Judging.

Sharla Farmer won third high point Halter Judging in individual competition. Eighth High Point Overall Individual was also won by Miss Farmer.

One hundred and twenty members were in competition. They formed 28 teams representing the best of each district in Texas.

Farm Family Near Farwell Terrorized

Scanty clues marked three young men terrorizing a farm family just north of Farwell late Sunday night.

The three masked young men broke into the farm home, holding a 60 year old woman and wife and their 13-year-old grandson hostage for approximately an hour and a half.

The intruders, who robbed the farmer of more than $300 and took guns and ammunition, raped the 60 year old woman and beat and stabbed her husband. They also beat the grandson severely with a gun.

Both the woman and the grandson were hospitalized in Clovis and the husband was treated and released.

Parmer County Sheriff Charles Lovelace speculated that local men broke into the farm home because of "one or two" clues in the case.

New Road Grader, Spectacular Wreck Hospitalizes Two

A spectacular wreck approximately three and a half miles west of Muleshoe on Highway 84 late Tuesday night, left two persons hospitalized with injuries, and two persons treated and released.

Shortly before 1 a.m. Wednesday, Mrs. Eugene Black was driving a pickup with flashers behind a John Deere tractor driven by her husband. A Farm Pac truck from Lubbock plowed into the back of the pickup, then hit the tractor, spun around and overturned.

As the truck overturned, it took out a power pole, turning off electricity to Muleshoe for approximately 30 minutes and to the Progress and Lariat areas for some two and a half hours.

Both the Blacks and the two drivers of the Farm Pac truck were taken to West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe for treatment. Mrs. Black was hospitalized with a crushed finger and head lacerations. Her husband was treated for lacerations and bruises and released.

Norman Purser, driver of the truck from Lubbock, was treated at West Plains, then transferred to Lubbock for further treatment for electrical burns. The other driver, Raymond Dixon, was in the sleeper at the time of the accident. He was treated at West Plains Medical Center, then asked to see his own doctor in Lubbock.

Force of the impact knocked all the wheels from the tractor and left deep gouge marks in the highway. A blade, which had been attached to the tractor was found on the other side of the overturned truck.

It was reported that 233 sides of swinging beef and package meats were in the refrigerated unit of the truck. Portions of the insulated roof were torn away and beef had come through the truck in places. The cab of the truck was crushed in the impact.

The Black's pickup was struck on the left rear and left side, and was shoved into the ditch adjacent to the highway. Only the tractor cab and dislodged wheels remained on the highway.

By presstime Wednesday, a refrigerated truck had not arrived to unload the meat from the overturned truck, however, roadblocks were removed from the wreck shortly before 8 a.m.

Around 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, another wreck involving Lubbock residents occurred about two miles east of Muleshoe on Highway 84.

Despite submitting the low bid of $29,500, Yellowhouse Machinery of Lubbock lost out on the award of a contract for a motor grader for the county. They could not deliver the new equipment for 45 days, so West Texas Equipment, who submitted a bid of $32,000 was awarded the purchase on promise of immediate delivery. Also submitting a bid was Plains Machinery of Lubbock with a bid of $36,978.

The grader bid, along with a bid for a new vehicle for the Bailey County Sheriff's office, were opened during a regular meeting of the Bailey County Commissioner's Court on Monday.

Randy Johnson Chevrolet of Sudan was awarded the bid for the new police vehicle on a bid of $3752 with trade difference. Other bidders for the new sheriff's office vehicle included Muleshoe Motor Company who submitted three bids. One bid was for $3,880, with alternate bids of $4,337 and $4,756; Crow Chevrolet bid $4,252.78 and Town and Country bid $4,730.24.

Commissioners also authorized purchase of three new CB radios for the Bailey County Sheriff's office. Sheriff Dee Clements had asked for the radios to be in radio communication with residents of the county while in the field working on various cases.

Meeting with commissioners were Virginia Fairbee and Betty Shannon of the Program on Aging.

Mrs. Shannon explained the program, which is funded by the Governor Committee on Aging through Title II of the Older Americans Act.

She said that through some recently acquired funds, Cochran County had acquired a bus to transport senior citizens, and were willing to make the bus, and a driver, available to senior citizens of Muleshoe one day each week.

Citing possible future full-time transportation by bus for senior citizens to meetings, church, doctors, and shopping, she said the total cost to the county at this time would be $500 per year, and an office and telephone for a bus dispatcher. The bus dispatcher would schedule the route and pickups for the referendum.

Cardiac Care Classes Began Here Monday

A 54 hour Basic Cardiac Care class started in Muleshoe Monday in the city council meeting room. It will be conducted on Monday and Wednesday for the next nine weeks.

City Worker Gets Burned In Accident

Randy Clayton is hospitalized at West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe for treatment of severe burns to both hands received in an accident in Muleshoe Monday morning.

Clayton and another city employee, Dwayne Wheat, were testing a line near the Muleshoe Church of Christ when they were severely burned in a resulting ball of fire from a 440-line being tested.

Wheat was treated and released for smoke inhalation and Clayton is being treated for the burns to his hands.

Bible School For All Ages Is Planned

Muleshoe Church of Christ on West American Boulevard plans a Bible School for all ages, from Monday, June 20 through Friday, June 24.

Bible school for fifth grade through junior high school age will be at 9:30 each morning, as will the Women's Bible School.

In the evening will be junior high school through high school and the men's Bible School classes.

'The Bible Is For All' is the theme of the classes for this year.

Tony Clines Resigns As Band Director

Consistent award winning Muleshoe Mighty 'M' Marching Band lost their director Monday night, with acceptance of the resignation of Tony Clines, band director. He and his wife, Linda, fourth grade teacher from Mary DeShazo, both submitted their resignations to the trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District.

Just completing his fourth year with the Muleshoe School system, Clines indicated he was taking a similar position with a school near Austin. While in Muleshoe, the Muleshoe High School band has consistently won first place awards, with Clines' leadership being frequently praised.

Also submitting a resignation, for personal reasons, was Rosemary de la Cerda, bilingual teacher at Richland Hills Elementary School.

Administrative personnel and teacher aides were re-employed during the meeting Monday, although salaries could not be established pending receipt of the state salary schedule.

Although salary scheduled were discussed, along with personnel contract and state legislation, no decision could be made pending possible special legislation which may be slated in July. Different alternatives were discussed by board members to meet teacher wages as required.

Discussed were summer maintenance for the four local schools and the athletic fields. Included were cleaning, stripping and waxing all classroom floors and corridors in all schools and refinishing the floors in all gymnasiums and cafeterias.

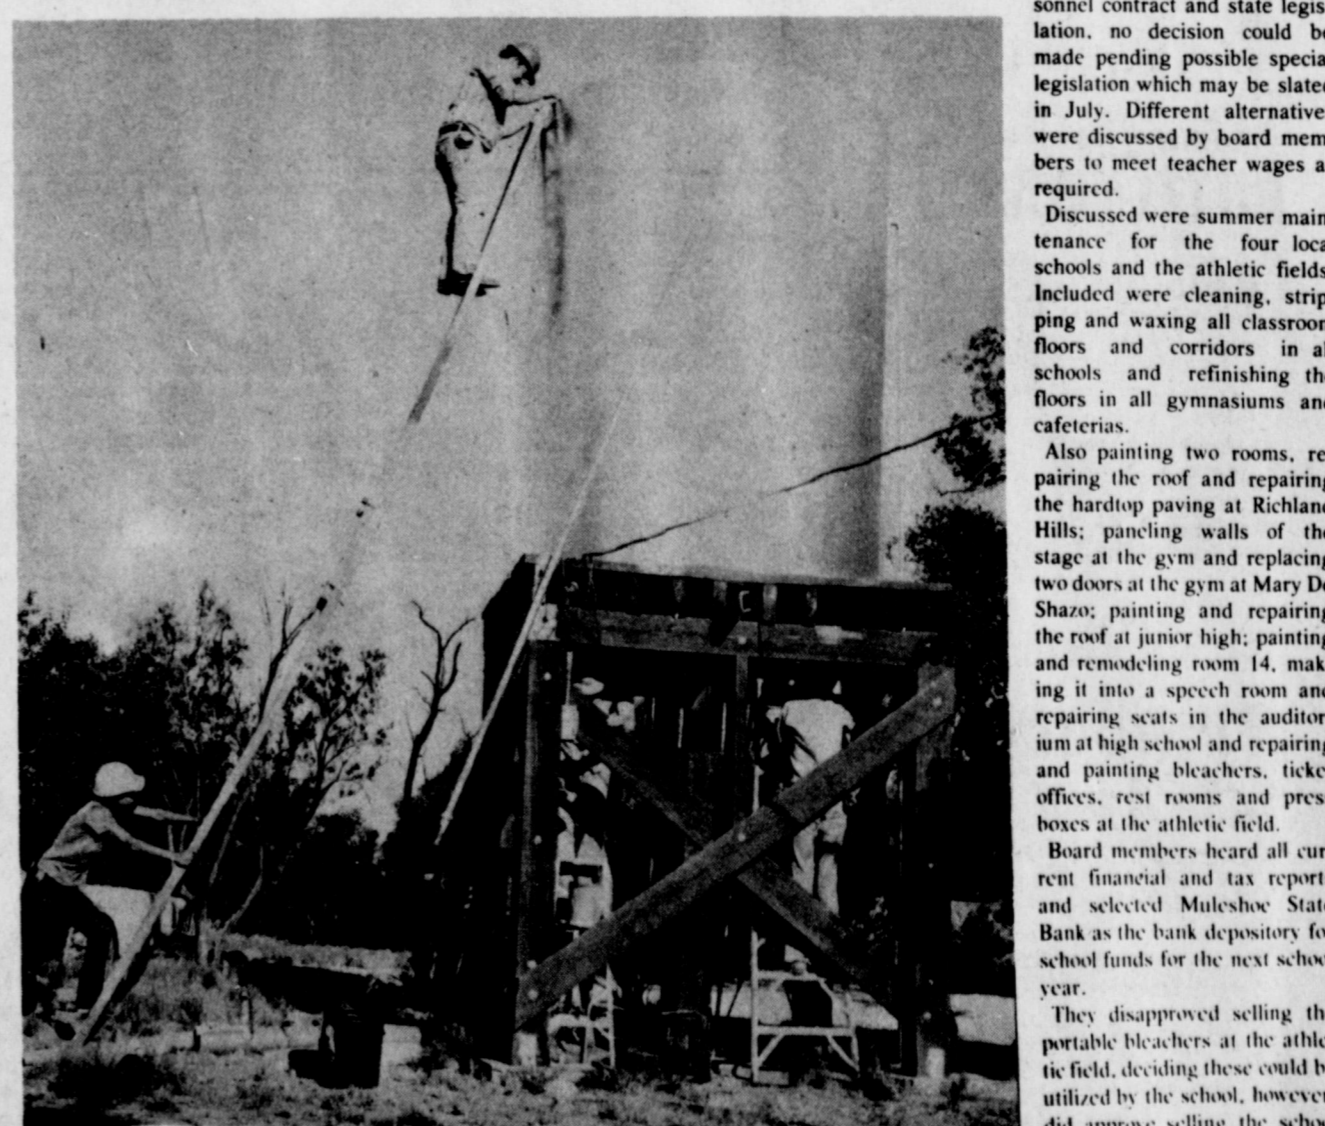

Also painting two rooms, repairing the roof and repairing the hardtop paving at Richland Hills; paneling walls of the stage at the gym and replacing two doors at the gym at Mary DeShazo; painting and repairing the roof at junior high; painting and remodeling room 14, making it into a speech room and repairing seats in the auditorium at high school and repairing and painting bleachers, ticket offices, rest rooms and press boxes at the athletic field.

Board members heard all current financial and tax reports and selected Muleshoe State Bank as the bank depository for school funds for the next school year.

They disapproved selling the portable bleachers at the athletic field, deciding these could be utilized by the school, however, did approve selling the school activity bus after routine repair and maintenance.

The board members were told that average membership was

GI Payments Changes For Education Checks

Signaling the start of changed payment procedures for GI Bill students, Veterans Administration computers authorized only 26,000 education checks for payment on June 1--the lowest total in the 33 year history of the GI Bill programs.

June 1 was the effective date of a change in law that decrees GI Bill payments from now on will be paid after each month of training has been completed instead of at the start of each training period.

Max Cleland, VA Administrator, said the agency computers will resume the normal processing of between 900,000 and 1.2 million GI Bill accounts on July 1. He pointed out that since students now in training had already been paid on May 1 for the full month of May, their next checks--for the month of June--will not be received until July 1.

The new law, he explained, is designed to reduce VA overpayments, which occurred when VA paid in advance for training that in many cases was never taken by the veteran.

The 26,000 checks authorized for payment June 1 went primarily to trainees in programs where the prepayment of allowances is not involved. These programs include flight, correspondence, on-the-job and apprenticeship training.

In addition to ending the prepayments of monthly allowances, the new law provides advance payments--at the start of a school term--only if a veteran applies for such payments, and the school agrees to handle the advances. Formerly, VA made these advance payments automatically to all veterans in training.

The VA Administrator said VA was doing everything possible to notify veterans now in training and veterans who plan to start training this fall of the changed method of payment so they can plan their finances accordingly.

Major Watson New Chief For Transportation

Army Major Don R. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie A. Watson, Route 2, Muleshoe, recently was assigned as chief of operations with the 4th Transportation Brigade in Frankfurt, Germany.

Major Watson entered the Army in August 1966.

He attended West Texas State University, Canyon, Babson College, Babson Park, Mass., and received an M.B.A. degree in 1973.

He said VA plans to make

Rent Subsidy Not Counted As SSI Income

Effective October 1, 1976, Federal rent subsidies paid on behalf of or to needy people cannot count as income in the supplemental security income program, according to Laura Peacock, social security district manager in Lubbock.

"Before the law was changed, any money the Federal Government paid on behalf of or to a needy person or couple for their rent, was considered income in determining eligibility for SSI and the amount of the benefit," Peacock said. "This includes so called 'Section 8' rent subsidies, where the local housing authority pays the subsidy directly to maximum use of its work-study and educational loan programs to assist veterans in making the one-time transition to the new payment procedures.

the private landlord. Anyone who has had SSI payments reduced or terminated because a Federal housing subsidy was counted as income, should contact a social security office immediately for reinstatement. Also, people who may have been denied SSI because the Federal Government paid part of their rent, should contact social security to see if they may now be eligible.

 No decision was reached by commissioners, who elected to further discuss the proposal.
 Green Thumb representatives also met with commissioners and showed a short film on the program and what it accomplishes for senior citizen workers.
 It was explained that five persons have been signed up to participate in the totally funded Green Thumb program in this county, and an additional five persons will need to sign up prior to the July 1 beginning date.
 The program is for persons above the age of 55 years, who can pass a physical examination. The physical is conducted free of charge to the person desiring the new work being implemented in this county.
 It was emphasized that handicapped persons above the age of 55 are very definitely eligible for the Green Thumb program, and are welcome to apply for employment.
 The Green Thumb workers are paid the minimum wage of $2.30 per hour and work an average of 24 hours per week.
 According to the program coordinators, the program is not designed to replace anyone presently employed, and in fact, cannot be utilized in that manner, but is an implementation program for city governments; counties; museums; libraries; day care centers; kindergartens; senior citizen centers; outreach workers; homemaker programs; maintenance and make housing repairs for senior citizens.

Senator Bentson Seeking Hearings On Water Bill

Senator Lloyd Bentson asked the Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee Wednesday to set hearings on his bill to promote aquaculture: "the cultivation of water."
 Bentson noted, in a letter to Senator Herman Talmadge (D-Ga.), that the House has already held hearings on a similar measure. Bentson introduced the aquaculture legislation this past March after originally proposing it in the last Congress.
 "At the House hearing on aquaculture the Department of Agriculture testified in favor of legislation and made several comments that the bill as introduced in the Senate is preferable to the House version," Bentson said in his letter to Talmadge.

 "Based on this fact, as well as the increasing need for greater attention to aquaculture, we would hope that your Committee could schedule hearings sometime in the coming weeks."
 Through aquaculture the production of fish, shellfish and seaweed can be increased by either adding to natural supplies in rivers, lakes or oceans or by producing them commercially on fish farms anywhere in the country.
 "Near Pecos, Texas--hundreds of miles from the coast--we are already experimenting with commercial shrimp ponds, fed by salt waters pumped from an ancient ocean which still exists 'deep underground,'" Bentson said.
 "And in Corpus Christi, on the Gulf Coast, we are experimenting with the breeding of salt-water shrimp in thermal effluent from a nearby power plant. These shrimp can be spawned in bays and estuaries the length of the coast in a process known as 'ocean ranching' to insure our shrimp industry a bumper harvest every season."
 "In 1974 aquaculture was a $191 million industry in the United States. But we still have a long way to go. That figure accounts for only three percent of the fish and shellfish produced in this country, while in the rest of the free world aquaculture accounts for fully 10 percent of the fish and shellfish that are consumed," Bentson said.
 The Bentson Aquaculture Bill would establish a national aquaculture plan, provide information and technical assistance from the Federal Government, offer research grants to colleges and universities and guarantee loans for building aquaculture facilities. Ten Senators are co-sponsoring the measure.

 Economic activity for cattle feedlot operations will also reach its maximum increase at the end of the current decade, he said. In 1970 cattle feedlot output was $531.4 million with an expected increase to $794.4 million by 1980. From then until 2015 cattle operations will decline to $479.8 million.
 Swine feedlot economic output increased from $9.4 million in 1967 to $23.7 million in 1970 and is anticipated at $33.8 million by 1980 and then decline to $15.7 million in 2015.

A RARE SIGHT... At one time, a mother hen and a bunch of baby chicks was a common sight, however, most of those days have gone by. Although there may be a few other hens with chicks in the area, they are relatively rare now. This hen with her 'brood' were located northeast of Muleshoe at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wood. Probably, most youngsters have never seen a hen with her chicks, as almost all chickens are 'bought in the store' as eggs, and chicks are a rarity.

Bill Clayton Gives Checks To Organizations

Two charitable organizations in the 74th Legislative District will receive a check for over $6,000 each as a result of contributions presented to Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton.
 Clayton said at Speaker's Day, held in honor of the Speaker during the 65th Legislative session, that he would not accept personal gifts. Friends, employees and others were told that if they wished to honor Clayton that he would accept donations for Girlstown at its Whiteface campus ranging in age from nine to 18. The facility, whose executive director is Marshall Cooper, is located on a 1,425 acre campus near Whiteface in Cochran county.

 The check for Boy's Ranch, founded by the late Cal Farley, will be presented at the conclusion of Sunday worship services on June 26.
 Boy's Ranch takes boys age five to 19 who are from broken homes or who have been placed there by the court. It is located at historic Old Tascosa, 36 miles from Amarillo, and 370 boys live, work and go to school on the 4,100 acre ranch.

Whiteface or Boy's Ranch near Amarillo.
 The resulting contributions were to be personally delivered by Clayton on June 12 at Girlstown and June 26 at Boy's Ranch.
 "These two outstanding organizations in my legislative district do an untold amount of good for needy boys and girls in Texas. I am honored that my friends wanted to assist these fine projects in my name."
 "Since I have been Speaker of the House I have not accepted personal gifts on Speaker's Day. I will accept donations to these charities because of the good the contributions can do for these youngsters."

 The check to Girlstown will be presented during a dedication ceremony of a building sponsored by the Lions Club of District 271. A luncheon at 1 p.m. on the campus will precede the 2:30 p.m. dedication.

Economical Farm Shop Can Pay

A farm shop can be a paying proposition, says Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
 As much as 90 per cent of the total cost of repair work on farm machinery and equipment can be eliminated if adequate and timely maintenance and adjustment are done. This calls for a well-equipped, well managed farm shop.
 Too often a farmer limits himself to a small area for grease guns, oil and the like, points out Spencer Tanksley. The size of the farm shop depends on the use one expects to make of it. Servicing, repairing and new construction are the main uses of a farm shop.
 Normally, this will mean a doorway at least 14 feet high and 20 feet wide if a combine is to be brought inside. A shop length of 30 to 40 feet provides work space around the machine.

 For arc welding, the shop will need 240-volt single phase service of at least 100 amperes. Motors of one-half horsepower or larger should be designed for 240-volt service for economy. Grounded 120-volt duplex outlets every 10 to 15 feet along the shop wall will provide convenience in using portable electric tools and service lights.
 The farm shop should also provide a safe place for service manuals. These are worth about $10 per hour reading time, so they should be kept in a mouseproof container for ready reference, notes Tanksley.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa, My daughter is a junior in a small college not far from our town. We are a bit worried over what she wishes to do this coming year. It is this: She and two other young ladies would like to rent an apartment close by the college and live there instead of in the dormitory. These other girls seem to be very nice and wholesome and our daughter has never given us any trouble so we are not worried about them as far as morals are concerned, the only thing that disturbs us is the fact of their traveling back and forth at night to the library so much crime in the cities and we hear of muggings and rapes everyday. What do you think about this? They contend that they will be able to study better with fewer interruptions. Mother--N.C.

Answer: Living in an apartment depends on a number of things--one is the maturity of the girls. They will find that the work of keeping an apartment clean and preparing food takes a great deal of time and that the work should be fairly shared. They should have rules by all three thoroughly understood and agreed upon before undertaking such a change. Always have a companion for night visits to the college. Louisa.

Address letters: Louisa, Box 532, Orangeburg, S.C. 29115

Carter & Friedman

Dr. Milton Friedman, Nobel prize winning economist of the University of Chicago, warns Americans (including Carter Administration planners) that nations invariably move to bureaucratic tyranny and want when government usurps the prerogatives of the people. Friedman says the "fundamental fallacy" of welfare states is that they attempt to do good at somebody else's expense. This means careless spending—the seizure of incomes from some to carry out various aid programs to others. Friedman says in the U.S. government already spends forty per cent of our national income. In England the slide continued for years, to its present crisis level, the government now spending sixty per cent of the national income. Conditions there are at their worst. Friedman warns that unless we pay our own way, as we go, catastrophe is inevitable. The government must stop trying to do good for too many—at someone else's expense, he says, because wrecking the economy and the dollar's credibility by overspending will harm all.

Midway

If there was a battle which doomed Japan more than the rest, it was Midway—the carrier fleet battle which resulted in the repulse of a major Japanese offensive in 1942. After their successful sneak strike on Pearl Harbor in December of 1941, the Japanese roamed the seas undefeated. Their next major expansion eastward in the Central Pacific was toward Midway; several fleets took part in the advance, including carrier fleets, battleship fleets and troop carrying transports. Midway was to be occupied.

And so it was in the early days of this month, thirty-five years ago, that the biggest Japanese fleet of three involved approached Midway from the west. U. S. aircraft flung themselves at the Japanese but in the first phases of the battle scored no hits. But waiting north of Midway was a three-carrier U.S. fleet, and Navy pilots aboard this fleet would write and change history before the battle was over.

The first U.S. carrier strikes were disastrous. Torpedo bombers sent out first were slaughtered almost to the last bomber by defending Japanese Zero fighters. Just at the bleak moment, however, when defending Japanese fighters were low over the water, U.S. dive bombers arrived above the main Japanese force of four big, new carriers—the same ships which had devastated Pearl Harbor six months earlier.

In minutes three of these valuable ships were in flames. This thunderbolt from the skies (a fourth carrier was sunk some hours later) shocked the Japanese high command.

WASHINGTON NEWS REPORT

Interest Rates—Carter & Burns—Lance and Burns—Inflation Cause?

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Democrats have long stood for lower interest rates, the G.O.P. being charged with favoring higher rates. The Carter Administration is now fighting an internal battle to determine its exact position.

Budget Director Bert Lance disagrees with Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns' approval of increases in rates. Lance fears if recent raises lead to permanent raises or long-term interest rate hikes, this will fuel inflation.

Burns feels tightening the money supply works against inflation. That there are conflicting economic theories within the Carter Administration is not surprising—there never has been any unanimity among economists.

And Burns is not really a part of the Carter Administration. He was viewed with suspicion initially but the President seemed to warm to his theories after lengthy discussions with him shortly after taking office.

The key decision the President might have to make now is whether Bert Lance's or Arthur Burns' advice is to be Carter Administration policy. Interestingly, President Ford reduced rates somewhat but that was during a recession. In fairness to Mr. Ford, he had greatly reduced inflation and had started the recovery process by the time of his defeat last November.

Mr. Carter wants to keep interest rates down while the economy expands and recovers. Burns fears inflation if money is not tightening in a period of expanding economic activity, the condition today.

Thus the stage is set for Mr. Carter to decide whether he will follow Lance, blaming banks for recent rises, as unnecessary, or Burns; chances seem to be Carter will, in the end, support Lance, with whom he has been close so long, and who himself is a banker—and should know whether recent interest rate hikes by banks are justified or not.

As far as we can see, doctors and undertakers will always have business.

The Speaker Reports
by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—Beginning in September the state's electric chair, used in capital punishment executions for the past 53 years, is to be replaced.

A new law passed by the 65th Legislature makes Texas one of two states authorizing death sentences to be carried out by lethal injection.

Proponents of the legislation say that the prick of a needle containing a fatal drug dosage is a painless, less violent alternative to the electric chair.

Knowledgeable persons explain that even barbiturates, injected through a blood vessel, could cause death in 15 minutes. Almost immediately after such an injection the victim would fall asleep and die painlessly as the chemical is absorbed in the nerve centers of the brain.

There have been 361 convicted criminals executed in Texas by using the 18,000-volt electric chair which actually cooks the human body. Prior to 1928 hanging was the method used.

There has not been an execution in Texas since 1964. There are presently 59 persons convicted of capital crimes on death row. Since the U. S. Supreme Court upheld capital punishment in 1976, eight have been scheduled to die.

In arguing in favor of the bill, Rep. Ben Z. Grant of Marshall observed that condemned animals are killed more humanely than condemned prisoners in Texas.

Opponents argued that such a painless injection would soothe the conscience of jurors and make it easier to hand down the death penalty.

For law-abiding Texans there is nothing easy about deciding to take the life of a fellow human being. I believe that whatever the method used in execution, our juries weigh the evidence and severity of the crime. Because death comes painlessly to the condemned, it does not make it easier for those who must decide sentences.

Capital punishment is needed in Texas as a last resort to protect the citizens of this state. While such sentences should be carried out, there is no need to make it as violent as the crimes which brought on the punishment.

New Strict Law Affects More Produce Dealers

Governor Dolph Briscoe Friday signed into law House Bill 1745, which amends the Texas Agricultural Protective Act and the Citrus Bonding and Licensing Law, the Texas Department of Agriculture has announced.

"The law gives added protection for the state's fruit and vegetable producers and handlers and provides produce dealers with a workable alternative to the current bonding procedure," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown explained. Brown, along with representative leaders from the produce industry, was present for the official signing.

Most important of the revisions is the establishment of the Produce Recovery Fund and administrative board, to be headed by the Agriculture Commissioner. Other members, appointed by the governor, will include a producer, a licensed commission merchant and a member of the general public.

Brown explained that monies for the fund would be supplied by a fee paid by commission merchants at the time of licensing. Producers losing money in a marketing transaction can file a claim against the fund. If a claim is paid against a commission merchant, he must repay the fund or lose his state license for a four-year period.

"In the past, commission merchants were required to be bonded," Brown explained, "which created problems for everyone involved. More and more of our most reputable produce dealers were having problems getting the bonds—the insurance companies just don't want to foot with them."

"This bill will provide the necessary protection for the farmers and is a commendable effort by the produce industry at self-regulation," Brown said. "Brown warned producers to be sure they were dealing with a licensed dealer and added that claims not be filed against a dealer registered as operating on a "cash only" basis.

The new regulations will go into effect September 1.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

A petition expressing strong opposition to proposed cotton dust control standards and bearing the signatures of over 5,000 Texas people from all walks of life will soon become an official part of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) hearing record.

Almost 2,000 of the signatures were affixed to the petition during cotton dust hearings held in Lubbock May 10, 11 and 12, where over 150 witnesses spoke, all in opposition to the proposed 200 micrograms per cubic meter dust standard. The remainder of the signatures were secured by ginners and other cotton and cottonseed processors, chambers of commerce, women's cotton promotion clubs and others whose livelihoods are dependent on cotton.

The petitions were mailed to Washington June 10 by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, and Congressmen, Senators and President Carter are being advised of their filing as an indication of the widespread opposition that exists in Texas.

Oral hearings on the proposed standard concluded in Washington May 17. All segments of the cotton industry presented opposing testimony. Testifying in favor of the standard were the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union, the Brown Lung Association, Ralph Nader's Public Citizen Health Research Group and the National Organization for Women.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Dr. Eula Bingham has said a decision will come this Fall.

Gaylon Booker and Phil Wakelyn, National Cotton Council staff members working with the Industrywide Byssinosis Committee, say it is difficult to predict how OSHA will react, but have advised committee members that "... many observers feel the new standard will be modified for some areas in textile mills and for non-textile segments of the industry."

This feeling was reinforced in the minds of PCG officials June 10 during a conversation with Grover Wrenn, OSHA's Deputy Director for Health Standards. Wrenn also made the point that legal and procedural limitations make it impossible that any standard could apply during the 1977 ginning season.

Although the standard may be modified, all cotton people agree that there will remain a pressing need to find and eliminate the agent in cotton dust that has caused byssinosis, or brown lung disease, in some textile workers. Otherwise, textile mills using cotton will be required to institute medical surveillance programs and other expensive procedures not required of mills using synthetic fibers.

The Executive Committee of Cotton Incorporated, producers' cotton research and market development company, met June 9 and 10 in Lubbock, and this latter point was made to committee members by current PCG President Lloyd Cline of Lamesa.

"We feel it is extremely important to our future that there be intensive research toward delivering a cleaner, more acceptable raw fiber from the cotton industry to the textile mill." Cline stated.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Legislative leaders are predicting quick agreement on a school finance bill in a special legislative session.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton said there is broad general agreement on the $875 million measure reported by a conference committee May 30.

The conference version never actually came to a direct vote in either House, though both Hobby and Clayton predicted a majority would have supported it.

The presiding officers last week pressed Gov. Dolph Briscoe to speed the call of a special session from mid-July to late June.

They also urged the governor to broaden the agenda to include property tax standards and special tax treatment for agricultural lands as well as school finance.

The conference report on HB 750 of the regular legislative session is admittedly another stop-gap solution rather than a long-range approach to financing schools equitably.

"The conference report is not all that bad," said Hobby. "If we are going to have a band-aid approach, at least we have the band-aid right there in the medicine cabinet."

Hobby and Clayton urged an early special session because school districts are confronted with an August 20 deadline for filing their proposed budgets for the coming school year.

$ Bills Certified
Comptroller Bob Bullock certified funds are available to cover the $15.5 billion general state appropriations bill and other direct funding measures passed by the legislature.

Bullock's official estimate of money available for the special legislative session on school finance will be made after Gov. Dolph Briscoe exercises his veto.

South Plains To Give Test For Students

Monday, June 20, is the date of an aptitude exam required for entrance this fall into the South Plains College vocational nursing program.

The exam, given on the first and third Monday of each month, is scheduled at 1 p.m. in Room 113, SPC Technical Arts Building. Cost is $1.

Persons interested in the one-year program should have two years of high school or the equivalent, a complete physical examination within six months before admission, an interview with vocational nursing personnel, references and a definite interest in nursing.

The SPC vocational nursing program is approved and accredited by the Texas Education Agency and the Texas State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners. Graduates will be eligible to take the state board licensure test qualifying them to practice as licensed vocational nurses (LVNs).

Instructors are Helen Brown, R.N., program coordinator, and Barbara Bennett R.N.

The program consists of 27 weeks of class and laboratory studies and 23 weeks of training in one of seven affiliated hospitals. Students will receive nursing experience in medical and surgical nursing, maternity and newborn nursing, pediatrics and administration of medicines. Hospitals affiliated with the program include Cook Memorial Hospital, Levelland; Medical Arts and Littlefield hospitals, Littlefield; Cochran Memorial Hospital, Morton; University and Highland hospitals, Lubbock and West Plains Hospital, Muleshoe.

powers over budget items.

All of the bills requiring direct appropriations were transmitted to the governor for his consideration after Bullock's required certification.

Lands Bring $9.9 Million

Oil and gas producers bid a total of $9.9 million for leases on 131,600 acres of state school lands last week.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the average per acre price of $75.27 indicated high interest in Texas oil and gas reserves, particularly in submerged areas.

The latest sale yielded a near record high bid of $1.25 million from Union Oil Company for a 1,440-acre Gulf of Mexico lease. Second high bid was $304,704 from Mesa Petroleum also for a submerged tract.

Insurance Discount

A proposal to lower homeowners' insurance rates for those who install dead-bolt door locks and other anti-burglary devices is scheduled June 22.

Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie said lower rates would be a strong incentive for homeowners to install security devices (costing about $170) which reduce chance of burglary.

Courts Speak

The Supreme Court reversed a $34,992 Matagorda County traffic accident verdict in which a telephone company truck rammed a car, noting the trial judge did not ask the jury if the man who was hit was guilty of contributory negligence.

An Austin man must pay $175 a month child support for each of three children, even if he has to go to work to do it, the Third Court of Civil Appeals held.

A 50-year sentence of a Harris County man for rape was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals because of insufficient evidence.

The U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal challenging the Texas Sunday closing law because it bans sale of white socks (and other articles) on one day of the weekend.

The top court said states may not order mandatory death sentences for murder of policemen.

AG Opinions

A county and city may lead federal revenue sharing funds to a medical student in exchange for a promise he will serve as public health officer on graduation, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

An investigation report on the death of a resident of Mexia State School cannot be withheld from further disclosure after once having been made available to a newspaper.

A county can invest part of its sinking fund for redemption and payment of outstanding bonds in shares, insured share accounts or savings accounts of building and loan associations.

County commissioners should appoint a special judge where a judge of a county court at law disqualifies himself in a misdemeanor and where the county attorney is disqualified from participating in selection of a special judge.

A chartered life underwriter is not exempt from the requirement of taking an examination as a prerequisite to licensing as a life insurance counselor.

County commissioners court may set the compensation and expenses of grand jury bailiffs in Jefferson County.

Short Snorts

Natural gas is rapidly becoming the scarcest and most valuable fuel, according to an article in Texas Business Review.

President Carter has named a black Texas woman, Azie Morton formerly of Dale, as treasurer of the U.S. and director of the Mint.

Oil and gas test drilling permit applications increased from 7,906 to 9,598 for the first five months of 1977.

Mac L. Coker will retire July 31 as director of technical hearings in the Railroad Commission Oil and Gas Division.

About 600,000 youngsters will be attending one of 600 youth camps in Texas this year, according to the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Personal Care Homes Numerous In State

Nursing and convalescent homes are familiar to almost everyone in the state, but a new type of care service is drawing the attention of Texas Department of Health Resources officials.

They are the institutions known as personal care homes, and they appear to be quite numerous in Texas.

Personal care homes accommodate persons who don't need the degree of services provided by a nursing home or custodial care home, but many persons residing in these homes do need services above the basic provisions of food, shelter and laundry.

The Department of Health Resources has proposed new rules for the licensure of personal care homes, as well as new rules for the classification of services provided in nursing and convalescent homes and related institutions. Public hearings on the proposed rules are underway. Rule making and licensing authority are granted the Department under Article 4442c, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes.

The Department believes there are significant numbers of persons not presently residing in nursing homes or custodial care homes who cannot maintain independent life styles. These persons need the presence of an intermediary to provide food and shelter and, in addition, some supervision or aid in every-day living, according to Howard C. Allen, Director of the Nursing and Convalescent Homes Division of TDHR.

However, said Allen, these persons don't need the usual and routine attendance during night-time sleeping hours, nor do they require the care and services normally provided by a nursing home or custodial care home.

The facilities providing these services under personal care homes fall under three types, generally following the extent of services needed by the residents. Main differences are these:

Type A personal care homes are designated for residents who are ambulatory, can provide their own self-help and are capable of following directions and taking appropriate action for self-preservation under emergency conditions.

Type B facilities may house residents who are ambulatory but may be mentally retarded; however, they are capable of following directions and taking appropriate action for self-preservation under emergency conditions.

Type C personal care homes are for residents who may be

"WE KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN WHEN YOU'RE TALKING PARTS"

Expense Minimal For Weed Control

A successful weed control program for cotton producers requires that the expense and effort involved be commensurate with the rewards that come from additional yields and improved fiber grades.

That is the suggestion of Cotton Incorporated scientists who have completed a report on weed control.

"With increasing prices of fuel, agricultural chemicals and labor, the cotton producer needs to know before he tackles his weed problem whether the rewards he will get by increased yield and fiber quality justify the expense," says Dr. Wolfgang Wessling, Cotton Incorporated associate director of agricultural research.

Weed control has become a complex science as a result of the shift from mechanical to chemical weed control, explains Wessling. Success in controlling weeds requires careful attention to programs that have been developed on a state-by-state basis by weed scientists and extension services, he recommends.

The Cotton Incorporated research pinpointed some weeds as having a lower threshold of damage to cotton than others.

Three years of experiments showed that a small number of morning-glory and sicklepod plants, two to four per 50 row feet, can reduce cotton yield ten to 20 per cent, Wessling says.

In comparison, it takes eight to twelve pigweed and crabgrass plants per 50 row feet and eight to 32 prickly sida plants to cause the same amount of damage.

Looking at 32 weed plants per 50 row feet, the Cotton Incorporated scientists learned that that many sicklepod plants would reduce yield up to 90 per cent, while a like number of pigweed plants would reduce yield up to 80 per cent. The same number of crabgrass and morning-glory would reduce yield 70 per cent, while prickly sida would reduce yield only up to 30 per cent.

"The producer needs to consider the extent of the threat to his crop before he begins his control program," Wessling comments.

Mechanical control measures are still an important ingredient of the overall weed control program, Wessling concludes.

"Mechanical weed control is still very attractive, and it is the only single remedy in many cases where chemicals have failed to give desired results," he says.

"Timely cultivation, and even use of the hoe, can still be very useful. Mechanical weed control needs special consideration in the rainbelt when long periods of rain interrupt the weed control program or make it ineffective," Wessling adds.

Researchers examined the contention that combinations of herbicides, insecticides and fungicides can reduce stands and cause poor seedling vigor.

The conclusion of the researchers, Wessling says, was that there is no evidence that herbicides, applied at the proper rates, are harmful to stand or plant development.

Wessling cautions that under arid or semi-arid condition, the residual effects of certain herbicides can be harmful when cotton follows sorghum, corn, or other crops in a rotation system.

He recommends that producers be cautious about their choice of rotation crops after a long drought or cold, dry weather, which hinder the herbicides from their normal breakdown in the soil. Some varieties are more tolerant of residual herbicides than others, he adds.

Wessling's recommendations are based on twelve weed control projects conducted over the past seven years across the Cotton Belt by Cotton Incorporated, the fiber company of American cotton producers.

Results of those projects have been published by Cotton Incorporated in an agro-industrial report entitled "Weed Control."

Copies of the report are available by writing Dr. Wessling at Cotton Incorporated, 4505 Creedmoor Road, Raleigh, N.C. 27612.

STEEL ON COSTS

The Council on Wage and Price Stability said a new labor agreement in the steel industry will raise wages by 29.7 per cent over three years and put added pressure on manufacturers to raise prices.

Emotions are valuable, but civilization teaches self-control.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: My husband and I are separated, and our five children live with me. A friend told me that she saw several hundred dollars in checks made out to my husband's girlfriend recorded in his checkbook. Isn't he legally responsible for financially supporting his family first and foremost?

A: This is the kind of thing for which you need some personal legal help. You need to contact a lawyer who will institute court proceedings for temporary alimony and child support. Your lawyer will also help you obtain an order for an inventory and accounting. If you don't know a lawyer, call the Texas Lawyer Referral Service at 1-800-252-9690.

Q: A friend of mine wants to have a will prepared leaving all of his property to their grandchildren and leaving his daughter nothing. Could his daughter break a will like that?

A: In Texas, a person can disinherit any relative, including children, by leaving property to someone else. Grounds for contesting a will include: lack of mental capacity, failure to observe some legal requirement in the execution of the will, or fraud. However, disinheritance alone is not a ground for challenging a will.

Q: My divorce decree granted in 1966 states that I pay child support until each of my children reaches "his majority". Does the 18 year old voting rights act mean that I will pay until the kids reach 18 or 21 or what?

A: Generally, the law says you must provide child support until he is 18. But, if the court finds that the child requires continuous care and personal supervision because of a mental or physical handicap and is unable to support himself, the court may order child support after the age of 18 for an indefinite period.

Q: The manager of my son's apartment made him move to another unit recently saying that he was making too much noise by running the vacuum and dishwasher after 10 P.M. He went along with it even though the new place was too small. Can a manager legally force a tenant to move for these reasons?

A: The provisions of the lease agreement and the extent of the alleged disturbance will determine whether the manager had the right to require the move. If the lease permitted the manager to evict a tenant who persisted in annoying other tenants, then your son has no legal remedy, provided proper notice of termination was given. If the lease contained no provisions for notice, the landlord usually is required to give the tenant one month's notice.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.
