From Harper's Magazine for October.

OCTOBER'S SONG.

"O deep brown eyes," sang Gray October,
"Deep brown eyes running over with glee;
Blue eyes are pale, and gray eyes are sober;
Bonny brown eyes are the eyes for me."

Blue eyes shine in the glowing summer
With red of rose and yellow of corn;
But cold they close when the still latecomer,
Silvery Frost, creeps over the morn.

Blue eyes shimmer with angel glances,
Like spring violets over the sea—
But oh, my Grapes; my—Wines, and my Dances,
What have angels in common with me?

Go, Gray Eyes! What know ye of laughing,
Giddy with glee from the mere sunshine!
Go to your looks! What know ye of quaffing
Luscious juice from the riotous vine?

All the earth is full of frolicking;
Growing is over; harvest is done;
All the trees are ready for rollicking,
Glowing scarlet with rustical fun.

Stay, Brown Eyes, in the purple weather,
A crown of oaks leaves with maple blast
Shall deck your brow, while gaily together
We two will wander to heart's content."

This October's wild voice was singing,
While on his pipe he cunningly played;
All the red woods with music were ringing,
And Brown Eyes listened, with footsteps stayed—

Waited to hear the song beguiling,
Listened and laughed through the sunny day;
And earth and sky fell to merry smiling,
As hand in hand they wandered away.

Hiding Man-Fashion.

BY ELIZABETH DUDLEY.

From the New York Mail.

The fashion of ladies side-saddles for horse back riding was no doubt introduced for a good and sufficient physical reason, and my experience in equestrian exercise leads me to believe that the majority of women will always find the side saddle most comfortable for them.

It is claimed that if the girth gives way a lady will have no possible hold upon her horse, but will be thrown to the ground. She will, however, land upon her feet, or at least upon one of them; while, if the girth gives way when she is using a man's saddle, she will fall head downward, with one leg bent under her body and the other elevated over the back of the horse. In this position she is more likely to break some bones than in the other.

We are told, to be sure, that in riding astride a lady would be able to keep "a horseman's grip" on her horse, and in case of a loose girth, could hold her saddle in place. I doubt this. Our slender women and our fat women alike have no muscle. I fancy even a wiry toned ballet girl would be unable to control the powerful muscle by which a vicious horse strives to burst the girth, or take advantage of its becoming loosened to escape from his rider. A well trained animal, in event of such an accident, will slacken his pace at once, or even stop of his own will.

And the majority of our women are too short to look well in riding astride; they have not sufficient length of limb for the "horseman's grip." Anyone who has seen a boy of ten on the back of a broad, high horse, with his legs spread in right angles, can imagine the ridiculous appearance which most of our ladies will present at riding astride, and if they practice this position much it will affect their gait. They will then when walking, present the comical appearance of an old sailor just off a long voyage, who lolls along in the most absurd way, with his legs wide apart.

We shall have some hearty fun at the expense of these Amazons.

When I hear a lady complaining of the "uncomfortable" and "twisted" position of sideways riding, or feeling that her "back is crooked," or that she is insecure, I know she does not sit properly. In the first place, she must get a side saddle which fits her. As some women are thin, and some robust, some with long limbs, and some with short, it follows that one form of side saddle will not be comfortable for every woman.

Then she should take her seat firmly and evenly in the center of the saddle, as if about to ride astride, and adjust the right leg in the most comfortable position possible; it must not be too much strained over to the left, and may indeed be shifted a little more to the right after riding a short distance, and getting accustomed to the motion of the horse.

I was once visiting some friends who lived on an isolated hillside farm, when my host in using some machinery, met with a serious accident. While his wife remained at his side applying cold water to the wound, I saddled a horse with a man's saddle (there was no other at hand), and dashed off for the doctor.

The road was deserted, so I naturally rode astride; but such a ride! On a hard trotting, madly galloping plow horse, I went up and down the strong hill roads, thinking that I should never come up with the doctor, who had left his home and started on his rounds. I caught him at last and turned him back, fortunately, in time; but I hardly know whether the patient or myself suffered most for a day or two.

I was then an accomplished equestrienne on a side saddle, and I resolved never to use any other.

When living on the Cumberland Mountain, in Tennessee, I rode constantly on horseback, always with a side saddle, and my neighbors did the same. One girl whom I knew there rode on her brother's saddle frequently, whenever her sister or mother was with her, and never rode astride; she placed her right leg in the same position as when she used her own saddle. When I asked the reason for this she replied only: "Pears like a gal couldn't ride man fashion noway!"

Now this healthy, hardy mountaineer had a beautiful womanly form, and was classically proportioned. As she wore neither corsets, paniers, nor hoop skirts, her figure could not be disguised, and if she could not ride astride, what woman can I fancy that twenty miles' experience on a man's saddle, over a rough road, will convince almost any of our ladies that she can't do everything "just as well as a man."

I have ridden with my baby in my arms up and down mountain roads so steep that when my horse was climbing up, I had to lean forward until my cheek touched his mane; and when he was cautious creeping down, I was obliged to lean back until the strain became almost insupportable. In both positions I found the horn of the saddle a great help.

But the most trying situation of all was when, in the same country, I reached the ford of the little Collins River, 200 feet wide, where usually the water was hardly up to the knees of the horse, and found it swollen by late rains and dashing along so swiftly that the horse could scarcely struggle through. One of our party crossed first, and we saw that the water rose to his saddle in the middle of the ford. It would be necessary to kneel on our saddles and risk being swept off. Every man in the party begged to relieve me of my baby—they feared that I could not possibly hold him and steady myself—but he was too precious to be trusted out of my arms, and I knew I was a good swimmer.

I had my saddle changed for one of them to have room for kneeling, and I looked well to the girth, the buckles and the straps, had my boy firmly bound to me with a sash; then kneeling upon the saddle, my riding skirt tucked about me, my baby firmly clasped in my left arm, and my right hand twisted in the mane of my horse, we safely made the perilous journey. The intelligent animal had always been used to a slack rein and needed no control. She picked her way with the utmost care, and when at last we reached the bank I hung like a rag over her neck and kissed her and felt better.

I have not space now to give other experience on this subject, but shall await with great interest the result of the experiment which some of our ladies mean to try in Central Park. I am anxious to know if they enjoy riding man-fashion.

An Incident in Texas History.

Truth is sometimes stranger than fiction and so much more so that the ordinary reader hesitates to believe some of the wonderful occurrences or every day. In this case, however, we have the word of a lady, which none of our gallant reader will presume to doubt. Mrs. S. who is now employed as house-keeper at Mrs. D's tells the following extraordinary story:

Some time in the fall of 1853, I was living with my husband and two children on the Elm Fork of the Trinity, about one hundred and forty miles N. E. from Austin. At that time the Indians made frequent incursions into the settlements, and we lived in the most exposed portion of the Elm's neighborhood. It was an understanding among the settlers that whenever any danger threatened one or the other a signal gun should be fired to call the neighbors together for mutual defense.

I well remember the night my husband, called away by business, left me with two young children to spend the night alone. It was at least two miles from any neighbors. None but those who have been equally exposed, know the feelings with which I closed the doors that night and placed the signal gun in proper position. Rolla, my fine dog, who had enough of his mother's blood, a father, to be strong, and of his father's a glorious San Bernard, to be true to us, I fastened by his chain, to the door of the house, and thus guarded went to sleep. At midnight I was aroused by Rolla's growls, and going to the back door saw two Indians advancing toward the house in full war paint. I dared not touch my gun—I am afraid of fire-arms, though I could fight well with a knife—and as my only resource turned my dog loose.

I knew he would fight. I had seen him tried I watched until I saw him tackle an Indian. I saw them both go down together, and loving Rolla as a child, I turned and closed my eyes to the scene, trusting the rest to God. It may have been ten minutes or more, when I was aroused from my stupor by Rolla's familiar whine. I looked out—the coast was clear, and my faithful dog was standing at the door with a bundle in his mouth. I went out to take it away from him. For the first time he refused me. I took a stick to him, and thus influenced he dropped the mouthful upon the steps. Great God! It was a human rib and a mass of flesh! My dog had saved me, but he had certainly murdered a human being. The next morning I saw the battle ground; the turf red with blood, fragments of flesh and clotted hair, and to save my life I could not but feel somewhat repulsed by Rolla's familiarity. But time overcame the objection, and to-day the world has no riches enough to take from my children's care the toothless old creature who lolls around the house, in his licensed laziness.—Austin State Journal.

The ponderous letters of "A. H. S." do not appear in the last issue of the Atlanta Star; but, under the head of "A True Snake Story," the Star publishes the following, which is almost as able as if it were signed "A. H. S.":—"Several days ago a gentleman of this city went out into the country, fowling, taking along with him an experienced pointer. After hunting some time he observed the dog come to a sudden halt, and, supposing the dog had "stood" a bird, advanced to shoot it. But, coming nearer, he noticed that the animal was foaming at the mouth as if suffering from an attack of hydrophobia. Upon closer observation he discovered that the dog was the victim of an enormous snake, which was charming it, and steadily advancing upon its prey. The dog stood immovable, perfectly transfixed. The gentleman spoke to it, but it gave no heed, so completely was it under the influence of the dread charmer. Seeing that the dog was in the most excruciating agony, the gentleman raised the gun and shot the snake dead. Instantly and simultaneously with the shot and the death of the snake, the dog fell down perfectly helpless and to all appearances dead. It revived after some little time, but had it not been for some timely assistance from its master, it is believed that the poor animal would have expired with the vicious reptile of whose charm it was the victim."

THE Tyler Index announces that the post-office robbers at that place will amount to about $12000. The bond of the P. M., which is for $10,000 is said to be good. Two of the Flynnes supposed to be the thieves are at large. The government agent is after them sharp.

THE Iowa State election this year will not come off till November. Hitherto the State elected State officers in October, but, by a law which goes into effect this year for the first time, the time is changed to Nov. 5.

IF the Bureau don't let Brother Jonathan beat John Bull two years since in income by $6,000, as in 1870 the Federal taxes of America produced $78,906,000, while the revenue of England for the same year had been $78,900,000; but England spent more, for $20,000,000 of the revenue had been applied by the Americans to the discharge of their debts.

HEN. A. B. NORTON, candidate for Congress for the State at large, will be in this city on Saturday next, and will address the people of this city and county, and whoever else may be pleased to listen to him. Arrangements will be made for the accommodation of a large audience, and due notice given in to-morrow's issue of the time and place.

CITIZENS! come out and hear what one of your candidates has to say. You cannot understand the issues of the day except you have patience to listen to their discussion. You are either freemen or slaves of party. If you are free, if you are not worse slaves to opinion, than were your African 'chattel' to your own wills, a few years since, you will listen to argument, and then decide for yourself.

Judge Norton is an old and well known Texan. He will speak to you with candor, and will tell you where your best interests lie. He will in nothing deceive you. We want every body to come out and hear him. Do not prejudice, but be MEN and preserve your judgment until after the hearing.

THE mutations of party sometimes bring people into queer situations. For example Mr. Schurz is now the friend and patriot of T. A. Hendricks, who called "the lying Dutchman" of Turpin, who said that "the patriot of Carl Schurz could be found in every rogue's gallery in Europe;" of D. W. Voorhees, who called him a "foul mouthed Dutch viper," and of Bingham, who likened him to "a yelping cur, barking at the heels of Stephen A. Douglas." It was the Indianapolis Sentinel, now a Greeley paper, that called him a "mercenary Hessian, who would fight on either side for pay." If Mr. Schurz's memory is good he must feel decidedly amiable among his new friends.

In the Herald we find an amusing account of a Barbecue on the Calaveras in which the following reference to our old friend Peyton Smythe appears: "In response to a lively call Peyton Smythe brought up his heavy guns and opened fire on the Radicals."

Among the utterances of no con sequence which he was delivered of was a feeble fling at some of his old friends. The consistency of Mr. Smythe is rather thin. Previous to his defeat for the office of Dist. Clk., Mr. Smythe's radicalism was of the most enthusiastic kind. We called him racehorse "Radical"; he marched in colored processions; he was a calcium light of intense brilliancy in the League, and was willing to dine with colored men at his own table. No wonder his democratic friends gave him to understand that he was too fresh from "the League" to dictate to Demo. Conventions, but we can't help admiring Mr. Smythe's hamility; "he who ruleth his spirit is greater than he who taketh a city." Mr. Smythe however, will not take the city be he ever so humble.

Troubles on the Frontier.

Affairs on our frontier back of Fort Clark appear to be assuming an interesting aspect. A gentleman just down from that region has kindly furnished us with sufficient facts to show that there may result a serious collision between the U. S. troops and the Mexicans. The real origin of the difficulty will doubtless remain a mystery.

It seems that about the 27th of last month Mr. John Pulliam and Evans went in pursuit of stolen stock which they traced as far as New Town—or "Concepcion." There originated the difficulty, at whose fault is not known, which resulted in the death of both of those gentlemen. There seems to have been an effort made to revenge their deaths; and on Monday last Mr. Pofford came down from San Felipe, gave account of the excitement there, that the Mexicans had been arming themselves and purchasing ammunition liberally, and asked of the Commander of Fort Clark troops for the protection of the citizens. Lt. Davidson of the 9th Cavalry was immediately ordered out with thirty men, and reached the scene of disturbance on Tuesday. Just as the last stage was leaving Fort Clark a courier from Lt. Davidson arrived asking for a reinforcement of twenty-five men, asking for six shooters, and more ammunition; the courier stating that there were about 200 Mexicans under arms. Mr. Pofford stated that he expected to have to leave with his family and come down to Clark for safety, and that all Americans would have to do the same.

A Mexican came to Clark who had been shot upon the head, the ball glancing off, and in the side; who said that two Americans had shot him and his horse, and left him for dead.

We shall probably have fuller particulars in a few days, and until then reserve comment upon what appears to be a prospect for a lively theme.

In view of the style of political warfare prevailing in the present campaign, we are promised a sermon from the text: "Consider the lily—how they grow." Boston Transcript.

Crying widows marry fresh. There is nothing like wet weather for treachery. Consider the lily—how they grow.

EAGLE PASS, Sept. 29th, 1872.

Editor San Antonio Express:

Yesterday our Republican County Convention was held. We nominated for the different offices the best men of our community, true Republicans.

After the Convention a torchlight procession paraded the streets, keeping ever to the patriotic airs that were sung by the crowd.

After this an address was delivered by John T. Fries. The address was an impassioned and just representation of the two parties with their respective candidates. Mr. Fries made an eloquent appeal to the Union men and to the colored citizens. John T. Fries is a young man, the son of your townsman, John Fries, Esq. This was his maiden effort, and we are happy to say it was a perfect success; he did full justice to the good cause. We are making Eagle Pass rather lively, and have astonished the natives here with our demonstrations. The pettifoggery lawyers and political sycophants that have been trying to run our county are becoming despondent. It is in place here to relate an incident that happened last night. The Convention in the afternoon, and the meeting after dark, were held at Mr. Wip's new hall, which was adorned with a large Union flag hanging behind the speaker's stand. During the interval between the holding of the Convention and the procession, some snags of the Union slipped into the hall, cut down the banner and then hung it with "Union down." This shows clearly the spirit of the fellows who speak of forgetting the past, who say, with Horace Greeley they accept the consequences of the war. The patriotic citizens of our little town have offered a reward of $100 for the discovery of the dastardly coward who perpetrated this act.

At our convention Tom. M. Paschal, Esq., was endorsed as candidate for District Attorney of the 24th District.

We admire your brave stand for the right.

INDIANOLA, Sept. 29th, 1872.

EDITOR EXPRESS:

As the canvass progresses the dissatisfaction of the people with their late representatives in Congress, the Hon. John Hancock, becomes more apparent, and the election of Colonel W. O. Hutchinson more certain, whereby Western Texas will have a representative in Congress fully identified with her interests, and who will not be the representative and advocate of one particular locality or section alone, but of the whole district; such a representative we have not found in the person of the Hon. John Hancock, and judging the future by the past, we have nothing to expect from him, should he again be elected.

We have been wrangling in political and local squabbles, listening to tirades of abuse and vituperation, hypocritical assertions and false promises from monopolists, politicians and the press, whilst the very foundation of our existence, as it were, has been gradually washing from under our feet, until the people of Indianola and Western Texas generally, find themselves beneath the heel of an unmerciful monopolist who, sucking the last drop of blood from the veins of an impoverished people. Now, how are we to free ourselves from the iron grasp of this monster; the question is easily solved, we must have the aid of Congress to deepen our harbors and improve our harbors so that vessels of heavy draft can reach our shores from foreign countries and the north, so that we need not be dependent upon Mr. Morgan for every barrel of freight we receive, as is almost the case now. In this matter, Indianola, Rockport, Corpus Christi and Brownsville are not alone interested, but the whole of Western Texas.

The question which next presents itself is, how is the aid of Congress to be secured in this matter? Most certainly through our representatives in Congress. It is conceded by most persons that this State will go Democratic this Fall; in that event we need expect nothing from the two Congressmen at large, both of whom are residents of the Galveston (3rd) District, leaving us no hope for assistance but through our immediate representative. Then, would it not be well for all Democrats and Republicans, to consider well before casting their votes in November next, for Congressmen, which of the two candidates now before the people will, if elected, be most likely to work for the interests of the people of Western Texas.

Indianolans will doubtless well remember the fair promises made to them by the Hon. John Hancock, in a speech delivered by him in this city during the last campaign—that it would be his duty and pleasure to secure appropriations for our harbor and harbor, besides many other flattering promises, none of which can it be said he ever fulfilled, or even attempted to fulfil, on the contrary, it is believed, and undoubtedly is true, that he had no desire to do ought for his constituents west of Austin. Such being the situation of affairs, it is wise and prudent to re-elect the Hon. John Hancock, or would it not be wiser to try another. Colonel Hutchinson is a Republican, but conservative in his views, a gentleman of fine attainments as a lawyer, statesman and scholar; a man whom all can conscientiously support. I believe he is a native of Virginia, but has been a citizen of this State many years. It is said that he has neither sought nor held office since the war, and but for the urgent solicitations of the people of his section of country, would not now be a candidate. I therefore trust that the voters of Western Texas will carefully consider their interests before casting their votes at the coming election for member of Congress.

PRO-BONO-PUBLICO.

SILMA, Bexar County, Texas, Sept. 30th, 1872.

Minutes of a meeting of Grant and Wilson Club No. 4, of Bexar county, held at Silma, Sept. 28th, 1872.

Minutes of last meeting read and adopted. Upon the rolls being opened for signature, thirteen new members were added to the Club.

Several speeches were made by members present, and all declared their intention to stand by the Republican party, and to support the nominees of said party, National, State and County.

Crying widows marry fresh. There is nothing like wet weather for treachery. Consider the lily—how they grow.

The following resolutions were then offered and adopted:

Resolved, That inasmuch as this is the first time in the history of this country that the colored men have had the privilege and the opportunity to vote for a President, that we feel that it is of the utmost importance for whom we cast our first ballot, in order that our record may be kept unassailed.

Resolved, That as we owe our freedom, our every right as citizens, and the inestimable privilege of having a voice in the electing those who are to rule over us, to the Republican party we deem it our bounden duty to stand by the nominees of that party.

Resolved, That in Ulysses S. Grant and Henry Wilson, the great leaders of the Republican party we recognize men who have ever been the friends of our race, and in whom we repose the utmost confidence and for whom we intend to cast our votes in the coming election.

After the adoption of these resolutions, the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the nominees of the Republican party.

J. C. RUTHERFORD, Secretary Grant and Wilson Club No. 4, Bexar county.

EDITOR EXPRESS:

Mr. John Fries is recommended as a very suitable candidate for Mayor in our ensuing city election.

BY LAMM CITIZENS

The clerk of the weather still continues to receive 15th handed compliments from all classes, irrespective of politics, sex, or previous condition. It is bad enough to have to return to dust ultimately, without being reminded of it all day long. The town is drier than a Greeley speech, and Sahara becomes a moist swamp in comparison. Our sufferings are not alleviated by the prospect of a chance to gush over the golden tints of expiring autumn—if the dust were gold dust we might subscribe to a few tints; but it is otherwise. In the country the enterprising stock raiser is already beginning to skin his neighbor's cattle to prevent them from starving this fall, which is kind in said stock raiser, because the cattle would rather be skinned before it gets cold.

But, seriously, to be tragic about it, the drought is almost unprecedented, and the damage to the stock interest will be immense if it does not rain shortly and copiously.

Army News.

Chaplain J. N. Schmitt, 24th Infantry, will report to Captain H. C. Corbin, 24th Infantry, on route to Fort Brown, Texas.

The leave of absence granted Second Lieutenant F. L. Shoemaker, 4th Cavalry, by paragraph 11, Special Order No. 157, current series, from these Headquarters, is extended to include October 5, 1872.

Upon the recommendation of his post commander, a furlough for sixty days is granted Sergeant John Hubbard, Company I, 10th Cavalry.

Leave of absence for thirty days, with permission to apply to the Adjutant General of the Army for an extension of sixty days, is granted Captain G. T. Robinson, 10th Cavalry, to take effect when his services can be spared by his post commander.

Until further orders, the Commissary Department will issue rations to Mrs. Martin, for twenty years a landress in the army, now very old and indigent.

Scraper's Monthly for October is a remarkable number for the variety of its articles and the profuseness of its illustrations. It opens with a pretty little poem by Mrs. Braddley, with a graceful illustration by Miss Hallcock; this is followed by a ballad by Colonel Hay, entitled "Ernest of Edelsheim." Then come some admirable illustrations of Tobacco Culture in the South, with accompanying descriptive article, and another lively illustrated paper on Paris, by Andrew King, and other interesting articles.

The new volume of Scraper will contain some features of remarkable interest. Dr. Holland's new serial, "Arthur Bonnoville," will commence with the first number, (November), and will continue through the year. It will be beautifully illustrated by Miss Hallcock. Mrs. Harris will have a story running through two numbers; there will be some capital stories by Miss Heim, Miss Brooks, Fannie E. Hodgson, and others of our best story writers. Mr. R. H. Stoddard, the poet, will furnish a delightful series of paralytic authors. Mr. Clarence Cook, possessor of a series of practical essays on Furniture and the Decoration of American Homes, and there will be a series of portraits of some of the younger American authors.

The St. Louis Press, a Grant paper says that every negro has as many brains as 3,000 ordinary Dutchmen put together. Indianapolis Sentinel.

If it were not that the Sentinel holds so high a fame for unvarying truth, we would pass this by with the silent scorn it seems to deserve. It is a libel on the editor of the Press. That gentleman, in the first place, never was known to use such forcible language; secondly, the Press is, at present, without an editor; thirdly, the Press is not a Grant paper, and lastly, there is no such paper as the St. Louis Press.—St. Louis Globe.

A New York letter writer says the movement to throw Greeley overboard as a sort of Jonah, for the salvation of the Democratic ship, is gaining adherents daily. The late elections have shown conclusively that his name, which was expected to be a tower of strength, is utterly valueless; and the fatal mistake of his nomination is vigorously denounced. There is no "triumph in the air," but plenty of discord, and even Greeley's withdrawal now could not head it. After his inevitable defeat in November—if he continues on the ticket—the demoralization of the party will probably culminate in its dissolution, and efforts may then be in order for the organization of a new party, with some title of public respect.

One of the regular contributors to the New York Star, a paper which circulates very largely among the working classes, has the following:

"Well, 'I'm afraid Uncle Horace is gone up. Not only gone up higher, but gone up in a balloon. He meant well, but the old thing won't work. It won't do in this land of the brave to know too much, and that's what's the matter. 'What he knows about this, that, and the other has so embarrassed the public that they have made up their minds to go for him—but not the way he hoped."

The Mo. Democrat says:

The last entry at the Louisville Exposition is a patent Chass, double barreled and selfacting, which enables the owner to go back on himself in twenty-four hours, and to prove that he never did or said anything in his life that can be used against him when he wants an office from his former enemies. It is said to be a very ingeniously constructed piece of machinery.

ONLY eighteen thousand Communists remain to be shot. With due economy these should keep the French army in rifle practice for at least two years.

A weekly paper, edited by a colored man and devoted to the interests of his race, will shortly be established in Indianapolis. The new organ will be called the National Beacon, and will have an eye to the saving of the national bacon. This tendency of the emancipated and enfranchised colored person to print newspapers is one of the most encouraging features under the great problem now being worked out under the supervision of the Republican party. Since the war colored newspapers have sprung up all over the South, and considering the disadvantages, many of them have been creditably conducted, and are doing a great work in elevating and instructing the race. By and by a new generation of educated blacks will be ready to enter the field.—Mo. Dem.

San Francisco is in a ferment concerning railroad subsidies. The majority of the voters of the city petitioned for a grant of ten millions of dollars to the projected Atlantic and Pacific road; but the City Council refused to entertain the proposition. In lieu thereof they have passed an order to submit to vote a proposition to grant subsidies of two and a half millions to the Central Pacific, ten millions to the San Francisco and Colorado road, and other amounts to the Northern Pacific and Santa Cruz railroads.

The Democratic candidates for Congress in Kentucky, both supporters of Greeley, have jointly issued the following circular: "Aug. 17, 1872. We, E. E. McKay and W. N. Beckham, candidates for congress, have to say that we request the judges of the several precincts in this county to exclude all negroes, and the white men who are for Grant for the Presidency, from voting for us; or, if any negro votes for either, that they shall be marked 'colored,' and not counted." Did not somebody—Greeley or Sumner—remark that the Southern Democracy have accepted the results of the war in good faith? And does this sort of thing entirely justify us in believing this statement.

The Rose Plant.

A new and beautiful plant is now on exhibition at the Cincinnati Exposition. The Gazette says: "Beside the doorway leading from Floral Hall to Power Hall is the premium plant of the Exposition. It is called the Philodendron, and is a native of Ceylon. It does not stand erect, but lies almost on the ground, sending out long, rosy looking roots, that seem to prefer an existence above ground. But the branches run upward and bear a leaf that is two and a half feet long and nearly as wide. The leaves are singularly sliced, and gashed full of alights and holes of irregular size—as if to facilitate the passage of air in case of high wind. Yesterday this singular plant bloomed: The flower is as rare as the plant itself. The bud resembled a small ear of corn with the husk on; when the flower opened it was as if the husk separated on one side and opened into a sort of hood, half enclosing an embryo ear of corn. This hood is the corona; the ear of corn is the fruit. The corona is heavy and thick, but of a soft, cream color within, and nearly white without. The inner surface is delicately marked by the seed cells of the fruit. The flower will remain for two weeks. The fruit when ripened, is almost like the banana. Several green pods are now to be seen. They turn to a golden yellow when ripe."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Triumphs for Twenty Years. More than twenty years ago MARYANN LINDNER made its debut in the West. Its cures of the various external diseases of horses and cattle, astonished the planters and farmers of the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and a demand for it sprung up which necessitated its manufacture on an extensive scale. Soon the discovery was made that it was a grand specific for rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, neuralgia, and other external ailments of mankind. Then it was tried as a medicine for the cure of cancer, in case of outward injury, such as cuts, bruises, burns, frost-bites, &c., and was found equally serviceable. The fame of the new remedy for some of the most painful ills that afflict mankind and the lower animals, spread rapidly, and MARYANN LINDNER soon took rank in every State and Territory of the Union as a STANDARD CURE.

Half Alive.

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility. They complain of no specific disease; they suffer no positive pain, but they have no relish for anything which affords mental or sensual pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow beings.

In nine cases out of ten this state of languor and torpor arises from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body; When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food, every organ is starved, every function interrupted.

Now, what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterwards into a more pitiable condition than ever (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant were resorted to), but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to his question, founded on the unvarying experience of a century, is easily given. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but take the system up by reenergizing the fountain-head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel his benign invigorant. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Preservers until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve and brain, flows through the channels of circulation, instead of the watery pabulum with which they have heretofore been imperfectly nourished.

Blessings brighter than any take their flight. The chief blessings in life are good health, without which nothing is worth the having; it is always appreciated at its true value after it is lost, but too often, not before. Live properly, and correct ailments before they become seated. For diseases of the liver, kidneys, skin, stomach, and all arising from impure or feeble blood, DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS are a safe and speedy remedy. It has never yet failed in a single instance.

FAIRBANK'S SCALES.

Great inventions made in groups as the stars troop over our heads in constellations. The same age belted the steam engine the telegraph, the power loom, the sewing machine, the reaper and the platform scale introduced or developed. It is a most extraordinary circumstance that from the earliest time down to within a little more than a generation no material improvement in weighing machines for general use was made. The simple balance, such as we see everywhere employed fifty years ago, adapted upon the most ancient monuments of Babylon and Egypt with this, Abraham doubled weighed out the four hundred pieces of silver which he paid for the field of Machpelah, for money in those primitive days went by weight. The "steel-yard" is found in the ruins of Pompeii, and was borrowed by the Romans from the east. It was reserved for this century and for Fairbanks to combine the "platform" and the "counter-balance" in a machine susceptible of almost innumerable modifications according to the required use, and singularly convenient in all. When we consider how many millions of pounds, great and small, are weighed out daily, we may begin to realize how vast a saving of time and labor is constantly made by this one beneficent device. The name of Fairbanks may be justly added to the list of the great benefactors of men. His work has been from the first stand at the head of all the weighing machines of the world.
