[Titusville Press.] SHOCKING ACCIDENTS. Horrors of the Hippophaigia in Tuusville.

It seems that Mr. Pumpjerker, one of the numerous milk dealers who supply certain of our citizens with the coloring material for their coffee and tea, was coming in from his dairy with his hand cart filled with milk cans, and (owing to the eppihippie) drawn by two sorrelhired men, one a young and spirited fellow who had not been worked in barness but three days, and the other an older beast with with which those men cease work wind galls on his head, and blind in the off eye. Mr. Pumpjerker was pushing behind, not dreaming of danger, when just as the team turned from Brook street on to Branklin they caught sight of several cows, and not being familiar with such looking animals, became affrighted and dashed off down Franklin street at a fearful rate of speed, with their coat-tails in that horizontal position necessary for the enjoyment of the game of chequers, and their soap looks flying, in the breeze. A policeman tried to stop them at the corner of Washington street, but his noise and gestures only frightened the team the more, and they turned north up Washing ton street, leaving the wagon box and hind wheels behind. School was just out for the noon, and the path of the runsways was filled with children, and it seemed as if several lives must be lost, but at this juncture a noble and daring livery horse, who was out with his throat in a sling, taking a walk for his health, saw and seemingly comprehended the situation, and, though his throat was so sore he could with his mouth, and succeeded in checking their career, but not until rhe noble animal had, been dragged several rods. The father of rnnaways came up and took charge of his offspring, and offered to treat the horse who had stopped them to a bran mash or brandy smash, but the latter merely shook his head, and disappeared down an alley leading to his barn. Snotinegaham, the original name of Nottingham in England, signified "the home of the dwellers in caves;" and antiquarian examinations have found traces of the residences of these cave dwellers. Such are a few of the curious transformations to which words and names were subject while as yet people were unable to read. The sound changed the orthography, and thus nearly every trace of the the original disappeared in the course of time. If the world were in like condition now, with no print

Now that the President has recommended an appropriation for the building of a military depot in this city, there need be little uneasiness felt by our citizens upon the subject. The work will doubtless be commenced in a few months and prosecuted to completion as rapidly as possible. The vague ru mors to the contrary have no good foundation in fact.

THE electoral vote of Texas was cast for Hendricks of Ohio for President. and B. Gratz Brown for Vice- ty pleasant, and Pennsylvania Avenue pre-President. Mr. Josslyn, late editor of the Dallas Herald, was chosen for the empty honor of messenger to carry the important intelligence to Washington, We hope Mr. Hendricks will feel grateful and Mr. Brown better.

THE most poticable feature of the editorials in the Democratic press of the South is, the general acquiescence in the opinions of the Northern Democratic journals. There are marked exceptions it is true, but the great majority of them fall into line with the North ern leaders who secared the nemination of Mr. Greeley. There is a significance in this

Dr. L. Rogers states that in his practice e was called to see a patient who was attacked with pain and swelling of the hip, simulating seute rheumatism, which finally culminated in a large abscess which required opening. Abscess after abscess appeared, five in all.—Suppuration profuse, and portions of the dead bone extracted from day to day affecting bytes. and portions of the dead bone extracted from day to day—suffering intense. At this stage ire commenced the use of the Elixit, and when fully under its influence patient made a rapid recovery. He says: "I gave him no other medicine, only as was necessary to correct the disturbed condition of the secretions; consequently the combatment of the disease must be attributed to the influence of the "Ioda Brombile."

"I have since used this new agent in a large number of cutaneous diseased, and am highly gratified with its effect. I consider it a valuable acquisition to our thera-pentical agents, and could not think of being without it?"
In Rheumatism and Piles. - Dr. X. T.

Bargs, in a communication to the "Journal Materia Medica," says: "I have found the Elixir Indo-Bromitle Calettum, Compound, Elixir Iodo-Bromille Calcium, Compound, by far the most satisfactory alterative I ever used. In the treatment of Rheumatism and Piles it has proved itself a powerful and useful remedy and a valuable acquisition to the 'Materia Medica.''.

In Neuralgia and Otorrhus.—S. R. Nisser, M. D., Pemberton, Ohio, says: "I have recently used the Iodo-Bromide of Calcium, Compound, and have been highly gratified with its action."
