1978 Cotton Season 'Winding Down'

Big Tractorcade Crosses Tennessee

Tuesday morning, the tractorcade enroute Washington, D.C., was crossing Tennessee in a big rainstorm, according to Mrs.

Kenny Kittrell who talked to the Journal around 11:15 a.m. Mrs. Kittrell said they left Memphis, where they had spent the night, around 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, and expected to spend the night mid-way across Tennessee. She added that on Wednesday night, the tractorcade would spend the night in Nashville.

As the tractorcade rolls, it continues to grow, according to the local woman, who is accompanying her husband on the trip to Washington. She said more than 200 tractors, with at least that many support vehicles are traveling the highways at this time.

Mrs. Kittrell said they expect to pick up additional tractors as they cross Tennessee. She continued to praise State Troopers and Highway Patrol officers who are accompanying the tractorcade.

"The officers are superior," commented Mrs. Kittrell. "We haven't had a minutes trouble since we left Muleshoe." She added that the only trouble they have had has been weather, as they were in a vicious thunderstorm approximately two hours after they left Memphis Tuesday morning.

High Plains Quail Season Ends Sunday

Quail hunters have until Sunday to hunt in the Panhandle and South Plains as the season winds down to the final day, January 28.

The 78-79 quail season has been good for some hunters and poor for others according to reports from hunters and personnel of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Both blue (scaled) and bobwhite quail populations were generally good in the Panhandle according to J.D. Peer, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department field officer. He said farther south onto the South Plains, quail hunters found isolated bird populations.

Peer said, "The inclement weather has slowed many hunters and it is likely the bad weather has further reduced the overall quail population across the state."

"A few landowners and sportsmen are already beginning supplemental feeding following each successive ice storm," he added.

150 Attend Skate Party At Coliseum

It's new in Muleshoe and if Friday night was any indication, will be a popular activity for youth. Some 150 youth of all ages, from those around five or six years of age to late teenager, and a few adults, were on skates at the Bailey County Civic Center and Coliseum from 7-10 p.m.

The Muleshoe Area Youth Activity Committee of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture sponsored a skating party for youth, and some of the adult members of YAC took to their skates and joined the youngsters. After expenses, the balance of the money obtained from the 50 cent admission fee will be used Cont. page 6, Col. 3

Shafer, Turner Named Basketball Royalty

It was virtually a full house for the 1978 basketball homecoming in Muleshoe Tuesday night, and those who expected a good basketball game were not disappointed.

Although the Mules were downed 64-58 by the state ranked Dimmitt Bobcats, the Bobcats knew what fierce competition was at the end of the game.

At halftime during the game, the 1978 basketball king and queen were crowned. Annie Kirven crowned Becky Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyce Turner as homecoming queen; and Terry Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shafer as homecoming king.

Other candidates included Jo Ronda Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rhodes, Shelly Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunham; Dickey Sudduth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sudduth and Jeep Shanks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Shanks.

Flowers were presented by Glenda Rasco and gifts to the contestants were presented by Gina Burden and Cindy Dunbar.

Charles Briscoe and Mike Northcutt each scored 18 points before fouling out in the fourth quarter. Also fouling out was Terry Shafer, who scored five points.

Other scoring was 11 points by Sam Whalin; four by Jeep Shanks and two points by Dickey Sudduth.

Dennis Veals scored 22 points for Dimmitt and Mark Summers scored 16; while another high scorer for Dimmitt was Randy Roberts with 14 points.

In the first quarter, the Mules were held to eight points to 16 for the Bobcats; this lead was cut to 32-28 at halftime, followed by Dimmitt showing only a one point lead, 43-42 at the end of the third, before the Bobcats pulled it out after a brief lead by the Mules in the fourth.

Muleshoe's Mullettes also fell, by one point, 38-37 to the undefeated Dimmitt Bobbies.

The game was tied at 8-8 at the end of the first quarter with the Mullettes carrying a two point lead. Cont. page 6, Col. 3

An Emergency Medical Technician class began on Tuesday, January 23, at the Cochran County courthouse in Morton. Instructor is EMT Jewel Arnold, registered nurse at Cochran County Memorial Hospital.

Registration is from 6-10 p.m. on Tuesday at the Cochran County courthouse. The class is for persons who must meet state requirements for ambulance personnel. Cost is $125 for the 10 week, 120 clock hour course.

Barton Burnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Burnett, of Lazbuddie, has been named to the Dean's honor roll for the fall of 1978 at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

The senior student received a 3.78 grade point average.

Saturday night, January 27, the Sudan Music Festival gets underway at 7 p.m. at the Sudan School cafeteria.

The monthly music festival is conducted without charge by the Sudan Music Festival Association and a concession stand is available.

Featured will be stage bands, country and western music, gospel singing and fiddle playing. Special featured is Sudan's "Last of a Kind."

Frankie Carolyn McClellan White of Muleshoe was among the fall graduating class at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin at Odessa. White received a BA in art and speech from the College of Arts and Education.

Optimist Club Moves Meeting To Thursday

Jim Shafer, president of the Muleshoe Optimist Club, said that, effective today (Thursday) the local Optimist Club will meet at noon on Thursday at the Bailey County Civic Center and Coliseum.

President Shafer said it is urgent for all members to attend as an important decision will need to be made. Questions to be answered include whether or not the Optimist Club continues to meet at noon on Thursday or goes back to the Tuesday morning meeting time? Also, if they continue to meet at noon on Thursday, do the members want to be billed each month individually for meals and dues at a cost of approximately $20 per month each? And, if not, what alternative do they suggest in order to have representative membership or the meetings. Attend the meeting at noon on Thursday and help make the decisions necessary to help the club function, asks the president.

All-Region Band Group To Perform

Eleven Muleshoe band students will participate in the class AA and class C All-Region Bands Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Lubbock. High school All-Region Band members are: Tena Landers, clarinet; Adam Laredo, alto saxophone; Minerva Martinez, alto saxophone; Beatrice Edmondson, alto clarinet; Sandra Hughes, tenor saxophone and Rickie Carlson, tuba. Three Muleshoe High students were selected as alternates. Kim Williams, Stephanie Bell and Brenda Parker will be ready to step in if one of the members of their section cannot fulfill their obligations.

Junior High students who made the Class C All-Region Band included: Brenda Flowers, alto sax; Melissa Wagnon, alto sax; Laura Leal, trombone; Dan Bouchelle, trombone; and Todd Holt, cornet. Three junior high alternates were from Muleshoe. Perry Flowers was 1st alternate on cornet; Tommy Carlson was 1st alternate on tuba and Dale Hughes was 1st alternate on tenor sax. "All of the students will be featured in a concert Saturday night at Monterey High School in Lubbock. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $.50 for students.

Cox, Baker, Kindle, Tanksley Honored

Muleshoe Jaycees kicked off Jaycee Week by honoring their 'bosses' Monday night. Employers of the Jaycees were honored with the Bosses Night banquet in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Four awards were presented during the evening. Bob Finney presented the award to the Merchant of the Year. He commented, "It gives me great pleasure to award Merchant of the Year to a man I have had great admiration for since I first came to Muleshoe."

"Very few people have contributed as much to the make-up of this town, and this is a man who continually thinks young. He is also one of the few who has invested back into the community what they have drawn from the community."

Finney presented the award to Jim Cox of Fry and Cox Implement Co. The Outstanding Young Farmer award was presented by Richard Kimbrough, who said, "His goal is to raise a responsible family and to own 50 to 60 percent of the 2,300 acres he farms in southwestern Bailey County. He farms because he enjoys it."

Kimbrough presented the award to Bobby Kindle, a 33 year old farmer from the Maple community, who along with his wife, Kay, farms his acreage with the help of only one full time person. They are the parents of two daughters, Robin, 11 and Stacy, eight.

He is a member of the Three Way School Board; a director for the Co-op Gin at Maple; a member of the volunteer fire department at Maple and attends the Three Way Baptist Church.

Total Bales Ginned Surpasses Estimate

After a long, frustrating season, the area cotton harvest is now winding down for another year. The extended season has been caused by adverse weather which has kept producers out of their fields throughout the area.

On the plus side is a larger harvest, up to one third more cotton than had been expected all across the southern areas of the county.

Early in the season, gloomy predictions were for a much reduced harvest because of a very dry summer, and damaging hailstorms. However, ginners are happily reporting a larger yield from their surrounding farms.

The Maple Co-op Gin at Maple in southwest Bailey County, said their harvest is at least one-third larger than they had anticipated early in the season. They expect to wind up with around 12,500 bales, down some from last year's bumper crop, but larger than they had thought.

Micronaire readings are still good, reported the gin manager, and mot of the cotton is spotted now, but is still good cotton, he reported.

At Bula, Bennie Claunch of Claunch Gin said he has approximately 100 bales to gin and expects to complete the season with around, 9,500 bales, saying it is 'a lot better than I thought it would be.' He said the bad weather had not hurt them nearly as much as they had thought earlier, and he was expected to be caught up with ginning on Wednesday.

"We're winding down now," said Don McDonald at Clay's Corner Gin. With 3,800 bales ginned, a few more are expected before the end of the season, with an anticipated 4,200 bales by the end of the season.

McDonald also said the cotton grades are remaining higher than anticipated and the gin is only running during the day at this time.

Anticipating a season some 2,000 below the ginnings from last year, the Muleshoe Co-op Gin is trying to wind up the season, according to Charles Moraw. He said they are operating only during daytime hours, and Cont. page 6, Col. 1

Cold Front Whistles In; Dumps Snow

Late Monday night, a cold front whistled through the area, and a brief heavy snow accompanied the sudden storm.

After a brief respite from cold weather which has clung to the area since the first of the year, the cold front quickly dropped temperatures to below 20 degrees, while a withering cold wind added to driving miseries.

Little snow was realized from the latest storm, and most streets had thawed and dried during the day Tuesday, while light snow remained in shady locations.

No moisture was expected for the rest of the week until late Friday, or Saturday, when the next cold front is expected to clam through the area.

Prior to the Monday night storm, temperatures had edged up toward 60 degrees, bringing out light jackets and sweaters which were discarded for heavier outerwear by late Monday night.

Early Tuesday morning, the wind died down and the temperature rose to just above freezing during the day.

DEER STUDY UNDERWAY

A recent check by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department personnel at a local Abilene meat locker handling deer has furnished some interesting facts about the Taylor county deer herd.

"We checked one hundred buck deer harvested in Taylor county since the season opened Nov. 18 and 58 percent of these deer were 1 1/2 years of age," said Don Davis, P&WD wildlife biologist.

"Another 39 percent were from 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 years of age and only one buck was 6 1/2 years old," Davis continued.

When the Taylor county study is compared to other regions of the state, it is apparent that the deer herd consists of mainly young deer with few trophy animals available for the deer hunter to harvest.

A comparison of the Taylor county deer herd which has a 12 percent trophy buck population is quite low when South Texas deer herds are comprised of a 30 percent trophy buck population.

There can be several reasons for this condition in Taylor County. First, a heavy crop of fawns were produced in 1977 which were 1 1/2 years old this fall when harvested by hunters. Second, the hunting pressure is heavy in several areas of Taylor county.

Most deer hunters are looking for a trophy buck to harvest first. If none are found, the hunters will harvest younger deer as they did this fall.

Another factor in the study indicated a 30 percent drop in the overall deer population this summer. Record drought conditions were experienced in the area and the dry condition could have affected the antler growth since 38 percent of the 1 1/2 year old bucks were classed as spikes.

Normally, an average white-tailed buck should have four points during his second year. Only one of the young bucks checked at the meat locker had eight points.

Spike buck studies indicate genetic background and nutritional intake affect antler growth.

An average white-tailed buck with a below normal intake of food could develop spike antlers. This same buck should grow normal antlers if ample food is available during the spring and summer which is the critical period.

Bad Weather
Pushes Price
On Cotton Down

High Plains cotton prices were $5.25 to $13.50 per bale lower the week ended January 18, according to Paul R. Dickson, Area Director at Lubbock's Marketing Services office.

Growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and better, staples 30 - 33, mikes 35 - 49 around 53.35 cents per pound. New crop lots of mostly grades 43 and 53, staples 30 and 31, mikes 35 - 49 brought about 49.15 cents per pound, Dickson said.

Gins paid High Plains growers $115 to $130 per ton for cottonseed.

USDA's High Plains Marketing Services Offices graded 129,000 samples this week, bringing this season's total to 1,635,000. This compares to 2,892,000 graded by January 19 last year.

Predominant High Plains grades this week were grade 41 to 10 percent, grade 51 accounted for nine percent, grade 42 amounted to 40 percent and grade 52 was 25 percent. Thirty two percent were reduced one grade because of bark.

Staple lengths were mostly staple 31 at 28 percent, staple 32 was 44 percent and staple 33 accounted for 15 percent, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Micronaire was mostly in the desirable 35 - 49 range at 63 percent of the total. Thirty seven percent was lower.

Breaking strength averaged 85,000 pounds per square inch.

However, when a white-tailed buck has plenty of food and still only produces spike antlers, it is apparent that genetic background and not available food supplies are the cause of the inferior antler growth.

A GOOD YEAR FOR TEXAS ANGLERS

The right bait at the right time plus good growing conditions for Texas fish have produced six new records this year according to the Texas State Fish Record Committee of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The striped bass record has been broken twice since Jan. 6th with the current 32 lb. 12 oz. fish caught from Lake Texoma on Nov. 20. The new hybrid white/striped bass record is 11 lbs. 6 1/2 ozs. and was caught April 2 at Lake Nasworthy near San Angelo.

A 66 lb. blue catfish holds the present record after being submitted to the record committee last spring.

A Wichita Falls man caught a 31 lb. freshwater drum at Lake Arrowhead on May 4 breaking the old record by nearly 6 lbs.

A record redear sunfish weighing 3 lbs. 4 ozs. was landed by a Seguin angler at a Guadalupe county farm pond on April 23, and a Borger angler caught a 10 lb. 14 oz. walleye from Lake Meredith on April 12th.

Texas anglers catching large fish should first have them weighed before filleting the fish for supper. Use certified Texas Agriculture scales and have a witness to the weighing. The P&WD is expecting more fish records to fall in 1979 with several of the 1978 record fish to be topped by persistent anglers across the state.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS CAUSED BY PEOPLE

Even though the Texas P&WD hunter safety division is holding their breath and crossing their fingers, it seems as though the total number of hunting injuries and fatalities will be near the 1977 mark.

"We totaled 80 accidents and 17 fatalities in 1977 and as of Dec. 14, we have already tallied 65 accidents and 14 fatalities this year," said Theron D. Carroll, hunter safety coordinator.

"If reports keep coming in from the field as they have been lately, 1978 will be comparable with last year," continued Carroll. Hunting accidents in the Panhandle and South Plains have not occurred or are not reported so far and the P&WD is hoping the trend will continue with no injuries or fatalities.

The extreme cold experienced by opening day pheasant hunters is no excuse to drink alcoholic beverages in an attempt to keep warm. Even though the subject drinking these liquids feels warm, scientific evidence shows that the beverage actually lowers the body temperature.

Not only is the consuming hunter lulled into believing he or she is warm, but the keep reflexes necessary to operate in the field and make sound judgments as to the target are inhibited by the alcoholic effect on the body.

Keeping the muzzle pointed in a safe direction at all times will also increase you and your hunting companions chances of a safe hunting season.

Texas Leads Oil And Gas Royalties

State Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said today a survey of states which receive income from lease of state lands shows Texas led the nation last year with almost $400 million in oil and gas royalties, bonuses and rentals.

Armstrong, as chairman of a Western States Land Commissioners committee on fair return for use of public lands, prepared the survey for presentation at a meeting of the commissioners on Jan. 18 in Reno Nev.

Texas received $261 million in oil and gas royalties from production on state-owned lands last year, $6 million in other mineral royalties, $93 million in bonuses paid by oil and gas companies to obtain leases on state lands, and $8 million for oil and gas rentals of state lands.

Other states with major revenues from oil and gas production on state lands were Alaska, with $180 million in royalty, rental and bonus income; Calif., with $97 million and Louisiana, $201 million.

"Our royalty income in Texas has more than quadrupled in the last five years, while royalty income in California and Louisiana is about the same figure as 1973," Armstrong said.

"This is a reflection not only of the increased oil and natural gas exploration in Texas and increasing gas prices, but also of our decision to raise our state royalty from 16 2/3 percent to 20 percent to make certain our state education system benefited fully from the increased industry profits."

"These 1978 revenues to the Permanent School Fund boosted the total for the endowment to $1.9 billion, and we expect to hit the $2 billion mark next month. Income from the Fund, which last fiscal year totaled $109 million, accounts for about 4 percent of the state's cost of the public school system."

New Senator To Be Speaker For Water, Inc.

Hance was sworn into office last week replacing the retired George Mahon as Representative from the 19th Congressional District. Hance is a former state senator. He and Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford, both elected to the House in November, are the first graduates of Texas Tech to serve in Congress.

Water, Inc., is a non-profit corporation promoting water importation for the High Plains of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Tax Credit For Energy-Saving Home Improvements...Certain energy-saving home improvements can qualify for tax credits on your 1978 income tax return, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Eligible items include insulation, exterior storm windows or doors, caulking or weather stripping, furnace replacement burners, devices for making flue openings and heating systems more efficient.

Specialists Suggest Let Need Decide Feed

For a sound winter nutrition program, beef cattle must be fed according to their nutritional requirements to achieve proper maintenance and production of the herd.

"This means that cattlemen must know the nutritional requirements of their herd and those factors influencing those requirements so they can separate cattle into production groups and feed accordingly," points out Dr. Larry Boleman.

"It is impossible to properly feed a herd where bulls run with cows all year, calving occurs year-round allowing for cattle in all production stages, and cattle are not separated based on their individual needs and nutrient requirements," says the beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Since feed requirements of different animals vary so much, cattle of different ages and production status must be fed separately to realize high productivity at minimum feed costs. Boleman suggests a number of factors for producers to consider when separating cattle according to their stage of production and nutritional needs:

- Protein, digestible energy and mineral requirements are about the same for weaned heifers, pregnant heifers and pregnant cows. However, older cattle consume more, so younger animals must be fed higher quality feeds with more protein and energy.
- Lactating cattle require much larger amounts of protein, energy and mineral.
- Herd bulls have a requirement similar to lactating cattle.
- Cows with first calf or young heifers may not receive their share of supplement if fed with bossy, older cattle.
- Nutrient requirements of beef cattle depend on age, condition, weight, stage of production and environmental conditions," points out Boleman. "Young stock must be separated from older stock to be fed for proper development. Otherwise, older animals will dominate and consume the younger animals' share."
- Proper development over winter is important in young heifers, and studies indicate they should gain three-fourths to one pound per day during their first winter as weaned heifers. Normally, growing heifers require about one pound of crude protein and between 12 to 14 megacalories of digestible energy per head daily.
- Nutrient requirements of cows depend on size, condition entering winter, stage of production and milking ability during lactation. Fat cows should make only small gains before calving while thin cows may need to gain 100 to 150 pounds by calving time," explains the specialist. "Average conditioned cows need only gain 60 to 80 pounds over winter. These cattle have about the same protein and energy requirements as growing heifers."

Stage of production is one of the most important factors in determining a cow's nutrient requirements. After calving for the first three or four months, a cow needs 60 percent more energy and more than twice as much protein per day as the rest of the year. Basically, a lactating 1,000 pound cow requires about 2 pounds of protein and 28-30 megacalories of digestible energy daily.

"With such diversity of nutrient requirements in the beef cattle herd, it is quite apparent that animals must be separated and fed accordingly," emphasizes Boleman. "To achieve a healthy, heavy calf each year, a producer must understand nutritional needs of his herd and establish a sound nutrition program."

New Texas Governor To Be FB Speaker

Governor William P. Clements and California-based tax reformer, Howard Jarvis, are among speakers scheduled for the Texas Farm Bureau's state wide leadership conference Jan. 31 - Feb. 2 at the Austin Hilton.

Invited to attend are county Farm Bureau presidents, and members of Young Farmer and Rancher, Commodity and State Affairs committees. About 600 persons are expected.

Other speakers include FFB President Carrol Chaloupka, House Speaker Bill Clayton, TFB Executive Director Warren Newberry and E.B. Harris, president emeritus of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, as well as commodity experts in agriculture, government and private business.

Chaloupka will open the conference with a talk on Jan. 31. Harris will be dinner speaker that evening. Jarvis will address the group luncheon on Feb. 1. Governor Clements will speak at the legislative dinner that evening. House Speaker Clayton will speak on the final morning of the conference. Newberry will give the conference wrap-up just prior to adjournment at noon that day.

At Lariat, the Lariat Gin is also closing out for the year, with cotton bales turned out just about what they anticipated, according to an office worker at the gin. They are still running late every day, and still are receiving a little cotton as the season starts to close out.
In a 25 county area, overall production was expected to be down from last year's production of 3,215,400 bales, with an anticipated 2, 2,073,200 bales for the current production.
According to Ken Wigner, agricultural meteorologist with National Weather Service, subsoil moisture is showing a deficit of 3.1 inches, in the top five feet of soil, compared with 5.9 inches last year and a six year average of 3.9 inches.
However, he said the subsoil moisture prospects at this time are looking good, but said he has not as yet completed surveys on the big dryland producing area in the southern Plains.
Another cotton planting time is fast approaching for 1979, and cotton producers are keeping a watchful eye on water supplies.

They are asking for 90 percent of parity on loans, emphasizing that they are not asking for subsidy or grants, but merely higher loan prices in order to continue to farm.
Most farmers are emphatic in citing low prices received in the markets, and the low parity loan price as being the factor driving thousands of farmers from the land and into the urban areas in an attempt to make a living for their families.
They are asking continued support from everyone, as they travel to the capitol in their attempt to gain higher prices for their produce.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, January 17 voiced strong disappointment at the Administration's failure to approve a cotton set-aside for 1979 and resolved to continue its efforts to get that decision reversed.
In other action the Board held its annual nominating committee election, adopted resolutions related to new provisions in recently adopted by-laws, and heard a report on improvements being made in its well-known Boll Weevil Control Program.
The PCG legislative policy adopted October 18 last year and conveyed to Washington, called for a 10 percent mandatory and a 15 percent voluntary set-aside this year. USDA agreed a set-aside was needed and recommended to the Administration a 10 percent mandatory and 10 percent voluntary set-aside. The Administration however refused to accept the Department's advice, and a "no set-aside" program was announced at the end of December.
Now, the downward pressure on prices that PCG feared from expected large cotton plantings in 1979 is a reality. Spot cotton prices on the base quality since January 1 have dropped about four cents per pound and futures prices have suffered even more, with the May contract falling almost five cents per pound.
"To us this is proof that a set-aside to prevent overproduction this year is vital to our industry," said PCG President Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, "and we are redoubling our efforts on all fronts to get the Administration to recognize this fact."
The PCG nominating committee will submit a slate of officers to the Board at the next meeting, in March or April, at which time a president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer will be elected from that slate plus nominations made from the floor.
Members elected to the committee were Gerald Caswell of Meadow, Sammy Means of Ropesville, J.D. Smith of Sudan and Kenneth Wofford of Lockney. The remainder of the committee will be the three most recent PCG past presidents, W.B. Criswell of Idalou, Don Marble of South Plains and Ray Joe Riley of Hart.
PCG on November 8 amended its by-laws to include a provision requiring that directors and voters in all PCG meetings be current dues-paying members. To clarify this provision the Board defined a "current dues-paying" producer member as one "who has paid or provides a written commitment to pay, either individually or through a gin or gins," his 15 cents per bale dues on all cotton production for the current or previous crop year.

First Baptist Emphasizes Bible Study

January Bible Study will be the major emphasis at First Baptist Church, beginning Sunday, January 28, according to the minister, Rev. J.E. Meeks.
"Someone has described the Bible as a stream where children can wade and elephants can swim," said the minister. "Every person is enriched by study of the Bible. No other book offers so much to the person who reads it. Believing that the Bible is immeasurable in influence, inexhaustible in adequacy, infallible in authority, regenerative in power, and inspired in totality, plans and preparation to do an intense study of selected portions of it Jan. 28-31 have been made for the people of First Baptist Church and anyone else who wishes to join them," added Rev. Meeks.
Dr. Bert Dominy, professor at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, will be the Bible teacher for the Adult January Bible Study and he also will be preaching in both the morning worship service and the evening worship service on Sunday, January 28.
Carroll Rhodes, minister of Music and Youth at First Baptist Church, will be teaching the youth. The title of their study is "Christ: Style for Discipleship."
There will also be studies for the younger age groups, with the teachers being Marjorie Precure, Marsella Jennings, Janna Wartes and Linda Turner.
Monday through Wednesday evening, the study will begin at 7 p.m. Services will be held at their regular time on Sunday.

MRS. MARY ISABELL JUSTICE

STATE CAPITAL
HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas' 41st governor, Republican William P. Clements Jr., took over the reins of state government and immediately served notice he intends to "persist" and "prevail" in battling for his programs.

Clements, after a week on the job, spelled out his initial recommendations to the legislature this week. He earlier had ticked off his priorities in his inaugural speech.

The 61-year-old Clements and Democratic Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby were installed January 16 in the first bipartisan inauguration ceremonies in state history.

Businessman Clements said he expects to conduct government in a businesslike manner and make it accountable to the taxpayers.

"I must be a governor who puts quality, excellence, achievement and the best interests of this state above partisan loyalties," said Clements.

He served notice he will do battle for these causes:
—An additional $1 billion tax cut.

—Constitutional amendments to give Texas citizens power to initiate and veto legislation and to provide other safeguards against excessive taxation and wasteful government spending.

—A reduction in the state bureaucracy. Clements has set as a goal a 25,000 member reduction in the ranks of state employees over a four-year period.

—Improvements in the quality of the education system.

Former Local Resident Died
At Odessa

Services for Mary Isabell Justice, 65 of Odessa were held January 24 at 2 p.m. in the Chapel of the Chimes with Rev. Jimmy Hardy, pastor of the Melonie Park Baptist Church, Lubbock and Dr. Roy Collins, First Baptist Church, Dalhart, officiating. Internment was held at the Muleshoe Cemetery under the direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home.

Mrs. Justice was born September 1, 1913 in Altus, Okla. She moved to Odessa from Lubbock last year. She was a resident of Muleshoe from 1943 to 1955. Mrs. Justice died January 20 at 5 p.m. in the Medical Center Hospital in Odessa. Her husband, Samuel J. Justice, preceded her in death in 1971. She was a member of the Melonie Park Baptist Church in Lubbock.

Active pallbearers were Johnny Lowry, Chris Kimbrough, Jimmy L. White, Littleton Havins, Orville Lewallen, Jeff Gatten and Elmer Downing.

Survivors include six children, Jimmy White, Dalhart; Clayton White, Odessa; Joe White, copperas Cove; Randall White, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Oleta Scott, Buena Park, Calif.; and Mrs. Alda Shreve, Carson City, Calif.; twelve grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Texas Leads

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong reported a survey of states receiving income from lease of state lands shows Texas led the nation in 1978 with $400 million in oil and gas royalties, bonuses and rentals.

Armstrong prepared the survey for presentation at a meeting of western state land commissioners.

Texas received $261 million in oil and gas royalties from production on state-owned lands last year, $6 million in other mineral royalties, $93 million in bonuses paid by oil and gas companies to obtain leases on state lands, and $8 million for oil and gas rentals of state lands.

Other states with major revenues from oil and gas production on state lands were Alaska, with $180 million; California with $97 million and Louisiana with $201 million.

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek discusses two widely separate subjects this week.

Dear editor:
Now that the football season is over and there are so many world crises nobody can keep up with them -- why at one time Secretary of State Vance was three crises behind and was thinking of refueling in mid-air -- it's time to turn out attention to basketball. It is not dependent on foreign oil.

Years ago basketball was a game of skill and agility, the height of the player made little difference, but now it is mostly a matter of which coach can recruit the tallest people.

Seen a 7 foot man drop a ball through a hoop is about as exciting as football would be if a team were allowed to kick off from its opponent's 30 yard line instead of its own 40, and if the ball went through the goal posts it counted for 3 points.

I have given basketball considerable thought and have reached two possible solutions. 1. Raise the basket by at least 3 feet. This would eliminate dunking, equalize short players with tall ones, and return the game to one of skillful shooting. Or 2. Paint a half moon stripe around the goal 10 feet out and require all shots to be taken that far out. Come inside that half moon and the shot, if good, doesn't count.

Since fans seem to enjoy nothing so much as scores, and since this new system would naturally cut down on scoring and nobody wants to see a basketball game ending in something like 6 to 5, allow each goal to count 10 points. You could still have scores of 110 to 120 and everybody would feel like he got his money's worth.

Back to world crises. As you know, the evening TV news lasts only 30 minutes and one of two things must happen if world crises are going to be televised properly. 1. Countries planning on having a crises are going to have to get in line and wait their turn, or 2. the networks are going to have to stretch their news programs to one hour. What fun is there in having a crises if you can't make the evening news?

Also, you should hold your crises down to not more than one week. After that, viewers tire and some bank robbery in New York or snow storm in Chicago will crowd you off the air. Yours faithfully, J.A.

LENDING RATE HIKE
NEW YORK — The nation's five largest commercial banks—and a number of others—raised their prime lending rate ¼-point to 9½ percent recently in a move that had been widely predicted because other key interest rates have been on the way up.

Plan Halted
Former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, just before leaving office, ordered work stopped on a coastal zone management plan which has been in the works five years and cost $5 million.

The outgoing governor reportedly acted on advice of his natural resources advisor Hugh Yantis.

Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association had been among leaders in opposition to the land-use plan which sought to reduce impact of commercial development on state-owned coastal lands.

Clements could alter the decision and ask an extension from the federal government of time for submitting the plan.

Courts Speak
The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction for murder of parents in a Dallas child abuse case in which a two-year-old died of burns.

At the same time, the court affirmed 99-year prison terms assessed in deaths of three other children.

The State Supreme Court upheld a 1972 Lubbock ordinance restricting billboards to commercial and manufacturing zones.

The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed a 50-year sentence given a Dallas woman in the shooting death of a Georgia man. Two other men were wounded.

The court also reversed an Ector County sentence of a man in the death of his wife.

The Supreme Court freed an 80-year-old woman of responsibility for an $1,850 loss as the result of a bogus repairman's altering her check. A Hart bank must pick up the loss, said the court.

Appointments
Gov. Clements appointed George Strake of Houston as his new secretary of state. Clements also named Omar Harvey of Dallas to succeed Ben McDonald of Corpus Christi as director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

And he picked Brig. Gen. Willie Scott of Austin to replace retiring Maj. Gen. Thomas Bishop as Texas adjutant general and head of state military operations.

The senate promptly confirmed appointments of Scott and Strake.

Among the final appointments of former Gov. Dolph Briscoe were Ruben Torres of Port Isabel to the Board of Pardons and Paroles, James D. Sartwell Sr. of Sealy to the Texas Animal Health Commission and Joe Bishop of Arlington to the University System of South Texas board of directors.

James Powell of Fort McKavett, Jon Newton of Austin and Howard Richard of Beaumont were Briscoe's choices to the University of Texas board of regents.

Short Snorts
The local option one per cent sales tax will yield Texas cities more than $18.1 million, according to Comptroller Bob Bullock—$300,000 less than last year. The tax brought a record take of $424.8 million last year.

Bids up to $116 million were taken for 53 highway projects last week.

The governor's office awarded Public Utility Commission a $150,000 grant to examine a process which recaptures and uses some of the utilized energy in a conventional electric power plant.

Gov. Briscoe asked lawmakers to approve more than $3 million in emergency appropriations. Oral arguments will be heard by the Railroad Commission February 12 in an application of United Parcel Service Inc. to transport packages weighing less than 50 pounds between all points in Texas.

Our American Heritage

What many forget about America these days is that this nation was originally founded by individuals with strong religious faith and a similar determination to enjoy the freedom to worship as they pleased.

The predominating early American heritage, then, was one of religious faith combined with hard work by people with enough initiative to emigrate to a new country to escape discrimination, or persecution.

That spirit has lasted to this day in many parts of America. And, of course, the heritage was not without shortcomings. The Puritan influence in New England was good in ways but narrow-minded and itself at times persecutive. But, overall, that spirit built the greatest industrial nation in the world and the world's leading Democratic society.

In more recent decades more stress has been laid on individual license to do almost anything, and on permissiveness of society in general to allow individuals to do almost anything, than on the old-time faith-moral standards-hard work ethic.

And to many observers, that point at which the common welfare and indeed common sense is overlooked, in behalf of individual license, has been reached in several areas. The late Justice Holmes opted for common sense when he pointed out that the right of free speech was not absolute and didn't include shouting "Fire!" in a theater, for example. Individual rights must sometimes thus be limited in the interest of society.

Where to draw the line is today the constant business of the courts, and public officials, in some cases. It is a difficult task, and as militant rights groups and individuals demand more and more license, the issues often become controversial. But it can be said that society in general, or the majority, or put another way, the general welfare, should sometimes prevail over extremist individual freedom demands.

The Races Begin

The presidential nomination campaigns begin this month. There will be more activity in the Republican Party (the outs, with many scrambling for the nomination) than in the Democratic. But the Democratic Party may soon be the scene of a challenge to an incumbent chief executive.

Senator Bob Dole (R-Kan) is one of the most interesting Republicans to watch. He has been campaigning a year already, has thus far been in New Hampshire eight times, already has a political action committee functioning and believes he can win.

Ronald Reagan is the accepted leader in delegate votes committed. Other possible candidates include former president Gerald Ford, George Bush of Texas, John Connally of Texas, Senator Howard Baker of Tennessee, Governor James Thompson of Illinois and others. Jack Kemp of New York and Philip Crane of Illinois, both congressmen, and Senator Lowell Weicker (Conn.) are considered long-shot hopefuls.

On the Democratic front, the possibility exists that Senator Ted Kennedy will vie with President Carter but an increasing number of pros doubt this. More likely to challenge is another Catholic candidate-Governor George Brown of California. Kennedy and Carter have no personal animosity and Kennedy knows well that Carter, if elected again, might be able to mix his chances in 1984. Brown has less to lose-though he also has little chance to win the nomination in 1980.

The first presidential primary is only a year away--in New Hampshire. The biggest question to be answered in this time is the identity of the G.O.P. nominee. The biggest news event in the period would be replacement of Carter by another Democrat on that party's ticket, which seems highly unlikely.

ON WAGE INCREASES

President Carter has decided not to ask Congress to postpone scheduled increases in the minimum wage in 1980 and 1981, administration officials said.

CONSUMERS BORROWING

Consumers borrowed money at near-record levels in November as they used credit cards instead of cash for pre-Christmas purchases, the Federal Reserve reports.

WASHINGTON NEWS REPORT

The Filibuster-New Fight-Byrd & Unions-1978 Failure

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- An issue which has caused many dramatic and emotional battles in the U.S. Senate, the filibuster, has caused another. Majority Leader Robert Byrd, charged by opponents with having sold his soul to union leaders, seeks to further weaken the filibuster role-or rule 22 in the Senate.

That rule, until about thirty years ago, required the vote of three-fourths of the Senate's membership to shut off debate. Free debate is still a cherished democratic tradition in the upper U.S. legislative body. A Senator can't easily be silenced.

But then the rule was changed to a constitutional two-thirds and then again to two-thirds of those voting, which has made it easier to obtain cloture (shutting off debate). Changes were often made after bitter struggles, in years gone by frequently, with the late Senator Dick Russell of Georgia leading the fight against weakening rule 22.

Instead of two-thirds of those voting the requirement most recently was reduced to three-fifths. That's sixty Senators, of the one hundred (two from each state). Majority Leader Byrd wants to weaken rule 22 further--because last year he was prevented from passing a common situs picketing law which would allow the total closing down of a construction project by any one union. Byrd also sought compulsory union membership for some who don't want to join unions. Use of the filibuster last year defeated Byrd's efforts to deliver these two laws to union leaders. He fears the result will be the same this year. Thus the effort to get rule 22 further weakened, and further limit speaking rights after cloture is voted.

With three new minority members of the new Senate minorities are often protected from a majority steamroller by the filibuster. Byrd's task wasn't easy. It wasn't made easier by a recent Library of Congress study which showed that, "with rare exception, no meritorious legislation has ever been defeated (by the filibuster) and some vicious proposals have been killed." Union leaders don't agree; they see rule 22 as thwarting the will of the majority. National polls showed last year, however, that the majority of voters opposed union leaders on common situs and compulsory unionism.

But the Senate has many members beholden to union leaders for funds and election support. And the AFL-CIO lobby is one of the nation's most powerful. Thus the fight over 22, which could be over, possibly, by the time you read this. Its outcome will have a major effect on legislation which passes the Senate in the two years of the 96th Congress.

New orders received by the nation's factories rose a weak 0.3 percent in November, the government reported. It is an indication that business confidence in the economy's ability to expand may be eroding.

BILINGUAL EDUCATION

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Office of Education has announced 149 awards totaling $16 million to colleges and universities for the support of two types of bilingual education training programs.

ON HOME PRICES

In 1978, the median sales price of existing homes rose 14.6 percent to $50,300. Increases were even higher in the West, with sharp 20.5 percent hike to $68,000. If inflation continues at its current pace, the median price of a home will be $125,000 by 1988.

Down Payment Small For New Home Buyers

As prices of homes climbed in 1978, buyers made smaller average down payments and took on higher monthly payments than buyers did in the preceding two years, it was disclosed by the third annual survey of the Family Housing Bureau, a public information service of Chicago Title Insurance Co.

The survey showed that the median price of a home purchased in 1978 was $44,800 compared with $43,700 in 1977 and $37,700 in 1976. At the same time, the average down payment dropped to 21.4 percent of the sales price compared with 28.1 percent in 1977 and 25.2 percent in 1976.

To make up the difference, buyers assumed higher average monthly payments, amounting to $359 in 1978 compared with $355 and $303 in 1977 and 1976, respectively. As a percentage of income, the average monthly mortgage payment rose to 26 percent. In 1977 it was 25 percent and in 1976, 24 percent.

Easier financing during 1978 seems to be the reason for buyers making smaller down payments, a Chicago Title spokesman suggested.

The majority of buyers -- 54.6 percent -- made a down payment of less than 20 percent in 1978, compared with 58 and 60.2 percent of buyers who did so in 1977 and 1976. However, the number of people making smaller down payments rose sharply. Persons putting 10 percent down or less rose to 33.5 percent from 24.9 percent in 1977 and 26.9 percent in 1976. And those putting only 5 percent down rose to 11.4 percent, from 5.9 percent and 9.3 percent in 1977 and 1976.

Meanwhile, persons making down payments of over 50 percent dropped to 6.5 percent from 9.4 percent in 1977 but stayed above 6.2 percent in 1976.

Conducted in October, 1978, the survey was based on 400 telephone interviews in eleven areas of the country. Of the sample, 40.7 percent were buying for the first time, compared with 43.3 percent of the 1977 sample who were first time buyers and 43.8 percent of the 1976 sample.

As in the past years, the overwhelming majority of buyers -- 85.6 percent -- purchased previously lived in homes as distinguished from new homes. In 1977, the figure was 87.2 percent and it was 84.9 percent in 1976.

Differences were noted among first time and repeat home buyers. The median price of a house bought by a first time buyer was $37,500 in 1978 compared to $36,800 in 1977.

1977 and $31,200 in 1976. Repeat buyers, using their equity in their present home, paid a median price of $50,900 in 1978. The figure was $51,700 in 1977 and $44,500 in 1976.

The first time buyer took on an average monthly payment of $346 compared with $307 in 1977 and $278 in 1976. The repeat buyers average monthly payment in 1978 was $369. In 1977 it was $357 and in 1976 it was $324. People with higher incomes assumed higher monthly payments than those with lower incomes. When the household head's annual income was $20,000 and over, the average monthly payment was $413 compared with $388 in 1977 and $362 in 1976. Persons making between $15,000 and $20,000 had average monthly payments of $308 in 1978, $300 in 1977 and $273 in 1976. Household heads making under $15,000 annual had monthly payments of $264 in 1978, whereas in 1977 they were $252 and in 1976, $240. Finally, the average age of the first time buyer stayed about the same: 28.3 years, compared with 28.2 years in 1977 and 28.1 in 1976. However, the average age of the repeat buyer dropped to 35.5 years, compared with 37.9 years in 1977 and 35.9 years in 1976. The survey was made by the Family Housing Bureau of Chicago Title Insurance Company as part of its continuing program to foster interest in home ownership. The company issues real estate title insurance, which insures the existence or non-existence of rights to property for lenders and owners. The insurance defends the policy holder's insured rights, and pays for any losses if the title insurer is found to be wrong in its determination.
