Three-Absentees

Three European nations have declined to take part in the Centenniel. Russia, it is stated, will not perticipate, because of the unpleasant feelings between the Czar and President Grant. The Grand Duke became offended at some imaginary alight put upon him at our National Capital; and the Czar imagines himself in honor bound to take up and resent every petty affair of his children. Greece also will decline on account both of payerty and lack of commercial intercourse with the United States. These two, Greece and and Russin, will be little missed. They produce few articles which would be of sufficient interest to justify transportation and exhibition at Philadelphia. The former might send us some specimens of antique sculpture, but all she sould do in that way would be a very contemptable effort compared to the exhibition England could give us if the British Government popld or would send over a few of the Elgin marbles. Russia could do comparatively nething. She is far behind in the indistrial and mechanical arts. If she were to sind us specimens of iron work, one of her most important manufactures, the products of Pittsburg would excel them; if of instille families, the looms of Massachusetts produce their superiors. So neither Russia nor Greece will, in point of feet, he may loss.

Italy, the other delinquent, has a differont record, But a few years have passed since the peninsula was composed of w which were in constant discord and foud. frequently breaking out into open war. It is now a compact kingdom, with a firm government, a just monarch, and a tolorthis system of public aducation. The proable. Commerce and navigation have been extended, railroads and turnpikes have been built and put in operation, and new cities have arisen on the old Roman ruins. By a strict course of justice brigandage has almost ceased, useless mounsteries have been appressed, beggary is on the decliner and mit this has been done in much less than a generation. The loss of Italy, therefore, from the Centennial is serious. We could much better spare Russia, Oregon and several other European nations than Italy, if the latter would only exhibit as she is able to do. - Gtobe-Democrat.

A-Wild Boy Caught.

A gentleman arrived from Marcos yesterday, and brought the news of the capure of a wild boy a few miles from that place. The boy was first discovered wallowing in a pond of shallow water, and when approached, he broke like a quarterhorse, running about a mile before he could be exertaken by mon on ponice. Riding up near, the boy was lassoed, when fierce contest ensued, the strange being striking, kicking and lunging about in the nost fearful manuer, and apparently being frightenen almost to death. Finally he was overpowerd, tied and taken to the house of the man who first discovered him. His body was covered with hair about four inches long, and from size and appearance he is supposed to be about twelve years old. He is unable to talk, but posse reasoning power, and now follows his captor about like a dog .- Statesman

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver. PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increase on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is appubled with pain, accomanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sentation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning. and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin ; his spirits are low; and although he is missied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remody. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the

The track is always in the best possible condition and trains are at all times run as uniform speed. Pullman's finest Drawing Room Sleeping Cars accompany all through passenger trains, and if you are going forth or east, by making your wants known, you can go either via Mannibal or St. Louis. And for Kansas City, Denver, California, or any of the Northwestern States or Territories, it is much the best routs we have from Texas. Their Dining Stations and Hours for Meals are all that a trevelor could wish for, and in fact there seems to be nothing left madene to render a trip over this line pleasant.
