MHS Civics Class Holds Convention

It is rather unusual when a national presidential convention is held in Muleshoe, Texas, but that is exactly what occurred on Tuesday, April 1 at 9:30 a.m.

Senior civics students, under the sponsorship of their teacher, Mrs. Jean Allison, did a simulation of the Republican National Convention which will be held on July 14, 1980 in Detroit, Mich.

Students chose to do the Republican Convention rather than the Democratic as there are more candidates running under the Republican ticket.

There are five civics classes, and each class drew for a candidate, and the students then conducted that candidate's campaign with posters, passing out buttons (all made by the students), and intense campaigning.

This was all culminated with an assembly program in the Muleshoe High School auditorium with junior students and other interested guests participating. Candidates and campaign committees included:

SPS Rate Increase Effective In May Reagan Campaign Comes To Town

In Muleshoe Monday afternoon to speak in behalf of his father was Mike Reagan, son of Ronald Reagan and Jane Wyman. The 35-year old Mike Reagan was accompanied to Muleshoe by his wife, Colleen. To a group of more than 50 persons at the John Smith home.

Reagan, who grew up in California told the group he was now in an agriculturally related business, and sells fuel alcohol plants, while putting in a good boost for the fuel alcohol future.

In speaking of his father, he gave some of the background of what his father accomplished during the eight years he was governor of California and included the tax cuts to the people, with a state that had been going bankrupt, being solvent to the tune of a $500 million surplus at the time he left office.

He said $5.7 billion was returned to the people in the form of tax relief and tax credits and commented, "and we still have schools, police, firemen, all the things they said we would lose if the tax cuts were approved."

He told of the agency that was set up to cut out 'useless' government agencies on the state level and advocated he could do the same thing on a federal level.

According to the younger Reagan, he was campaigning not only for his father, but for a man who could assure freedom for

During the last city water billing cycle, survey forms were sent out with the water bills, and local residents' asked to evaluate the telephone service in this city.

To date, more than 600 responses to the survey have been received, and the local citizens turned 'thumbs down' on the proposed increase. City Council member Max King

April Snow Increases Moisture

Shortly after midnight Friday, light snow began falling in the area, and continued falling until mid-afternoon Saturday. Around 9 a.m. Saturday, if the snow had started sticking more, an estimated four to eight inches would have been on the ground.

However, high wind whipped much of the snow into drifts, and on Monday afternoon, a few foot to foot and a half deep snowdrifts were still on the ground in some rural areas near Muleshoe.

To the north of Muleshoe, the snow had ended just north of the SIB Gin some 12 miles from Muleshoe, and by Sunday morning, no trace of the April snow remained.

Despite the moderate to heavy snowfall, the warm temperature preceding the snow kept the snow from staying on the ground any length of time and the moisture seeped quickly into the ground.

Weather predictions for this week call for continued warm weather, and predictions that spring has finally arrived.

took the results of the first 449 forms returned to Austin last week where he testified before the Public Utility Commission concerning the proposed increase.

He said that all the cities who testified, from all parts of the state, expressed dissatisfaction with their telephone service and cited some of the problems experienced, including, bad service on long distance calls, cross connections, dual connections, static, busy signals after dialing the first two or three digits of a telephone number, frequent cutoffs on long distance, dead telephone lines, and other problems.

King said also that all the cities who testified before the PUC were very much concerned that businesses would have to bear the brunt of the increase, with major increases proposed by GTE for all businesses.

Although the councilman said PUC is totally familiar with the telephone problems in Muleshoe, and said an increase would not be objectionable if the rate of service was improved, he also said PUC has been in Muleshoe previously, and has documented the problems experienced by local residents and businesses.

"Businesses have to use the telephone to survive," added the Muleshoe City Councilman, "and the quality of service should

CofC Says Fix-Up, Clean-Up

The trees are in bloom, the grass is turning green, and once again it is spring in West Texas. Beautiful, isn't it? Not quite. There are also aluminum cans along the streets, dead weeds and brush piled here and there throughout the city, and a lot of trash which makes our city look less than attractive. Governor Clements has proclaimed April 26, 1980, Keep America Beautiful Day in Texas. The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture is encouraging the citizens of Muleshoe to use that day for a spring cleaning in Muleshoe. Let's all pitch in and help to clean up Muleshoe on April 26.

Hunter said he would like to invite the public for this very special worship service, and reminded that Community Church is located one mile south of Muleshoe on the Morton Highway.

A native of New Mexico, Ernie Smith, will be guest speaker. He is a former jet mechanic in the Air Force before moving to University Park, Iowa, where he enrolled at Vennard College and graduated with a major in Bible.

The Smiths went to Burundi as missionaries in 1976. During this first term, they completed language study, learning Jirundi, as well as being involved in evangelism and a church planting ministry. He said he has found many avenues for using his gifts as preacher and mechanic while serving as head of the mission station at Murehe. He also participated in investigative trips into neighboring Tanzania, where WGM anticipates opening a new field among the Burundi. The family plans to return to Africa after their furlough to the United States.

Duo Speak To Rotary

Guy Austin and Doug Bales were special guest speakers for the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday and explained the proposed fuel alcohol plant which is expected to be constructed in the near future.

Austin told Rotarians that selling fuel alcohol for gasohol, and selling the by-products will present no problem. He assured that the plant would be an input of some $40 million added to area economy when the plant is completed and operational. He said the cooperative (High Plains Grain Products International) raised $165,000 for the feasibility study conducted for location of a fuel alcohol plant and they are currently seeking an additional 700 members, at least, and would like to have more than 1,000 more by the deadline of May 1. A plant is expected to create 8-90 new jobs for the area.

Installed during the meeting by Harmon Elliott, was new member, Muleshoe Superintendent of Schools, Harold Horne.

Inflation, High Energy Costs Low Prices Farmers Major Concern

by Deana Banda

Ecologists in the 1960's predicted that by the decade of the 1980's, the world would be plagued with famine and starvation. They reasoned that given the population growth of the world, and the increasing destruction of natural resources, that food shortages would result and massive world-hunger and starvation would take place.

There are some today who predict that the United States will starve soon. Not because of growing population or lack of resources but because of lost incentives and cheap food.

These prophets are our farmers!! This year especially, they have faced inflation, high energy costs, and low prices for their crops.

How are these difficulties affecting local farmers? Farmers in our area have had to deal with these situations, and have responded in various ways.

"I haven't been able to upgrade my equipment because of high energy and equipment costs."

"It takes everything you can possibly borrow to make it."

"It's killing the farmer."

"High prices are not affecting my farm, but they're upsetting my banker."

To fight inflation and high energy costs, trying to cut back has been a major concern. Farmers are planting less because of the cost of irrigation and tractor fuel. They are watering only when they have to. They are going over the ground less times and trying to keep from making any unnecessary trips across the fields. Some said they try to keep a stock of spare parts on hand to save trips to town to get supplies for repairs. In addition some have gone to smaller cars and smaller pick-ups.

Cutting back helps, but if prices farmers receive for their crops doesn't go up and inflationary prices and energy costs continue to rise, what will happen?

"We'll have to plant crops that don't use as much water."

"I have registered cattle, if energy prices and inflation continue to rise, I would probably become more dependent on cattle and less on farming."

"A total shutdown of irrigated farming."

"Energy prices are fixin to come to a standstill or folks are fixin to get hungry, it's stretched as far as it will stretch."

For farmers, the situation they find themselves in brings up many questions. What ever happened to free enterprise? "If we live in a free enterprise system, why do we have embargos? We could export our product and get a fair price for it, but government regulates imports and exports. There is nothing about free enterprise in this economy."

What about supply and demand?

"Supply and demand doesn't work in petroleum products. It is a controlled shortage."

What got us into all this mess?

"Cheap imports. Our Governor Clement is teaming up with Gonzales in Mexico to import more raw vegetables and fruits. If they import more they don't need me to produce it. It's cheaper to import from foreign countries."

"A monopoly of fuel by the oil companies and the government."

"I think inflation is the biggest problem."

"The embargo has had disastrous effects."

"It has nothing to do with fuel, has nothing to do with the price of a tractor. If those people who produce those things need that price for a fair rate of return on their investment - they've got to have it. But we need a fair price for our investment."

"The government manipulation of the market and imports of cheap food to control inflation."

What's happening to Democracy?

One thing farmers are finding very hard to believe, is their government's position on agriculture. They listen with amazement as the Secretary of Agriculture says that the family farm is no longer an efficient means of production. They are even more bewildered when the President shares these views.

"Bergland says we shouldn't pass down our land to our children. When our children get ready to farm they should lease land from the government."

This is not what you call a Democracy, it is Socialism. If you think Socialism works look at Russia."

"They say that the family farm is inefficient - that's the biggest farce there ever was. I don't know what it will take to wake the general public up, cheap food will get people in trouble." "The family farm is the most efficient food producer."

In the 1960's ecologists said people would starve in the 1980's because of a large population and exhaustion of natural resources. In the 1980's the farmers said: "Our government will take incentives away. This year a million farmers lost their land. With the inflation rate, people that's got equity can hang on for a year or two."

"It's gonna put us all into hunger."

"Petroleum energy interests wants to control food supplies and they'll do it too. The only way to borrow enough money now to finance farms is through the government. It's taken me 25 years, working 18 to 20 hours a day to build it and they're going to take it away here in a couple. But it doesn't matter it's all in the Good Lord's timing."

"We've got to have food. Crop prices we'll have to rise. There's plenty of energy, it will just take time to switch to alternate sources."

"We've all got the same attitude around here. We're gonna try it one more time!"

At the resurrection the substance of our bodies, however disintegrated, will be reunited...

-St. Augustine.

Western Artists Stage Benefit

Reminiscent of old-time pioneer parties under wide open Panhandle skies, four noted western artists will use the High Plains grassland as backdrop for an art benefit and exhibition.

"Prairie Shindig" will feature the works of Ben Konis, Jim Thomas, Justin Wells and Kenneth Wyatt in an evening of western-styled art and entertainment to benefit projects of the Amarillo-Potter County Heart Association.

Arts works will be displayed in a natural prairie setting on the Jim Thomas ranch from 4 to 9 p.m. Saturday, April 26. Ranch Headquarters is located six miles north of the city on Tascosa Road.

The western outing will have special Southwestern flavor with an authentic chuckwagon and fragrant mesquite campfire. The chuckwagon will dole out genuine sourdough bread, while cowboy coffee perks over the campfire.

Guests are asked to prepare their favorite recipe, covered dish-style, plus beverages.

Attire is casually western-boots and jeans. Musical entertainment will be provided by Doc DeWeese of KDJW Radio Station.

A special "Prairie Shindig" surprise will be door prizes of special art pieces donated by the four artists. Area dignitaries and celebrities will assist in the drawings. Host couples from the local Heart Association will help expedite art sales throughout the benefit and exhibition.

Ben Konis has gained national recognition for his vibrant portrayal of Southwestern heritage and Indian lore in oil and pastel paintings. He migrated to the Southwest from New York in 1969, and became instantly enamored by the culture and scenery, particularly that of the Indian. The artist's paintings have been displayed in numerous one-man shows, museums and exhibitions and have won many awards. He also teaches art classes and has conducted workshops throughout the country on oil and pastel paintings.

Realistic western sculptures in silver and bronze have won numerous awards and much recognition for Jim Thomas, who is a founding member of the Texas Cowboy Artists Association. His work is part of the private collections of former Presidents Gerald Ford and the late Lyndon Johnson; former Texas governor John Connally; Congressmen Jack Hightower, Lloyd Bentsen and Bob Price; the Chancellor of Austria; and a variety of university collections.

Justin Wells' speciality lies in capturing the vitality of horses in sketches and paintings. He also portrays the people, animals and landscapes associated with the horse culture of the Old West. Wells has exhibited his art in museums and galleries in Oklahoma, Texas, California, Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Arizona. He also illustrates stories for western history magazines. In his free time, Wells likes to raise and train registered Quarter Horses.

Paintings and sculptures of the cowboy and American West are the area of expertise of Kenneth Wyatt of Tulia. A Methodist minister for 31 years, Wyatt began to devote all his time to western art and bronze sculpture in 1968. He has received the West Texas Cultural Achievement Award and has the only piece of western art in the U.S. Steel collection. Wyatt is also a member of the Texas Cowboy Artists Association.

If you are interested in attending this event please call the Amarillo-Potter County Heart Association, 374-8291.

weigh heavily on members of the PUC, we have asked that this poor service not be rewarded by a rate increase.

"It would appear at this time as though the PUC were on trial, and although we do not know the ultimate effect of the GTE rate increase and the testimony presented before the PUC, they need to look at the fact that we are concerned about the level of service. The service and the rates do not match."

According to the survey, four percent of the residences and no businesses thought the overall quality of the telephone service was 'excellent. Four percent of the residences and three percent of the businesses considered service 'above average' and 38 percent of the residences and 24 percent of the businesses considered the service 'average.' Also, 33 percent of the residences and 32 percent of the businesses thought the service was 'below average' while 21 percent of the surveys considered the service 'poor' compared to 41 percent of local businesses.

Overall quality of long distance direct dialing service results included four percent of the residents who thought the quality was excellent and no businesses; five percent of the residences considered the service 'above average' and only one percent of the businesses; 42 percent of the residents thought long distance service was 'average', compared to 25 percent of the businesspeople; 27 percent of the residences said they considered the service 'below average' compared to 34 percent of the businesses; 22 percent of the residences said the long distance service was poor, compared to 40 percent of the local businesses.

On local service, seven percent of the residences considered the local service 'excellent' and no businesses; six percent of the residences said the local service was 'above average', and three percent of the residences said local service was 'average' along with 35 percent of the local businesses; 27 percent of the residences said service was 'below average,' along with 33 percent of the businesses and 16 percent of the residences said service was 'poor' along with 29 percent of the local businesses.

For the final question on the survey, "Based solely upon the quality of service you receive, do you believe GTE deserves an increase in telephone rates?" 9 percent of the residences said 'yes' and three percent of the businesses; while 91 percent of the residences said 'thumbs-down' along with 97 percent of the local businesses.

They will be competing Friday and Saturday at South Plains College, Levelland.

Effective with the May meter reading, Southwestern Public Service has been granted a rate increase by the Muleshoe City Council. However, it is not the 18 percent increase they sought. SPS has settled for an increase of some 11 percent overall. Bill McMorries, city engineer, attended the city council meeting, and explained to councilmen how the new rate was derived. Although SPS had asked for an additional $40 million, they settled for a $31 million increase. In other city action, the results of the city council election were examined as council members canvassed the votes; resolutions were approved authorizing the city manager to execute a grant agreement with the Texas Department of Community Affairs; in support of a School of Nursing at Texas Tech University; and a grant agreement with the Federal Aviation Administration. They also considered a professional services contract with Gordon Herkenhoff and Associates, and approved the contract.

The city council and city manager were unanimous in asking that local residents and business people be 'thanked' for their time and efforts in completing and returning the survey forms.

the children of the future, such as his own 22 month old son, Cameron.

Reagan spoke of the extensive welfare reform in California during his father's tenure as governor and said that from growing by 40,000 persons a month when he took office, welfare rolls were losing 8,000 persons a month. "My father believes that if you are going to get paid, you are going to work for it," commented Mike Reagan.

He also spoke briefly on the Alaska pipeline, and told the people the oil shipped in the pipeline has too much sulphur, so is shipped by tanker to Japan, then returned to the United States and sold to the U.S. at foreign oil prices.

He advocated the abolishment of the Department of Energy and said Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland needed to be replaced, immediately.

Reagan said he is taking two and a half days each week to campaign for his father, and devotes the other time to operating his own business as he attempts to help his father win an election as President of the United States because he believes in what his father stands for.

In an answer as to other business interests, Reagan was vehement in explaining that his father has no other business interests and lives from his ranch and his stock which is in a blind trust and has been since he became governor of California.

Reagan told the people that if they did not plan to vote for his father, to at least get out and vote.

"We have to have leaders concerned with the people, not just concerned with the government," he commented.

Phillip Crane won the nomination and Mark Northcutt made a short acceptance speech.

A short summation was given by Jean Allison, who told how each student researched and worked in order to present this simulation of a national convention.

The closing prayer was given by Wesley Cook, acting as the chaplain of the Senate before the convention was adjourned by the Temporary chairman, Mike Henry.

Guests who attended the convention saw a very colorful sight as the civics students had worked very hard making state signs, placards for each student to carry and the stage was decorated in a patriotic theme. A special note of thanks to Monti Vandiver, music engineer and to Wilson Appliance Co. for stereo equipment they loaned for the convention. Thanks also to Oscar Hernandez and Arnold Madrid who brought specially cut stakes for the banners and placards.

Lazbuddie Longhorn Stampede

by Janet Wilke

ELEMENTARY WINS UIL

The Lazbuddie Elementary UIL contestants won their first division of the Literary events in the UIL meet held in Sundown on March 28.

The actual results were delayed by the results in the reading writing contest, in which there were five Lazbuddie students entered. In the 7-8 ready writing contest, Shane Smith placed third, behind winners from Amherst and Sudan, then Launa Brockman placed sixth. This gave Lazbuddie 5 points to add to a 35 point lead over their nearest competition, which was Amherst.

Then, in the 5-6 competition, fifth grader, Shonda Mitchell, pulled off a third place finish, to add 5 more points to Lazbuddie's total, and Lezlie Smith added a fifth place performance to round out the event for Lazbuddie.

So, the Elementary Junior High UIL contestants have much to be proud of in the UIL finish, including a fine trophy which will remain at Lazbuddie.

BAND TO SIX FLAGS
Members of the Longhorn band will converge on Ft. Worth-Dallas in a week to take part in the Six Flags Over Texas Music Festival in that city on April 23-26.

The band will board a chartered Continental Trailways bus in front of the high school building on the day they leave, April 23, and will play at Six Flags the following day.

This is the first time a Lazbuddie Band has been on a trip and there is much anticipation among the bandsman.

Some of the sites they will see will include the Ft. Worth Water gardens, just outside of the Tarrant County Convention Center, the Wax Museum of the Southwest, and of course, Six Flags Over Texas.

Much of the money which has made the trip possible has been raised and donated by the Lazbuddie Band boosters organization, headed by President Joyce McGehee.

The members of the band would like, at this time, to take the opportunity to thank the Band Boosters, and all of the people who so graciously gave of their time and money to the Longhorn Band.

Lazbuddie's girls track team managed to come out in fourth place at the District 4-B track meet, held April 11 in Sundown.

In the 400 meter relay, LHS placed fourth, but came up to second place in the 800 meter dash in a performance turned in by Cynthia Everett. Cara Smith placed 7th in that event.

Everette was a fifth place finisher in the 400 meter dash and Susan Glover finished sixth in the 200 meter dash for the Horns.

Sherri Seaton and Joette Hargett both placed in the 100 meter hurdles competition, with Seaton placing second and Hargett garnering sixth place.

Lazbuddie's 800 meter relay team finished third with a time of 1:56.05, behind Three Way and Sundown.

Jayayne Collins and Trestia Moore both placed in the 100 meter dash event, with Collins placing fourth and Moore was fifth.

Cynthia Everett was a third place finisher in the 1600 meter run, with Tina Collins placing sixth.

In the 1600 meter relay, Lazbuddie finished on top of the event with a finish of 4:38.04.

In the field events, high jumpers Barbie Ivy placed fifth at 4'8" and Susan Glover was sixth with a jump of 4'6".

Sherri Seaton placed first in the Discus at 113'8 1/2" and Shari Wilhoit placed sixth with a throw of 83' for the Horns.

Wilhoit also had a sixth place finish in the Shot Put with a toss of 25' 11 1/4" to finish out the competition.

The Longhorn girls track team placed fourth with 88 total points, and Three Way, who won the event had 141 points.

Mickey Wilson is Coach Lazbuddie's boy tennis team won their division in Sundown on April 9-10.

The Second seeded team of Mickey Powell and David Lust won their championship match by besting Lazbuddie's number one doubles team of Steffan Moore and Todd Gregory in a finals battle.

Lust Powell advanced to the finals after beating Cotton Center's second team, 6-2, 6-0, then by besting Sudan's first team 6-4, 7-6, in a 5-4 tie breaker.

The Lazbuddie second team then finished off Sundown's first seeded team 6-4, 6-0, and then they finalized their plans to Regional with their 6-3, 6-4.

Meanwhile, the top seeded team of Steffan Moore-Todd Gregory did well enough to qualify to Regionals as they byed the first round and then came back to demolish Bledsoe in straight 6-1 sets.

In the Second Match, Moore-Gregory breezed by Cotton Center's first team 6-2, 6-2, but then found stiff opposition in the other Lazbuddie pair and lost 3-6, 4-6.

Lazbuddie boys brought home the trophy by winning district. This was the second time consecutively for the Horns to gain district honors. This team is coached by Ray Reynolds.

Alan Cranston, Senator D-Calif): "I am convinced that we must, can and will produce a balanced budget in 1981."
