Taking Radical Advice Spain's Sudden Change Rejoice and Be Glad Good in Evil

In troubled times like these it is important to give radical advice carefully. A railroad president, with the best of intentions, emphasized the public's duty to the unemployed, adding casually: "I'd steal before I'd starve." When Wallace F. Mitchell was picked up dead with a bullet in him, a newspaper clipping of that statement was found in his pocket. He had some hungry children, took the suggestion literally, and was shot dead while trying to steal a bottle of milk from a grocery store in Philadelphia.

A thought, harmless in the mouth of a philosopher or a railroad president, may be dangerous when taken too literally by a little man.

Spain has abolished the death penalty; the maximum term of imprisonment twenty years, no life imprisonment. Also, new in Spain, unfaithful husbands and wives are to be punished equally, no favors for the husbands.

This ending of the death penalty is all the more striking because Spain through the centuries has specialized in the infliction of death, with thousands burned and tortured, for religious disbelief, death inflicted on slight provocation.

If you speculate in stocks, rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for in August the total value of listed stocks increased on paper by more than seven thousand million dollars.

However, that didn't put the eleven millions idle back to work. An increase of seven thousand million dollars in stock values is pleasant. Not so pleasant is the fact that idleness of eleven million men costs this country more than thirty-six thousand millions a year in lost wages. The rise in stocks reminds you of the pretty music that Nero is supposed to have played while Rome burned.

"There is good in all evil," and good will come from this depression.

Even the dullest exploiters of their fellow men begin to realize that human working hours and days must diminish, as machine efficiency increases.

The shorter working week and day will be one of the depression's products. And many that have crowded into hot, unnatural cities will escape to the country before the depression ends, and always stay there, which will be a blessing for their children.

Money is queer. Wise finance tells you it all depends on how much gold you have back of your money. How do they explain the fact that in Canada an American changing a United States twenty-dollar gold piece gets only $17.00 in United States one-dollar bills, whereas for twenty of those one-dollar bills he can get $22.40 in United States gold coin? Try to figure that out.

In London, Mayor Cermak of Chicago, annoyed by Britishers talking about "Chicago crime," reminds them that they have 22,000 policemen in London. And "if Chicago had that many cops I could clear the city of every criminal." The mayor would do it, of course, if he could, but possibly he couldn't.

Dr. Benjamin Goldberg tells the American Congress of Physical Therapy that our depression has improved the health of the people, but has cut down the birthrate.

Insurance companies say "the masses" are learning more about birth control and practicing it. Health is improved, perhaps, by the fact that there is less bootleg whisky drinking, and less of the overeating that breeds disease, when times are bad.

A person no less important than Rev. Canon J. A. MacCulloch says belief in fairies has a real foundation. In glacial times there lived in Britain a pigmy race, now disappeared, so small they could have been called fairies.

Ambassador Mellon says conditions are better, and recovery has begun. "slow but sure." The recovery will show eventually in general business.

That is good news. Mr. Mellon knows something about business, enough to enable him to extract many

George Henshaw Seriously Injured In Auto Wreck

Late last Wednesday evening, George Henshaw Jr. well known oil operator of San Angelo, suffered serious injuries to his back when the Buick car in which he was riding crashed on highway No. 9 opposite the U ranch. Bruce McKagne who was with Mr. Henshaw also suffered painful cuts and bruises.

George McEntire went to the scene of the wreck and after giving all the attention possible, brought the injured men to town where Dr. Swann gave first aid and then sent them in Lowe's ambulance to the Shannon Hospital at San Angelo for further attention.

The parties were on their way to Pecos and were driving at a rapid rate. They tried to detour around a barrier placed by the road builders, and in doing so, the car overturned and was smashed.

Jury of View Appointed For Highway No. 9 in Glasscock County

Judge J. T. Parker, county judge of Glasscock County was a business visitor to our town last Wednesday. The Judge says he has appointed a jury of view to lay out and assess the damages for the right-of-way of Highway No. 9, thru Glasscock County as well as the Butterfield Trail extension from Sterling City to Garden City. He said a meeting with the Highway Commission officials had been arranged for the purpose of securing of the extension of the Garden City road on to Midland. Judge Parker stated that his county was meeting with the hearty co-operation of Midland County in the project and he felt sure of success.

Faculty Thanks Lions

The faculty of Sterling City Public Schools wish to express their thanks and appreciation to the Lion's Club and any others who so bountifully entertained with a chicken barb cue in the basement of the Methodist Church on Friday evening, September 9.

Stockmen's Evening School

The first meeting of a stockmen's evening school to be held at the divide church house was held last Tuesday evening with the following persons present: Earl Welch, G. W. Welch, Sam Radde, Leo Radde, T. H. Murrell, Earnest West, Wayne Munn, Thad Munn, Woodrow Munn, Donald Knight, Joe King, Loyd King, Johny Knight, J. W. King, Loyd Murrell, and A. J. Bierschwale who is acting as leader in the meetings.

It was decided by this group that they should meet at 8:00 o'clock each Tuesday evening until further notice, and that the subjects to be discussed would be "Livestock Problems" such as diseases, feeding and breeding. Thad Munn was elected permanent secretary for the group and T. H. Murrell, Sam Radde and W. G. Welch were elected attendance committee.

The time has come when every man needs to study his business in order to make a success. The fact that these men are meeting to discuss their problems, with the hopes that they may get some good from it, is conclusive evidence that they are progressive men.

Everyone interested in the livestock business and living in reach of the Divide Church House is given a cordial invitation to attend this series of meetings. Remember the date—each Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Sheriff Davis Raids Mexican Booze Plant

Last Wednesday Sheriff Vern Davis raided a small booze plant that had been operating in Mexican town. Mr. Davis found about 16 gallons of outlawed stuff and destroyed it. When asked about the quality of beer he found and confiscated, Mr. Davis said that from the flies, ants and bugs he found in it, it should have been of a flavor that would appeal to the taste of the average booze fighter. However, he said he did not taste it.

Nuevas Robles was arrested, plead guilty before Justice Black, paid a fine and was released.

Norman Darst Gets Foot Crushed in Rock Crusher

Norman Darst, road worker, sustained a badly crushed foot last Wednesday while working at a caliche crusher. The machine had been stopped to allow a rock to be removed that was too large for it. The young man was on top, and in descending, he put his foot on a cog-wheel just as the motor started and caught it in the meshes. He was brought to town where Dr. Everitt gave first aid and then sent him to a hospital at San Angelo for surgical treatment.

We learned that surgeons at San Angelo do not think they will be able to save young Darst's foot, as it was so badly mangled.

Lions Have Distinguish- ed Guests

At its weekly luncheon last Wednesday, the Lions entertained Ranger Oscar Martin and Adjutant General W. W. Sterling as guests of Lion Vern Davis. These gentlemen were returning from the State Convention at Lubbock.

It was Lion O. D. Worthy's day to entertain. He had as his guests and assistants, Miss Anne Lee Durham and Master Bluford Hestir. Miss Durham entertained with two delightful readings and Master Bluford Hestir rendered music of such a quality that was far beyond his age.

General Sterling made a splendid talk in which he paid high tribute to the people of this town and county.

Church of Christ

Ted Norton will preach at the Church of Christ next Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours.

Mr. Norton is assisting J. D. Harvey in a meeting at Colorado under the auspices of the Church of Christ of that city. Mr. Harvey, who is minister of the Church of Christ at Colorado, will conduct a meeting at the Church of Christ here the first week in November.

Lions Entertain School Faculty

Perhaps, one of the happiest events ever experienced by a number of Sterling City people was when the Lion's Club entertained the teachers of Sterling City and Sterling County with a chicken barbecue in the basement of the Methodist Church last Friday night.

At about 8 p. m., the doors of the spacious club room in the basement of the Church was opened to a happy throng of teachers, their escorts, members of the School Board, and the Lions in person.

Four long tables tastily decorated with flowers and on which 104 covers were laid for the guests. After singing a stanza of "America", and an invocation by secretary Black of the School Board, the guests were seated at the table.

Lion President Hestir introduced Dr. Everitt as toastmaster and the eating and fun began. J. T. Davis, chief supervisor of the culinary and table service, assisted by R. P. Brown, E. L. Bailey, J. B. Atkinson, O. D. Worthy, Vern Davis, Roy Foster and Rogers Hefley, came in with pots of hot delicious coffee, frijole beans and large platters of barbecued chicken. Soon the plates were loaded, and the eating and chatting of those people made one forget all about the depression. It was a feast that only Oscar Findt knows how to prepare.

After the dainty salads, pies and cakes had begun to disappear, Dr. Everitt called for the introduction of the teachers. As each name was called, a sponsor arose and introduced her or him, and some of whom made appropriate responses.

Many were the good natured jokes that were cracked amid roars of laughter. Before the time to depart was up, a round of handclapping was given to those who promoted and made a success of the entertainment. The Stewards and pastor of the Methodist Church were roundly thanked for the use of the magnificent dining hall in the basement of the building. It was a revelation to many of the people there who had no idea that such a splendid annex to the building existed. The kitchen to the dining hall with its electric cooking range, built in china cabinets and general equipment reflects great credit to its promoters. What we are trying to say, is that all had the time of their lives.

E. B. Sayles of Abilene was here last Tuesday. Mr. Sayles is making an archaeological survey of West Texas, for the Historical Society at Abilene. He is interested in ancient Indian camps, caves and other aboriginal habitations where pottery and Indian flint arrowheads and other artifacts may be found. Mr. Sayles has covered a great part of West Texas and has found many wonderful specimens of the handiwork of the people who lived here ages ago.

Judge W. W. Beall, aged 73 and well known lawyer died last Monday morning at his home in Sweetwater. He was the father of Walter Beall, Dr. C. B. Beall and Mrs. Willie Barbee of San Angelo. Deceased had practiced law for the last 40 years and was known all over West Texas.

The international bridge across the Rio Grande River at Presidio was wiped out last Monday by a 38-foot rise caused from the overflow of the Concho river coming from the Mexican side. A lot of government buildings were also swept away.

If jimferguson proves to be the Democratic Nominee, there will be thousands who will refuse to vote for him, and if they do they will only be following the example set by him in 1922 when jimferguson ran against Earl B. Mayfield in a runoff primary for U. S. Senator and was defeated.

When jim found he was defeated and Mayfield was the nominee, altho he had gone into the primary and pledged himself to support Mayfield in case he was nominated, jim went over to the republicans and made speeches for George B. Peddy and did all he could to elect the man named by the republican party.

Jimferguson was never known to do what he said he would unless it suited him to do so. As everyone knows, jimferguson ran for president once on the American party ticket and was defeated. It was then he said thru his paper, "to hell with the democratic party."

If the people fail to support jimferguson in the general election, it will only be practicing the old Hebrew code: "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," which is human nature after all. If jimferguson gets it in the neck by the Sterling element, he will have no kick coming, because they will only be doing what he did himself back in 1922.

While we expect to keep the pledge and deliver the goods as we said we would, yet, there will be tens of thousands of voters who will not, and as jim has not stood hitched in the past, they will give him a large dose of his own medicine.

The idea that poor old "Ma" will have anything to do with being governor is an insult to common intelligence. It is a brazen peice of hypocrisy which any half wit can see thru. As a majority has placed the stamp of its approval of jimferguson's shameful acts, the voters will take it for granted that they are not expected to keep a pledge that jimferguson would not keep himself.

Now if Glasscock County goes ahead and secures the right-of-way for highway No. 9, we shall have a paved road to both Garden City and to Big Spring. The long wet spell of last week did much toward making the people of Glasscock County as well as those of Howard and Sterling realize that if they do not put these roads over soon while the putting is good, they may have to wait years before they will have a chance again. If jimferguson carries out his plans, there will be no more roads constructed in West Texas as long as he is at the bat.

The long wet spell of last week caused a lot of damage to crops in stacks and shocks. Lots of sorghum grain sprouted in the shocks. However, a big second crop is in prospect, and there is no end to the feed on the range.

"Boy Lincoln" Evolved From
Survey of Lincoln Statues

It required an exhaustive survey of all the Lincoln statues in the United States and Europe before the Lincoln National Life Foundation, Fort Wayne, Ind., could find the type that would be new and best suited to its Indiana surroundings.

Franklin B. Mead

The completed bronze—heroic in size—it rises on its plinth and pedestal to a height of 24 feet—and classical in feeling, portrays the Emancipator as a youth of twenty-one, when he departed from Indiana after a residence of 14 years. It will be formally dedicated on the plaza of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company's building at Fort Wayne on September 16.

"Since Lincoln had spent his youth from his seventh to his twenty-first year in the state of Indiana, it was our thought," said Franklin B. Mead, author of the outstanding brochure of Lincoln statues, who conceived the idea of giving the world for the first time a monument in bronze revealing Lincoln as he appeared in his boyhood days in Indiana. "That our statue should not be in the proverbial style of the bearded Lincoln in double breasted frock which is in danger of becoming hackneyed, but should present the maturity of boyhood when his mind and personality were just becoming the man's. Consequently we commissioned one of the greatest sculptors in the world, Paul Manship of New York, to create a statue of this type. This was to bear the inscription, 'Abraham Lincoln, the Hoosier Youth.'"

"It is necessary to enumerate and classify the portraits erected to Lincoln in America, if the unique character of the work of Mr. Manship is to be set apart from former efforts. Illinois leads with nine, then follow New York, five; District of Columbia, Kentucky and New Jersey, three each; California, Nebraska, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, two each; Connecticut, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan and Washington, one each. The absence of Indiana in this list becomes very conspicuous when it is remembered that Lincoln spent 14 of his formative years in the Hoosier state.

"The consideration of atmosphere has had much to do with the decision that the Manship bronze should portray Lincoln the Youth as he emerges from the Indiana wilderness at the age of twenty-one. It is appropriate that the bronze statue of Lincoln to be erected in the state of Indiana should present 'Lincoln the Hoosier.'"

"The site to be occupied by a memorial is another influence which has determined the character of some of the more recent reproductions of Lincoln. An attempt to place upon his toric ground which visualizes the Lincoln of that time has been put forth. Urbana, Ill., where Lincoln practiced law on his regular itinerary, has given us 'The Circuit Rider.' Springfield, Ill., has placed in front of its state house the Lincoln of 'The Farewell Address' and Dixon, Ill., has welcomed again 'Lincoln the Soldier.'

"Most of the memorials of the former president portray him during the days of his administration and they have become known as the 'bearded Lincolns.' It is well known that he did not grow a beard until after his nomination to the presidency. The Manship bronze focuses attention on an hitherto unappreciated phase of the Emancipator's life—the formative years he spent in Indiana—tremendously important years, in view of his later accomplishments."

ONE OF "MA'S" PETS IN TROUBLE

Perhaps "Ma" Ferguson will lose another one of her admirers in the person of Doy Arnold who murdered his former wife at Breckenridge one day last week by beating and stabbing her to death.

Doy Arnold was convicted in 1924 by a Palo Pinto jury on an indictment charging criminal assault upon a girl and was given the death penalty, but tender hearted "Ma" pardoned him for the crime and turned him loose on the community to pursue his chosen career.

In 1930 he was convicted of theft and given two years in the penitentiary. This time Arnold's "Ma" was not in a position to grant him a pardon, and old Ross Sterling made him stay in the pen the full time set by the jury who tried him.

Arnold's service in the pen was completed a short while ago and he returned home to celebrate his freedom and "Ma's" victory by murdering his former wife.

If "Ma" becomes governor, no doubt Doy Arnold will feel sure of a pardon and be free to murder some more people in Palo Pinto County and vicinity. In that case let us hope that Doy will confine his activities to those who tore their shirts for "Ma" in the recent primary.

The Ferguson admirers ought to be proud of "Ma's" clemency and Doy Arnold's activities. They ought to erect a tablet of black mud to commemorate the great achievements of "Ma" and Doy and inscribed with these words: "Erected to Ma and Doy; Ma pardoned Doy, so Doy might murder another woman."

Ranger Oscar Martin who was here last Wednesday was a member of the grand jury at Austin which indicted jimferguson for using the State's money for private use after he was impeached by the Senate in 1917. Mr. Martin said the evidence against jim was overwhelming, and had the district attorney let the cases go to trial, there would have been no doubt of his conviction. T. H. McGregor, the district attorney and the district judge saved jim's bacon

The coyote is almost a thing of the past in Sterling County. But the coyote is a roving beast and will travel a hundred miles in quest of good foraging grounds. The sandy regions to the west of Sterling will always be a breeding ground for the coyote, because a net wire fence where sand blows and drifts is not a success in turning wolves, and more or less of them will drift down here in search of lamb and mutton.

George Hutchinson, his wife and two young daughters were rescued last Tuesday from icy waters on the coast of Greenland by the British trawler Lord Talbot. They had attempted to cross the Atlantic in an airplane, but were forced down on the water on which the wreck floated for two days before they were rescued. Some Eskimo Indians helped to bring the "Fying Family" to shore.

E. L. Bailey and Rev. Malcom Black returned last Tuesday evening from Lubbock where they attended as delegates from Sterling County to the State Democratic Convention. From what they say, the jimferguson forces put the steam roller over the Sterling element. Ferguson delegates from counties like Dallas which gave Sterling 12,000 majority, were greatly in the majority.

Proxy candidate jimferguson has two more gauntlets to run before he becomes governor by proxy. He will have to get by the Supreme Court of Texas, and then take chances at the polls in the general election. From now until Nov. 8, this jimferguson person will be kept as busy as a tomcat on a tin roof.

The new Democratic Executive Committee for the 16th. Congressional District is composed of Robt. Holliday, Chairman, El Paso. Houston Hart, San Angelo. W. F. Boggess, Del Rio. Mrs. Lamar, El Paso. Mrs. C. B. Hudspeth, Comstock.

Creamy Scrambled Eggs with Mushrooms: Make a white sauce of two tablespoons of butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup of milk, and salt and pepper to taste. Cut the contents of one 4-ounce can of mushrooms in slices, and sauté for a few minutes in a little butter; then add to the hot sauce. FOXAS

Foxes were, until a few years ago rarely seen outside of the Canyons. Today, they have become very common in places, especially along the brakes of Lacy Creek. People often wonder why they have left the rough canyons for the comparatively open ground. The reason is plain. While the fox and coyote are cousins, yet, they are deadly enemies. The coyote will kill a fox wherever he finds him, and heretofore he has been forced to live where he can find shelter from his inveterate enemy. Now since the trapper has laid rough hands on the coyote, the fox makes bold to come out in the open where there are more birds, mice and rats for him and his family to eat.

The foxes in this part of the country are of the small grey variety. They live on crickets, grasshoppers, birds, mice and rats. They are comparatively harmless until their natural food fails them. In that case, they are likely to steal poultry, and they might learn to steal new born kids and lambs. Until they become pests they should not be molested, because they are beneficial to the range. The furs of these foxes are valuable, and the time will come when these animals may become a considerable asset to the ranges.

School News

The seniors of '32, under the direction of Miss Cox, presented the program in assembly last Monday morning.

Each one came dressed to represent a small child. All of them acted the parts of naughty school children on the first day of school. Lucille Davis made an excellent old-fashioned teacher. Only three members of the class were not present.

Harold McCabe, Wilbur Stone, Lucille Davis and Lola Marie Walraven are doing post graduate work this year. Chappell Murrell is studying law in Cumberland Law School, Lebanon, Tennessee. Dan Hoover is in Coffeyville, Oklahoma. Olga Key, Emma Sue Nelson, and Elva May Mills, who was a member of the class of 1931, expect to enter San Angelo Junior College this week. J. T. Mr. Lane received the following letter from Billie Pollock last Monday:

New Bethlehem, Pa
September 8, 1932

Dear Mr. Lane:

Just a few lines to tell you about ourselves, Geraldine and me. I'm sure you will be surprised to hear from me at such a long distance away at last.

We are now in New Bethlehem, Pa., a town of about three thousand people and a very friendly one indeed. We are in school taking five subjects, English, civics, French, physics, and plane geometry. Do you suppose we will pass them?

This place is about seventy miles northeast of Pittsburg.

This winter when I am learning to skate on ice, I will wish that you and my old school mates were with me taking a few falls.

There is a lot of hunting here, and bear season opens November 1. Will I have fun during Thanksgiving holidays? My uncle here has a camp farther north of here in the mountains, and we will probably go there during our holidays. We have more holidays here, but we go to school longer.

It is mountainous here, but the mountains are not covered with mesquites and rocks, but with trees and lots of them.

I'll stop now because I only intended writing a few lines so you will know that I still think of you every now and then.

One of your students,
Very truly yours,
Billie Pollock

P. S. Please tell the school hello for me and that I think of them quite often.

Lincoln Ancestors Strong Characters

Manship Bronze at Fort Wayne Spurs Lincoln Genealogy Research.

FORT WAYNE, IND.—Charges that Abraham Lincoln's ancestors were of "poor white" stock and that his own father was "an illiterate rover, wholly lacking in ambition," have been definitely proved false, according to Dr. Louis A. Warren, director of the Lincoln National Life Foundation here.

Paul Manship

"Most of the scurrilous attacks on the character of Lincoln's ancestors had their start in the presidential campaign of 1890," Dr. Warren explained in announcing the results of his research into Lincoln's genealogy.

"President Lincoln paid little attention to the gossips and at the time of his death had failed to trace his own lineage; but we have been working on the matter for a number of years and are rapidly clearing up the haze of uncertainty."

Seven Paternal Generations.

Dr. Warren exhibited a diagram of the Lincoln family tree showing the paternal line unbroken for seven generations and asserted that every one of the ancestors was a strong, upright character. Less is known about the maternal side of the family, but some headway is now being made in that direction and Dr. Warren hopes to show that the Banks family, too, were worthy ancestors of President Lincoln.

"Our research work on Lincoln's genealogy was accelerated," he explained, "by a sculptor's request for facts in connection with a statue of the 'Boy Lincoln' that he was commissioned to execute for the plaza of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company's building in Ft. Wayne. The statue depicts the Emancipator as a Hoosier youth of 21, an age at which no picture of Lincoln exists. The sculptor, Paul Manship, decided that merely to erase the lines from the face of the mature Lincoln would fail to portray the boy as he really was. He desired to know something about his ancestors, especially his own father and mother, in order to arrive at a more accurate portrayal of Lincoln as a youth.

No Uncouth Frontiersman.

"With this in view, our foundation delved deeply into Lincoln lore and has succeeded in establishing many facts about Lincoln's ancestors that were hitherto unknown. Manship has now completed his statue and it is to be dedicated September 16 with Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde delivering the principal address. It depicts Lincoln as the dreamer and poet, rather than as the conventional rail splitter."

Dr. Swann, Sterling County's health officer, sent a second specimen of water to the health department for analysis. The department reported "no contamination." We appreciate the services rendered by Dr. Swann and are glad to know that the drinking water at school is free from "germs".

How to Destroy Red Ants

The common large red ant, perhaps, is the most persistent creature that lives. When they start building their home in the yard, garden or road, only death will cause them to cease their operations.

There are many ways to destroy them, but the cheapest and easiest way that the writer has found is to pour a pint of gasoline down the entrance of their den and turn a tin can over the hole. This serves to hold the gas in and kill the ants. In a few days, those of the ants left alive, will dig out. In that case, the process will have to be repeated, but if kept up, all the ants can be destroyed.

A colony of these ants pre-empted a claim in the writer's garden, and it was very necessary to get rid of them, because they destroyed all plants within a radius of ten feet of their den. Securing a piece of sheet iron about two feet square, a pint of kerosene was poured into the hole early in the morning when all the ants were at home. The square of sheet iron was fitted over the hole so as to exclude the air. Soil was heaped around the edges of the sheet iron and tamped. That was two months ago, and only one ant ever showed up, and it is supposed that it was not at home when the remedy was applied.

Bisulphide of carbon is deadly to ants, but it is too costly when kerosene or gasoline will do the work just as well.

We destroyed a colony of ants once by pouring a quantity of gasoline down the hole and then setting it on fire. Not a single ant ever came out of that hole. In doing this, one must be very careful not to get too close when the match is applied, or he will get burned.

Glasscock Is Pushing Roads

Glasscock County Commissioners Monday authorized Judge J. L. Parker to name appraisers for securing right-of-way on Highway Number 9 and for the new highway from the Sterling County line to Garden City. The surveys and plans for Number 9 are complete, and it is contemplated the right-of-way will be secured and the contract let at October 15 letting of the State Highway Commission at Austin.

Culberson Deal of the Board of City Development and Dodd Price representing the highway division of the same organization were at Garden City Tuesday conferring on prospects of getting the Highway 9 project completed. They returned at noon, hopeful that the work on this through highway would be completed soon.

The survey on the Sterling City-Garden City road lacks about six miles of being completed. The right-of-way will be secured as soon as the survey is completed. It looks now as though contract on this road may be let by the first of December, the San Angeloans report.—San Angelo Standard.

Mrs. Ralph Collins Entertains

Mrs. Ralph Collins, at her ranch home, was hostess Tuesday afternoon to her bridge Club. Roses were attractively used as floral decoration. After a series of interesting games, delicious graham cracker pie and ice tea, with rosebuds for plate favors, were served the guests.

Those present were: Mesdames E. B. Butler, Rufus Foster, Fowler McEntire, R. L. Lowe, G. T. Neal, Hal Knight, Herman Everitt, W. E. Allen, George Case, Marvin Churchill, Elliot Mendenhall, Claude Collins and Misses Prebble and Annie Lee Durham.

Miss Annie Lee and Worth Durham left today for Austin, where Miss Annie Lee will teach in the public schools of that city, while Worth will resume his studies in the law department of the University of Texas.

THEY PAID FOR THEIR CARDS

Over in Coke County last spring some candidates sent off to a cheap printing outfit and had their cards printed instead of having them printed at one of the shops in their own county. Editor Puett of The Observer promised the boys a few things, and after the election he was able to rub it in as follows:

"The election is over and all the returns are in and those boys have paid dearly for their cards and was returned to their homes, from whence they came to remain, there in quiet peace and happiness."

You may beat your home printer for a while by sending off to some Cheap John outfit to have it done. You may save 30 cts. in the run of a year by doing it, but the home printer will get you by and by.

Puett got his hog back in less than six months after those green candidates passed up his shop for Mr. Cheap John. When those candidates called on Puett to solicit his vote, he cheerfully directed them to call on Mr. C. John and maybe he would vote for them, but as for Puett, he couldn't accommodate them.

If Puett had failed to recover his hog in the election, he would have lived a hundred years just to have gotten the thrill of writing their obituaries. He would have cheerfully lied about their virtues and told the world how loyal they had been to their home industries.

Dear Mr. Bierschwale:

I got your card a few days ago. I am back in Lebanon now. I came in yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. My foot is about well now. I sure hope it doesn't give me any more trouble. The doctor at the hospital said if it started bothering me again to write him and he would take care of it.

I made my summer work o. k. and am getting ready to start on my other work. School will start the 19th. I am glad you had a big time at the summer camp. Write me again soon.

hundred millions of dollars from his intelligence. Also, Mr. Mellon is not among those that, two or three years ago, said everything that was all wrong would be all right in a very little while.

That this is a rich country, and would be happy if it only knew what to do with its wealth, how to manage, how to distribute it, you realize when you read that New York city pays its public employees one million dollars a day. That is almost as much as it cost to run the whole government of the United States in happy old days before 1914 started our national squandering debauch.

New York's taxpayers, supplying the one million dollars a day, for jobs largely political, are not happy about it. It ought to gratify them to know that they have so much money, with something left over for building repairs.
