Reclaim That Brush

Good paint brushes being scarce these days, it behooves the housewife to clean up old ones and give them better care, declares the Home Editor of Capper's Farmer, Topeka, Kan., whose advice on household matters is read by 1,250,000 farm families. Fortunately commercial preparations are available. The powder forms are perhaps easiest to use, since they are mixed with hot water in needed quantities.

Slick Chicks Find Key to Smoothness

THE time for coaching on this business of etiquette is beforehand, like right now, according to Holly Miller, whose column "Some Coaching Please" in Capper's Farmer is a popular feature among teen age boys and girls and their parents as well.

"Observe any slick chick or Beau Brummel and you'll notice the smoothness isn't done with mirrors," she writes. "It's a safe bet they've been beating the etiquette books."

"Take that oft-puzzling question of 'Who Goes First?' when youngsters step out for a snack.

"When entering a restaurant, the girl follows the waiter to the table and is seated by him," advises this Capper's Farmer authority. "If all the waiters are hiding—that gives Joe a chance to lead the procession and to seat the damsel.

"Of course a smooth pigeon never tears into a room a good 20 feet in front of her striving-hard-to-keep-up escort. He pulls the chair and she sits down from the left on the front half. Then she ups-a-daisies slightly and good old Joe slides the chair under her."

Longfellow's Famed "Wayside Inn" Adjoins School Of "Mary's Lamb"

"We meet at the Red Horse Tavern" ran the whispered word among the Minute Men at the Battle of Lexington, hard pressed for a safe gathering place at the end of their fight against heavy odds. The tavern served them well.

Longfellow Henry Wadsworth Longfellow bestowed and immortalized the tavern's famous later name with "Tales of a Wayside Inn." He wrote of it:

"As ancient is this hostelry,
As any in the land may be Built in the old Colonial day
When men lived in a grander way
With ampler hospitality."

The ancient inn was built by Samuel Howe in South Sudbury, Mass., in 1686, and belonged to his direct descendants for over two hundred years. Henry Ford bought it in 1923, and has maintained it as an inn as well as a historical place of interest ever since. The taproom, where Colonial neighbors and travelers sipped their ale in friendly comfort, has been restored to its original atmosphere, including an open fireplace where a pair of miniature Hessians serve as andirons.

On the estate today is the Redstone School House, which inspired Sara Hale to write "Mary Had a Little Lamb." The school was brought from its original grounds at Sterling, Mass., and is still in session with an attendance of sixteen pupils.

Wayside Inn, at South Sudbury, Mass.

North Concho River Soil Conservation District News

Ralph Bynum completed a system of level closed end terraces on his 120 acre field last week.

These terraces were constructed to a settled height of 15 inches above ground level and a width of 32 feet as measured from the upper to the lower borrow ditch.

The 3.8 miles of terrace comprising this system will hold all rainfall on this 120 acre field.

Adequate crop residue or in its absence emergency tillage will do much to control wind erosion in this district. Soil from several cultivated fields in Sterling County not adequately protected from blowing drifted one to two inches deep onto adjoining range land during the month of March.

Lee Reed made a number of grass plantings on his ranch last week. The object of the plantings is to determine the adaptability of such grasses as yellow bluestem, african love grass, and slender grama to this area.

N.H. Reed finished 1600 lambs this winter and sold them on the Ft. Worth market for 15 20c. The pay weight averaged 86 pounds

Lions Hear About Soil Program

E. J. Hughes of the Soil Conservation gave a history and outline of the soil conservation program to the Sterling Lions Club at their Wednesday luncheon.

Guests included S-Sergeant J. W. Nixon, Hughes, and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Henley. Henry J. Henley, their son, was killed in action in the Italian campaign on November 6, 1943.

Mmes. Ed. Lovelace and Roy Foster served a hearty luncheon to the club members and the guests.

per lamb.

The lambs were fed ensilage which was placed in trench silos in 1940 at a cost of $4.00 per ton including cost of digging the trench. Ground maize heads and cotton seed meal were mixed with the ensilage to balance the ration.

The total cost of feed and labor was 2.70c per pound of finished lamb.

The feed reserve was marketed at a profitable price and the lambs were removed from the range to prevent overuse following a dry growing season.

Stick-to-Your-Ribs Dish Is Appetizing

Frankfurter farina dumplings with sauerkraut, pictured above, is a good down-to-earth, stick-to-your-ribs main dish, says the Country Cooking editor of Capper's Farmer, a publication of national circulation.

This dish has lots of what it takes, including vitamins in the fortified margarine and enriched farina. When buying cereals, margarine and other foods which are available with vitamins added, be sure to check that those you get are the enriched ones, advises the Capper's Farmer expert.

- Dumplings with Sauerkraut
- | | |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------|
| 1 1/2 cups self-rising cake flour | 3 frankfurters |
| 1/2 cup enriched farina | 1 quart sauerkraut |
| 2 tablespoons fortified margarine | 1 cup water |
| 3/4 cup milk | 1 large onion |
| | 6 to 8 cloves |

Sift and measure flour. Stir in farina. Cut in margarine and add milk. Mix lightly with a fork. Slice frankfurters in 1/2-inch slices. Add to dumplings, saving a few pieces to garnish top. Place sauerkraut in a large skillet with cover to fit. Add water and onion in which cloves have been stuck. Bring to a boil. Drop dumplings by tablespoonfuls on sauerkraut. Garnish with pieces of frankfurter. Cover closely. Steam without removing cover 20 to 25 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Praise the Lord We Ain't Agoin' Fishin'"

Willie Wells was always fond of fishing. Now he writes from somewhere overseas:

"There's a song the fellers sing, goes: 'Praise the Lord, we ain't a-goin' fishin'--and I guess it's so. But you know, dad, sometimes I sure wish I were back fishing for trout in Seward's Creek again."

And I guess that's the way all our soldiers feel. They're fighting a war--and they mean to fight it to a finish--till they can come home to the little pleasures that they've missed so much--the sweet feel of a trout rod... a pleasant glass of beer with friends... the smell of Mom's fresh baking from the kitchen...

From where I sit, we folks at home have an important obligation--to keep intact the little things that they look forward to... from the trout rod waiting in the corner to the beer that's cooling in the ice box. Don't you agree?

Cecil H. Barnes Candidate for Representative
Angelo Attorney
Seeks Election so
Summer's Post

Cecil H. Barnes, practicing attorney in San Angelo for more than 40 years, has announced his candidacy for state representative of the 1st Legislative District. The district embraces Tom Green, Sterling, Howard, Glasscock, Reagan and Irion Counties.

Mr. Barnes, who is 43, is married and has three children. He is a county school trustee and Sunday school superintendent and member of the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church, San Angelo.

In a statement Mr. Barnes said: "Last year I was a candidate for representative of the 91st Legislative District in a special election called for the purpose of filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Dorsey B. Hardeman. This election was not a Democratic primary, nor was it an election where the election was made under the majority rule. There was no run-off.

"The present incumbent took office under a plurality of only 159 votes in the final count, out of some 3,127 votes, even a small plurality. There were four in this race, including two other valuable and worthy citizens of our district. The three losers polled a large majority of the votes. The incumbent lacked 30 votes of having a majority.

"Therefore, many of my friends believe that the people of the district are entitled to make a choice in a Democratic primary in a manner consonant with the sound principles of majority rule. I have been urged to announce and I am personally inclined to do so.

"This office is a gift in the hands of the electorate, and it carries a high degree of trust. In private life and professional practice, I know and believe that is never good to betray a trust. If I am chosen as your representative, the demand for straight dealing will be no less than a challenge.

"This challenge I will accept, and in return for the public trust reposed in me I will be honor bound to give the office all of the character and ability that I possess as my contribution to good government.

"I have many definite commitments to make, but no wild promises incapable of fulfillment. A platform is no stronger than its foundation. I must stand on my record regardless of promises.

"The war is foremost in our minds. I here admit that I am not a military strategist. Therefore, I pledge not to meddle with the well-thought-out plans of those who are entrusted with actual conduct of the war. I will cooperate at all proper times to win a permanent peace.

"I list below some of my intentions:

"I firmly believe in the principle of government by the people. I will support all legislation tending to return to the people their constitutional right of self government, much of which is now denied them due to the crisis of war. Government by decree must never be allowed to become engrained in the permanent fabric of our laws.

"Government economy must cease to be a campaign shibboleth. I pledge to make it an abiding principle to relieve the people of the heavy burden of taxation, even though it means a loss of some political jobs to the few for the benefit of the many. Pork barrel politics must go out.

"As your representative, I shall always respect the rights of minorities, and protect the weak and help less against the unjust exploitation of ruthless power politics. Old people whose rights were not protected in the past must be given justice now. Their pensions are now their constitutional right. Our present policy must be to always provide work for all, real jobs, in order to give individuals a fair chance to provide for their own security and attain that degree of self-respect that is the right of every man.

"More money should be taken from less-worthy projects and spent in public education. Illiteracy must be abolished among all classes of people as it is an enemy of democracy. I believe teaching to be as high as any profession, and good teachers who are willing to dedicate years of their life to this work should be paid in a degree to guarantee high living standards and eventual security in retirement.

Greetings to Sterling City and to the Citizens, Both Old and New!

After nearly seven years leave of absence in travel, research work and study, am now returning to be a permanent resident in Sterling City.

My husband, W.Y. Bengé, and my son, W.Y. Junior, who have been located in Sterling County since 1919, are back in their old location on the corner in the market and grocery business. They are better equipped and more willing than ever to extend their old-time "Service with a Smile" to their beloved public.

We will appreciate the patronage of the old-timers and new-comers alike.

Edgar A. Guest's poem, "It Takes a Heap of Living in a House to Make It Home" applies to a town as well. "You've gotta go down in the depths to their disgrace, take them by the hand and tow them to the surface, close the eyes of their dead, and welcome their new-born, mourn with them and rejoice with them."

Most of you will recognize me as Sterling City's expression teacher in the early 20's. I am here again with the same helpful, willing spirit to help in mental, moral, or physical troubles—always guided by the Book of Life—and death—the Bible—It tells us that God is a Man of War--The war from which there is no discharge, the eternal battle between right and wrong—So don't ask "Is this war a right or wrong one?" We're in it. Our business is to make the fight a strong one; for there's something in a flag and a little burnished eagle that is more than emblematic. It is glorious—it is regal.

Seniors Observe Kid Day

On Friday,
 March 31st

The Seniors of 1944 observed the traditional Kid Day, Friday, March 31. The girls came to school dressed in pinafores and wearing hair ribbons in their pigtails. The boys wore knee trousers and bright colored shirts. Both boys and girls carried their favorite toys to class.

In the afternoon the seniors presented an assembly program in keeping with the Kid Day celebration. They played several rhythm band numbers under the directorship of Charley Brooks. Sue Everitt and Jerrie Snead gave a tap dance. A reading was presented by June Augustine and Neal J. Reed. The class will be read by June Augustine.

After the assembly program, the the seniors were dismissed for the day.

The climax of the day was a barbecue given at 7:00 p. m. by J.C. Littlefield in the Boy Scout Park.

After the barbecue all the seniors went to the show.

Look Out!

By Gadabout

Last week found all the seniors making preparations for Kid Day. When Friday finally came, we had more fun than we expected. What's more we enjoyed a goat Bar B Q with all the trimmings given by Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield. We really enjoyed the picture show. Since we were typical kids, we paid the price of 15c for a double feature. All in all, we had a grand time.

Saturday night the usual high school students were fooling around. I don't know exactly who because I was out of town.

Fred and Paula Sue were telling secrets Sunday night. They just insist on talking in low voices.

Charley and Alma are still watching the post office. Could be they are looking for a letter.

Frances and Mac are still keeping company. Friday night found Frances in a kid costume dating him.

Jerrie and Jack, our senior couple, are seen together learning the parts for the play.

John Lancaster is leaving Tuesday afternoon. We have really enjoyed having him with us these two weeks.

I'm leaving my gossip column now—but just wait 'til next week.

P.S. Don't forget the senior play, "Sulphur and Molasses" Friday night, April 7 at 8:30 o'clock. Prices are 15c, 25c and 35c. Be there!

Sophs Honor Wilburn Lindsay

Wilburn Lindsay was honored with a party by the sophomore class in the gym last week. Wilburn has now left for San Angelo to make his home.

The sophomores and their guests enjoyed an evening of games and dancing. The seniors were guests after play practice.

Room mothers present at the affair were Mrs. H. F. Donalson, Mrs. J. L. Snead, Mrs. Ray Mathis, Mrs. Ralph Bynum and Mrs. J. T. Hinshaw.

Sandwiches, potato chips and cokes were served.

New Steel Beauties on the Santa Fe

There isn't yet the ceremony in taking delivery of a new locomotive that there is in christening a ship.

But, just the same, it's a great occasion on the Santa Fe when we receive those super-powered, high-speed locomotives so badly needed today.

For every new one means "rolling" more and longer freight trains loaded with war matériel, and more trains operated for the increasing troop movements.

The three locomotives shown above are among the first delivered of the big fleet of powerful locomotives ordered by Santa Fe. And more are coming!

★ Locomotives illustrated above—new "4-8-4" steam locomotive, "2900 class"; 5400-horsepower freight Diesel; "2-10-4" steam locomotive, "5001 class." You can bet your driving wheels they'll pull a lot of freight cars fast!
