A western play, the comedy was in three acts, all in the lobby of the "Roaring Dog" hotel in the town of Smith's Pocket, a mining town.

Other students in the play were Jimmy Lindsey, Billy Bynum, Richard Willis, Duard Grosshans, LeVerne King, Helen Lawson, Richard Foster, Fern Garrett and Reita Faye Reed.

The hostess were Mrs. Tommie Johnson, Mrs. Hubert Williams, Mrs. J. S. Augustine, Jr., Mrs. Worth B. Durham, Mrs. G. C. Murrell, Mrs. Jesse Q. Foster, and Mrs. Martin C. Reed.

Greeting the guests at the door were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. R. A. Garrett, and the hostesses. Mrs. Reed poured tea the first hour, alternating with Mrs. Robert Foster, sister of Mrs. Revell, the second hour. Mrs. Foster presided at the guest register. Piano selections were played during the tea hours by Mrs. Johnson.

Pink and blue colors were carried out in the napkins and the floral centerpiece at the tea table. About 75 guests called.

Thursday night was skipped because of the junior class play, M'Liss My Western Miss.

The dining room adjacent to the gym will be open during all tournament hours. The junior and senior classes are handling the concessions.

Eight miniature trophies will be given to the members of the winning team. The second and third place teams will receive awards. There will be gold basketballs for the members of the all-tournament team. A special award will be given both the outstanding player and the best sport in the tournament.

CUMBIE-GARRETT WEDDING TO BE HELD TONIGHT IN BRONTE

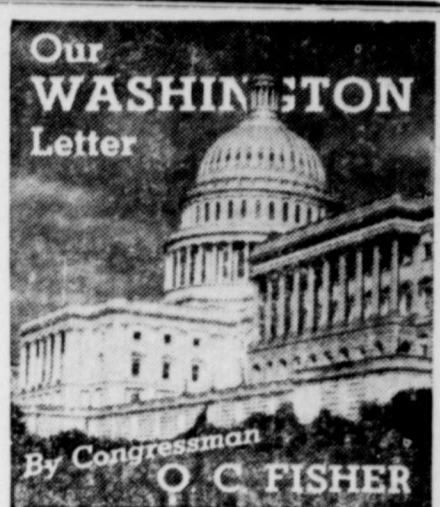

Mary Beth Cumbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Cumbie of Bronte, will become the bride of Richmond D. Garrett tonight at a wedding ceremony in the home of the bride's parents in Bronte. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Garrett of Sterling City.

The couple will make their home in Robert Lee where R. D. is employed by the Permian Oil Co.

Mrs. Vernon Gibson, daughter of Mrs. Sue Knight, recently underwent an operation in the Shannon hospital in San Angelo for appendicitis. She was released from the hospital last week, and recovered nicely.

The Owen Armstrongs have moved to Water Valley where Owen is operating the Texaco service station.

Anyone who doubts the decisive role air power will play in any future war would have been disillusioned at the air show held at nearby Andrews Field last week.

Before an audience which included President Truman, members of the cabinet, and members of the House and Senate Armed Service Committee, the Army Air Forces put on the biggest show of its kind ever held.

It was a parade of power and speed, featuring the jet driven B-47 which streaks along at nearly the speed of sound—more than 600 miles per hour. (The speed of sound at sea level is 760 miles an hour.) The F-86, holder of the official world's speed record 670 MPH—was shown, as were a half dozen other jet models.

The exhibit also included the Air Force's two biggest bombers, the B-36 with the longest range and greatest speed load capacity of any bomber in the world, and the YB-49 eight-jet bomber, making its first flight to the eastern seaboard for this review. A formation of B-29's, which bombed Tokyo and dropped the two atomic bombs flew in from a base in South Dakota. This plane is now considered obsolescent and is being replaced by the faster, longer-range B-36s and B-50s.

The show reminded us of the importance of long-range planning for future air plane progress. Every plane that was used in the recent war was on the drawing boards before Pearl Harbor. The B-29, for example, which went in to large scale production and was first used in 1944, was begun in 1937.

Now, less than four years after the war's end, every plane used during World War II is today considered out of date.

The B-36, manufactured only at Ft. Worth, is a favorite of Secretary of Air Stuart Symington. It can fly well above 40,000 feet. At this altitude, because of the rarity of the atmosphere, any fighter developed to date maneuvers only with great difficulty, and therefore becomes an excellent target for the defensive guns of any bomber.

It is significant that the B-36, equipped with heavy cannon, is by far the most heavily armed bomber yet known.

The B-36 is capable of flying 10,000 miles with a 10,000 pound bomb load. Over a shorter distance it recently carried two 21 ton bombs—a total load of 84,000 pounds!

All of which illustrates clearly that only by making provision now for future aircraft development can we purchase that time so priceless if any aggressor should attack the United States.

With that in mind, our Armed Services Committee, of which I am a member, is pressing for the earliest possible accomplishment of a 70-Group Air Force, along with an ever-expanding research and development. There must, of course, be a well-balanced ground force and Navy. But in this jet-propelled atomic age increasing importance is being attached to our air power.

Without a doubt, the greatest deterrent to any possible future war lies in the maintenance of a military structure capable of instant and devastating retaliatory action against any possible aggressor.

SOAKING RAINS BENEFIT RANGES

Soaking rains of an inch and up fell here Tuesday afternoon and night, benefitting ranges and assuring ranchers of spring grass and weeds. The rainfall measured an inch here in town and was heavier east and northeast.

The rains fell northwest to almost Big Spring. Southward, rain fell as far as Del Rio, who received more than five inches, causing the Rio Grande to rise.

Hits High Prices

Declaring that everyone is talking about rising prices but doing nothing about it, A. M. Perlman, one of the nation's biggest converters of printed rayon fabrics, today announced his intention of keeping the American woman well dressed without raising his prices or lowering quality. President of A. M. Perlman, Inc., and known as the "Prince of Prints," Mr. Perlman stated that despite extra costs his firm will absorb any loss in the undertaking. "It is good business," he maintains, "to create conditions whereby a woman can buy two dresses instead of one. A start has to be made somewhere—I hope this is it."

Claude Collins, Jr. has built one mile of road on his ranch east of Sterling City. Thirty four road diversions were built along the borrow ditches to turn runoff water onto range land.

J. L. Parker of Garden City completed his system of road blocks last week. There were thirty-nine in all.

Ralph Collins has rested a trap on his ranch east of Sterling City for the past four years. Most of the area is near a windmill and was rather short at the beginning of the rest period. Soil on the hillside is darker color than hill soil across the fence in a pasture grazed yearlong. This dark color is decayed plant material on the ground and mature grasses still standing. Everywhere the soil shows improved condition and increased organic matter. On many areas sideotagrams has already come back to form a high percentage of the grass cover. This range has shown marked improvements during an extreme drought.

Foster S. Price told the Veteran's class last Thursday night that improvement of our ranges is important in production of wool and meat in competition with Argentina, Australia, and other foreign countries. He pointed out that early history of the North Concho River Country was proof that ranges were once capable of supporting many more livestock than can be grazed today. He pointed out that the interest that ranchers are showing in soil and moisture conservation and stressed the democratic principles of the North Concho River Soil Conservation District.

E. J. Hughes, Soil Conservation Service, reviewed history of the soil conservation district movement in the United States and Texas. He emphasized that the district is a landowner organization actually operated by resident landowners actively engaged in farming or ranching.

A. T. Bratton discussed identification and value of 30 common grasses and 10 important weeds Monday night. The Veteran's class made a tour of Foster & Hildebrand's River Ranch Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Myrtle Raney fell out of a bunk bed at her trailer house on Tuesday night. Her glasses were broken in the fall and she suffered a cut on the bridge of her nose. Bruises and glass fragments in her eye completed the injuries. She had the glass fragments removed at the Big Spring hospital that night.

Little George McEntire said he was checking back on the Constellation plane that was hit in mid-air last week near New York by a smaller plane, and he had flown that same plane in his days with the company in California. The two men in the smaller plane were killed and the big plane landed safely with all aboard.

While still on the beam, Little George said that during the war when canned vegetables were hard to get, he ordered canned corn and somehow got several cases. In fact, he got so much, he is still eating on that corn.

Still with the McEntires—George (Sr.) says the Soil Conservation Service boys here have changed the names of all the grasses and weeds around here and his cattle are so mixed up that they won't eat any of them now.

Everybody that sees the new American Legion Hut here is impressed very much. Quite a few good comments from strangers and locals alike. The Legion here is determined to be an asset to the community as a whole and they are succeeding admirably.

Let's put Sterling County over the top FIRST in the Red Cross Drive.

The donkeys at the donkey basket ball game last Saturday night seemed to have won the game. Especially one of them.

The people over at Bronte in Coke County think they may have another Kilgore, with oil wells all over town. It seems like it won't be long till those rabbit wisters can all turn to a diet of prime beef, and to heck with the jack rabbits.

The Rev. J. D. McWhorter, former Methodist pastor here, is now at the home of his son, J. D. McWhorter, Jr. Rev. McWhorter, now retired, has been at the home of a son-in-law and daughter, the Jeff Deans' in Coke County. Dean is County judge of Coke County.

We knew Bro. McWhorter over at Mertzton. He was the pastor at the Methodist Church there when we moved to Mertzton to run the Mertzton paper. The Mertzton paper was once owned by Tom Kellis, brother of Uncle Bill Kellis, who founded this paper.

Any way, every other Sunday, we would attend Bro. McWhorter's Methodist Church for preaching, as all the churches there were halftime. The Baptists would go to the Methodist church on their off Sunday and vice versa. (That is, except when we would stray off down to the Christian Church to hear Rev. Richie Davis.)

Bro. Mac has gained eight lbs. in the week he has been here. It must be the good old Sterling atmosphere.

Doc Swann, the popular Doc, is spear-heading the National Heart Association drive here for funds this year. The drive is raising money principally (this year) for education and to acquaint the public with its set-up. A plastic heart is in the lobby of the Deal Drug Co. and there you may make your donation. No high pressure drive is to be made. On the committee with Swann are Mrs. Joe Emery, Mrs. Martin Reed, and Mrs. Fred Allen.

You won't be asked to give, but will you drop your donation in the plastic heart in the drug store and so help Doc turn in a good report?

The pigs at the boys stock show got awfully hot in the sun last Saturday afternoon. One of the boys said, "Do you think my pig is going to die?" The boys made some canopies of sacks and shaded them, which helped some.

'49 is promising to be a good wet year, following several years of extended drouth. (The federal government agencies call it drought). Any way you say it, it is hard to take in West Texas. Around three inches of moisture already makes everyone feel better.

Taylor Garrett, who sold his grocery store stock to H. A. Chapple this week, does not know just what he is going to do now. He says even his wife doesn't know what he is going to do.

We somehow thought that eagles, being the official national bird, was protected by national law. But then, Doug Farnsworth can tell you (Ed Lovelace, too) that even bats are protected by law.

Doug Farnsworth once left his pipe accidentally at the drug store. Deal tied the pipe with a strong string to the furniture (so it would not get away) and called Doug about it.

What a pipe!
About a month and a half ago we almost sawed off the end of the fore finger of our right hand. It healed up and is all back—but

Model Child's Room Increases Play Opportunity In Limited Space

By BETTY BARCLAY

No matter how limited your living quarters may be, it's of vital importance to provide the children with a place to play and easily accessible shelves and cupboards where they can store their toys. This advice to parents comes from Dr. Grace Langdon, Child Development Adviser of the American Toy Institute. "Children learn best through their play activities," says Dr. Langdon. "Toys are essential tools of all around development; a variety of playthings is needed for use every day to help children make the most of their capabilities." To provide maximum play opportunities and toy storage facilities in limited space, Joseph Aronson, noted architect, designed the model low-cost playroom illustrated for the American Toy Institute. Novel features which increase play value and are adaptable to any child's room, include raised play areas, a two-way staircase on which a slide can be installed, a new kind of fold-away table for a model railroad backed by shelves where rolling stock can be kept, and multi-shaped storage facilities for more than 100 toys. Plans for building this model playroom can be obtained free of charge from the American Toy Institute, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York 10, N. Y.

we went so long without using it, that now we just keep on protecting it—and not using it for anything. We do work the hound out of the other three on the hand however.

Once we knew an old printer who would not call a man a liar. BUT he would say to the liar, "you are soaring on the wings of fancy, far beyond the realms of well-substantiated truth."

That same printer would not cuss when he accidentally knocked over "pied" a bunch of type. He would just say "that's one of the perverse characteristics of inanimate objects. (That's what we say, too.)"

Sterling's oil boom didn't make too much of a change here. Some oil man said that Sterling City was the only town he ever knew that had an oil boom before they actually got oil.

After reading "Death Be Not Proud" by John Gunther, we wonder if the title should read "Death, Be Not Proud" with death personified. Perhaps not.

William Allen White, the news paper sage of Emporia, Kansas, always referred to "ladies" in his newspaper as those who had figured in the court news. Never did he use the term "ladies" when referring to local women's activities of any kind.

He said his reason was that on so many occasions, when in the court news, he called them women, they would come to his office and stoutly defend their title of "lady".

Paging Diogenes!! Last summer, in July, when the flood stage put the North Concho on a rise, some local boys were going to try to get in a boat and come from the Garden City road crossing bridge and come all the way into Sterling City. The mission ended in failure. Especially did it end in failure for one of them. Harry Gann lost his billfold with $102, drivers license, etc. in it.

Well sir, Wednesday of this week a fellow found that billfold near the bridge. Dan Teague, with the Grappe-Denton Drilling Co., was fishing near the bridge and found Harry's billfold. $90 of the money was in checks. $12 was in cash. Teague returned the billfold, and Harry says the writing on the checks is still readable, and the money and drivers license are O. K. Though somewhat damp, everything was all right.

Now, you tell one! This one was told to me. The other boys in the ill-fated boat trip were Dale Hall and Richard Abernathy.

SWING OF SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

By United States Department of Agriculture

(USDA)—Most southwest farm products held about steady to strong during the past week, but some easy spots appeared, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Sorghums advanced 10 cents a hundred for the week, but other grains lost 1 to 3 cents a bushel. No. 1 hard wheat closed Monday at $2.38 to $2.43 in bulk carlots at Texas common points. No. 2 white corn sold around $1.66, yellow corn $1.52, barley $1.44½, and milo $2.67 to $2.72. Oats ranged from 91½ to 96¼ cents.

Warm weather in consuming centers slowed demand for rice during the past week, but prices remained unchanged. Higher prices reflected strength in the grain markets. Slackened demand for middle grade hay brought lower quotations.

Southwest cattle prices ranged largely from 50 cents to $2 above a week earlier, although some classes showed little change. Houston moved cutter cows at $15 Monday. Canners and cutters brought $12 to $16 at San Antonio, $11 to $16 at Fort Worth, $13 to $16 at Oklahoma City, and $14 to $15.50 at Denver.

Wide fluctuations during the week left hog prices $2 higher after Monday's trading at San Antonio, and around 50 cents higher at most other markets. Top butchers reached $20.25 at San Antonio, $20 at Fort Worth, $20.50 at Oklahoma City, and $21.25 at Denver. Best pigs sold around $16 to $16.50.

Lambs gained $1 to $2 for the week, and ewes changed little. San Antonio bought common and medium fresh shorn lambs at $17. Ft. Worth took medium and good grades at $21. Top slaughter lambs reached $23.50 at Oklahoma City.

Receipts of cattle, calves and hogs last week dropped well below the week before, although sheep increased. Dressed beef, lamb and pork remained strong as trade opened in New York and Chicago Monday. Gains for the week ranged from $3 to $6. Veal and calf dropped $1 to $6 since last Monday, depending on weight and grade.

Eggs held about steady at 37c to 38c a dozen in Denver and 40 to 45 elsewhere in the southwest for current receipts. Fryers weakened further, but other poultry changed little. Fryers brought 28 to 30 cents a pound in North Texas, 30 to 31 at New Orleans, 30 to 35 at Denver, and 26 to 27 at Arkansas farms.

South Texas processing plants still tried to use as much as possible of the freeze-ripened citrus fruits. Light demand at terminal markets slowed shipments. Cabbage and carrot loadings declined in quantity and quality. Topped beets and turnips found little demand. Spinach shipments increased at weaker prices. Onion and potato prices eased in Colorado. Louisiana sweet potatoes held steady. Shelled peanuts showed slight strength. Wool contracting stalled in Texas.

Cotton advanced 50 cents to $1.50 a bale for the week. Spot middling 15/16 inch closed Monday at 32.55 at Dallas, 32.60 at New Orleans, and 32.65 at Houston.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How's Your Listening Time?

Buck Howell and I were in Balleville last week. Dropped in at Bob's diner where some friends were sitting around talking about whether to sell hogs now or wait.

Buck plunges right into the discussion. He's lecturing away when suddenly they all stand up and start stomping their feet like it was an Indian war dance.

I'm flabbergasted. But Buck only looked sheepish and explains, "Guess I was talking again, when I should-of been listening. When a person's talking time gets out of line with his listening time around here, the gang reminds him by standing up and stomping."

From where I sit, that's a good system. Everyone has a right to his opinions—but others have a right to theirs, too—whether it's deciding between to sell or not to sell, apple pie or cherry pie, or a glass of mellow beer or cider. Life's more interesting that way, and hang it if you don't sometimes learn something!

Chapple Buys Out Garrett Grocery

H. A. Chapple, local grocer, bought out Taylor Garrett's Grocery stock here the first of the week and moved it to his store.

Chapple, who has been in the grocery business here for three years, now occupies all of the Longshore building just north of the State Hotel. He bought out the W. P. Meyer Grocery store when he opened in the town. Last year he bought out the stock of his brother-in-law, J. E. Bachelor, a San Angelo grocer. Now he has bought out the Garrett Grocery.

Taylor Garrett had operated the store for a little over seven months. Garrett had bought out G. C. Murrell. Taylor said he did not know just what he was going to do yet. He expressed his appreciation for the business he had enjoyed while he operated the store.

"Covering the County"

By Byron W. Frierson, Sterling County Agent

The lambs which were shown in the show last week averaged 106 pounds. The ration which the boys used in fattening the lambs consisted of maize, oats, cottonseed meal, alfalfa hay, and salt. Sulphur was added at the rate of about 1/2 pound per lamb per month. No serious illness appeared in the lambs except of one case of urinary calculi. The lamb was slaughtered when the trouble was determined. Calculi stops the flow of urine and eventually will cause the bladder to burst.

Henry Bliznak's grand champion lamb weighed 118 pounds. The reserve champion lamb weighed 109. Champion pen of three lambs averaged 109. Harry Blaneck was the big money winner with $27.00 in prizes.

The 4-H club owes its thanks to almost everyone in town for assisting in some manner or other with the show. This assistance was sincerely appreciated. J. D. Reeves has offered to move the boys stock to San Angelo free of charge. This will be a big help.

Ray Baumgardner returned to Fort Stockton Saturday after a successful hunt. Either 18 or 19 eagles were killed, mostly in the south part of the county. Charlie Speck figures eagles at 1 lamb per day per eagle. There are still some eagles left in the county. If every rancher kept a gun handy during feeding, it is a good bet that some more could be accounted for.

Clyde Reynolds ran a couple of coyotes on Lester Foster's north pasture Saturday. Clyde is getting a trapper from Glasscock County to try to get them.

The 4-H Club livestock that is going to be shown in San Angelo will be loaded out at the feeding barn at 4 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, March 1. Livestock will be sold the following day, March 2, at San Angelo. The breeding sheep will show on Thursday, fat lambs on Friday, and fat pigs on Saturday. The boys sale will start at 9:30 a. m. March 7.

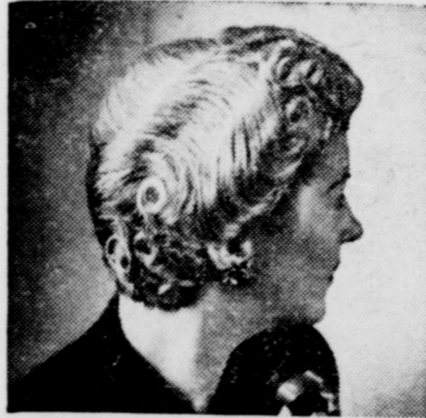

Continue planting trees and shrubs the rest of this month. January and February are the best months.

If you like quail and like to hunt them, don't take those unwanted cats to the country and turn them loose. They are quails worst enemy. Next time you are driving at night watch for their eyes along the road. Bet you will be surprised how often you find them.

It is a good thing the players had jerseys on at that burro ball game the other night. That little mule made several riders look a lot like the mounts, otherwise.
