THE AMERICAN WAY

The Fatal Consequence

AROUND THE COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

Reynolds and Ross Foster applied anhydrous ammonia to their irrigated maize this week. Anhydrous ammonia is one of the many forms of nitrogen fertilizer being used today in the farming areas of the state. It is applied to the crops with a special machine which is rented from the fertilizer dealer.

The machine consists of a tank which holds the gaseous form of the ammonia and a number of chisel-like teeth with tubes. These teeth run about six or eight inches deep in the ground and the ammonia is released through a tube into the soil on the sides of the rows. The entire outfit is pulled by a farm tractor.

This form of nitrogen is one of the cheapest available now. The only disadvantage is the fact that where other plant nutrients such as phosphorous or potash are needed, they must be applied in some other form as the two are not available in the gas form.

Lester, William and Bubba Foster aerial sprayed several hundred acres of mesquite last week on their river country east of town. Bill and Lee Reed sprayed some on some of their country also.

Some of the mesquite is ready for spraying now while some of it is not quite ready. Recommendations call for the mesquite to have been leafed out from 40 to 90 days and be a dark green color. Some of the mesquite in the low areas was burned by the late frost and the leaves are not developed enough at this time to make spraying advisable. If sprayed before the leaves have reached maturity, the oil in the spray will cause a severe leaf burn but the herbicide will not be translocated to the roots and a poor kill will result.

Aerial spraying of mesquite is one means of controlling the range pest which each year robs 55 million acres of Texas range land of valuable moisture and plant nutrients. Presently the cost of aerial spraying of mesquite is running around $2.50 per acre; this cost may appear high at first, especially on leased land, but if the rancher will figure it on the basis of several years, the cost is reduced. Any type of control program is going to have to be repeated in several years. Ordinarily it should be figured on lasting from five to seven years before having to be repeated. On this basis, the per acre cost per year is reduced to about 50 cents, which might be considered a maintenance cost much the same as maintenance on the fences or farm vehicles is considered.

Now is the time to spray prickly pear with 2,4,5-T if you are bothered with this range pest, which like mesquite, saps moisture and plant nutrients from the soil. June through September are the recommended months for this type control of prickly pear and tasajillo.

Both prickly pear and tasajillo should be sprayed with a mixture of 2,4,5-T and diesel oil or kerosene mixed at the rate of 8 pounds of 2,4,5-T to 100 gallons of diesel or kerosene. This should be applied with either a power sprayer capable of being reduced to less than 40 lbs. pressure or a knapsack sprayer. The entire plant, pads, stems and trunks, should be sprayed to the point of a slight runoff at less than 40 pounds of pressure.

At the present, this is the only recommended method of controlling pear by spraying. Aerial spraying has not been effective because it is not possible to get enough of the herbicide on the pear. Several chemical companies are experimenting with this type of treatment but it has not reached the point where it can be considered effective.

DAVID READ

David Read Named 101st Representative

David Read of Big Spring was elected or nominated for the post of State Representative 101st district in the Democratic run-off primary last Saturday. Sterling County was the only county that did not give Read the top spot in his race with Angy Glenn of Big Spring.

Only fifty-two voters went to the polls. Glenn got 30 of the votes and Read got 22 in this county.

In the run-off between the incumbent Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Lloyd W. Davidson got 27 votes to his opponent (W. T. McDonald) 24 here in this county. Statewide McDonald unseated Davidson for the post.

All balloting was consolidated in one box—at the courthouse. O. T. Jones was the judge.

Rabies Shots for Pets Here Next Tuesday

The spring rabies shot clinic for all pets will be held Tuesday, June 14 between the hours of 4:00 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Dr. Percy Turner, veterinarian from Water Valley, will give the shots on the west side of the courthouse square.

All pets, dogs or cats, that had rabies shots last year in May should have their shots renewed at this time. The shots are effective for about one year on all animals that are over six months of age when the shots are given. Animals that are less than six months of age should be given the shots but they are effective only for about six months on these younger animals.

These shots are the only preventative for rabies. Once an animal has contacted rabies there is no cure. Wild animals such as fox, skunks, coons and others are the main carriers of rabies. Skunks are one of the biggest reservoirs of the dread disease. Presently there are quite a few skunks in the county, some of which are probably carriers of rabies.

Bring your pets in Tuesday evening and have them given the shots if they have not already had them in the last year. Protect your family and your community by having your pets immunized. Last year one person took the rabies shots after being scratched by a rabid cat. Let's try to prevent this type of thing from happening again as it has each year for the last several years. The protection is well worth the $2.50 the shots cost.

June 12 is the deadline for making your reservations for the 1960 Sterling Alumni Association meeting. The deadline date was stressed by the president, Mrs. I. W. Terry, this week. She needs to know so all arrangements can be completed.

The association will have a dinner and business meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Town and Country Club, San Angelo on June 18. Cost is $2.50 per plate.

A dance follows that will cost $3.00 per couple.

BANNER DAY AT BAYTOWN — Employees at Humble Oil & Refining Company's Baytown Refinery raise a flag in formal opening of the company's Polyolefin Unit — newest addition to Texas' growing petrochemical industry. The plant has an annual production capacity of 40,000,000 pounds of polypropylene, a new petroleum-based plastic of unusual qualities. Polypropylene, to be marketed by Humble as Escon, is light and water-resistant enough to make ropes that float, tough enough for dinnerware and machine parts, so resilient products made of it can be bent double without breaking, and it is resistant to heat, chemicals, oils and greases.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Ripe For the Picking

Decorator's Digest James P. Erdman, A.I.D.

Is it old,

or is it new?

It really makes no difference, as long as it is beautiful. Real beauty is not dependent on the limitations of time. It is a factor in itself, to be enjoyed and appreciated and cherished because of its own individual merit.

The elegant storage cabinet pictured above is a combination of old and new elements, blended together by one of America's talented designers in a handsome, timeless, creation. Antiques of another era, combined with today's fine hardwoods, have been superbly crafted into one of the antiques of tomorrow.

Cabinet doors were collected in Japan, where they originated as hand-carved hardwood panels used in the ageless art of book-binding. Recognizing the beauty and artistic quality of these book-plates, the designer incorporated them into a fine, contemporary storage unit. The wood used in the antique panels dictated the use of solid walnut and matched walnut veneers for the remaining parts of the cabinet. The overall effect could not have been obtained, except through the use of this fine cabinet wood to compliment the artistry of another time, another place.

Function plays an important part in the design quality of this superb example of American craftsmanship. It contains storage space for china and linens, and has tarnish-proof silver drawers. It provides space to display cherished bric-a-brac, and a generous surface for serving that extra-special buffet supper or luncheon. The character of this storage unit will enhance the charm of either a contemporary or traditional setting. It will become the focal point of any furniture grouping, in whichever room you choose.

A fine possession such as this can be considered an investment. It represents the thinking of America—the skill of the past, combined with the knowledge of the present, to establish the heritage of the future. There is no substitute for the quality shown in good design, using fine woods, and meticulous craftsmanship.

Let's Go Fishin'

BY BUCK ROGERS

People and fish have a lot in common.

This fact becomes evident when you glance around your town, and note people's habits. On the hot afternoons you'll find them in the air-conditioned buildings, huddled around a whirling fan, or hunkered in the shade. Only the foolish youngsters will be dashing about in the sun.

But, in the evenings things begin to happen. People move out into their backyards to barbecue the evening meal, they flock to the drive-in movie, or they catch up on the little chores that must be done around house and yard.

Despite their many differences, fish have approximately the same hot-weather habits that people do. Because they have no eyelids, the bright sunshine hurts their eyes. So they retire to deep water or the shade of an undercut bank during the heat of the day. If a lake is spring fed, they'll congregate around these cooler spots.

In the early morning or evening, they begin to move around, too. These are the times game fish are on the prowl for food, and it's the time you should be out on the water with a fishing rod in your hand.

Most anglers know this, but I thought you'd like to know why.

Thinking like a fish isn't difficult after all.

Do-It-Yourself Float Trip
If you own an outboard motor, I suggest you try your hand at a backyard float fishing trip.

Select your stream first. Pick one which has enough water to float you, and one that has a minimum of shoals or riffles. In all probability, you can find such a stream close to your home.

Then, gather your equipment together. You'll need a boat, preferably a large canoe or "John" type boat, a matching outboard, paddles, sleeping and cooking equipment, and a supply of food. At this season, you'll also need a cooler full of ice. And, don't forget your fishing tackle.

If a weekend is all the time you have, select a campsite that can be reached by road, and put your boat in the water Friday evening. Do your camp chores before dark, but try to reserve an hour or so for some late evening fishing.

The next morning, head upstream under power. Start at dawn, and run for at least an hour before you shut off your motor and commence to drift back toward camp. On the way up, look for and memorize the location of the best fishing spots. Keep your eyes open for deep pools, undercut banks, springs, and junctions of smaller streams, and fish these spots thoroughly as you drift downstream.

The following day, start drifting from camp and fish the downstream portion of the river. With your camp as headquarters you can fish the river in both directions, and find spots that few other anglers have explored.

The most important item in a do-it-yourself float trip is your outboard motor. Your power plant should be properly matched with your boat, but more important, it should be designed for the abuse frequently encountered in river navigation. It should have a tough lower unit, and a propeller assembly equipped with a slip-clutch arrangement.

Frankly, the Mercury outboard is the only motor able to grind through gravel bars and bounce off rocks without shearing a pin or damaging a prop. These motors don't have any pins to shear, and their slanted lower units glide over obstructions with ease.

Thusly equipped, you'll have a wonderful time on a do-it-yourself float. You'll fish new waters, explore different country, and probably catch more fish than you have in a long time.

If you have any questions concerning fishing techniques, equipment, or where-to-go, write Buck Rogers in care of this paper.

Widows Get Full Social Security Benefits at Age 62, Says Ellington

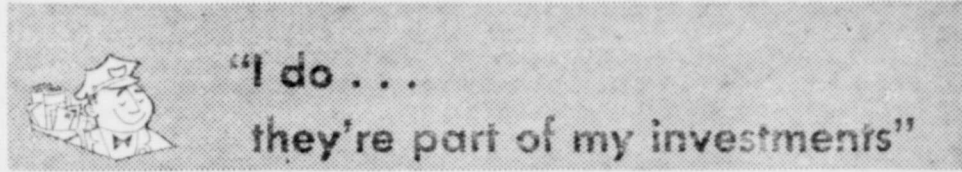

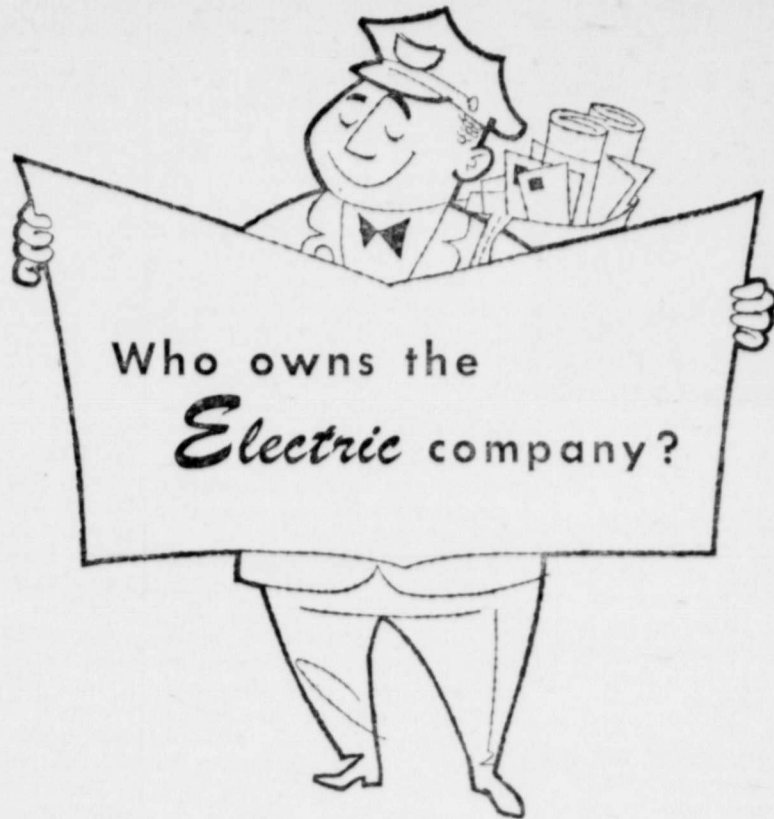

"Widows should apply for social security benefits as soon as they are 62", Floyd B. Ellington, Manager of the San Angelo District Office advises. "It would be even better if they applied a month or two before they are 62. Of course no one should delay, but widows in particular should be careful to apply for benefits promptly."

A woman's benefit based on her own account, or on the account of a living husband is reduced if she applies before age 65, but a widow's benefit is different. Widows' benefits are not reduced and the full amount is paid at age 62.

"So, if you are a widow", Ellington explained, "and we once paid you a lump-sum or monthly benefits, you should apply again when you are 62. In fact, you can speed your first check by applying a month or so before."

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

Miss Day Padgett of San Antonio and Leaday (Coleman County) was the center of attention in Washington last weekend as the Texas State Society, aided by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, put on a barbecue and round-up that attracted upwards of a thousand people—mostly Texans.

As Miss Wool of Texas, Miss Padgett played her part so well everybody seemed to want to wear more wool and eat more lamb.

Texans here for the event included Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Stephens of Lometa, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Sheffield of San Angelo, Mrs. Adolph Steiler of Comfort, Miss Carol Agopin of Houston, and Tom Wallace, Secretary of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Assn.

Last week I reported on efforts to advance the plans for the fight against the blow fly in the Southwest. In response to my inquiries, Dr. E. F. Knippling, Director of Entomology, Research Division, US DA, informs me there being over 100 different species of the horse fly in the U.S., and due to their long life cycles, it is not considered feasible to apply the sterile fly technique to their elimination.

But there is some hope of eventually doing something about the horn flies and stable flies.

"In the future", he reports, "we hope to study in the laboratory, the possibility of using the sterile male technique through irradiation of male horn flies and stable flies. With these two insects, the difficulty is primarily that the males are also blood suckers and care must be exercised so as not to increase the problem by release of blood sucking males. However, it may be that release of comparatively small numbers in the early spring might not create much added distress to livestock and could conceivably depress the native population sufficiently so as to obtain good control."

The phenomenal success achieved by our scientists in completely eliminating the blow fly from Florida and southeastern United States has aroused hope that the same technique can be applied in the Southwest—and possibly applied to pests other than the blow fly.

Ray said that he and his wife plan to operate the business. They will serve sandwiches, hamburgers, short orders of various kinds, and milk drinks, ice cream, and all cold soft drinks.

The Mixons plan to have the place open for business by July 3 or 4.
