ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

The Sterling County Game Management Barbecue last Friday night was the biggest in several years. There were 105 ranchers and visitors present for the meeting.

Members of the Game and Fish Commission under the direction of Henry Burkett, district supervisor of wardens, furnished the program. Two films, YOURS IS THE LAND and OUTLAW OF THE CAMERON were shown. The first was on the conservation of natural resources while the second was a true story of a mountain lion hunt in the south Texas country with the Snow brothers.

New officers of the association are Bill Humble, president; Charles Probandt, vice president; Johnny Johnston, secretary-treasurer. Two directors will be appointed by these elected officers according to the bylaws of the organization.

Sterling county ranchers are reminded of the range tour of the Barnhart Experiment Station next Tuesday. The group will leave the courthouse at 8:30 Tuesday morning and should be back around 4 that afternoon.

The Barnhart station is running experiments on a number of things that should be of interest to every rancher. Primarily, they are concerned with brush control, prickly pear control, poisonous plants, different systems of deferred grazing and rotation grazing practices. They also have some studies under way on the management of tobosa grass for the most usage.

The Barnhart station's climatic conditions and soils are very similar to those of Sterling County. This tour is a recommendation of the Sterling County Range Committee; they felt that several carloads of ranchers could get more from this type of tour than from one of the field days. Don Huss, an assistant professor at A&M College, who heads the work at the station will conduct the tour.

Continued dry weather is going to mean that our ranges will dry and the grass and weeds will be a distinct fire threat. The great amount of forage on the ground in all parts of the county makes this danger greater than ever.

If the equipment is available, fire lanes around the edges of the pastures are a good idea. However, many ranchmen do not have the equipment necessary for this type preventive. Nearly all do have livestock sprayers available though. If these sprayers can be kept filled with water when not in use, they will make an excellent piece of fire fighting equipment. Often, a hundred gallons of water is sufficient to stop a small fire. A group of these sprayers could well be used by a neighbors to control larger fires.

For safety's sake, be careful with your cigarettes and burned matches. A so-called burned out match starts many fires; snuffed out cigarettes are also offenders in this field. We can be more careful of those things; fires started by lightning of course are another matter.

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

Foreign aid for another year sailed through the House last week, but only after an amendment was adopted which continues the program on a year-to-year basis. The President had requested authority to undertake a mammoth blank check development loan plan under which commitments for projects could be made for five years in advance and financed by a "back door" technique, avoiding the need to come to the Congress each year for approval of what is planned.

The $4.8 billion bill was approved by a vote of 287 to 140, with 11 Texans, including myself, being recorded against it. There is presently $5 and one-half billion of carry-over unexpended funds from prior appropriations for foreign aid. And while portions of the omnibus bill are admittedly desirable, the bill includes a wide range of items which I consider unsound, wasteful and unjustified.

Aside from this foreign aid program, this country carries on a world-wide give-away plan that runs into billions. During the past 6 months, for example, agreements for the shipment overseas of $2.5 billion worth of surplus of surplus farm commodities were concluded. This is a part of the so-called Food-for-Peace program.

Most of this food is either given away or sold for local currencies. If the latter, the major portion of what is collected is plowed back into the local economies, gratis.

This latter plan has been going on since 1954. During these 7 years $14.4 billion worth of surplus food and fibre have been shipped abroad.

In addition, through the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, and a half dozen other programs, many billions have been loaned, mostly in American money.

So regardless of the fate of the current Foreign Aid legislation, this country is in other pouring billions of dollars in cash and goods into the economies of nearly a hundred nations all over the world.

Among recent visitors have been Tom Wallace of San Angelo, Secretary of the Texas

Lake for Sterling Talks Revived By Lions Club

Revival of talk of a dam for Sterling took up part of the discussion at the Lions Club luncheon Wednesday. A new committee to work on the idea will be appointed by president Arthur Barlemann by new week.

Jim Coleman, in bringing talks out, said a dam was needed here from an economic standpoint as well as for water supplies, etc. W. R. Brooks said that the work of the committee had bogged down last year due to a need for $6 thousand for topographical maps of two areas to be studied. Estimated costs by the Texas Board of Water Engineers ran to that figure. Also other costs would accrue along the way toward a dam realization, it was pointed out.

Jeff Davis said outside help from interested citizens of the town and club was needed.

H. L. Hildebrand and Earl Bailey were two new committee members named by the president, and he plans to complete the committee next week.

Dr. Swann had the program. He talked on measures taken here to prevent injuries to the Sterling football boys during practice and play.

The freight committee reported that no definite agreement on delivery freight problems had been worked out with Sunset Motor Lines. The committee was still trying to get a commitment from the district manager, said Henry Bauer, chairman.

Earl Bailey brought up the threat of grass fires in the country and even in town.

Ross Foster was a new member. H. L. Hildebrand and John Clark were guests. The prize went to Leslie Payne.

Hugh Busby Dies
Hugh Busby of Sacramento, California, a former resident of Sterling City, died there last Saturday. Burial was in Sacramento Monday of this week. He was the husband of the former Jewel Murrell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Murrell of Sterling City.

Mr. Busby is survived by wife, a son and a daughter. Mrs. Ted Brown of Almodor, New Mexico, attended the services.

"GET OFF THE LINE!"

Suppose that you have a party line telephone. One day your house catches fire—or some other grave emergency arises—and you try to call the fire department or the police. Others are using the party line. They refuse to yield the line to you. Your house burns down or the robber gets away.

What is the law on this?

The 57th Texas Legislature passed a law which provides a fine up to $500 (and, or confinement in county jail for up to one month) for refusing to surrender the use of a party line to permit another person to report a fire or summon police, medical or ambulance service in case of emergency.

An "emergency" means a situation in which property or human life is in jeopardy and the prompt summoning of aid is essential. This would include a fire, a robbery in progress, or a critically injured or ill person.

But don't be a smart aleck and ask for the line if there is no real emergency. The law also provides up to a $500 fine and, or up to one month in jail for requesting the requesting the use of a party line on the pretext that emergency exists. Identify yourself and ask the other parties to surrender the line so that you can call the fire department, police, or sheriff, as the case may be. If they refuse, you should insist on your right to the line, informing them that the law so provides.

Violations of this law should be reported promptly to the county attorney for prosecution. In addition, if a person's property is damaged because someone refuses to yield the line, the property owner very likely may recover the damages in court.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Department of Health Column

Above normal amounts of rainfall over most of Texas this summer may portend a bumper crop of hay fever producing pollens this fall, State Health Department officials believe.

If the appraisal proves to be accurate, ragweed will be one of the major offenders, a departmental air pollution engineer said.

The Department recommended immediate attention of work crews to cutting rank weed growth in vacant lots, and to inhibiting weed growth by chemical means when it does not present a danger to beneficial vegetation.

"Weed control is one of the most valuable contributions a community can make toward helping hay fever sufferers," said the air pollution control engineer.

Ragweed is considered by authorities to be responsible for the cause of at least 80 per cent of the hay fever in the United States. Pollen from the plant, which is fairly well distributed over Texas, is much in evidence from mid-August through October.

Estimates indicate that some six to seven million people in United States suffer from hay fever. No estimates are available for Texas, but researchers agree that some three or four per cent of the general population is affected.

Ragweed pollen can but doesn't usually travel very far from its point of origin. Therefore energetic weed cutting campaigns within city limits before pollen sacs burst can be helpful in reducing the amount of pollen released to the atmosphere.

A system of filtering air entering the home can be helpful, too, the experts say. Or, a physician can advise countermeasures after he has determined the offending substance.

Three Texas areas—El Paso, Dallas, and Houston—conduct routine pollen counts for their respective regions.

Symptoms of the malady include watery eyes, running nose throat irritation and persistent sneezing. The severity of attacks is affected by the wind and weather. Rain in the early part of the day hinders the dispersal of pollen, but does not completely stop it.

Pollen sacs do not open when they are damp are wet, so hay fever control at this time of year is a question of either cutting the weeds or hoping for rain during the pollen shedding season.

Survivors May Be Eligible For Social Security Payments

Social security benefits may now be paid to survivors of workers who died between March 31, 1938, and January 1, 1940, if the worker had at least a year and a half of social security work before he died, says Floyd B. Ellington, manager of the San Angelo Social Security Administration District Office.

Before the Social Security Amendments of 1960, no monthly benefits were payable to the survivors of a worker who died before 1940.

Under the new law, if such worker had worked under social security for at least a year and a half, benefits are payable to his widow and dependent mother at age 62, to his dependent father at age 65, and to his disabled children who were disabled before they became age 18. This is true even if the family had collected the "lump sum" at the time he died.

Old pudgy face (Krucev) said that he was going to bury us. Now if he will just lend us A shovel we will bury ourselves. We have shore got A good start. Every time we dig another foot of our grave, he takes another drink of vodka and has A good laugh. Him and Kennedy sounds like A couple of kids arguing over A marble game. One says, no fudging venture dubs and knuckle down and don't try to steal my Tav.

The Allies send him A note of protest and I bet he don't even read them. He is confident and Kennedy is confused. And he ain't the only one, the whole United States is in that shape. People don't know what to do or how to do it. The President says, "Sacrifice" Sacrifice what? The only thing I know of to sacrifice is quit eating and send it to the boys overseas.

Some of them boys that is setting on the Powder Keg in Berlin is going to take the cramps in the trigger finger and one of them big guns will go off and thebig thing is under way. But NO Atomic War, for one is afraid and the other is glad of it. And that is just as is should be.

Pudgy face ain't hankering for no war that is liable to blow him out of the tub. He might miss A drink of his vodka. It don't look like we are fighting Communism as hard as we are promoting it. I wonder why the United States can't take the offensive once in A spell, diplomatically instead of being on the defensive all the time.

But as I see it there is too much heavy thinking to be done for my limited amount of Knowledge.

P.S. In short talking about foreigners, we fill their bellies and Krucev fills their heads.

Let's Keep Up The Brand Inspections

Texas cattle raisers are protesting the doing away with the inspection of cattle at the sales rings by the Rangers. Texans are letting the Secretary of Agriculture know how they feel about stopping the inspections by writing letters to the secretary.

Sheriff Jim Cantrell says that livestock thefts are more prevalent now. He says that 13 head of cattle are missing here in our county along with about 250 sheep. Inspections at the sales rings help locate such missing head of livestock.

The cattlemens association files and keeps records of sales in a master file at Ft. Worth for years following sales. All pertinent data is filed said Jeff Dunham, inspector.

The party line golden rule

People on telephone party lines have a daily opportunity to practice the principle of the golden rule.
Sometimes, when you pick up the receiver, you expect the party line to be in use. But your call is delayed only when the party line is tied up for an excessive length of time.
So the best rule for party line users is the golden rule. To put it simply "Do unto your party line neighbor as you would have your party line neighbor do unto you."

WHOSE RIGHTS?

Editorially speaking, Sterling and many other Texas counties stand to lose some or nearly all of their water rights in the future if something is not done to retain those rights. Water is considered to be the property of the state, both in the rivers and streams and underground in underground reservoirs by a great number of people, judges, legislators, etc. over our state and nation.

Water rights have been somewhat vague through the years, and only in recent years have they been given much thought.

At first oldtimers thought that they could build a dam on any portion of the river or stream that they might be land owner, and, of course, a person thought they could drill all the water wells and irrigation wells that their hearts might desire. But not so any more in many places.

Rivers are considered the property of the state here and in many states permits must be obtained from the state or some governing body in order to drill a water well for underground water—even on one's own property. That is so in New Mexico and in some water districts in Texas.

Water rights of all kinds are rapidly being defined by the legislatures and courts in a somewhat dubious manner, and the bugs are being ironed out all the time.

Soon, we bet, all the rights for water will be defined in areas not now so defined and many communities will have to go to other communities for water. Each community should hurriedly and surely make certain now that their future water supply is taken care of. Sterling is no exception.

Whatever steps are necessary should be carefully gone into and measures taken for the future.

Many towns with large rivers are finding that water is a problem. Even those towns that are not growing. It was brought out at the last UCRA meeting that I attended that a neighbor town (in fact several) are having water problems that were considered solved only five or ten years ago. The towns have not grown, but water use grows. In 1940 about 30 gallons per day per capita was considered ample, say the engineers that deal in water problems. Then in 1950 50 gallons per day per person was considered an answer. Now, in 1960 it takes 120 to 130 gallons per day per capita to fill a towns need. By 1970 it will take 200 gallons per day per capita to satisfy people's needs and wants, say the engineers for the UCRA. It is being proven by the small towns that are served by that authority and others that the engineers do work for in this area. This is a sizeable increase in water needs even if the TOWNS DO NOT GROW!

Irrigation rights from the North Concho River in Sterling County were taken away from the holders last year because those rights were NOT BEING USED!

If a landowner gets a permit to drill a water well in New Mexico and does not drill it within the time prescribed by the permit, he loses the permit and has to try to get another—with prejudice against him for not exercising his right.

Water rights are soon going to be clearly defined by the laws of the state and nation. Will Sterling have all her water rights or will they be forever lost? For us, for our children, and our children's children?

We hope not.

REV. MILTON ROBINSON
Missionary To Speak
At Methodist Church

The Rev. Milton Robinson, Methodist missionary to Bolivia, will be at the Methodist Church on Monday, August 28. Plans are underway for a barbecue supper at 6:30 p.m. at the church. Mr. Robinson will speak at 7:30. All members and friends of the church are invited and urged to come.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson is a Methodist minister who has served as a missionary for four years among the Aymara Indians on the rugged high plateau of the Andes mountains in Bolivia. His home is Austin, Texas and he has returned to the United States for a year's furlough from missionary service.

While on the Bolivian altiplano near Lake Titicaca, Mr. Robinson did educational and ministerial work in and around the village of Anneraimes. He has seen the work among the Aymaras grow during the last four years through the Methodist emphasis on Bolivia as a "Land of Decision."

Before going to the Bolivian altiplano, Mr. Robinson served six years (1949-1955) at Ward College (Methodist) in Buenos Aires, Argentina, as teacher and director of religious work among students.

Born in Cuba of Methodist missionary parents, the Rev. and Mrs. L.H. Robinson, he got his earliest schooling in Cuba and later in El Paso, Texas, and Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas. It was while serving in Guam with the United States Air Force during World War II as a weather forecaster that Mr. Robinson made his decision for missionary service. After discharge he enrolled in the Duke University Divinity School, Durham, N.C., and received the bachelor of divinity degree there.
