Behind the 8-Ball

The commissioners court will sit as a Board of Equalization next Monday, June 22 at 9 a.m. They will determine, fix and equalize value of taxable property at that time. Anyone interested may meet with the court here next Monday.

3-BALL
There's a slight conflict Saturday night Lynda Allen is in the Miss Wool contest pageant at Odessa and the Sterling Alumni Association is holding its annual banquet and dance at the River Club in San Angelo. Some people would like to be present at both affairs — but can't. But it was unavoidable — the dates had been set so long ago.

3-BALL
Explorer Post Scouts will play a ball game next Saturday, June 20, at 4:00 p.m. at the football field. Everyone is welcome to attend, said Fred McDonald, advisor, and sponsor of the ball club.

The lights have been fixed and baseball can be played on the football field by the local players — including little league.

3-BALL
Sunday, June 21, is a triple threat day, folks. It is Father's Day, the first day of summer, AND it's our wedding anniversary. Several years ago (!!) we were married at the Little Chapel in the Woods on the campus of Texas Women's University at Denton, Texas.

3-BALL
Seen around Sterling City . . . The Army trucks and jeeps still passing through on the way back from Operation Desert Strike . . . The Father's Day merchandise in Bailey Bros. windows . . . The driver education students driving around each morning with teacher J. R. Dillard . . . Lots of vacation traffic passing through.

3-BALL
It seems as if it will be Lyndon vs. Barry at the polls in November. That will be a good, clean cut difference for voters. They can express their opinion of our nation's trends as never before.

3-BALL
As a matter of enlightenment, a word about National Science Scholarships — or grants. The National Science Foundation gives grants to students who qualify on tests (for the grants) and the colleges and universities set up programs for summer sessions in math, physics, science, chemistry, etc. and the students selected attend the school on special grants. No high school or college credits are earned by the students — it is strictly an enrichment program — to add to their already acquired knowledge.

The students are presumed to be able to do a college semester's work (4½ months) in six or seven weeks — and the program is geared to that end. The study day is usually 8 hours — filled with lectures, lab, discussions, etc.

The enrichment course is to help a student make up his mind as to what to major in when he or she reaches college. The government stands the expense for the college — and the selected students. The groups are usually from 20 to 30 students. The government is hoping to create a better scientific outlook for students.

Two Apply for Justice of the Peace

Two applicants have been filed with the Commissioners Court here for the office of Justice of the Peace. The office was vacated when A. W. Dearen died recently. C. C. Answorth and Mims Reed had filed applications so far according to Judge W. R. Brooks.

Hubert Williams got a foot cut by a power lawn mower at his home Wednesday afternoon.

Misthos - Lyles Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Ray Lyles, who were married in Oaks Presbyterian Church of Houston, are at home in Memphis, Tenn.

The bride is the former Margie Misthos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. Misthos Jr. of Houston, and the bridegroom is son of Mrs. J. C. Lyles of McCamey and the late J. C. Lyles.

The Rev. H. A. McNair performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of taffeta for the June 6 service. The fitted bodice featured long, tapered sleeves, and a wide panel of Chantilly lace extended from the bateau neckline the length of the gown. Her veil of illusion fell from a tiara and bridal bouquet was an orchid surrounded by white flowers.

Mrs. James C. Lyles of Tomball, Tex. was matron of honor, and Miss Nancy Knight of Houston was bridesmaid.

Dr. James C. Lyles of Tomball served his brother as best man, and Roger Lyles of McCamey, also a brother, was groomsmen. Ushers were Richard Heard of McCamey and Paul Scheffenstein and Sebron Stonham, both of Houston.

Reception was held in fellowship hall of the church.

The bride attended Houston schools and the University of Houston. Her husband attended school in McCamey, Sul Ross State College and the University of Houston. He is associated with a marine company in Memphis.

The bridegroom's mother and his uncle, H. Q. Lyles of Fort Stockton, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Safari Club in Houston June 4.

Mrs. Lester Foster of Sterling City, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. W. P. Tripp of Monahans were among West Texans in Houston for the ceremony.

Roger E. Smith a Student Ambassador to Scandinavia

Roger E. Smith of Arlington, nephew of Mrs. Frank Milligan, will assume the role of a personal diplomat this summer when he travels to Europe under the auspices of the People-to-People University Student Abroad Program. He will spend most of his time in the Scandinavia countries.

A graduate student at Stanford University, Roger will be among 320 students from colleges and universities throughout the country who are going abroad primarily to meet other students and families so they can become fully acquainted with the countries they visit. Roger, a People-to-People member, was chosen to make the two-month trip by the People-to-People chapter's screening committee at his school which selects tour participants according to character, leadership, and language ability.

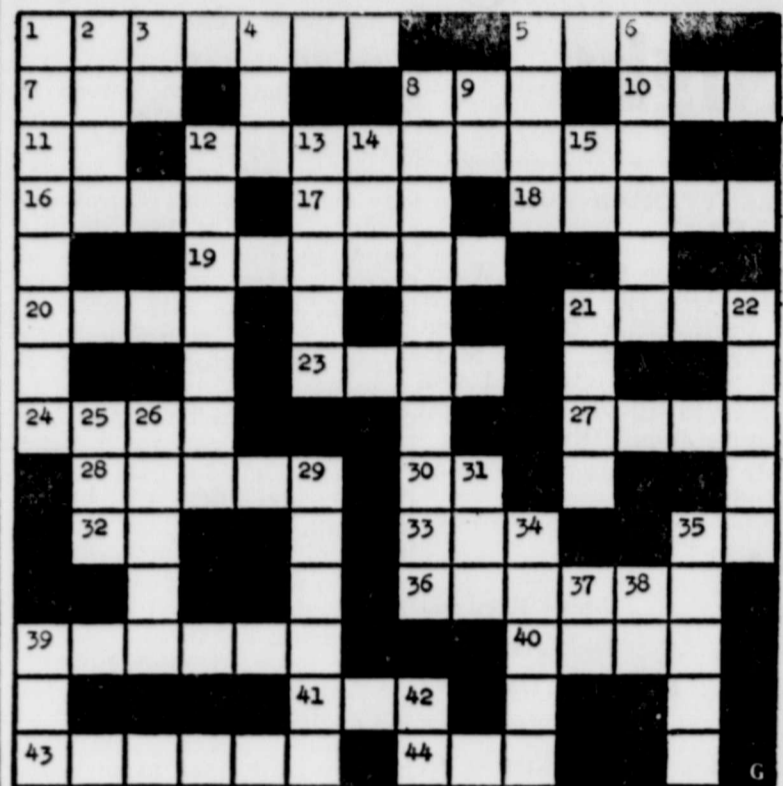

On June 25, Smith will join the People-to-People traveling contingent for orientation meetings at the Howard University campus in Washington, D. C. There the students will be addressed by United States government officials and State Department heads. The delegation will leave Washington June 28 for Brussels where they will attend additional meetings to familiarize themselves with the cultures and customs of the countries on their itineraries.

Traveling as a "Student Ambassador", Roger will spend one month living with families in Denmark, after which he will tour Norway, Sweden, and Finland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Milligan have recently returned from a car trip to Alabama. Most of their visit in that state was spent in the Huntsville area. The most historic spot visited enroute to Alabama was the battleground at Vicksburg, Mississippi where a major Civil War encounter took place. On their return they visited Nashville and the Hermitage, last home built by President Andrew Jackson and his wife Rachel, who are buried in the garden. Mrs. Milligan recommends the reading of Irving Stone's The President's Lady to anyone contemplating a visit to this shrine.

The History of Sterling County

BY IRA LEE WATKINS

Another interesting landmark yielding remains is Tower Hill, located about five miles south of Sterling City.
 This hill is mentioned in the field notes of an early land survey of the area in 1858.(6) It was a fortified hill, the fortifications being intact when the first settlers came to the Sterling Country. It is easily accessible only from the west side, the east side being somewhat precipitous. The hill was, therefore, easy to defend. No one knows when or by whom the hill was named or when or by whom it was fortified.
 It is supposed, from the type of fortification (rock walls with loops holes to fire through) that it was fortified by white men.(7) If that were so, it possibly could have been fortified by soldiers from Fort Chadbourne, which was established in 1852, or by soldiers from some other army outpost. Also, it is possible that the Texas Rangers could have fortified it. There have been found old bullets and old bullet marks on the rocks of the hill and also about a dozen old gun barrels of the cap-and-ball type. There are all indications of a battle or battles at this place.

About the year 1920, W. F. and Tom Kellis dug up a skeleton, supposed to have been that of a Comanche chief, who had been buried in a small cave on the east side of the hill near the top. The skull was enveloped in a beaded mantle, the cap piece of which was a silver cup with this inscription on its pedestal: "T. Warner—STER—For the best Carlyle Colt 1830." A totem in the form of a crouching bear, made of red pipestone, has been identified as a Comanche totem.
 Four finger rings of brass, a nose ring of six carat gold, four brass ankle rings, a silver ornament made of a Spanish dollar, and numerous loose beads were among the remains. A bullet was taken from a hole in the base of the skull. It showed the "neck" of the mold and the rifling marks on the bullet. Doubtless, the Indian was killed by this bullet which apparently was fired from a "Navy Six" Colt revolver of the cap-and-ball type.
 The bullet used in this type of gun came into use in 1846 and was replaced by the brass cartridge in 1870. This would indicate that the Indian was killed sometime between 1846 and the time settlers began to come in.(8)

Indian possession of West Texas lands was disturbed by the coming of the white man, the first of whom were the Spanish explorers. There is no record of the first Spaniards to set foot on Sterling County soil. Cabeza de Vaca was likely the first white man in West Texas, having been stranded on the Texas Coast in 1535.
 On his route to Mexico, he passed through the western part of the state, but it seems that he did not come as far north as the Concho Rivers.
 For the next two hundred years after 1535, many Spanish exploring expeditions crossed and recrossed West Texas and very likely, many of them traversed Sterling County territory. In 1540, Coronado crossed West Texas in his search for the Gran Quivira, a rich and populous Indian district. Juan de Onate in 1601, who was searching for the Seven Cities of Cibola, crossed the buffalo plains. Juan de Sales, between the years 1611 and 1629, led an expedition into the vicinity of Fort Bel-nap.

Penalosa in 1662 went into the Quivira country, traveling from New Mexico through the heart of West Texas and the plains.(9) Spanish explorers who very likely crossed Sterling County were Castillo in 1650 and Guodalajara in 1654.
 They are reported to have come across the plains in a southeasterly direction from New Mexico, passing near Big Spring and on across Sterling County.
 One significant witness to early Spanish occupation of Sterling County is the name the Concho River bears. It is the Spanish word for "shell" and no doubt the river was named by the Spaniards themselves, but just when it was named, no one can be sure.

 One account says that Coronado on his expedition through Texas in 1540 mentions a river which he calls the "Middle Fork Concho", because of the presence of an unusual number of large shells, some of which contained pearls.(10) A second account relates that two Franciscan fathers visited the Conchos in 1850. They were on their way from El Paso to visit East Texas Indians. A map in the General Archives at Mexico City shows two rivers which the padres are supposed to have named. The north one they called Rio Concho or River of Shells and the south one they called Rio Perla or River of Pearls.(11) Still a third account tells us that about 1581, the Spanish missionaries of the vicinity of the present town of Presidio were told by the Indians that there were abundant fish and game and many pearls on a river "twenty sleeps" to the east. Guided by the Indians, the missionaries fitted out a searching expedition and sent it eastward to find the coveted pearls. Legend has it that after crossing the Llano Estacado, the expedition struck the waters of the North Concho at a point near the place where the U ranch headquarters now stand.
 They found fish and game in plenty and pearls beyond their expectations. They explored the three tributaries of the Concho and called the south fork Rio Perla del Sur or South River of Pearls. They called the middle fork Rio Perla del Media, or Middle River of Pearls, and the north Concho, they called Rio Perla del Norte, or North River of Pearls.
 Afterwards, other Spanish explorers changed the names to North, South, and Middle Concho Rivers because of the super-abundance of shells in the streams.(12) From these accounts, one would conclude that there is little doubt that the Spanish named the Concho River, and that this stream was familiar to not a few of West Texas' early Spanish visitors. In all the Spanish occupancy of Sterling County it appears that they were after all, only visitors. Any effort on the part of the padres to establish missions in the Concho Country or to bring civilization to the Indians was futile because of the extreme hostility of the tribes of this section of Texas. The Comanches were especially hostile to the missionaries.

AROUND THE COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

Last week's report released by the screwworm laboratory at Mission for the week ending June 6 showed only six screwworm cases for the state of Texas. All six of these cases were found in counties that had had previous cases this spring.

Comparing this period to last year shows there was a huge drop in the number of cases. For the same period last year, there were 123 cases.

The six cases this year were from six different counties. Counties with confirmed cases were Goliad, Bee, Lampasas, Live Oak, Mason, and Frio. In addition one case was confirmed from New Mexico during the period ending June 6. This was the state's first case this year.

Thus far Sterling County has not had a confirmed case this year. By this time last year, two cases had been confirmed in the county. Thus far this year, eight samples have been sent to the laboratory and all have been identified as non-screwworm. Strangely enough, eight samples had been identified as non-screwworms last year by the same date.

You have read the reports of the investigation under way in two counties in the Hill Country area. Officials of the program have been concerned with the cases there and are attempting to find the reason for several cases in Llano and Mason counties. The investigation in Mason County should be completed by now and should be under way in Llano County.

The investigators are evaluating terrain, vegetation, climate, general weather conditions, and moisture in an attempt to find why the pest is thriving in the area this year. The investigation in these two counties is expected to shed some light on the situation in Schleicher, Coryell, and Lampasas counties. The information gathered in these two areas may also bring about changes in the fly release and ground control portions of the program.

Meanwhile, all livestock producers are urged again to check their livestock periodically. Mail in a sample of all suspected cases for positive identification.

If you are interested in the Lamb Judging Conference to be held on the campus of Texas A&M next week, you can see a copy of the program in the county agent's office. Several copies of the program were received this week.

The program will start at 8:30 a.m. Thursday morning. It will end at 9:00 a.m. Saturday morning. Friday afternoon is being left open for the directors meeting of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association. The directors will end their meeting Saturday at noon.

European agriculture will be the primary source of study this summer for a number of Texas 4-H club boys and girls. About fourteen of them will leave next week for Europe for a twenty-one day tour of England, France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Scotland, Denmark, and the city of Berlin.

The club members are paying their own expenses on the tour which has been arranged to improve foreign relations and feelings toward America by personal contacts. The Goodwill People-to-People tour will have club members from various states in addition to those from Texas.

Three tours and field days have been arranged by the Texas Junior Hereford Association, a group of 4-H club boys and girls and FFA members who are interested in Hereford cattle. The nearest tour in this area will be Saturday June 20 on the Winston Brothers ranch near Snyder.

The field day begins at 9:20 a.m. with a judging contest. Other events on the program

WATER ATTRACTS CHILDREN

Owning a swimming pool is becoming rather common in Texas and it places some legal duties on the owner. Your main duty hinges on the "doctrine of attractive nuisance" under which you become legally responsible to young children who trespass on your land. As a rule you owe no duty to trespassers. They must take your property as they find it; if dangerous, that is their tough luck. Not so for children who wander on your land. The attractive nuisance doctrine says that you have to make your land safe for them. A high tension line, an old mineshaft, a railroad turntable, a pool of clear acid may be irresistible to children. If they are likely to be attracted and unable to grasp the dangers, you have an "attractive nuisance," and you must make your premises safe.

Recently a court held that a swimming pool may be an attractive nuisance. In this case a toddler drowned in Jones' pool. Jones and the boy's parents lived across the street from each other. About 30 feet from the street, the pool was fenced but with openings through which children could enter. On weekends the Jones were not home, only the Jones' children. Animals often played near the pool.

The pool and the animals could attract a youngster; he could not grasp the water's danger. The Joneses could have had a locked gate. A jury properly held Joneses responsible for the drowning.

How young is the child? Can he appreciate the dangers? How easy is it for the owner to make the place safe for children?

There are times when an older child should appreciate dangers. An older child playing on a scaffold should appreciate the dangers of height. In another case a twelve year old boy tried to jump on a train which was moving along a public street. When he fell he could not get damages for his injury. He should have seen his danger. Besides how could one put up a barrier along a public street which could keep out twelve year old boys?

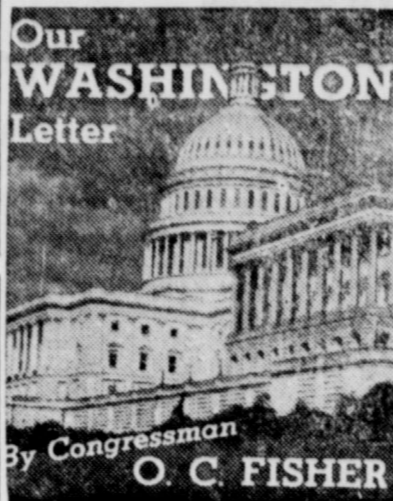

A land owned by a parent cannot set a "trap" on his land, create hazards on his land on purpose; he cannot put a pit on his land where people frequently trespass, put in spring guns, or other traps to harm trespassers.

Sometimes a condition on your land may be a trap to children but not one for adults. The adult may grasp the danger of slippery algae growing in a partially drained pool, but not a child. But even with a trap on your land the attractive nuisance doctrine will not apply without some allurements or enticement to bring children to trespass on your land. Such attractions are, in effect, an implied invitation to enter. Check your place for such attractions, and in any event consider measures, such as insurance, to cover harm that may come from things on your land. And above all, keep your place safe. For all the money may not undo the harm.

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

The senate made history last week when by a 4-vote margin so-called Civil Rights bill was cleared for final passage.

Twenty battle-weary southern democrats, aided by a few from border states and only six Republicans (including Senator Goldwater), went down to defeat after holding the line against the radical measure for 2½ months.

Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, who led the southern forces, even in defeat emerged as the nation's leading champion of freedom and constitutional government.

Border state Oklahoma's two Senators voted for the bill on the cloture test. So did Senator Anderson from the border state of New Mexico. But Anderson's vote was off-set by the other Senator from New Mexico — Senator Meacham who voted with the southerners. The two Texas Senators also split — Yarborough voting for cloture and Tower lining up with Russell & Co.

Early passage is now assumed. This is election year, and the Negro bloc vote has a tremendous appeal to the politicians.

Described as "the most liberal package bill ever proposed in the Congress", the measure contains 7 bills lumped into one, each advancing the philosophy of the modern-day liberal. As the answer to the liberal's dream, the proposal (1) concentrates unprecedented power in the federal government; (2) restricts individual freedom in a dozen ways; (3) expands federal bureaucracy; (4) makes a mockery of states' rights; (5) ignores constitutional restraints against invasion of private property rights and privileges; (6) subordinates enjoyment of private property rights to the whims of federal agents; and (7) casts Uncle Sam in the role of deciding who may be hired or fired in many stores and factories.

Regardless of what may be said for or against the bill, America will be quite a different place after its passage. For example, Mrs. Murphy, the widow who converts her small home into a guest house as a means of eking out a living, will run a dangerous risk if she refuses to rent a vacant room to a suspicious traveler who knocks on her door at 2 o'clock in the morning — provided the applicant is a Negro. If she is reported she may have to go to jail as a result.

Among recent guests have been Mr. and Mrs. James Lummus and Nickie and Jim, of San Angelo; Beverly McMillan of Brownwood; Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Leifeste of Brady; Mrs. John Eathorne and Todd and Tammy, of Llano; Mrs. J. G. Pennington of Brady; Mrs. A. F. Leifeste of Llano; Highway Commissioner Hal Woodward of Coleman; Dr. and Mrs. Joe Cornelison, and Jim, Jane and Judy of San Angelo; Bobby Smith of Kerrville; the Justin Smarts, Ross and Terry, and G. R. Garret of Lampasas; and Mr. and Mrs. George Chrane of Rocksprings.

The industrial growth of Japan—often referred to as an economic miracle—is well reflected in the new Tokaido Line—the world's fastest super-express train. Able to travel at 160 m.p.h., the new train will whisk passengers between Tokyo and Osaka in time for the Olympic Games in Tokyo. A scale model and chassis of the train is on display at the Japan Pavilion at the New York World's Fair.
