

AROUND THE COUNTY by

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

There is quite a bit of activity on the 4-H club scene this week and next for Sterling County club members. Some of the adults are also involved in the activity.

This week, the district camp for club members from the twenty-two counties that make up Extension Service District 1 is being held. Site of the camp is the Lake Brownwood Christian Retreat. Club members attending camp are Jeanie McDonald, Rosanne Foster, and James Morgan. Mrs. Chesley McDonald went along as a leader with the group. The camp will have about two hundred persons in attendance. This includes club members, men and women leaders, and county extension agents.

Next week, the annual State 4-H Round Up will be held on the campus of Texas A&M University. This is the big event for club members each summer. They will take part in better than thirty different contests. These contests are the state finals in the 4-H club program.

Sterling County will be represented by Rosanne Foster and Jeanie McDonald who are competing in the range conservation team demonstration contest; and, the grass identification team composed of David Foster, James Morgan, Larry Stewart, and Debbie Reed. Mrs. Neal Reed and Mrs. Ross Foster are accompanying the group. Mrs. Chesley McDonald plans to meet the group in College Station after attending a meeting in Austin.

Over 1,300 club members will be participating in the various contests. In addition to the contests, there will be entertainment and the 4-H Career Opportunity Fair. This fair will feature careers and opportunities available to youngsters growing up today.

The annual Chuck Wagon Barbecue will be held Tuesday evening. This is sponsored by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation which functions all over the state. Each year, this group raises funds from businesses and individuals throughout the state to provide the barbecue and the professional entertainment program on Wednesday night. Many Sterling County residents have supported the group when Nathan Donsky of San Angelo asks for help during the county stock show.

This Saturday, the state 4-H Range Judging contest is being held on the campus of San Angelo College. Several Sterling County club members will be competing in that contest, but team members are not known at this time.

Notice of the Upton County 4-H club rodeo and horseshow on June 4-5 at Rankin has been received. Entries are due in before 12 noon on Friday, June 4. Club members and others who are interested can get blanks at my office. Competition is open to all in two divisions, the junior which is 13 and under, the senior which is limited to those 14, 15, and 16 years of age. If anyone is interested in entering, contact the county agent for entry blanks and minors releases.

Pecan casebearer activity is apparently pretty slow thus far. Eggs were found in two locations last week on Thursday. Both of these locations are trees that year after year turn up with the first eggs. Since that time, John Brock found one place where the egg hatched and the worm had eaten into the small nut and left. But no other indications of damage have been found.

According to the newsletter of the Texas Pecan Growers Association received early this week, peak emergence of the moths occurred at Brownwood on the pecan experiment sta-

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

LBJ's opposition to right-to-work laws in the 19 states that now have such laws, has created quite a stir in Capitol Hill. In a special message to Congress last week the President called for repeal of the Federal law which permits each state to determine whether it does or does not want compulsory unionism. If Sec. 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act is repealed, as requested, then all right-to-work laws in the 19 states, including Texas, will be wiped out in one fell swoop.

This repeal has been demanded by AFL-CIO and other unions. If contracts between unions and business is not hampered by right-to-work laws, then the contract may require that every worker in a plant, allowed to work there, must pay dues to the union. And in most cases the business manager withholds the amount of the dues from the workers' pay check each month, and turns it over to the Union. It naturally follows that, from the union's standpoint, the union will make more money if all workers in a plant are required to contribute to the union each month, whether all of them want to or not.

It therefore naturally follows that the labor unions want Sec. 14(b) repealed. It means money in their pockets. On the other side, many workers and many businessmen want freedom to decide whether the workers must belong to a union in order to be able to work in a particular plant. They think they should have freedom of choice, whether it is a matter of joining a union, a church, a lodge, or a woman's club. And still others insist that if that freedom of choice is to be prohibited by law, then each state should have the right to determine it rather than having that right of determination decided in Washington.

Supporters of right-to-work point to the fact that hourly earnings of manufacturing workers increased from 1953 to 1963 by 46.7% in Right-to-work states, and by only 9.9% in all others. They cite figures showing that new manufacturing jobs were created in that same period by 23.2% in right-to-work states, and by only 9.9% in all others.

And per capita personal income rose by 43% in right-to-work states and only by 34.7% in all others. In other words, it seems that industry has a way of gravitating to those states that prohibit compulsory unionism, and the workers seem to do better.

tion on May 19 and May 18 at Stephenville. Both of these stations were planning to begin their spray program on May 25 and continue it through June 1. After that time, inspections will be made and the second crop of bearers awaited. Usually, there is a crop of the bearers about thirty days later, and sometimes a third crop about sixty days after the first crop.

Rabies Shots for Pets Monday

The annual rabies shot clinic will be held on Monday, May 31 between the hours of 4:00 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Dr. Percy R. Turner, veterinarian will be available on the west side of the courthouse at that time to give the shots to all pets.

This clinic is held each year to provide protection to the pets and the owners both. Many of the wild animals such as the fox, skunk, and coon are carriers of the virus of rabies. The only protection is provided through the use of the shots. Dogs and cats are especially susceptible since they will often attack any wild animal that approaches the home. Each year, a number of cases of the disease appear in the state and a number of people take the series of shots after exposure. Sterling County has proved to be no exception; several heads are sent to the laboratory each year for a positive diagnosis. Several times within the last few years, some of our residents have taken the shots following exposure to known cases of rabies.

If you have a dog over six months of age that has not had the shots, you are urged to see that it has them. The charge for the shot is minor when considered in light of what may happen later.

Donations Needed for Scoreboard For Football

A good football scoreboard with all information showing is being bought for the Eagle football field. The Mothers Club is behind it and have already got $895.52 toward the facility. They need nearly $300 more.

The group had $662.93 and the eighth grade made $232.59 selling magazines and that is the total on hand—$895.52.

The total cost will run to at least $1150 and the club is asking that individuals or businesses give to make up the total. They want the board up before next football season, said Mrs. J. Q. Foster.

The board will show in electric light figures the different scores, the quarters, the minutes left in each quarter, etc.

If you would like to donate toward the scoreboard, leave your donation at the bank—made out to the Scoreboard Fund or give your check to Mrs. Neal J. Reed, treasurer of the Mothers Club.

For instance, last year the Red Cross helped an average of 80,000 servicemen each month at military installations and hospitals around the world, and served more than 118,000 servicemen and veterans and their families each month through chapter Service to Military Families. A total of $11,632,000 was given in financial assistance to servicemen and their dependents and $401,000 to veterans and dependents.

In addition to the many services provided servicemen, including financial aid and counseling, the Red Cross assisted thousands of veterans in preparing and presenting claims to the Veterans Administration for government benefits.

At overseas locations selected by the Department of Defense, the Red Cross meets special recreational and morale needs of American servicemen. In Korea, clubmobile workers, traveling in teams of two, cover more than 14,000 miles each month to meet schedules planned with the military. They bring to even the most isolated military units weekly recreation programs full of American flavor. Only 50 young men, all college graduates, are chosen each year for this unique Red Cross service assignment.

The Red Cross also did a big job in keeping the communication lines open between the servicemen and his family. Last year, 505,000 communications were exchanged between field personnel at military posts and hospitals overseas and Red Cross chapters in local communities. The communications included requests for securing information for the military authorities as to the need for an emergency leave; notification of illness or death in a family; and in a more happy vein, birth announcements.

In all, the Red Cross last year spent almost 40% of its nearly 100 million dollar budget for welfare services to the armed forces, veterans, and their families, and for special services and recreation in military and Veterans Administration hospitals. It plans to spend approximately the same amount during 1965 as a "living memorial" to our servicemen, past and present.

Boys Warned To Register on 18th Birthday

State draft board No. 137 in Midland, which has jurisdiction over Midland, Glasscock and Sterling counties, today announced a tougher policy regarding men who register late for the draft.

The new policy was announced by Fred A. Hannah of Midland, board chairman.

The policy was established after a board survey which determined that almost 100 youths had registered late in the past six months.

Federal law requires that young men register with the nearest draft board on their 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter.

Under the new policy, all young men who register a week late or more will be asked in writing to appear before the board in person to explain their tardiness. The board will give formal official consideration to declaring these men delinquent under the law and processing them for armed forces induction ahead of other men in their age group.

The following registrars are maintained for the convenience of young men: Mrs. Vada D. Sikes, board clerk, at the Oil & Gas Building (Room 605) in Midland; Mr. Vernon M. Gill, Post Office, Garden City; Mr. Hal M. Knight, Post Office, Sterling City.

Other members of the board besides Mr. Hannah, the chairman, of Midland, are Hubert S. Allen, Midland; and Oliver T. Jones, Sterling City.

For Social Security

Maids and Cooks Must Have Social Security Paid

Wages paid a household worker—whether employed as a maid, cook, laundress, cleaning woman, baby sitter or similar job—are covered for social security purposes if the employee is paid $50 or more in cash in a calendar quarter.

A calendar quarter is a 3-month period beginning with January, April, July or October. Room and board are not counted, but carfare is, if paid in cash.

If you have a domestic employment, you are required to report these wages to the Internal Revenue Service and pay the social security taxes. A report for the quarter just past is due not later than April 30. Failure to file timely tax returns may result in additional penalty and interest charges.

But most important, you might be depriving your household worker of her social security protection and benefits for herself and possibly her family—benefits to which she is legally entitled.

Additional information concerning this subject can be obtained from your local social security office. Ask for leaflet OASI-21.

Your San Angelo social security office is located at 3000 West Harris. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Social Security

Floyd B. Ellington, district manager of social security in San Angelo, issued a reminder today to all persons who are receiving social security benefits that they must notify the Social Security Administration whenever something happens that might affect the payment of their benefits. Some of the events which must be reported are:

1. Earnings from all types of work if the beneficiary is under age 72 and expects to earn more than $1200 during the year.
2. Death of a beneficiary.
3. Change in marital status—unless the beneficiary is receiving payments as a retired worker.
4. Change of custody of a child or other person for whom you are receiving benefits.
5. Change in address.

"Social security beneficiaries received a list of these and other events that must be reported with this check earlier this year," Ellington said. "If they do not have this list, they may pick up another at the social security office."
 "In fact, anyone who has a question about social security should get in touch with us to get correct information."

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Recreation
When did you first hear the ancient cliché "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy"?

Setting aside time for recreation is becoming increasingly important in leading a healthful and productive life.

For most people, the natural result of modern conveniences and increased automation is a sedentary existence.

The National Recreation Association annually sponsors National Recreation Month each June to alert Americans to the need for wise use of leisure time. Special events of interest to all age groups are planned by recreation departments, civic groups, citizens' organizations and other recreation-minded agencies across the country.

Modern society has become what someone has called "flip-flopped." The executive now works long hours instead of the laborer. Yet, like everyone else, physicians, executives, and other professional people need the refreshment that enjoyable recreation offers.

Leisure time can be used to regain a healthy balance of suitable physical activity and relaxation. Whether through a trip to the opera or an hour or two of quiet fishing, the ability to "lose oneself" in recreation provides personal fulfillment and relief from life's tensions.

Recreation is personal; to be satisfying, the hobbies and other activities chosen should be meaningful to the individual. What may be enjoyable to one person may be boring to another. Fortunately, a wide variety of opportunities is available and every person should be able to find some that bring satisfaction. Interesting family activities, another important but often missing part of modern life, can evolve from personal recreation interests.

Whatever a person may choose as hobbies, some physical recreation should be included daily. The health benefits from regular suitable physical activity, such as weight control, relief from stress, and a sense of well-being, are now well established. On the other hand, the potential ill-effects of prolonged inactivity, such as obesity, metabolic disorders, loss of movement capacity, cannot be considered helpful for enjoyable living.

The broad benefits attributed to recreation are not automatic outcomes. Every activity carries some risk, whether from the nature of the activity itself or from the demands on the participant. One national survey showed 18,000 disabling golf injuries in 1962. Most of these were sustained by persons struck by golf balls. However, heat prostration accounted for 10 per cent and over-exertion another 7 per cent of the total. These statistics should not cause a rush to the golf cart, which produced 7 per cent of the casualties. Rather, golfers, should respect the safeguards that judgement and conditioning will offer.

To capitalize on recreational opportunities:

- (1) Learn your capabilities and limitations through periodic medical examinations, and plan your activities accordingly.
- (2) Practice habits of healthful living faithfully in order to have the ability to do effectively the things you must and want to do.
- (3) Understand the risks involved in your activities of choice, and the preventive measures to be followed.

Right To Work Law Discussed

William T. Green, of Fort Worth, President of the Texas Manufacturers Association, on hearing of the President's new labor message, said, "This is the greatest disservice any responsible governmental official could do to the workingmen of this nation and to the businesses that provide them with employment.

"Right to work laws were never aimed at destroying Unions in this country. Rather they were brought into being to maintain a healthy balance between labor and management. This they have done.

"Actually, the issue boils down to one point—compulsory unionism as opposed to voluntary unionism. Union leaders feel they cannot gain the power they so avidly seek without compulsory unionism. Therefore they want Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Law repealed.

"There has been a general shift in governmental power and control over the past 20 years from the local and state scenes to Washington, D. C. With it has come some surrender of personal freedoms. There also has been a corresponding shift in power and control from labor union members to their leaders. With this shift, freedom of action by union members is moving in the direction of forced compliance with the decisions and policies being made by a few union leaders—frequently contrary to the overall wishes of their membership.

"A concerted effort must be made by all Americans who are truly interested in the future of the United States to thwart this power-grab attempt on the part of union leaders that now has the sanction of no less than the President of the United States."

Quacks Extort Millions With Phony Cure-alls and Gadgets, Says AMA

Today there are thousands of quacks promising quick cures for every disease known. They extort millions of dollars annually from their gullible patients.

Yet, the quack's promises, cure-alls and gadgets are as phony as a fixed gambling wheel or a "con man's" schemes, said F. J. L. Blasingame, M.D., executive vice president of the American Medical Association. "Healthy people usually laugh at or ignore the quack," he said, "but sick people may grasp at anything that offers a quick cure. Indeed, almost anyone can be fooled unless he knows how quacks operate."

Machines can be a blessing or a curse to medicine. In the hands of a skilled physician, certain machines are useful in arriving at a diagnosis or charting a method of treatment.

But some machines are a threat to your health. Any quack who passes off his device or gadget or "system" as a cure-all is cashing in on your limited knowledge of science.

Doctors of medicine are trained for years in reputable schools and hospitals. They are licensed only after they meet high medical standards. The legitimate doctor does not limit himself to a device or instrument or to any one "system." He does not limit himself to manipulations or adjustments.

Not so with the quacks. The quack pretends to medical skill. He invents a machine, device or scheme to defraud the public. He advertises that he has the one and only "cure." He may even purchase a phony medical diploma. All the quack needs is someone to believe him. And some sick people are easily impressed.

One alleged "doctor" testified he received four degrees from a "drugless practitioners college," he said he had attended for one year. He claimed to be a doctor of chiropractic, naturopathy, herbal materia medica and electro-therapeutics.

Another "practitioner," who came here from India, advertised that he has at least 15 degrees, including an "honorary M.D." He started the Spectro-Chrome Institute about 1920 and did a flourishing business until the Cap, cape and empty box were supposed to supply "orgone energy" with which a person could cure himself of many afflictions. No such energy exists, but thousands were deluded before this myth was exposed.

This device was supposed to cure cancer by playing silently a recording of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." Units sold for up to $500.

The lady in the glistening mask is supposedly being treated via short-wave radio. The machine, according to the gadgeteer who invented it, could neutralize the evil radio vibrations emitted from the diseased area. The device proved to be immensely profitable—for its inventor.

Micro-dynameter, which sold to chiropractors for as much as $875 each, was billed as a device for diagnosing patients' ills. Actually, the only thing the device was capable of measuring was the moisture of the skin. Federal courts ordered it off the market.

government prosecuted him in 1947 for repeated violation of the federal food and drug law. At the trial it came out that the founder of the institute had told an elderly diabetic to stop taking insulin—that Spectro-Chrome was all he needed. The diabetic took the advice, and soon afterward went into a coma and died.

Also at the trial an epileptic, testifying that the same device had benefited him, collapsed on the witness stand—from an epileptic fit.

A $20,000 fine was levied against the institute and its director, who escaped a prison sentence only because of his age (he was 75). He was put on five year's probation. However, when the term ended he was reported to be working again.

Some quacks are also licensed to practice a "healing art." Some cultist groups lobby powerfully for license recognition in various states. Well-meaning citizens often help to pass laws permitting limited practice, but this does not protect the public.

A woman chiropractor in Los Angeles was given a chance to demonstrate her alleged ability during tests made at the University of Chicago. According to the university's official report, she claimed she could diagnose illness from a drop of blood of a person who wasn't there. She "diagnosed" that the person had cancer, abnormal blood pressure and a very poor chance to recover. The spot of blood, the university reports, was taken from one of its staff physicians in the best of health.

Fantastic? Not at all. Each year thousands are fooled by quacks using phony machines.

"The American Medical Association," explained Dr. Blasingame, "does not bring charges against these quacks, nor prosecute them. Such action is the responsibility of law enforcement agencies."

You can best protect your health, he advised, by avoiding devices like the ones pictured here and, even more important, by relying on the advice of your family doctor.
