

The coming of summer means that insects are coming, too. This in turn means that the use of chemicals to control these pests in and around the home will increase sharply. The old fashioned fly swatter and its equivalent has been replaced by the spray or aerosol can with its chemicals that are in great use now.

These various pesticides have been a boost to agriculture and the home. But, according to Jack Price, Extension leader in the agricultural chemical section, Texas A&M University, there are certain precautions that should always be observed. Many of the dangers are associated with misuse of the chemicals. Misuse is not only dangerous, it cuts down on the effectiveness of the chemicals.

Price offers some easy rules for the use of the pesticide chemicals:

Buy the right chemical for the job.

Transport the chemical in the bed of the pickup or the trunk of the car. This applies particularly to the aerosol can. A few years ago one was left on the top of the dash in a pickup here in Sterling City. The sun shining through the windshield on the can generated enough heat to explode the can and ruin a windshield. Fortunately the vehicle was parked with no one in it at the time.

Read the label, understand the directions, and follow them.

Mix pesticides in the open air or in a well ventilated area if it must be done inside.

Don't use pesticides near open water sources.

Apply when there is little or no wind, always keeping on the upwind side.

Keep pesticides out of the reach of children and pets. It is best to keep them under lock and key. Never store near feed, food, or seed.

Dispose of the empty containers. The aerosol cans are very dangerous—never put them in the trash burner. When heated, these cans explode with terrific pressure and people have been killed or seriously injured each year in Texas.

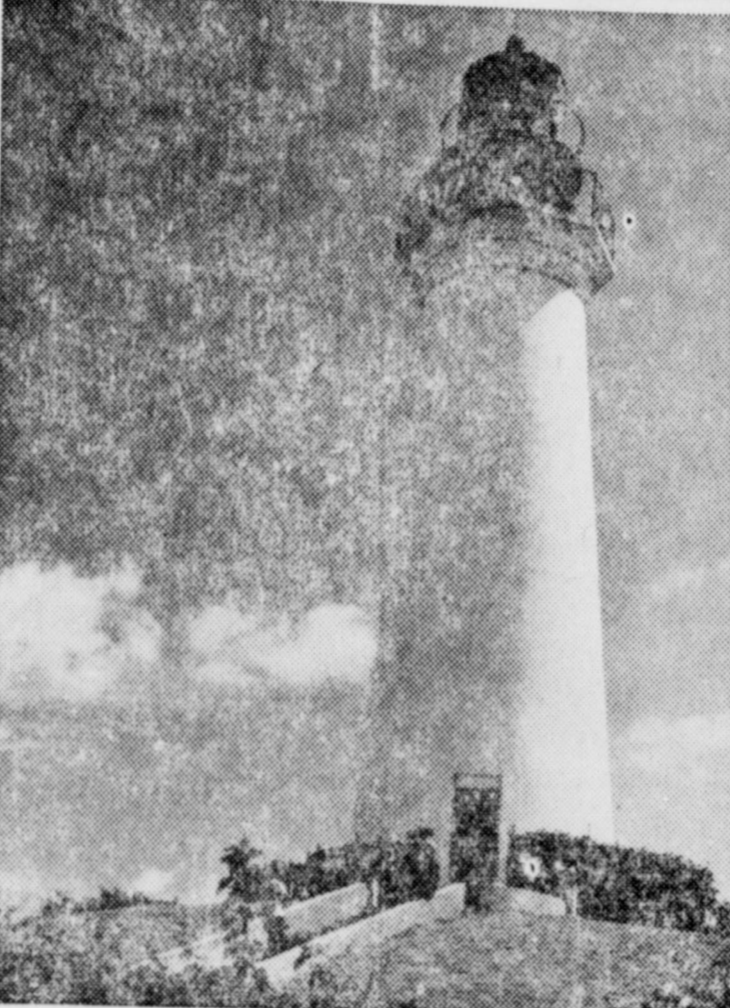

The pesticides are useful and should be used. The one element that best determines their safe use is the person using them. A few easy rules will keep you safe and sound.

for this year was sent to the Mission laboratory of the screwworm eradication program on Saturday by Jim Hinshaw. This sample, taken from the head of a calf on the Flavy Davis ranch by Jim, was identified as non-screwworm. Since it was taken from a dehorning wound, it was probably one of the many types of maggots common in wounds where there is little or no blood.

All livestock producers are urged to be on the lookout for any type of worm cases. They should be sent to the laboratory as in the past. If mailing tubes or vials are needed, they are available in the county agent's office.

The recent wet weather is conducive to worm cases and in the days before the eradication program, stockmen would have had a lot of work ahead of them doctoring the "wormies." It is still possible that screwworms can turn up. Last year's quick buildup hasn't been forgotten nor should it be. It could happen again for some reason. As yet, there has been no real reason for the fifteen cases which occurred in ten days.

As in the past years since the program began, watch your stock, take a sample of all worm cases, treat the case, and await the results of the lab's identification report.

Behind the 8-Ball

Well, today is Friday, the thirteenth! Now of course, there is a thirteenth every blessed month, but all the old saws and old wives tales and such have the ones that fall on Friday as being kinda bad luck. And I suppose that is right.

Now personally, I think all Fridays are bad. It's on that day that the paper comes out and is put into the mail. Then—after it's too late to do anything at all about 'em—the old mistakes start rearing their ugly little heads. In print—that is.

It's always been a mystery to me how a little mistake can hide so well until it's too late to do anything about it.

But, I guess it's sorta like an old printer friend of mine used to say: "That's one of the perverse characteristics of inanimate objects."

Anyway, it happens that way many times.

Happy, Friday the thirteenth to all!

8-BALL

Now the first primary is ever and most races were decided. There will be a runoff primary election here at the courthouse box only—all voters will vote in one box at that time.

The runoff election was a result of no one winning a majority of votes in the race for attorney general of Texas. Crawford Martin will face Franklin Spears in that race. I had hoped that all races would be decided on May 7. So were Pete Snelson and Dorsey Hardeman.

8-BALL

Next month will be the 75 anniversary of Sterling County's organization. Goodness.

8-BALL

I have always thought that if I was in a political race—and was going to get beat—that I would want a good decisive beating—so there would be no "what ifs?"

I'll bet that most persons running a race feel the same way, really.

That is, on a statewide or nationwide race.

8-BALL

James Morgan placed third in ready writing at the state interscholastic league contests in Austin last weekend.

James was the only contestant in state contests from the Sterling school. Congratulations, James, on placing at the state level.

The players in the Sterling one-act play all went to Austin last weekend to see the state finals. Frankly, I think they should have been participating—but the mop didn't flop right at the regional contest—or something.

8-BALL

Of course you have heard about the termite expert telling the home owner that he had absolutely nothing to worry about from termites.

He said, "They have already been here and departed."

Mrs. Vera Mae Trammell of San Angelo suffered a cut on her head when her car went out of control and she hit the embankment up 37 1/2 miles—at about 2 p.m. Sunday.

Lowe's ambulance took her on to a Big Spring hospital for treatment.

Lois Ethel Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Price, has been named secretary of GATA women's social club at Abilene Christian College.

Well, it turned cold again Monday. And I caused it. But I won't tell you how I did it this time.

A person should keep a few weather control secrets to himself.

Besides, I want to try that deal out this July and August—when we really need a cold snap.

8-BALL

If I could figure out a sure fire way of causing a gully washer or chip-floater type of rain, I'd have it made. Then I could hire out to San Angelo or any West Texas City, to help keep their water reservoirs full of water.

I can use car-washings for small rains, and a dead snake draped on its back on a fence—for fair rains, but I really need a humdinger for those big ones—and so far I have not stumbled onto it.

But I will some day.

Then I'm going to change the topography of the great southwest. It'll blossom all year round.

I'll have to give the River Club management in San Angelo credit for the good rains of last month. They held a rain dance party at the River Club that Friday that the rains started.

After all, if the Indians at Gallup, or the ancient Mayans and Aztecs can or could do it—why can't we?

Nothing to it, really.

8-BALL

There wasn't too much interest in the primary election here last Saturday. Too bad. I've figured out how to get a pretty good vote turn-out. Just let everybody vote by phone—they could just call in

Run-off Primary Here June 4

Lack of a majority in the votes for attorney general by a candidate, forces a statewide runoff primary between Crawford Martin and Franklin Spears. Martin led statewide, but did not get enough votes, hence the runoff.

All voting that day, June 4, will be done at one box—at the courthouse, said Democratic chairman Jack Douthitt this week. Voters from all the precincts will do their voting in the courthouse box.

The Republicans had 13 voters to vote in their primary. There were no contests on the ballot, and the state winners will face the Democrats in the November election.

STILL TIME FOR MEDICARE SIGNING

Older people in the Sterling City area who did not sign up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance under medicare before the close of the first enrollment period on March 31 have been given a little more time, Floyd B. Ellington, social security district manager day.

In legislation signed by President Johnson last week, Congress had extended until May 31 the deadline for enrollment by persons 65 or over.

Nearly 90 percent of the nation's elderly were enrolled for the doctor bill insurance when social security offices closed at midnight on March 31, Ellington said. Only 5 percent had turned down the protection which supplements the basic hospital insurance provided persons 65 or over.

Another 5 percent had not made up their minds either way, or else were not aware of the deadline and the need to sign up for the supplementary protection.

Older people who have not yet applied for their medicare benefits should get in touch with the nearest social security office now, Ellington said.

MEDICARE APPLICATION BLANKS AT POST OFFICE
 Postmaster Virgie Garrett of Sterling City announced today that application blanks for supplemental Medicare benefits are available at the post office window here.

The application blanks are being made available as the Social Security Administration seeks to contact 3.1 million senior citizens before a March 31 deadline imposed by the Medicare law. President Johnson has proclaimed March as "National Medicare Enrolment Month." He urged all federal agencies and all citizens to cooperate in enrolling senior citizens in the program.

Initially, some two and one-half million application blanks were distributed to nearly 34,000 main post offices throughout the 50 states. Additional forms are available as needed. Through direct mailings and other means, the Social Security Administration has had contact with 16 of the 19.1 million citizens who will be 65 or over on July 1. Of the 16 million who replied, less than one million said they did not want to sign up for the supplemental program.

The supplemental program costs $3 a month and provides doctor bills and other benefits. Everyone 65 and over is eligible for the basic hospital benefits under Medicare.

A copy of the application blank is displayed on the lobby bulletin board of the local post office. Senior citizens who reached 65 before 1966 face a two year

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ANNIVERSARY

Plans for a year-long observance of the one hundredth anniversary of Christian Science were announced today by The Christian Science Board of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Major events will include a worldwide public speaking tour by the Editor in Chief of The Christian Science Monitor, publication of a new book titled "A Century of Christian Science Healing," and the start of work on a new "Church Center" construction program.

The Centennial stems from events in 1866 which marked the turning point in the life of Mary Baker Eddy and began her pioneering of a world religious movement.

A spiritual healing which Mrs. Eddy experienced in 1866 turned her life-long study of the Bible into an intensive searching that produced the earliest manuscripts on Christian Science. She became convinced that Christianity is scientific in the deepest spiritual sense and applies to every aspect of human experience.

Later, she wrote the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and founded a church which now includes 3,300 branches in more than 50 countries.

Centennial activity within the Church will come to a focus at the Annual Meeting in Boston on June 6. Land clearance will begin that day for construction of an expanded 15-acre Church center, while members gather to consider their movement's progress and spiritual mission.

Throughout its century of development, Christian Science has continued to be a lay movement of people dedicated to restoring spiritual healing to Christianity. They are convinced this can be done on a sound, permanent basis and they believe this is a necessary first step towards fulfillment of Christianity's larger purpose — spiritual transformation.

Behind the 8-Ball

coming more important in the scheme of things and will continue to do so in the future.

Not but one generation ago — mine — was a hospital a thing that rarely ever figured in the scheme of things in my or our circles. Not very many of us were born in hospitals, and not too darn many died in them, really.

Once, when I was registrar of vital statistics in Irion County, and reported all the deaths and births to the census bureau and to the State Department of Health — most people had then graduated into the hospital scheme. The head of the department used to write me a sorta nasty little letter each year pointing out that with the total population of the county and the normal birth and death rates showed that I wasn't doing a very good job of reporting all the births and deaths in the county. I always replied that "All the people that can afford it go to San Angelo to be born or to die — in a hospital."

And that was true. The only deaths at home were the bad wrecks or sudden deaths of one kind or another, and the only births were a few Latin-Americans.

An old midwife officiated at most of the births. She did not read or write very good, but she could sorta sign her name. So I had her sign up a bunch of birth certificates in advance, and then the new and proud papa would come by and give me the details of the birth. I would then make my three copies and file 'em and mail 'em in to the proper places in franked envelopes.

I learned a little about human nature serving as registrar — in many ways.
