Behind the 8-Ball

If you don't get a paper this week it's because I was on the jury panel. And I figured that—oh well, there won't be any cases tried by a jury and I'll go on and make four dollars for a few minutes work (ha.)

Sometimes those things just don't pan out the way you figure they will. At least that's my complaint.

Any time you want to have a long jury week here, just let me be on the jury panel—and that's what will happen—every time.

My E.S.P. rarely ever fails me. I'm loaded with that stuff. Or the dice just fall that way and I can always predict the outcome.

8-BALL

Don McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chesley McDonald, will get his doctor of veterinary medicine at A&M in August. He then will report to the University of California vet college at Davis, Calif. in September. There he will be a teacher and do his internship. It's a good situation and we know Don will like it.

Davis is close to Sacramento, Calif., and is 90 miles from San Francisco.

8-BALL

Help. I've run out of soap—or something. It got hotter than I wanted this weekend. I was to mow the lawns at our domicile and I ordered cool weather for the job.

I even pulled a trick or two of mine almost guaranteed to bring a change in the weather. But it didn't work!

I'm now gonna cut off the pilot light on the furnace and store the old electric blanket away—then you'll see some cold weather hit.

It almost never fails. (You see I'm leaving a small loop-hole—I said almost never.)

8-BALL

I've about decided that I'll get my front end of the car re-aligned when all these gas pipes get under ground. And maybe get the wheels balanced all over.

8-BALL

The wheels of justice grind kinda slow at the courthouse when you are on a jury—or are a witness. They grind almost as slow as the army.

8-BALL

Don't ever forget, water is worth whatever it costs, and you or anyone will pay that cost when necessary.

West Texas ought to wake up and build dams, convert the underground salty water and make long range plans for all kinds of water development.

8-BALL

It'll pay off in the long run. Graduation time is almost on us here. I remember when I finished high school. Felix Smith was superintendent of schools and he always like to say a few words, too at the commencement. And the person who really addressed us pointed out that the future of our country depended on us.

It was a heavy load to saddle us with at that time. The country was at the depth of a real depression and we really couldn't do much for ourselves—much less the whole pooped country.

But, along with our help—and that of Franklin D. Roosevelt, we did barely manage to pull the country out of the depression. Of course, we were helped out by the world in general—since a world war two was in the making and the world economy boomed.

In fact we sold scrap iron to Japan, we sold stocks and bonds to Germany, we sold planes and ships and guns to England, and all that helped bring the country out of the doldrums. And we helped in many other ways. O, we did do our part, I guess.

the "older generation" I see that the fate of the world does fall on the shoulders of the graduates and the younger generation.

And then I thank providence that America is a country—that believes in really educating their youth, that believes in Divine Providence, and has a heart and mind and empathy for the peoples of the world. Our own, plus those of other countries.

And America has leaders, past and present, that pledge allegiance to Almighty God and holds out hope for a better nation and world, and don't mind doing something about it. Democracy may not be the best way of government in the world. But it's shore better than anything I can see from here—anywhere in the world.

8-BALL

As our civilization progresses and each generation is better equipped to handle the affairs, the world grows better, really. And most of it is due to the hopes and dreams of the God-fearing persons who ardently hope for a better world and a better life for their children. And with the principles of Christianity that is what happens. The world does get better.

The golden rule and the hope of mankind is carried forward on the spirit of that ONE who lived nearly two thousand years ago—and whose kingdom has grown throughout the centuries and who, back then would have placed money on HIM, with his little band of 12 (and one of them was a traitor) to outlive and outgrow the powerful Roman Empire, and on through the empires of Spain, Charlemagne, Frederick the great, and even down to Hitler? HIS not only lived but has grown and thrived in fair and foul times alike, and will continue to do so—all because the principles are right and will always be so. Humanity can thrive under HIS banner and only go downward and backward under other banners.

8-BALL

As aunt Fannie of the Don McNeill breakfast club once said about teen-agers and the young people of today, "You have got to hand it to the young people of today. You might as well, they're gonna get it anyway in the end."

Once she told about how modern the hotel was in her home town. She said "Well, I'll say it's modern. There's a fly swatter and a rocking chair in every room!"

8-BALL

Some people of each generation think that the younger generation is going to the dogs. They thought is back in the days of Socrates or Euripides, or somebody. So, the idea is not new. But I think the younger generation has a lot on the older one, especially if you count me in.

Parodying (or something) the old song, "I've got a lot to LEARN" and now I'll never learn it. Too old.

My learning process have slowed down to a crawl and sometimes I think they have started crawling backwards.

This is bad. But I guess it's part of the aging process. You know, aging of certain things, like meat, wine or such time plays out on it.

Then a little regression is taking place. Too much time might ruin some things that time helps—up to a point.

Oil Strike on T. F. Foster

A Fusselman oil discovery apparently has been assured in Sterling County with the flowing of 16 barrels of new oil, along with 25 barrels of load water, in five hours at Champlin Petroleum Co., Abilene, No. 1 T. F. Foster, in 6-13-SPRR, 10 miles south of Sterling City and two miles southwest of the one-well WAM (Fusselman) field, which originally produced from the Wolfcamp.

Flow was natural through a 1/2-inch choke and perforations between 4,482-506 feet, with tubing pressure of 265 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 2,500-1.

Acidizing is scheduled. While being drilled it also indicated production in the Wolfcamp with the recovery of oil on tests between 5,167-5,205 feet and 5,285-5,325 feet and shows of oil on a test between 5,168-80 feet.

Would you give your wife a tin can for a present? Of course not. And yet if you followed the old tradition that says tin is the symbol of the Tenth Wedding Anniversary, you wouldn't be far out of line. Fortunately, times change, and customs change with them. Today, modern couples can celebrate their lasting, growing love with more elegant—and appropriate—expressions of affection.

Up-dating tradition with a number of romantic renovations on anniversary symbols, the Jewelry Industry Council has compiled the Modern Wedding Anniversary List. Because no wife ever got dewy-eyed over a Paper Wedding Anniversary, the Council suggests that the First Anniversary be the year for clocks, a timely gift. And diamonds, formerly reserved for the 60th Anniversary, or Diamond Jubilee, are now beautifully appropriate for the 10th and 30th as well, when a woman can most strikingly wear this sparkling King of Gems and when a man, in the midst of his struggle for success, can most appreciate this shining symbol of prestige. The Modern Wedding Anniversary List is appropriate, too, because it reflects the patterns of American family life today. Gifts for the first nine years of marriage are those that add to the growing importance of the home. After this, personal gifts of jewelry are most appropriate, since the children are becoming independent enough to allow Mom and Dad a little more togetherness. Later, from the 16th to the 19th anniversaries, the youngsters are back in the nest, with their friends and dates, and gifts for the home are again suggested. And once the children have flown to nests of their own, the most appropriate wedding anniversary gifts are those that express the triumph and eternity of the original love pledge—precious and eternal gifts of jewelry.

Her Trips Worth While; A.I.B. Gains

Approximately 1,100 miles ago Mrs. Nan Davis began a tour of West Texas which turned out to be a 100 per cent successful venture for the American Institute of Banking division of the American Bankers Association.

First woman president of the AIB (whose term ended Friday night with the selection of new officers) chapter for the San Angelo area, Mrs. Davis decided the 58 paid memberships should be increased.

She visited 15 towns and 20 banks to discuss the advantages of AIB's study courses for bank officers, directors, and employees. Before she had finished, 15 banks had joined 100 per cent — and the membership in the chapter had risen from 58 to 324.

"I always took a man from one of the San Angelo Banks with me," said the employe of the First National Bank in Sterling City, "because I didn't know how a woman alone would be received by the heads of banks."

One reason her trips were profitable, believes the outgoing president, is because she likes people. But another major reason is that she's convinced the AIB program is essential.

This year the San Angelo chapter has sponsored five courses (classes range from elementary principles of banking to advanced administration courses). Teachers, who must be qualified to teach on the college level, conduct the classes for three hours, one night a week for 14 weeks.

"We're a large college without a campus," is the way the program was described at a recent convention Mrs. Davis attended. By following catalog requirements, a member may complete requirements for graduation.

"Graduation does not automatically mean that the individual is going to be paid more or be promoted, but it does indicate that he has studied a variety of phases of banking and is thus likely qualified to do a superior job," Mrs. Davis said.

Her concern now is that though the membership of AIB has shot up, not all members are taking advantage of the study courses. However, membership had to come first, and that she has gotten.

The Jet Set Takes Over With The "Passing Of The Props"

The whirr of propellers is rapidly becoming an obsolete sound as the jet set takes over and airlines retire their piston and propeller planes. Since ordering a fleet of 20 Douglas DC-9s in 1964, Trans World Airlines, for example, has accelerated retirement of its venerable Constellation fleet in favor of the spanking-new short-range twin jet. The first to mark "the passing of the props," TWA early next year will be the first major airline to become an all-jet operator.

Conceived in 1963, the DC-9 came off the drawing board and onto the assembly line in barely two years. The distinctive features of this new queen of the skies are a "T" tail and side-mounted engines located aft on the fuselage. Her 89-foot wings are more compact in design than her early forerunner, the DC-3. The DC-9 carries 70 passengers at 560 miles per hour—just as fast as her four-jet big brothers. The DC-9 is designed to operate on runways of only 6,000 feet.

The DC-9 is 30 percent quieter in the airport vicinity than a four-engine propeller craft. One reason is that it climbs to an altitude of 2,250 feet within 40 seconds after Few will mourn the passing of propeller prominence with its dependable but comparatively slow ride. Now, passengers can soar into the skies ensconced in the glistening luxury and modernity of these sleek new DC-9s and feel as smart as the big-city jet-setters.

AROUND THE COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

Diana Cole participated in the Brady Youth Horse Show on May 6 and the Midland Youth Horse Show on May 7. Horses shown by Diana won a number of ribbons in these shows.

In the Brady show, Diana won the trophy in the showmanship division of the Junior show. This is the second time in recent weeks that she has done well in showmanship. Earlier, she was reserve champion showmanship winner in the Sonora show. Congratulations, Diana, on your performances.

Bobby and Tommy Bynum took part in the Tom Green County 4-H Club Fun Day Saturday. The Western Fun Day is an event which the Tom Green county clubs sponsor along with a barbecue; the events are of the rodeo type.

Bobby won a trophy as second best overall time in the ribbon scramble. Two performances of each event were run, one Saturday afternoon and one that night. Bobby also won ribbons in other events including the boot scramble.

Tommy won ribbons in the greased pig race and several other events also.

Both boys report they really enjoyed taking part in the show and barbecue. They did real well their first time to participate. Congratulations to Bobby and Tommy for your efforts.

Evidences of the pecan nut casebearer are not evident at the time of writing this column, Wednesday.

Trees have been checked at several locations and no eggs have been found. John Brock says he has checked trees also and found no signs of the eggs of the bearers yet. John has one tree in his orchard which has had the first eggs found for a number of years but it still has none.

No eggs have been found in the San Angelo area either. Eggs are usually found there a few days previous to finding them here. Some of the people who deal in this service in the San Angelo area are predicting finding eggs about the 20th which is Friday.

The recommended insecticides are 1 1/4 pints of malathion and two pounds of Sevin per hundred gallons of water. Two pounds of 36% zinc in the form of zinc sulfate should be added to each hundred gallons. The zinc will combat rosette, a nutritional deficiency which is prevalent in this area. For best results, the zinc should be added each time the trees are sprayed for the casebearer. It is compatible with the insecticides; usually two treatments will furnish the tree with the needed elements.

The recent rains made aerial spraying of mesquite look much better for this year. Prior to the rains, the trees were not carrying much foliage and chances would not have been as good for an acceptable kill. The rain gave the trees a boost and more leaves were put out; now they are carrying good foliage which is necessary to take in the herbicide.

The hot weather of the first few days of this week has also aided. The leaves are turning dark green fast and are hardening. The tender yellow leaves will not take in the herbicide as well because they tend to burn from the oil in the spray.

For anyone who is interested, Bob Ragsdale, associate range specialist with the Extension Service, will be here next Friday, May 27. If anyone would like to visit with Bob in regard to their brush problems, contact the county agent's office and we will arrange a conference.

Livestock producers are urged to maintain a close watch on their livestock for worm infestations. Within the last week, reports on samples from ten infestations have been received from the laboratory at Mission. All the samples have been identified as nonscrewworm. The samples were sent in by Jim Hinchshaw, Curtis Wilson, and Chesley McDonald. It is hoped that the county will not have any cases of screwworms this year but samples must be sent in regardless. If one case of screwworms is missed, it could cause a build-up. Keep the samples rolling in to the lab; as long as they are nonscrewworms we are in good shape. If one does turn up as a positive case, it needs to be known so that steps can be taken to treat the area.

Sample bottles and mailing tubes are available in the county agent's office if needed. Carry a spare or two in the pickup; if you don't have one in the pickup when needed, put the worms in any kind of container in water until you can get a bottle or get to town with them.

EVERY ONE WHO WOULD KNOW GOD

needs this book

In these troublesome days thinking men and women recognize that it is only through a knowledge of God that they can find peace and a sense of stability.

Through the study of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy many thousands have found that God is knowable; that He is unchanging divine Love—the protector and governor of His perfect creation.

Science and Health may be read or examined, together with the Bible, at any Christian Science Reading Room. Or it may be purchased at $3.

ramble, well, it does. It doesn't get written. It just gets set up in type. And I can't see what I have written, nor can I see what ahead in the column—or in my little mind. But it does come out about enough to fill up a couple of galleys each week—as long as I'll do it.

Sometimes I wonder if the rambling is worth anyone's reading.

8-BALL

I still think the people in San Angelo would like one of those "good book" rains—one for forty days and forty nights—so they could fill up their lakes. And when that comes, I'll rejoice with 'em.

I was beginning to think of San Angelo and the Sons of the Pioneers song "Cool Water" all in one breath—not long ago. And I suspect a few San Angeloans did too.

8-BALL

If a Caprice looks like a Biscayne, why not just buy a Biscayne. Nobody can really tell the diff until they see the little sign.

Yessir, I've found a way to save money.

And money is what I need to save the most of.

8-BALL

A lot of people get tired when they mow a big lawn. (One among whom I am which.) When the golden day of opportunity rolls around for me—if ever—I'm gonna buy me one of them riding kind of deals. Then I might even hire out—or something.

But I want one that will get around and up close to all the trees, the shrubs and the fences and look like a real old pro has mowed it.

I want one that will go forward, backward and sideways. It should ideally raise itself when there is a high spot in the lawn—or a low spot.

It should catch the clippings and chew 'em up real small like and deposit 'em in the low parts of the lawn for a sort of a mulch. Then a big lawn will be a thing of beauty and a joy forever—to keep.

With all this here automation in the world, we might even get a better thing than I have dreamed up.

8-BALL

The Don McDonalds of College Station were visitors at the Chesley McDonald's last weekend. They all went to Lubbock to visit the Tony Allens.

8-BALL

I have a phobia. And it's not hydro.

At least some people think I have. My idea or phobia is that if I put off something long enough, the need for it will (or may) pass. Then I've saved quite a bit of time, effort, and probably money.

Although his sometimes has been known to backfire.

And cost you.

But, sure enough, it'll work just enough to justify itself.

Just try it and see, if you don't believe it.

8-BALL

No, I haven't seen any flying saucers recently. But I have a sister-in-law that goes along with me on their authenticity (or something).

As long as she won't give up believing in 'em, I won't. So, that's settled.

8-BALL

Besides, flying saucers have never yet hurt anyone.

8-BALL

The dummy woman that is used in the mouth-to-mouth respiration at the first-aid course here the first of the week—is o.k.—I guess.

A real live girl might appeal more to the boys (or the men) and the thing could be worked in reverse—I suppose for the female groups.

Emma Joan Wardlaw, 19-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McEntire, Jr. is an entrant in the Miss Wool of Texas contest next Monday in Dallas. She is 5' 7", brown hair and green eyes. She weighs 126 pounds and is 37-24-37. She is a freshman at Texas Tech majoring in business. She has been a contestant in Make-It-Yourself with Wool contests. Last year she was horseback counselor at Camp Mystic, Hunt, Texas.

We hope she wins.

Roman Legacies

Following the advice of an astronomer, Julius Caesar re-arranged the months and put into operation a calendar with 365 days per year—still in use today. Even the names of our months come from the Latin language.

The Emperor Augustus found Rome a city of brick and made it a city of marble by constructing great aqueducts, temples, theaters, and libraries. This "Golden Age of Rome" has had a lasting influence on today's architects and builders.

The Emperor Justinian codified Roman law which is the basis of our legal system. "A man is presumed innocent until proven guilty" is one of its essentials. The interesting story of Rome's contributions is part of a fascinating series currently appearing in Life Magazine.
