The main feature will be the running deer event in which the shooter fires two shots at a moving deer target. Other events with deer rifles, shotguns and pistols will be held, said Charles Probandt for the club.

Large frozen turkeys will be used as prizes, said Davis.

Nursing Home Talked at Meet Here

Representatives of the Federal Housing and Urban Development agency, an architect and members of the Sterling County Commissioners' Court and City Council met Tuesday afternoon at the courthouse and discussed plans for a nursing home for Sterling county. The HUD people, Jim Mullins and a Mr. Porter, told of loans from that agency—or the procedure for getting financing from that agency, and the group asked questions of various natures. The local group is exploring ways and means of building a nursing home here, next to the hospital and they have made several trips to other places and have held several meetings here to discuss plans.

Among those present at the meeting were Jake Martin, W. W. Durham, Dayton Barrett, C. J. Copeland, Skipper Lively, Lee Reed, Ross Foster, Roland Lowe and architect Allen.

The local group studying the building of the home is in hopes of getting a Hill-Burton grant to help pay for the home, and such seems likely.

GUEST SPEAKER AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY

Robert D. Reeves, a senior student at the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Austin, will be guest speaker for the 11 a.m. services at the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday, November 5.

A resident of Baton Rouge, La., Reeves received his bachelor of arts degree from Northwestern State College in 1963. He has served as a student minister in both Baton Rouge and Zachary, La.

He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Natchitoches, La., and is under care of the Red River Presbytery while he is studying at the Austin Seminary.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH TO HOLD FALL PREACHING MISSION NOV. 12-16

The Rev. William S. McKinley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Eden, will be the guest speaker for the Fall Preaching Mission and youth week at the First Methodist Church here beginning Nov. 12 and continuing through November 16. The activities each evening will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a snack supper for the youth followed by the youth meeting from 7 p.m. until 7:50 p.m. At 8 p.m. the youth will lead the whole congregation in the evening worship services.

The theme of Rev. McKinley's message for the mission will be "The Christian Man and Contemporary Crises."

The sermons are as follows: Sunday, November 12 8 p.m. "Christian Man and the Contemporary Crisis."

Monday, November 13, 8 p.m.—"Contemporary Man and the Christian Crisis."

Tuesday, November 14, 8 p.m.—"A New 'Anger' Theology of the Church."

Wednesday, November 15, 8 p.m.—"Faith, Death and Resurrection."

Thursday, November 16, 8 p.m.—"A New Style of Life Emerging."

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the services each evening. All youth are especially invited to attend the snack suppers and the youth program and the worship service each evening.

Epsilon Zeta Club Meeting

Mrs. Wayne Posey was hostess when the Epsilon Zeta Club met at the community center on the evening of October 24.

Mrs. Charles Allen gave the program. The members voted to have a style show November 30 at the community center. Pie and coffee will be served and admission will be $1 for adults and 50c for students.

Refreshments were served and bingo played. Prizes were won by Mrs. George White, Mrs. Glenn Schneider, Mrs. Tom Crossler and Mrs. Charles Allen.

Others present were Mrs. Joe Blaneck, Mrs. Clinton Hodges, Mrs. Fred Igo, Mrs. Phil Robberson, Mrs. Rickey Hopkins, and Mrs. Bitsy Arp.

50 YEAR MASONIC PINS TO TWO HERE

Two Masons in Sterling received their 50 year pins last Sunday. They were presented by R.T. Foster, Jr. to Roy Foster and Temp Foster from the Grand Lodge.

LIONS CLUB

Dayton Barrett and Leon Miller were guests at the Lions Club luncheon Wednesday at noon in the community center.

The prize went to Stanley Horwood. A note of thanks from Mrs. Foster Conger was read, expressing her thanks for the club relinquishing the community center last Wednesday. The club voted to buy eye glasses for several school children that might need them this school year.

Charles Probandt told of the club's turkey shoot that was to be held here on Nov. 5 at the rifle range. He said there would be classes for pistols, rifles and shotguns, and invited all to come out and to participate and help.

Talk of putting up the usual Christmas lights over the town took some time. It was thought that four strings of lights could be strung over the street and then the courthouse decorated. It was hoped that some other club would put up some kind of Christmas decorations perhaps on the lawn of the courthouse as a club project.

Skipper Lively said that the mayor here, Lee Reed, said that both San Angelo and Big Spring were thinking of putting a city sales tax to a vote and that maybe people here might ought to be thinking of such a deal here—especially if the neighboring cities did.

Lively said he would like for people to be thinking of a nursing home here. He said a petition to call for a bond election to finance such a home, was being circulated and he thought one should be built here, in connection or adjacent to the hospital.

County judge Jake Martin said the county was trying to get a Hill-Burton grant to help pay for half of such a home here. He said the commissioners court was getting together the cost of such a home, and the cost of operating one together before they acted on anything definite. He said the figures on cost, etc. would be available in about two weeks. New member pins were presented to W. G. Fincher, Jim Hinsha and O. T. Jones.

P.T.A. CARNIVAL HELD

The annual P.T.A. Halloween Carnival was held at the school house Tuesday night. Approximately $600 was taken in at the gate and from the various booths and exhibits.

The money raised will be used for the association's projects through the year, it was said.

Riley King and wife returned from near Bayfield, Colorado last week from a deer hunt. Riley said he got a couple of deer, AND a big brown bear. The bear had been coming into camp and getting at the deer carcasses, so he got it at night—and the bear weighed between six and seven hundred pounds. Riley said the bear had a thick layer of fat and was evidently storing up fat for the hibernation period.

Social Security

Why should a man with a wife and young children concern himself with anything that seems as far away as social security?

A new booklet, "Social Security Information for Young Families," specifically designed to answer this question is now available, social security district manager, Ted F. Moellering announced today.

"Social security is not just a retirement program, and it is not just for old people," Moellering said. This new booklet gives the young worker important information about the survivors and disability protection that he and his family have now.

Nine out of ten families in Sterling City have social security survivor protection which can amount to over $75,000 in benefits if the breadwinner should die, Moellering pointed out.

Disability insurance is the other social security program of particular importance to the young worker. After just five years of work under social security, the worker and his family are eligible to receive monthly benefit payments if he should become severely disabled and the condition is expected to last a year or longer.

Moellering said "Social Security Information for Young Families" explains in detail survivors and disability protection, what it can mean to a family, and how to make an application should it become necessary. Also included is information on how to check your social security account and the financing of social security.

Copies of this pamphlet may be obtained free of charge from the social security office at 3000 West Harris in San Angelo, Texas.

Does the average worker get his money's worth for his social security contributions?

The answer is "Yes", according to Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager. Young workers can be sure, too, that the social security benefits payable to them and their dependents in the future will be substantially increased by the time they qualify for payment.

"The social security program is financed in such a way that benefits can be more than kept up to date with rising prices—without an increase in contribution rates," Moellering said. Because the social security tax is a percentage of payroll, income to the program rises more than benefit obligations as wage levels go up, he explained.

In an expanding economy, rising wages produce more income for the social security system and make it possible to increase benefits more than enough to offset any increases from time-to-time in the ceiling on the amount of earnings that is subject to the tax (and which counts toward the individual's future benefit payments).

"But even without considering the likely future improvements in benefit levels," Moellering said, "the average young worker will get retirement, survivors, and disability insurance protection under social security worth 20 to 25 percent more than he will pay in social security tax contributions over a 40-45 year working lifetime—even if you count accumulated interest on those contributions."

At the upper extreme—the young man who starts work in 1973 or later, when the maximum contribution rate for old-age, survivors, and disability insurance goes into effect, and who has earnings at or above the maximum annual amount subject to the social security tax, will no more than just about pay for the value of his protection.

People already at work, Moellering noted, get more protection for their tax contributions than those who will be going to work under social security in the future.

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

The cold weather which is curing and drying the grass on the ranges brings a grass fire problem to the rangeland areas of the state. Sterling County has been fortunate in that there have been no major grass fires in this area in a number of years.

Everyone is urged to take every precaution possible to keep down the possibility of a major fire. One of the simpler means of combating grass fires is a livestock sprayer full of water. Nearly every ranch has a sprayer available; the water capacity varies but many times one hundred gallons of water may prove invaluable in fighting small fires. The sprayer could be kept in a spot where it is readily accessible in the event of a fire. There have been several cases in the last few years in this county where three or four sprayers full of water meant control of a fire.

Another precaution is the numbers of the volunteer fire department. These numbers are the ones to be called in the event of a fire: 378-4771, the sheriff; 378-2091, deputy sheriff; 378-2411, fire chief; 378-3151, assistant chief, and 378-4202, assistant chief. The numbers are listed on the front page of the directory but for ease in finding, they could be placed on a card by the phone.

Time for the pecan harvest is here and along with it the Tom Green County Pecan Show. Date for the show in San Angelo this year is November 30.

A number of Sterling County residents have entered pecans in the San Angelo Show in the past few years with good success. If you have pecans you would like to enter, please contact the county agent's office here in Sterling City. We will work with you in selecting your entries for the show.

In last week's rundown on the Junior Lamb Show at the State Fair, we neglected to report that the Sterling County 4-H Club won ten dollars and a rosette in the Exhibit Award Division of the show. This award is made for the attractive presentation of the club's entries in the show. The award is based on the daily appearance of the exhibit and personnel, cooperation with show officials, and the availability of personnel to furnish information about their animals to those viewing the exhibit.

Five awards are made in the lamb show division. Sterling County placed fifth in the show in this division.

Information has been received from Mrs. Emma Van Laningham of the Home Economics Department of Angelo State College concerning the MAKE IT YOURSELF WITH WOOL CONTEST. Deadline for entering the District Contest in San Angelo is December 1, according to the information. The contest itself will be held on December 9 at Angelo State College.

Sterling County has had a number of entrants in this contest who have done well in the past. It is hoped that there will again be a number of girls from this area to enter the contest which is of importance to the county in its role as a wool producer. Information is available in the County Agents office, and also from the homemaking teacher's room.

The slight decrease in the number of screwworm cases the last week in Texas is gratifying to the officials of the eradication program. However, it does not mean that the danger of the fall outbreak is over. Inspectors working with the program in the San Angelo area say that they are still being kept busy seven days a week investigating confirmed cases; they are also marking the areas for the aerial fly drop of sterile flies.

Thus far, Sterling County has had twelve samples submitted to the laboratory for identification; all have been non-screwworm. Producers are urged to maintain their vigilance in order to keep the spread in check. Thus far, the majority of confirmed cases have been to the south of this county but there have been a number in recent weeks in nearby counties. Continued vigilance until well after the colder weather ahead of us is necessary to protect $35 million that livestock producers, the federal government, and the state government have invested in the program.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The following is a "re-run" of this column on June 6, 1963. A sequel to it will follow next week.

Nathan Hale did not say: "Me spy on the British? Are you trying to be funny- Do you know what they do to spies they catch? I will give you a news flash, chum. They hang them."

Paul Revere did not say: "What do you mean, me ride through every Middlesex village and town, and in the middle of the night, too Why pick on me Am I the only man in Boston with a horse?"

Patrick Henry did not say: "Sure, I'm for liberty. First, last and always, I'm for liberty. But we have got to be realistic. We are a pretty small outfit. If we start pushing the British around, someone is likely to get hurt."

George Washington did not say: "Gentlemen, I am honored and appreciate your confidence, but I just have too much to do. I am just starting to get things in shape out at Mount Vernon."

Since these heroes did not say these things, they would be considered "squares" nowadays.

This word "squares", according to Mr. Charles H. Brower, originated with convicts. To them a square was an inmate who would not conform to the convict code. From this the sophisticated have applied it to the man who never learned to get away with wrongdoing. To them, he is a Joe who volunteers when he does not have to. He is a guy who gets his kicks from trying to do something better than anyone else can. He is a boob who gets so lost in his work that he has to be reminded to go home. He is a slob who still gets choked up when the band plays "America, the Beautiful."

The square does not fit too well into many current groups of angle players, corner cutters, sharp shooters and goof-offs. He does not even like to open packages before Christmas. He does not want to fly now and pay later. He is burdened down with old fashioned ideas of honesty, loyalty courage and thrift. In fact, he may be on his way to complete extinction.

In Mark Twain's day, the word "Square" was pretty wholesome and one of the finest. At that time you gave a man a square deal if you were honest. You gave him a square meal if he was hungry. You stood foursquare for the right as you saw it, and square against everything else. When you got out of debt you were square with the world. And that was when you could look your fellow man square in the eye.

Of course, we know that times change. With changes come different expressions, just as we hear new tunes and have new dances.

Sometimes come of these things sound somewhat foreign. It causes one to wonder if we are importing ideas, than exporting them.

It has been pointed out that the famous quotes from Nathan Hale, Patrick Henry and others have been practically dropped from all textbooks.

In nine of the new texts, the reply of John Paul Jones to the British demand for surrender, "I have not yet begun to fight," does not even appear.

Today we have a new set of heroes. Their names are Glenn and Grissom, Shepard, Carpenter, Shirra and Cooper. These heroes are from nice small towns with names like Sparta, Boulder, East Derry, Mitchell and Shawnee. Maybe these men are squares and maybe the reason is they have lived too far from the sophisticated influences to keep from becoming squares. For who but a square would volunteer his life for his country's good? This would be the opinion of some of those who want to make fun of a square, but not these squares. We can be thankful there are still some, and hope there will be a great deal more.

Next week we will talk about Bobby Dylan's new song, "Something Is Happening in the Land, and You Don't Know What It Is, Do You, Mr. Jones?" Mr. Jones is the "Square" and most of us, young and old, are Mr. Joneses.

For Social Security

About one of every five applicants for social security disability benefits delays so long before making his application that he risks possible loss of some payments, Ted F. Moellering, district manager of social security in San Angelo, said today.

In an effort to remedy this situation, the Social Security Administration is asking anyone who might possibly qualify for disability benefits to get in touch with a social security office as soon as possible.

"Some people fail to apply because they don't realize that they can benefit from the program," Moellering said. "Younger people often think that social security payments only for people in their sixties, whereas the disability was specifically set up to protect the wage earner who is forced to stop working before he is old enough to collect retirement benefits."

A person under 65 can receive monthly payments if he has a physical or mental impairment that has kept, or will keep, him from working for a year of more. Individual benefits range from $44 to $152 a month. If the worker has dependents, total family benefits can amount to as much as $339 monthly.

"Others don't file because they are under the impression that they have to be permanently disabled. This was generally true before a 1965 change in the law, but now payments can go to a person whose disability has lasted, or is expected to last, for 12 months or longer," Moellering pointed out.

Benefits begin after a person has been disabled for 6 full months. No benefits can be paid for months during this "waiting period." Also, the law limits the back benefits a person can collect to the 12 months before the month in which he applies.
