Berlin, Germany at HemisFair, Texas

One way to see West Berlin and the rest of the free part of Germany this summer is to visit the Germany-Berlin-Alemania Pavilion at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio, Texas, Apr. 6-Oct. 6, 1968. Once there, you will be eligible to enter on-the-spot contests that may win you a fine German camera or even a real 7-day expenses-paid trip to Berlin for two.

One of the many eye-catching exhibits in the German Pavilion is the "Informator" shown above. The two large maps of the Federal Republic of Germany and of the access routes to Berlin are encircled by viewers that show historic as well as current aspects of life and activities. The electronically controlled 4-minute program includes a commentary in English and Spanish, heard through loudspeakers in the base.

In line with HemisFair's theme of "The Confluence of Civilizations in the Americas," the two-story pavilion also contains examples of the cultural and technological contribution by Germans to the present knowledge and skills on this continent.

Other ties that link Germany and the Americas include the first use of the name "America" on a map by the German cartographer Martin Waldseemueller in 1507; the arrival in Philadelphia in 1683 of the Concord, the German Mayflower, with 13 families from the Rhineland; and General von Steuben (1730-1794), an organizer of the Continental Army in the American Revolution.

Also portrayed are John Meusebach, who negotiated the peace treaty with the Comanches in 1847, and Carl Schurz, the Senator from Missouri who later became U.S. Secretary of the Interior (1877-1881); and so on, to Dr. Wernher von Braun, "father" of the Saturn V., and Prof. Hubertus Strughold, scientific head of the School of Aerospace Medicine in San Antonio since its founding in 1949.

A Question of Investing

What did the market do today? Few other questions raise as many anxieties, affect as many people or involve as as much money as that one.

The people in question are shareholders, more than 20 million in number...the money is theirs, an astronomical $600 billion worth of listed securities; the anxieties are understandable, as constantly shifting market conditions can puff or depress values by turns.

Time was when the stock market was largely the province of men of wealth. But the picture is vastly changed from what it was 40 or 50 years ago.

Until mutual funds were established in the early 1920's, the small investor was without a vehicle that could provide, in one convenient and practical package, the kind of professional management and diversification that once only wealthy individuals could afford.

The mutual fund idea is a simple one. It provides a means through which people with similar investment goals may pool their money in an effort to achieve these goals. By combining their invest-income whether he has inment dollars, they are able vested $100 or $1,000,000. to engage the services of professional investment managers at a cost which is divided among all shareholders.

YOUR VOTE MAY 4-BE SURE IT COUNTS!

Under the new election code, you must place an X or check mark on the ballot square by each name. You must mark the square even in unopposed races for your vote to count—and I do hope to get your vote counted on May 4.

I wish to thank all the voters of the 66th District for their consideration and for confidence expressed in allowing me to run unopposed in the Democratic primary. I hope to meet many more of you before the general election in November.
