SCREWWORM OUTBREAK IN TEXAS

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country" — thus goes a sentence on which beginning typing students practice typing. As of Tuesday of this week, this sentence might well read "Now is the time for all livestock producers to increase their watch for screwworms."

On Tuesday, word was received by the county agent that Sterling County had its first confirmed case of screwworms identified at the Mission laboratory since October 15, 1966. The 1968 case of worms was taken from a cut on the foot of a horse on the Lester Foster ranch three miles from Sterling City on the San Angelo highway. Taken from the wound on June 25, the sample was placed in William Foster's pickup to be mailed at the post office in Sterling City. On his way to the Glasscock County ranch, William found the post office had not opened yet and went on to the ranch. In one way the sample became misplaced or lost and was found several days later after being hunted for and mailed to the laboratory.

The last confirmed case of worms, in October of 1966, was found in calves on a ranch operated by George Sisco about six miles from where the present case was found. As many remember, 1965 had been a bad year for the worms with fifteen cases being confirmed in twelve days during the month of June, 1965. During 1967, the county had no confirmed cases of worms.

Thus far, 1968 is running well ahead of any previous years since the program started in the number of confirmed cases in the state. Over 650 cases have already been identified as compared to 54 at the same time last year. Officials of the program fear that the number of confirmed samples probably is about one-fourth of the actual number of screwworm cases in the state. The weather has been ideal for the development of the worms. A labor shortage probably has been one of the contributing factors to the buildup or cases; with insufficient labor, it is hard to see the livestock as often as is wise or as many would like. Officials also fear that apathy and laxness on the part of producers in some areas is also contributing to the buildup. They also fear that the late marking of livestock is also playing a part in the flare-up of confirmed cases.

All producers are urged to maintain a careful watch for all suspected cases. Now that one case has been confirmed, it is likely that more will show up before the outbreak can be put down. S. B. Henderson, livestock inspector from San Angelo, who investigated the case at the Foster's, said this case made more cases in this area a distinct possibility until the sterile flies had time to put down the outbreak. Although the wound was treated promptly and the worms killed, there is a possibility that a few worms may have dropped to the ground prior to treatment and will complete the cycle there emerging as fertile flies. The investigative report was phoned in by Henderson Tuesday afternoon and he felt that sterile flies would probably be dropped in the area on Wednesday morning. Currently, the flies are being air dropped in this area by planes flying out of a substation at Uvalde, this being nearer than the distribution center at Mission.

In addition to maintaining a close watch on their stock, producers are urged to treat all

W.N. Reed, 74, Buried Here

W. N. (Bill) Reed, 74, a well-known West Texas ranchman and registered Hereford breeder and authority, died at 7:45 a.m. Monday at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo.

Funeral services were held at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Church of Christ here, with Marion Hayes, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Reed was a noted cattle judge and was chosen to select the animals to be auctioned in the Concho Hereford Association in San Angelo. He was recently honored by the association for his contributions to the association and to the cattle industry in West Texas.

The Sterling County ranchman ranched in Sterling County for more than 50 years with his brother, Lee Reed, and their holdings are in three ranches and comprise about 50,000 acres in four counties.

Mr. Reed was a native of Sterling County and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Neal Reed, who came to Sterling County in 1888 and settled on a ranch located on the Concho River. He was married to Nita Longshore in 1916. The couple had one daughter, Mrs. Chesley McDonald, of Sterling City.

Mr. Reed was noted for his range conservation practices and had sprayed more than 10,000 acres of land to kill out mesquite and improve range conditions.

The late Sterling County ranchman was considered by West Texas cattlemen to be one of the best judges of breeding bulls in the business. He has judged bulls for more than 30 years and has officiated in the Concho Hereford Association and Howard County--South Pains Hereford Association sales and shows.

He is survived by his wife; Mrs. McDonald; three brothers, John, Nick and Lee Reed, all of Sterling City; and three grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Jeff Davis, Seth Bailey, Riley King, Lynn Glass, Jim Butler and Reynolds Foster, all of Sterling City; Bill Cushing of Clarendon and Clayton Webster of San Angelo.

Animals that are being marked. It would be a good idea to put these animals in a small trap if possible where they could be observed daily until they have healed. Officials urge treating all such animals with a recommended screwworm preventive treatment; spraying with recommended sprays is also urged.

Mailing tubes and vials are available if needed. Every ranch vehicle should have at least one vial and tube in it. If vials and tubes are needed, they are available in the county agent's office. They are also available in the local ASCS office and both feed stores. Occasionally a vial will be found in one of the tubes that does not have the liquid in it; if this is the case, put in water or alcohol.

In collecting the worms from a wound, get some from deep in the wound. Many times those on the top of a wound will be maggots working on the dead tissue while screwworms are at work deep in the wound. Laboratory officials report that in a number of cases producers have sent in a sample from a wound that was identified as nonscrewworm; when the wound did not respond to treatment, another sample showed it to be screwworms when taken from deeper in the wound.

Some samples are arriving at the laboratory without the information slip being filled out; check to make sure this is

Good Showers This Week

Good showers blew into Sterling City about midnight Monday, leaving up to an inch in town and varying amounts over the county.

Fowler McEntire said he got three tenths of an inch on his place west of town and the rain was heavier in other areas. Webb Hudson recorded .8 inch, and the official gauge at Jim Hinshaw's showed .90 inch.

Wednesday Afternoon Shower
An inch fell in a hard shower here in town Wednesday afternoon. 1.20 was gauged in the News-Record gauge—and fall was heavier in the north and northeast.

Stork Wins Race

Little Carol Jean Wayne beat the stork to the local hospital Sunday afternoon about 3:30. The "fast" baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wayne of Midland.

About 3:30 p.m. papa Wayne burst into the hospital here and said, "Help get my wife in here, she's having a baby in the car." Mrs. Ruth Hill, nurse, ran out and came back in saying it was too late to do anything—except bring the baby and mother in. Mrs. John Copeland, who is a RN and sometimes helps at the hospital rushed over, cut the cord, and Mrs. Hill brought the baby in. Mrs. Copeland wheeled Mrs. Wayne in a wheelchair.

Hospital administrator Mrs. Joe Emery called Dr. McDaniel over from Robert Lee—who came over "fast." Mrs. Wayne returned home Monday afternoon. It was the fourth child of the Waynes.

Lions Officers Installed

The Sterling City Lions Club held its annual ladies night and installation of officers last Friday night at the community center.

Officers installed were: Tom Asbill, president; Skipper Lively, 1st v-p; Dan Glass, 2nd v-p; Albert McGinnes, 3rd v-p; Hal Knight, secy-treasurer; Henry Bauer, Tail Twister; Seth Bailey, Lion Tamer; New directors — Stan Horwood, Jim Davis and Roland Lowe.

About 40 club members, their wives, and other invited guests were present said a club member.

Jim Davis was the retiring club president.

Jaynell Cope is club pianist and sweetheart. Mrs. T. A. Gartman is the club hostess and had charge of the meal.

done. A confirmed case of screwworms with no means of identification as to the name of the sender or location creates a problem at the lab.

This may well be a trying year in the program. The cooperation of every producer is needed to make the program work. It has been proven that the sterile fly treatment does work—the producer have invested their money in the program and must follow through. At the present time, all outbreaks are being "hotspot" treated with the sterile flies and will continue to be treated. Several drops of flies, a few days apart, are being put into every area around where a confirmed case is found.

Remember the ABC's of screwworm eradication:

- A—Always treat all wounds
- B—Be on alert for any suspected cases
- C—Carefully take all samples
- D—Do not drop any worms on the ground and kill all worms in the wound

LIONS CLUB

The Sterling Lions Club met Wednesday noon for the regular weekly luncheon. The new president, Tom Asbill, presided.

An acknowledgement from the family of Horace Donalson was read by the president.

A colored picture of club pianist Jaynell Cope was presented to her. It had been made when she served as the club's entrant in the Lions Club District Queen Contest in Brownwood in May.

Lion Albert McGinnes asked that everyone who is on his service to report each time the power is off or they see lightning strike a utility installation—or any hanging wires. That way, he and his crew can repair the service faster.

Behind the 8-Ball

By the editor.

Dr. Swann, who commands the respect and admiration of all who really know him, was born in Alabama. He has been here since 1930. He attended Emory University in Atlanta and the University of Alabama. He did hospital work in Shreveport and Atlanta, and one time had a scholarship in obstetrics and pediatrics at Baylor University.

He married Opal Chumley in 1926 in Bronte. They have one son, Bill, who is an attorney in Gulfport, Miss.

Swann, the genial disciple of Hippocrates, has served in innumerable civic capacities here. He has served as chairman of the board of stewards of the Methodist Church, secretary of the Masonic Lodge, President of the Lions Club, president of the Tom Green 8-County Medical Society, health officer for Sterling and Glasscock counties, etc., etc., etc.

With an engaging sense of humor he makes real friends of his young patients—the children. They all are amused and pleased at his humor, etc. when he treats them. Most patients will acknowledge his worth in the field of medicine.

Before living here, Swann has lived in Burnside, Miss., Fulton, Ala., and Roscoe, Tex. He was born in Wedowee, Ala., son of Mrs. J. C. Swann and the late Dr. Swann. He is licensed to practice medicine in Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, and Texas.

RESOLUTION OF SYMPATHY

In Memory of Horace Finley Donalson who died June 19, 1968. He was a faithful charter member of the Sterling Volunteer Fire Department, and was admired and respected for his faithful attendance and diligence as a volunteer fireman. Nothing but illness or being out of town kept him from the regular meetings.

The chief above has called him to his final resting place to be in eternal light.

Whereas, in acknowledgement of the ties and memories of our departed friend and fellow worker, be it resolved that

The Sterling Volunteer Fire Department tenders to the family our sincere condolences in their sorrow, and that a copy of this resolution be printed in the Sterling City News-Record.

Dr. Wm. J. Swann

An appreciation dinner for Dr. Wm. Swann and presentation of thanks and appreciation to him for his faithful and talented service to this community has been set. It is now planned for Thursday, July 11 at 7:30 p.m. A catered supper will be had for those attending at a cost of $1.50. A plaque of some nature showing the appreciation of citizens is to be made, and a check for all the money donated will be presented to him to use as he sees fit.

So many people had different ideas as to what should be bought for him in the way of a gift, it was decided just to present him with the money—and let him buy what he wants himself. This seemed the best way to deal with that problem.

If you want in on the gift (and who doesn't) just take or mail your gift check to Mrs. Martin C. Reed at the bank here. She is taking all donations. Make your check out to the Swann Appreciation Fund.

If you plan to attend the supper and presentation, let Mrs. Lee Augustine know as soon as possible. We'll have to know the approximate amount of persons to feed, so a deal can be made with the catering firm. Plates will cost $1.50 each.

Many communities in the nation do this honoring their doctors for long and faithful service. And we have a doctor that surely is at the top.

Dr. Swann has served the people of Sterling and the area for nearly thirty years—with his time, his talents, his concern, his compassion, his medical and humane knowledge that certainly has been a credit to him, to us, and to his profession. We are lucky.

A program is being worked out for the night and it is hoped that a large crowd of friends, patients, and well-wishers will be on hand.

Show Doctor Swann that his friends and patients appreciate him.

All of this is being done by friends without his consent or knowledge. He probably won't like it, but he surely will appreciate it.

Be There!

CEREAL packages have taken on a new look. The backs of many Post Cereal packages are a miniature recipe file containing wonderful new recipe ideas for ways to use and serve cereal.

Did you know that bran and prune flakes are delicious served with sour cream or yogurt? All you do is stir enough milk into sour cream or yogurt until it's the right consistency, pour the mixture over the cereal and sprinkle brown sugar on top.

Another flavorful way to use bran and prune flakes is with sweet potatoes. This casserole would be the perfect accompaniment to roast pork or ham.

Sweet Potato Casserole

One 1-lb. 2-oz. can sweet potatoes; one 8½-oz. can crushed pineapple; 3 tablespoons butter, melted; 1 slightly beaten egg; 2 tablespoons brown sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; 1½ cups bran and prune flakes.

Drain and mash potatoes. Blend in pineapple, 2 tablespoons butter, egg, sugar, and salt. Gently stir in ½ cup cereal. Bake in a 1-quart casserole at 350° about 20 minutes. Mix remaining butter and cereal; sprinkle over top of casserole. Makes 4 servings.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. The second amendment to the constitution of the United States says, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

For nearly 200 years Americans have believed that they did indeed possess such a right as guaranteed by the Second Amendment.

The first federal gun law regulating the shipment of certain types of firearms in interstate commerce was passed in 1934. This action was the outgrowth of sentiment created by the attempted assassination of President Roosevelt in Miami, Florida in 1933.

In 1939, in a case known as the U.S. vs. Miller, the Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Miller for possession of an unregistered "sawed-off shotgun" as a violation of the Act. The Amendment did not guarantee the right to keep and bear such a firearm for the preservation and efficiency of a well-regulated militia.

More recently, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, writing in the New York University Law Review on the formation of the Declaration of Independence, had this to say:

"Despite these safeguards, the people were still troubled by the recollection of the conditions that prompted the charge of the Declaration of Independence that the King had 'effected to render the military independent and superior to the civil power.' They were reluctant to ratify the Constitution without further assurances, and thus we find in the Bill of Rights, Amendments 2 and 3, specifically authorizing a decentralized militia, guaranteeing the right of the people to keep and bear arms, and prohibiting the quartering of troops in any house in times of peace without the consent of the owner."

In 1941, shortly before Pearl Harbor, Congress passed what is known as the Property Seizure Act. It was made clear in the Law that nothing contained in the Bill should be construed to authorize the President to requisition or require the registration of firearms possessed by an individual for his personal protection or sport, nor that registration should be required. The Law said specifically that the President or any Board, Agency, or Officer, had no right to trespass upon the people in this respect.

The language of the bill further stated that "In the view of the fact that certain totalitarian and dictatorial nations are now engaged in the willful and wholesale destruction of personal rights and liberties, it is appropriate for the Congress to expressly state that the Law shall not be construed to impair or infringe the Constitutional right of the people to bear arms." When a U.S. Senator, the Honorable Hubert H. Humphrey, now Vice President had this to say in connection with the Second Amendment to the Constitution.

"Certainly, one of the chief guarantees of freedom under any government, no matter how popular or respected, is the right of citizens to keep and bear arms . . . the right of citizens to bear arms is just one more guarantee against arbitrary government, one more safeguard against tyranny, which now appears remote in America, but which historically has proved to be always possible."

In 1963, the Congress passed

PL 88-186, amending the Arms Control and Disarmament Act. Section 33 of this Law contains the following provision with respect to the individual's right to keep and bear arms for legitimate purposes:

"Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to authorize any policy or action by any government Agency which would interfere with, restrict, or prohibit the acquisition, possession or use of firearms by an individual for the lawful purpose of personal defense, sport, recreation, education, or training."

In recent debate in the U.S. Senate the Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court was quoted as follows:

"We may happily note that the Constitution has weathered a variety of crises. Some were as acute as those we face today. Today, as always, the people, no less than their Courts, must remain vigilant to preserve the principles of our Bill of Rights, lest in our desire to be secure we lose our ability to be free."

The right of the people of the United States to keep and bear arms is guaranteed not only by the Federal Constitution but by the Constitutions of thirty-five States.

Article I, Section 23 of our own Texas Constitution, says "Every citizen shall have the right to keep and bear arms in the lawful defense of himself or the State; but the legislature shall have power, by Law, to regulate the wearing of arms, with a view to prevent crime."

At the present time a majority of the states are seeking through agreements and Compacts, uniform firearm legislation. It would seem they should have time and opportunity to work their will.

Would it not be better to have local and state enforcement to keep guns out of the hands of criminals, addicts, minors and the mentally deficient, than to have Federal police knocking on our doors?

The point has been made that we register and license dogs and automobiles. True-by the States, Counties or Municipal governments.

Berlin, Germany at HemisFair, Texas

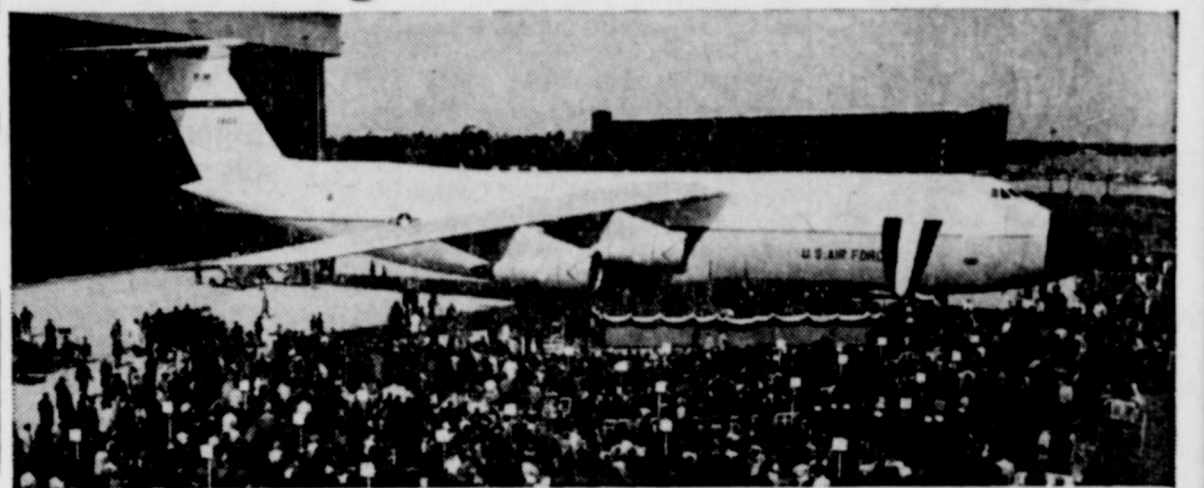

One way to see West Berlin and the rest of the free part of Germany this summer is to visit the Germany-Berlin-Alemania Pavilion at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio, Texas, Apr. 6-Oct. 6, 1968. Once there, you will be eligible to enter on-the-spot contests that may win you a fine German camera or even a real 7-day expenses-paid trip to Berlin for two.

One of the many eye-catching exhibits in the German Pavilion is the "Informator" shown above. The two large maps of the Federal Republic of Germany and of the access routes to Berlin are encircled by viewers that show historic as well as current aspects of life and activities. The electronically controlled 4-minute program includes a commentary in English and Spanish, heard through loudspeakers in the base.

In line with HemisFair's theme of "The Confluence of Civilizations in the Americas," the two-story pavilion also contains examples of the cultural and technological contribution by Germans to the present knowledge and skills on this continent.

Other ties that link Germany and the Americas include the first use of the name "America" on a map by the German cartographer Martin Waldseemuller in 1507; the arrival in Philadelphia in 1683 of the Concord, the German Mayflower, with 13 families from the Rhineland; and General von Steuben (1730-1794), an organizer of the Continental Army in the American Revolution.
