Thanksgiving Remembrances

Area Cotton Harvest Nears Half-Way Mark At Gins

Cotton harvesting operations had begun to pick up considerably in Bailey County and close by areas until the onset of damp weather on Tuesday. Most gins that the Journal surveyed were stacked up with trailers and cotton modules, but predicted they would be caught up by Wednesday unless the weather cleared off so that farmers could get back into the fields.

Some expected bale estimates have increased since our first survey about three weeks ago, while some others have dropped some. Most gins are reporting good turnouts on cotton that did not receive any hail on it, and still others are showing less than average on the hailed on cotton crops.

A check with employees at the Muleshoe Cooperative Gin gave a total of 2700 bales ginned as of Tuesday. "This is probably close to half of what we will gin," said a spokesman. The Muleshoe gin is now running two 12 hour shifts, but will be caught up shortly due to the break in the good weather.

At Lariat Gin, Calvin Meisner told the Journal that he had ginned about 550 bales and expected to gin between 1400-1500 before the season was over. "The cotton had begun coming pretty good, until the rain started," he stated. Meisner says that some of his customers are almost through, while others are just getting underway. Some of the cotton has been real good and some of it pretty disappointing, according to the Gin operator.

Bennie Claunch at Claunch Gin in Bula reported about 1200 bales ginned and expectations of around 1300 more before the season is over. He also said that the cotton had been coming in good up until the showers started.

"We have several modules and trailers on the yard now, (Tuesday)" Claunch said, "but we will be caught up by tomorrow." Some of the cotton there has turned out "Good" to "Bad depending upon the weather that hit it prior to harvest. Turnout has been between 16 and 26 percent.

At the North Lazbuddie Gin, a total of 1806 bales had been ginned by late afternoon on Tuesday, with about 3500 bales expected for the season. A spokeswoman for the gin stated that most of the cotton was averaging close to a bale per acre.

The Farmer's Cooperative Gin at Enochs has ginned 1092 bales to date, and hope to gin about 2,000 total before the season ends. Farmers in that area have begun to pick up some of the "strung-out" cotton in the fields just recently. However, the weather that set in on Tuesday will cause a definite set back in the harvest. Thanksgiving Travel Safety Stressed

Thanksgiving often means traditional family reunions. Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety said today, "Holiday weekends also often mean more collisions, injuries and traffic deaths because more people travel, and more traffic means more exposure to accidents."

Last year during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, Texas recorded 40 traffic fatalities. Major Cawthon said, "Some people tend to drink more during the holidays and then attempt to drive. By doing Con't Page 8, Col. 3

Doc Gleason Wins First, Villalobos Takes Lead

This week's football contest did not have as many upsets as the past couple of contests have had, and the scores were a little closer together as a result. In this writer's opinion, the tie breaker score should have come out differently between Muleshoe and Post. Entries are still "falling off" and that cuts the odds a lot for those who are still entering.

Taking first place in this week's contest was one of our most faithful entrants, "Doc" Jerry Gleason. Doc missed only one game - that being the one between Washington and Washington State. He was eleven points off in the tiebreaker. Gleason will receive 10 points and a check for $6 for his efforts. Adding the ten points of this week to the four of last week (by way of a third place win) gives the good doctor a total of 14 points overall and boosts him up to a higher berth in the contest totals to date.

Second place winner this week is an old hand at this contest business. Raymond Villalobos picks up six additional points and a check for $4 this time. He missed two games and was 7 points off in the tie-breaker scores.

For those of you who've been keeping up with the contest, you will know that Villalobos' second place win for six points pushes him up ahead of the tie with Debbie Weir. Ray has a total of 26 points now as well as the contest lead.

Third place win this week goes to Mrs. Fred Wilbanks. She also missed only two games and was 18 points off in the tiebreaker. Mrs. Wilbanks has been a previous winner on two occasions, gathering 6 1/3 points.

Municipal, JP Court Dockets 'Pick Up'

Both Municipal and Justice Court dockets were both busier this past week, with a number of cases filed and paid.

In Municipal Court, Judge Linda Huckaby recorded a total of 52 filings over the week, and a total of 25 disposals. Those cases filed included thirty for failure to appear on traffic citations, 13 for bad checks, five for speeding and two each for open container-city ordinance violation and no drivers license.

Cases disposed of in Municipal Court included four for bad checks, three for disorderly conduct, three for speeding, three for no MVI, Two violations each were disposed of on the following: no drivers license, violation of city ordinance-open container. One case each was disposed of on the following: public intoxication, contest of speed, violation of drivers license restrictions, no liability insurance, theft, exhibition of acceleration, running red light, and expired plates.

In Justice Court, Justice of the Peace Jack Bates recorded a total of 41 filings on new cases over the past week, along with 29 disposals. Cases filed included 33 for speeding, three for expired MVI, and one each for expired license, no liability, violation of drivers license restrictions, defective tail lamps and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Cases disposed of included 19 for speeding, two for defective tail lights, and one each on the following offenses: possession of drug paraphernalia, loud muffler, fail to drive in single land, public intoxication, displaying fictitious license plates, operating vehicle not registered as required, hunting out of county without license and having dove in possession in closed season.

The barbeque buffet will be served by the Jennyslippers on Friday, December 2 from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

In a regular City Council meeting on Tuesday, November 22, Council members gave their approval to an ordinance amending a section of the Muleshoe City Code of 1974. This particular ordinance has to do with the fees for use of the City disposal area.

City Manager Dave Marr explained to council members that by state law, the city is mandated to have an attendant at the city disposal site anytime that it is open. Marr also advised that one green thumb worker had been employed and another is being considered. City records indicate that an average of 30 vehicles are in and out of the dump area each day. Marr also pointed out that about $15,000 per year will be needed to keep two people in attendance at the city disposal site.

In view of this information and the increased traffic at the city disposal; and in an effort to offset costs of employees at the site, the Council passed an ordinance regarding fees for use of the City disposal area.

The following fees shall be charged for use of the City garbage and trash disposal area: (1) pickup trucks or trailers having a capacity of two cubic yards or less - $5.00 per load; (2) Trucks or trailers having a capacity of between two and six cubic yards - $10.00 per load; and (3) Trucks or trailers having a greater capacity than six cubic yards - $15.00 per load.

The only persons exempt from charges for the use of the garbage disposal area shall be householders disposing of garbage and trash from their own family units on which there is a sanitation charge currently being paid. A file will be kept on the sanitation site premises so that exempt status may be checked by the persons in charge.

Also up for consideration by Council was an ordinance authorizing and allowing under the act governing the Texas Municipal Retirement System, "Updated Service Credits" in the City of Muleshoe for service performed by qualifying members of such system in the employment of the City of Muleshoe. The ordinance also provides for increased prior and current service annuities for retirees and beneficiaries of deceased retirees of the City; providing for participation in the supplemental disability benefits fund of the TML retirement system by all departments of the City Government which now participate in the Texas Municipal Retirement System. It also provides for payment of the city's contributions on account of such participation.

The ordinance allowing for updated service credits for the City of Muleshoe employees was passed unanimously by Council members.

Other discussion at the Council meeting included the upcoming lease expiration on December 31 of the Municipal Airport. City Manager Dave Marr was instructed by Council to proceed with discussions on terms of lease of certain hangers and buildings to the Lockers. It was determined that hangers would be leased at a going rate for the particular type of hanger involved. There will also be a residence for rent on the

Second Phase Of Hedging Shortcourse Planned

The second phase of the Bailey County Hedging Shortcourse will be held on the nights of December 5 and 6 at the Bailey County Coliseum starting at 7:00 p.m. each night. Dr. Roland Smith, Marketing Specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station will direct these two training sessions.

The objectives of hedging can be classified in three major categories: (1) to hedge at a price higher than the ultimate cash market price; (2) to reduce the risk of unfavorable price changes; and (3) to use hedged prices in making profitable management decisions. The success or failure of a hedge, as viewed by the hedger, will depend to a large extent on which of these objectives is most important. The three steps to a successful hedge are: (1) estimating production costs and arrive at a target price to which the producers are willing to sell; (2) localizing the futures price to determine what the local price will be offering at time of sale; and (3) making the decision to hedge or not hedge at a given price level based on the hedger's pricing objective.

While the mechanics of hedging are fairly easy to understand, successful hedging is not a simple matter. This is the sole purpose of the training provided at this educational program to help each producer better understand.

WTSU Blood Drive Goes Over Last Fall

During the month-long drive, West Texas State University students, faculty and staff members donated 1,447 pints to push WTSU further over the top of last fall's goal.

The 1,276th pint broke a 1,275-pint record set during the fall 1982 drive. WTSU students pushed harder and not only passed a 1,400-pint goal, but set a record of 1,447.

A tradition of community service at WTSU grows stronger with the success of each blood drive. As competition increases between residence hall students, more former students and graduates are returning to campus to donate, said Don Strubling, director of Terrill Hall and co-chairperson of the drive.

In what Strubling calls neck-and-neck competition, residents of Cousins and Brown halls, both women's dorms, tied for first place overall. Each dorm has a donor percentage of 116 percent. Brown Hall, with 129 residents, had 150 donors and Cousins Hall, with 163 residents, has 190 donors.

In the men's division, Jarrett Hall East collected 180 pints with 165 residents for a donor percentage of 109 percent. Jarrett Hall East climbed back on top after losing to Conner Hall during the spring 1983 drive. Jarrett Hall East is a

Amended Texas Water Plan Presented

A projected timetable for completion of staff work on an amended Texas Water Plan was presented to the Texas Water Development Board today by the Executive Director of the Texas Department of Water Resources.

The Department intends to present the amended plan to the Board for Consideration and adoption by September, 1984.

Currently, staff are revising the draft document, "Water for Texas: Planning for the Future" in response to comments made during a series of public meetings held during the summer of 1983.

In addition water conservation actions plans, recommended policies, and possibly proposed legislation and rules will be developed. Staff work on this phase is expected to be completed during the spring of 1984.

Review of the draft plan is expected to be completed by the end of April, 1984 and a hearing on water rights issues associated with an amended plan is contemplated for June of 1984.

Overall, the men had a donor percentage of 75.5 percent while the women had a 72.2 donor percentage.

With hepatitis problems plaguing the Lubbock and Canyon communities earlier in the month, officials were concerned over the apparent success of the blood drive.

"With all the publicity surrounding the hepatitis, even 1,200 would have been superb with everything taken into consideration," said Bobby Thomas, director of community relations at Coffee Memorial Blood Center in Amarillo.

"There are not enough words to express what's happened," he said. "It's amazing."

With the blood collected from this drive, WTSU again will be able to supply the blood needs of 23 area hospitals in 27 counties within a 100-mile radius of Canyon, Thomas said.

When blood bank officials conduct a blood drive, he said, they usually expect to collect about 25 percent from the total population. When Coffee Blood Center workers come to WTSU that percentage is about 50 percent higher. From a drawing base of 2,200 students living on campus, the percentage this fall was 72 and 75 percent, he said.

Texas Tech University at Lubbock recently finished a blood drive where they collected about 1,500 pints with a drawing base of about 25,000.

"We are very fortunate in this area to have WTSU students with this kind of attitude toward giving," he said.

Non-Farm Issues Hurt Agriculture

U.S. Agriculture is no longer an island unto itself. In fact, it is dominated by non-farm issues that have sent farm incomes into a tailspin since 1979.

"Farmers are experiencing severe financial distress largely because farm groups and their policymakers have exerted little influence over the many complex non-farm issues affecting and controlling agriculture," says Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Monetary and fiscal policies and international trade actions of governments impact heavily on the economic health of agriculture, Anderson points out. These outside influences embrace interest rates, trade subsidies of other countries, the internationally strong dollar which discourages exports and encourages imports, tariffs, trade restrictions, inflation, economic conditions at home and overseas, foreign credit conditions and required shipments on U.S. vessels.

"National farm income has fallen sharply in recent years due to these influences, plummeting from $32.3 billion in 1979 to $22.1 billion in 1982," the economist notes. "Not only have export markets declined sharply during these years, but this country's recession and high unemployment have caused sagging domestic markets."

While domestic markets have improved some in recent months with the economy on the upswing, overseas markets hold the key to farmers' hopes, contends Anderson. Currently, about two out of every five crop acres are devoted to production for foreign customers. In Texas, more than half of the cotton, wheat and rice crops are exported.

"If farmers expect reasonable earnings from a high level of crop production, they must overcome some major hurdles in international trade," Anderson says. "Yet little action is under way to deal with the things that are curtailing our exports—the strong dollar, foreign trade subsidies, trade barriers, unfair tariffs, shipping restrictions, unfavorable trade agreements and poor foreign credit conditions."

The economist believes that considerable effort should be devoted to an in-depth analysis of trade policies. This should include distributing Commodity Credit Corporation-owned commodities to foreign customers, expanding credit to foreign buyers, and encouraging trade agreements with other industrialized countries. Trade with third world countries also offers opportunities, and expanded PL 480 shipments (food for peace) might expedite trade and develop markets with these countries.

What does the future hold as far as agricultural policy is concerned?

This year's PIK (payment-in-kind) program was a short-term effort to deal with the chronic surplus production problem that has been plaguing American agriculture. This program has been expensive and difficult to administer and could have been avoided by an effective supply-management program in 1981 and 1982, believes Anderson.

"This leaves us at a crossroads of market-oriented farm programs versus effective supply-management that encompasses mandatory production controls and possible marketing quotas," points out the economist.

"There's no doubt the present farm program will be changed because of its cost," Anderson adds.

"Whatever program takes its place must respond to non-agricultural issues of international policies and monetary and fiscal policies affecting interest rates, money supply and the growing budget deficit. If not, the farm sector will continue to go downhill."

A Look at the Cross on THANKSGIVING

"Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted."

"But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed."

"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." Isaiah 53:4-6

Our prayer this Thanksgiving Season is that everyone will attend the house of God, giving thanks unto him for his great gift, which is eternal life through his son.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Across The Fence

By Linda Mullin

Estate planning means organizing your financial affairs so that after you have enjoyed the use of your possessions during your lifetime, they go to whom you want, in the manner you want, depleted as little as possible by taxes and other expenses. It includes gifts made during your lifetime and bequests distributed through a will.

Some men assume that only they know what is best for their families or that their wives do not understand (or care) about future financial arrangements. As a result, a will may be written and property arranged for without any real discussion of the wife's opinions, fears and objectives. Unfortunately, a plan drawn up in a wife's "best interests" may deprive her of effective control of her life. Therefore, married women should establish their own financial identity, to be prepared for widowhood or the possibility of divorce, to learn by doing, and to be in control of their own financial well-being.

Some women are glad to have the management of money and other assets taken out of their hands. But a wife should be included in the decision, with all the implications fully explained to her, she is likely to outlive her husband; she will have to live with the financial decisions embodied in the will; so she should be a part of the drawing of the will and the complete estate plan.

All assets a couple owns should not necessarily be divided 50-50. It can be convenient for both spouses to have access to a joint checking account. It can save time and, possibly, money for jointly owned assets to become automatically and immediately the possessions of a surviving spouse. And some assets, such as a home, are neither practically nor easily divisible. But there are other assets, such as savings instruments, securities, investment real estate properties and cars, that can be owned solely by either spouse.

For additional estate planning assistance, plan to attend the Estate Planning Seminar on December 1, 1983 at 7:30-9:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. This program, presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will consist of a panel of estate planning professionals. This will be an opportunity for you to become more familiar with the estate planning process and how to make it financially beneficial to you.

In Fashion

The art of looking well groomed is to plan wisely before purchasing your wardrobe.

First, select a suit and blouse that can go from work to an evening event.

A twin sweater set is interchangeable especially if the top sweater is a cardigan style.

A contrasting skirt completes the collection. Use your imagination in coordinating about one dozen different outfits.

Crimson Tide Favored Over Boston College

Alabama lost its last three games in 1982, but the Tide might close out its 1983 season by winning its last three games. L.S.U., Southern Mississippi, and Auburn were the culprits last fall. Southern Mississippi has already succumbed - two weeks ago... Boston College and Auburn are the final two. Alabama travels to Foxboro, Mass., for a post-Thanksgiving contest on Friday against the talented Doug Flutie and the Boston College Eagles. The Eagles were nosed out by Auburn 33-26 in the Tangerine Bowl last year, and in spite of a recent upset loss to Syracuse, they're hoping for another post-season invitation this fall. The Tide, sporting a 7-2 record, will be favored over Boston College. On Saturday, December 3rd, in Birmingham, Alabama challenges mighty Auburn. And with successive wins over Florida, Maryland, and Georgia, the Auburn Tigers don't plan to stub their claws against Alabama... but they might. We favor Auburn in this finale to the regular season.

Pasadena is the unusual site for the 1983 Army-Navy classic Friday. Following a 3-3 tie in 1981, Navy beat Army last fall 24-7. The Midshipmen should win again, but as in any traditional contest, anything can happen. And it's true, Army does win - occasionally. And the Sooners of Oklahoma finally get their chance to try to stop the fabulous offense of undefeated top-ranked Nebraska. Oklahoma almost matched the Cornhuskers in Lincoln a year ago, losing 28-24. This year the Sooners are at home. Nebraska has already rolled up 596 points through

Firewood Use Increased In Texas Households

About 25 percent of Texas' 4.9 million households burn wood. The average Texas family burns just over one cord each year, totaling almost one and one-third million cords per year for the entire state.

A U.S. Forest Service survey confirms that stoves, fireplaces and furnaces in American homes now burn more wood than at any other time since World War II, according to Chuck Stayton, wood products specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In 1981, residential wood-burning used 42 million standard cords, which is almost five times the amount burned 10 years ago. This wood burned in our homes is about one-fourth of the total wood used for all other wood products in the U.S. and would make a wall 8 feet wide by 44 feet high stretching from Washington, D.C., to San Francisco, Stayton points out.

Some 5,500 U.S. households were surveyed to determine increases in residential woodburning and sources of fuelwood. Results show that one-fourth of all U.S. households burned wood in 1981 and that three-fourths of all fuelwood used was cut by homeowners within short distances of their homes, Stayton continues. One-half of all rural households burn wood while less than one-fourth of urban area households use fuelwood.

People in the Pacific Northwest, Northern Rocky Mountains and New England burned the most wood per household. Southern households burned as much, on the average, as those in the Midwest states from Ohio to North Dakota, notes Stayton.

Half of all household fuelwood consumers used relatively inefficient fireplaces, burning one-fourth of the 42 million cord total, Stayton continues. Eight percent of all U.S. households, representing one-third of the woodburning households, use wood as their main heating fuel. They burned an average three-and-one-third standard cords per year.

one-half cord each per year. Stayton, headquartered at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Overton, points out that if fuelwood sales were a single business, it would be one of the 500 largest companies in the U.S., with a nationwide sales value of $620 million in 1981. Fuelwood is bought in amounts ranging from an armload up to a 17-cord truck load. Prices per cord range from about $400 when purchased in small amounts to $50 for loads of more than three cords, Stayton says. The average cost of one delivered cord is $71.

Fuelwood displaced only 2 to 3 percent of other home heating fuels, Stayton points out. Although the energy contained in the 42 million cords used in 1981 equalled 9 percent of the energy level in other heating fuels used, only 30 percent of the wood energy was converted to useful heat.

This conversion rate is low because much of the wood was burned in inefficient fireplaces, says the specialist. High oil and electricity prices have encouraged woodburning in rural households but did not influence urban households nearly as much because it is more inconvenient and expensive, says Stayton. Thus, the largest reduction in fossil fuel use due to replacement by fuelwood is in the forest products industries.

The survey suggests that home woodburning will not increase as natural gas prices increase. Rural natural gas users will probably burn more wood, says Stayton, but most natural gas users live in urban areas and burning wood will remain inconvenient and costly. Also, it is unlikely that fuelwood will be competitive with pulpwood. Only one-fourth of the fuelwood is purchased. The other three-fourths is cut by consumers, half of whom found it within 6 miles of their home, Stayton points out. In addition, more than three-fourths of the fuelwood comes from trees that are seldom used for pulpwood, and prices paid for large quantities of delivered fuelwood were not much higher than for pulpwood.

Removing waste wood to use as fuelwood allows more space for growing tree species needed for plywood, lumber and other important uses. The increased income to landowners is also an incentive for more effective forest management, notes Stayton.

Some Vets To Receive Cost Of Living Increase

Some Texas veterans and their survivors receiving VA pension benefits under the "improved" pension plan will receive a 3.5 percent cost-of-living increase effective December 1, according to the Waco VA Regional Office Acting Director.

VA pensions are paid to wartime veterans totally and permanently disabled from circumstances unrelated to their military service. They are also paid to needy survivors of wartime veterans. Unlike compensation paid to those disabled because of military service, pensions are based on income from other sources.

The first check reflecting the cost-of-living increase will be mailed to VA pension recipients on or about January 1, 1984.

Veterans and survivors who are receiving benefits under the "improved" pension plan of 1979 will receive the increase.

Opry Auditions Scheduled

Auditions for the next four West Texas Opry shows will be held from 7:00 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday, November 29, at the Lubbock Garden and Arts Center, 42nd Street and University.

Producer Cecil Caldwell said the auditions are open to all entertainers who are interested in performing on the popular country and western show.

Caldwell noted that a piano will be provided, however, if needed, participants should bring a tape or an accompanist.

The West Texas Opry is patterned after the original Grand Ole Opry in Nashville and its purpose is to provide good, family entertainment while giving a showcase to the multitude of talent in the West Texas area, Caldwell said. The proceeds from the West Texas Opry are donated to various charities.

For further information call Maxine Caldwell at 793-5848.

Cotton Harvesting At Fast Pace Now

High Plains cotton harvesting expanded at an explosive pace late last week when drying conditions improved. Field stored seed cotton in modules appeared at a rapid rate when harvesting quickly out ran ginning capacity, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director at USDA's Marketing Services office in Lubbock.

Daily sample receipts climbed sharply into the 30,000 to 35,000 range at Lubbock, Bennett continued. A second classing shift was started Monday and a third shift on Tuesday. With around-the-clock classing underway, the season's finally arrived, he concluded.

Cotton prices moved lower as harvest expanded. Growers sold small mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and better, staples 30-32, mike 35-49 at 1325 to 1600 points over 1983 CCC loan rates - down about one-half cent compared to one week ago. Gins paid growers $155 to $185 per ton for cottonseed, mostly $165 to $175.

USDA's Marketing Services office at Lubbock classed 63,400 samples during the week ended Thursday, November 17. This brought the season's total to Pensions for veterans and survivors under the "old" plan remain fixed and payable at the rates in effect in 1978. But those rates are protected against termination that would otherwise result from Social Security cost-of-living increases in their income.

"Old" plan recipients may request transfer to the "improved" plan at any time, and VA will carefully review each application to advise applicants to choose the plan which works best to their personal advantage.

Rates and details about the pension program and rates increases are available from the Waco VA Regional Office or from local representatives of veterans service organizations.

Veterans needing more information should write, visit, or call the VA regional office toll-free number listed in your local telephone directory under "Veterans Administration" or "U. S. Government." A VA Counselor will respond.

Researchers study crop tolerances to various levels of salt

COLLEGE STATION—A long-term research project that ultimately may help farmers determine the best kinds of crops to grow based on the amount of salt in irrigation water has begun at Texas A&M University.

"Everybody knows you can't grow seaweed in West Texas and wheat doesn't grow in seawater," said plant scientist Dr. Keith J. McCree. "But by knowing how tolerant crops are of certain levels of salt in irrigation water, we can better determine which plants would grow best in certain areas."

Scientists presently know that certain species are more tolerant of salt than others, he said, and that the variation of tolerance within the species themselves is much less. Barley, for instance, is more tolerant of salt than fruit trees, and might produce better when river water for irrigation is salty.

If you are wise, laugh. -Martial.

Scholarships Offered To

Texas Seniors

All Texas high school seniors, in both public and private schools, are eligible to compete for $3,000 in cash scholarships offered by the Air Force Association (AFA) of Texas through its Earle North Parker Scholarship Program.

AFA-Texas is part of a national non-profit organization which supports a strong Air Force as a means of preserving national security and maintaining world peace.

"This program is consistent with one of our AFA-Texas goals of encouraging high school seniors to continue their education by attending a college or university of their choice," said Captain Darrell Sechrest, chairman of the Lubbock AFA Chapter's Scholarship Essay Competition.

Five scholarships -- one each in denominations of $1,250, $750, and $500, and two in the amount of $250 -- are awarded to winners of a statewide essay competition. Entries should pertain to this year's topic, "My Country, My Home, My Responsibility;" should be from 500 to 600 words; and must be submitted by November 30, 1983, to Captain Darrell Sechrest, 701 N. Ithaca #2122, Lubbock, Texas, 79415.

Each essay will be evaluated by the Lubbock AFA chapter's essay competition committee. Then, the winning essay from each of the 19 AFA-Texas chapters will be forwarded to the AFA-Texas State Office where the five scholarship winners will be selected. In addition to the state awards, the Lubbock Chapter will offer an additional $100 scholarship to the writer of the essay judged the best one submitted to Captain Sechrest.

In addition to winning the $1,250 state-wide scholarship award, the first place winner will be a guest of AFA-Texas at the organization's 1984 Spring Executive Meeting in Fort Worth.

Any high school senior desiring to enter the scholarship competition should obtain an entry form from his or her high school counselor or from Captain Sechrest at the above address. His telephone number is (806) 885-3503 or in the evenings, (806) 747-0122.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY LAW

Almost everyone will be affected in some way by the 1983 Social Security Act Amendments, the much publicized change in the social security tax and benefit rules that has now become law.

In the past, social security benefits have not been subject to income tax. Starting in 1984, taxpayers with sizeable other income may have to pay taxes on some of their social security benefits. The calculation is complex, but in general, will be figured in the following manner. Add to your adjusted gross income (1) any interest income you receive from tax-exempt obligations and (2) 50% of the social security benefits you receive. If this figure exceeds $25,000 if you're single, $32,000 if you're married filing a joint return, or zero if you're married filing separately, up to half of your social security benefits may have to be reported as income.

Take this provision into consideration in your 1983 tax planning. If you are scheduled to receive private retirement benefits, consider whether a lump sum payment might not be better than periodic payments so that your income in years following the lump sum payment will be low enough to avoid income tax on any social security benefits you might also be receiving. Look at shifting income into 1983 and delaying deductible expenses until 1984 in order to keep benefits in 1984 from being taxed. Review the advisability of investing in tax exempt obligations if their inclusion in the calculation will result in having social security benefits taxed.

Another provision of the new law provides for more rapid increases in payroll tax rates than had previously been scheduled.

Also, all federal employees hired on or after January 1, 1984, will be covered under the social security provisions, and non-profit organizations who now can elect coverage will have mandatory coverage beginning in 1984.

Additional information on the new law and how it will affect you can be obtained from your local social security administration office.

Most people have fixed views on most subjects and that leaves only a limited area for education.

When parents try to control their grown-up children it is a sign that the parents have not grown-up.

Human beings may be divided into two great classes: those who do things and those who pretend to do things.

Life would be very simple if more people were willing to be themselves.

Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek reports on a visit he made recently to a big city.

Dear editor:

It was necessary for me to visit a big city recently. No need to name it. Just fill in the name of any city above half a million population and it'll fit what I've got to say about its unbelievable traffic snarl.

I don't see how city people can endure spending an hour in the morning driving to work in bumper-to-bumper traffic, spending a half hour looking for a place to park, and then after work spending another hour in bumper-to-bumper traffic going home.

After I got back to my house out here and got my nerves calmed down I got to thinking about this and I've figured out what the problem is.

It's plain. City people are the world's worst mathematicians. They've never been able to figure out you can't put 50,000 cars in space big enough for only 25,000. I suppose it's a break-down in the public education system. I suppose that somewhere in the primary grades some under-paid teachers forgot to tell them that while you can put a mediocre man in a gallon of water in a quart jar.

I thought about this problem long and hard and have concluded the problem goes beyond mathematics.

The trouble with cities I've been to, where everybody and everything are all jammed up together, is they've all been built in the wrong place.

Cities ought to be built out in the country where there's more room.

Yours faithfully, J.A.
