Pounding for Couple

A pounding last Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Horwood, honored a couple planning February 14th wedding vows. The honored two were Debbie McClure and Wayland Foster. The party was from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Hostes for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Horwood, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Hirt, Mr. and Mrs. Fran Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Reed, and Mr. and Mrs. Crisp Williams.

Over one hundred persons took part in the shower.

Oklahoma! Musical at MCT

OKLAHOMA, that great and joyous classic of the American musical stage, opened on January 30th, ushering in the thirtieth anniversary season at Midland Community Theatre.

It's a good thing to see OKLAHOMA every now and then to keep a firm hold on standards. So much has happened in and out of the theatre since it was first produced on Broadway in 1943 you may have forgotten just how rapturous it is — wrote Brooks Atkinson in the New York Times.

The fabulous musical, based on the play GREEN GROW THE LILACS, by Lynn Riggs, first brought together the team of Rodgers and Hammerstein and catapulted them into top place in American theatre. OKLAHOMA is still as sparkling and fresh as when it burst upon a surprised New York audience in March 1943, and completely revolutionized musical comedy in world theatre.

MCT's first production of OKLAHOMA in 1958 opened the present theatre building to full houses every night, breaking all records. From the 1958 cast Marg Samples and Bill Shaner are performing in the 1976 production, and Paul Levarty, musical director and orchestra conductor today, was at one of the two pianos comprising the 1958 orchestra. Art Cole is again director and designer of the show.

Heading the cast for the current production are Louis Kluck of Odessa as curly, the ardent and optimistic cowboy, and Sharon Hyde as the lovely Laurey, object of his affections. Virginia Scott will play Ado Annie, the girl who 'cain't say no' to her suitor, Will Parker, played by Bob Holmes. Erich Evered will appear as the menacing farmhand, Jud Fry, and Bill Shaner will be seen as Ali Hakim, the comically sly Persian peddler. Marg Samples will once again portray Aunt Eller. Other important roles have been assigned to Loree Fitz-Gerald, Louis Pare and Doug Brown. A dance corps of seventeen under the choreography of Cherry Jones, and a singing chorus of fifteen complete the company.

Performances are scheduled at Midland Community Theatre on January 30 and 31, February 5, 6, 7, 8, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 18, 19, 20, and 21. Curtain times are 8 o'clock on week nights 8:30 on Friday and Saturday nights and 2:30 for Sunday matinees. Box office prices to non-members are $4 and $5. Memberships are now available at MCT for the six productions scheduled during 1976, representing a saving of over 50%.

Make reservations by phone or mail now to see the most imaginative, most popular musical show in American history. What a great way to start celebrating America's Bicentennial.

Parents and guests are invited to attend the awards presentation, view and sample the food exhibited at 6:15 p. m.

Youth ages 14-19 will compete in the senior division, while the junior division contest involves ages 8-13 or younger.

Both the senior and junior divisions will offer first, second and third place ribbons in each of the four entry classes.

Mohair Referendum

ABSENTEE BALLOTS FOR MOHAIR REFERENDUM AND ELECTION AVAILABLE

Absentee ballots for the mohair referendum and election are available in the local county extension office, according to Arthur Barlemann, Jr., county extension agent of Sterling County. These ballots are for the use of anyone who will not be able to cast their ballot personally on Tuesday, February 10. These absentee ballots must be mailed on or before midnight, Saturday, February 7. The ballot-pack includes a postage-free envelope to be used in mailing to the Mohair Council of America in San Angelo. Anyone who needs one of these absentee ballots should contact the county agent's office in Sterling City on Monday or Tuesday, February 2 or 3.

The Mohair Council of America will make arrangements for conducting the election in Sterling City since there is no local Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Service office here. To date—January 26—no information has been made available concerning the election here on February 10. As soon as this information is available, it will be publicized for mohair producers.

The referendum gives mohair producers the opportunity to vote on the proposition to assess themselves an amount not to exceed 2 1/2¢ per pound to be collected at the point of the first sale to finance programs of advertising, promotion, market and product development, education and research designed to encourage production, marketing and use of Texas mohair. It also gives producers an opportunity to vote on candidates for the Mohair Producers Board who will represent their area in administering the program.

Qualified voters are in two categories. One, those who produced and sold mohair in 1975. Two, anyone who did not sell mohair in 1975 but now is a bona-fide producer of mohair by having secured mohair-producing goats, and, would be affected by the assessment.

Heart Fund Drive Goal of $1,900.00

The Sterling County Heart Association has set a goal of $1,900.00 for its 1976 Heart Fund drive for which plans are currently underway.

Funds collected during February—American Heart Month—will support educational and community programs as well as research, a prime function of the Heart Association. Mrs. Marie Finnegan and Mrs. Paula Watts, campaign co-chairmen, said.

Heart and blood vessel diseases afflict one out of every eight Americans, Mrs. Watts noted. They will claim more than one million lives this year—52 percent of all deaths in the U. S. Through research and other programs, we can reduce premature death and disability from heart disease.

More than 50 volunteers will work to distribute information and collect funds to support the programs.

Please give generously when your Heart Fund volunteer calls, Mrs. Finnegan asked. Your Heart Association needs your help, she said.

1976-77 Texas Almanac Out

The American Revolution of 1776 set in motion events that led to the colonization of Texas and eventually to its own struggle for self-government, notes the new 1976-77 edition of the Texas Almanac, published by A.H. Belo Corporation, publishers of The Dallas Morning News.

Those historic events affecting Texans have been traced in an article written especially for the Texas Almanac by the late R. Henderson Shuffler, editor, historian and, at the time of his death in the summer of 1975, executive director of the Institute of Texas Cultures at San Antonio.

What we call the American Revolution was simply the first stage of the revolution of the Americas, Shuffler wrote. Texas was affected directly by the American Revolution and the course of its history for centuries to come was shaped by the outcome.

Also in the Almanac's Bicentennial section, Sam Kinch Sr., chairman of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas, tells of the American Bicentennial in Texas. A commission listing of Texas events during the bicentennial year is included.

The new edition also contains a special section on Gardening in Texas prepared by specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It is a guide for planting vegetables, fruit and nut trees and ornamentals in all sections of the state.

The LBJ Hill Country—written by Art and Elise Kowert, publishers of the Fredericksburg Standard, presents a description of the home of the late Lyndon B. Johnson, 36th President of the United States.

Nowhere else in this land is a place where, within a distance of a few miles, the story of an American President can be retraced through visiting the settlement of his grandparents, the birthplace, boyhood home, his White House away from Washington, and his ranch where he lived in retirement and where he died and is buried, they wrote.

Other special features of the new Almanac include a history of the Texas Railroad Commission, the latest U.S. Census on manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade, the service industries and transportation in Texas, an account of the 10 Travel Trails of Texas, and a history of Texas A&M University observing its 100th anniversary in 1976.

Included also are data on election results, listings of county, municipal and state officials, appointive boards and commissions, officials of state and regional civic and trade organizations, and sections on agriculture, manufacturing, transportation and government.

Each Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area, the urban concentrations in which most Texans live, has an editorial page devoted to it.

A new Texas map in color, with major highways, supplements 254 county maps, updated from maps prepared by the Texas Highway Department. Tourism and recreation also are featured, with listings of state and national parks.

This is the 48th edition of the Texas Almanac that has been published since 1857, said Joe M. Dealey, president of the Dallas Morning News. We believe it continues the high standards that have made this publication the Encyclopedia of Texas.

Ingenious Triumphs Of Chemistry

GOOD NEWS ABOUT SCIENTIFIC ADVANCES

CRACKING GETS THE RUBBING ALCOHOL OUT OF YOUR GAS TANK

What do a washing machine agitator, dog food, aspirin and perfume have in common?

Without propylene, one of the basic chemicals made from oil and natural gas, these and countless other everyday products could not be made.

Propylene holds a unique position as a chemical raw material. It is one of the most important petrochemical building blocks and is also a significant component of gasoline. Catalytic cracking of petroleum to make high octane gasoline produces large amounts of propylene. Last year, only one quarter of this or about 11.5 billion pounds of propylene was separated from the gasoline for chemical use.

Although this is a relatively small volume when compared to other petrochemical building blocks, propylene, an odorless, colorless gas, winds up in countless products vital to the comfort and well being of Americans and to the strength of their economy.

A very significant end-use application of propylene is isopropyl alcohol. Whether it's called 2-propanol, dimethyl carbinol, isopropanol or just plain IPA, this propylene-derived product is, in fact, the rubbing alcohol in your medicine chest.

The Many Uses of IPA

IPA, in addition to its use as a household antiseptic, is also an important ingredient in the manufacture of hydrogen peroxide, solvents, antistalling agents, dyes, aspirin, de-icing agents, surface coatings, insect repellent, printing ink, paint and varnish removers, latex paints and fuel additives.

Another major use of propylene is to make polypropylene, one of the most versatile plastic resins. Because of its superior physical properties—strength, resistance to work fatigue, chemical and heat resistance, colorability and flex strength—polypropylene is finding its way into applications that dispell the myth that plastics are only good for cheap toys and olive stabbers.

The medical field recently has discovered the many assets of polypropylene. Pacemakers and artificial hearts now have parts made of polypropylene. It is also used as through-the-bone marrow pins, screws, staples, and as sutures to close contaminated wounds. Polypropylene has other medical uses such as catheters, disposable hypodermic needles and syringes, test tubes, soap dishes, graduated basins and thermometer holders.

The appliance and automotive industries are using a great deal of polypropylene these days. For example, washing machine agitators, dishwasher innerliners and many other parts for major and small appliances are made of it.

When the Going is Tough

One of the most revolutionary uses is in car batteries. Most of the 1974-model U.S. cars now have batteries—and numerous other parts such as steering wheels, bucket seat backs and accelerator pedals—made of tough polypropylene.

Polypropylene fibers are being also used by the furniture and carpet industries because of their resistance to stains. And its toughness is causing polypropylene to become widely used in making cordage. These are just some of the many ways polypropylene is being used to provide better quality products for American consumers.

In addition to IPA and polypropylene and their many end-uses, propylene finds its way into synthetic rubbers, medicines, cosmetics, safety glass, food flavoring agents, adhesives, photographic chemicals, epoxy resins, leather tanning products, perfume, antifreeze, brake fluids, herbicides, dog food and poultry feed additives, nylon, wood preservatives, polishes, explosives and paper coatings.

When the many vital chemical applications of propylene are coupled with the fact that it is one of the components of gasoline that keeps the car engine running efficiently, it's easy to understand why propylene often's termed "lifeblood" for American industry.

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

First things first is one of those old sayings so with that in mind, a correction is in order on the write up on the county show in last Fridays paper.

The article stated that the Chinese auction was conducted for the benefit of the Cancer Society fund. This was in error as the auction was conducted for the County Show Fund. The proceeds of the auction will go towards helping defray the expense of the county show. Expenses include the prize money paid the exhibitors, ribbons and banners awarded and the judges fee.

The contributions to the Cancer Fund by individuals as given was correct the error concerned only the Chinese auction of the smoked lamb.

A number of Sterling County 4-H Club members are taking part in the Fort Worth Show—or as it is correctly titled, the Southwestern Exposition and Fort Stock Show. Official opening day of the show is Friday, January 30.

Six club members have ten steers and two Hereford heifers entered in the competition this weekend. Those showing are: Greg Davis, two steers; Lenard Horwood, one steer and one heifer; Lonnie Horwood, one steer and one heifer; June Humble, two steers; Susie Hunble, two steers; and Deborah Miller, two steers. The American crossbred steers and the European crossbred steers will be judged Friday. American crosses include those with any American blood such as Santa Gertrudis while the European crosses include those such as Charolais crosses, Limousin crosses, and so forth. The Hereford and Polled Herefords and Angus steers will be judged Saturday. All the steers will be weighed Wednesday and looked over by the sifting committee Thursday.

Hereford heifers will be judged Sunday afternoon.

Five club members have breeding sheep entered in the Open Breeding Sheep show to be judged Sunday morning. Paula and Delmar Radde Jr. will be competing in the Open Delaine show with their flocks. Amy, Becky, and Wesley Hodges will be competing in the Open Rambouillet show with their flocks.

The champion breed fleece of the National Western Stock Show at Denver was a Debouillet ram fleece entered by Frank Price. The second and fourth place Debouillet ram fleeces were entered by Foster S. Price. In the Debouillet ewe class, the first and fourth place fleeces were entered by Foster S. Price. The placings were taken from a partial list of the placings at the Denver show received last week. The list did not give the names of the exhibitors of the grand champion fleece or the placings in the breeder exhibit of five fleeces, a class in which Foster had an entry.

Social Security Tips

Social security checks should be cashed within a reasonable time to prevent loss or theft, even though there's no time limit on cashing them, according to social security officials here.

'If your check is lost or stolen, get in touch with your nearest social security office at once,' a spokesman said. 'The check can be replaced, but it takes time. Handle your check carefully when you get it and you won't have to wait while it's being replaced.'

Social security pays over $4 billion a month in benefit checks to almost 29 million people—eligible retired and disabled workers and their families and families of deceased workers who worked long enough under social security.
