Showers Wednesday

A heavy shower hit Sterling City between four and five p.m. Wednesday, leaving .70 inch in town and varying amounts over the area. The clouds blew in from the north west and moved to the southeast, leaving reviving rains in its path.

Sterling and West Texas all needs more rain at this point. July was rainy, but the hot, dry weather of August has left the country in a parched state.

Behind the 8-Ball

By the editor.

We have been eating a lot of peanut butter at our house recently. I'm beginning to like it again. As Bob Hope said recently when asked about Jimmy Carter's chances, Hope said—I already like peanut butter and a lot of other folks had better learn to like it, too.

I have said that if Carter is elected in the fall, there might be a law passed that we would all have to buy Planters Peanut Butter from Georgia, to the exclusion of all other brands.

Like the joke when Kennedy was elected. It was said that a law would be passed that you had to buy St. Josephs Aspirin and not Bayer. (Kennedy was a Catholic.)

8-BALL

Well, Big Jawn Connally or Howard Baker did not get the vice-presidential nod from Ford. Baker was very disappointed—and he even divulged that his wife had a drinking problem. Big Jawn was probably ruled out by the higher ups in the party. But then, when Ford named Nelson Rockefeller as vice-president back there, he asked everyone's opinion and then went against all the advice and named Rocky.

Or so it was said.
 8-BALL
 Anyway, whoever heard of Mondale, Dole or Schweicker? Really, out of their districts. Why not Reagan Or Daniel Monahan? Or Goldwater. Or Bentsen Or Udall? Or Jackson? Or Wallace? Or some one?
 8-BALL

All the scandal scene has now switched from Hollywood to Washington. It used to be that a persons personal life was not dwelt on by the news media—but now anything is fair game, it seems.

Hays, Mills, and that other guy in Utah and the Louisiana boob, all got hurt, when caught.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Home Laundry

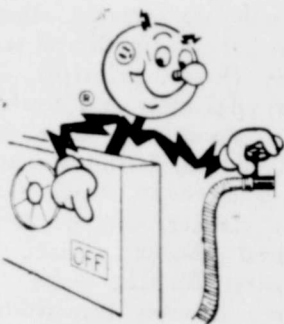

PLAN AHEAD
Sort clothes according to type of fabric, color-fastness, degree of soil and garment construction.
You'll save both hot water and electricity by doing similar items together.
Accumulate a full load before running your washer.

BE SELECTIVE
Choose the cycle that is precisely appropriate for the clothes you are washing. Is a "hot" temperature setting really necessary? Except for heavily soiled items, most loads will come clean in either a cold or warm wash. Look into cold wash detergents.

Use the least amount of detergent that will get your clothes clean — most loads require only an ounce or less!
Overloading causes extra strain and wear on your equipment: check the manufacturer's recommendations for load weight.
Balance your load by alternating small and large items.

FOR SAFETY SAKE
Be sure control is "off" before reaching into your washer.
If one is necessary, use only a heavy duty extension cord.
Be sure your washer is grounded.
Keep dry cleaning agents, color remover and Fiberglas out of your washer. It's a good idea not to wash clothes containing cleaning fluids in your washer.

Social Security News

Social security checks should be cashed within a reasonable time to prevent loss or theft, even though there's no time limit on cashing them, according to social security officials here.

'If your check is lost or stolen, get in touch with your nearest social security office at once,' a spokesman said. 'The check can be replaced, but it takes time. Handle your check carefully when you get it and you won't have to wait while it's being replaced.'

Social security pays over $4 billion a month in benefit checks to almost 29 million people—eligible retired and disabled workers and their families and families of deceased workers who worked long enough under social security.

WHAT IS THE BEST METHOD OF INSURING SEVERAL PIECES OF EXPENSIVE JEWELRY?

Your jewelry may be insured through your Homeowner's policy of through an addition to that policy called a 'personal floater' policy. Cost for these methods of insuring are approximately the same. Cost of the coverage depends, of course, on the value of the jewelry. In order to determine the appropriate value, an appraisal must be obtained from an accredited appraiser. If you don't know where to find an appraiser give me a call and I'll be glad to help. Effects of inflation (increasing values of jewelry) have made it necessary for many people to take a second look at this type of coverage.

Ingenious Triumphs of Chemistry

GOOD NEWS ABOUT SCIENTIFIC ADVANCES

CRACKING GETS THE RUBBING ALCOHOL OUT OF YOUR GAS TANK

What do a washing machine agitator, dog food, aspirin and perfume have in common?

Without propylene, one of the basic chemicals made from oil and natural gas, these and countless other everyday products could not be made.

Propylene holds a unique position as a chemical raw material. It is one of the most important petrochemical building blocks and is also a significant component of gasoline. Catalytic cracking of petroleum to make high octane gasoline produces large amounts of propylene. Last year, only one quarter of this or about 11.5 billion pounds of propylene was separated from the gasoline for chemical use.

Although this is a relatively small volume when compared to other petrochemical building blocks, propylene, an odorless, colorless gas, winds up in countless products vital to the comfort and well being of Americans and to the strength of their economy.

A very significant end-use application of propylene is isopropyl alcohol. Whether it's called 2-propanol, dimethyl carbinol, isopropanol or just plain IPA, this propylene-derived product is, in fact, the rubbing alcohol in your medicine chest.

The Many Uses of IPA

IPA, in addition to its use as a household antiseptic, is also an important ingredient in the manufacture of hydrogen peroxide, solvents, antistalling agents, dyes, aspirin, de-icing agents, surface coatings, insect repellent, printing ink, paint and varnish removers, latex paints and fuel additives.

Another major use of propylene is to make polypropylene, one of the most versatile plastic resins. Because of its superior physical properties—strength, resistance to work fatigue, chemical and heat resistance, colorability and flex strength—polypropylene is finding its way into applications that dispell the myth that plastics are only good for cheap toys and olive stabbers.

The medical field recently has discovered the many assets of polypropylene. Pacemakers and artificial hearts now have parts made of polypropylene. It is also used as through-the-bone marrow pins, screws, staples, and sutures to close contaminated wounds. Polypropylene has other medical uses such as dentures, disposable hypodermic needles and syringes, test tubes, soap dishes, graduated basins and thermometer holders.

The appliance and automotive industries are using a great deal of polypropylene these days. For example, washing machine agitators, dishwasher innerliners and many other parts for major and small appliances are made of it.

When the Going is Tough

One of the most revolutionary uses is in car batteries. Most of the 1974-model U.S. cars now have batteries — and numerous other parts such as steering wheels, bucket seat backs and accelerator pedals — made of tough polypropylene.

Polypropylene fibers are being also used by the furniture and carpet industries because of their resistance to stains. And its toughness is causing polypropylene to become widely used in making cordage. These are just some of the many ways polypropylene is being used to provide better quality products for American consumers.

In addition to IPA and polypropylene and their many end-uses, propylene finds its way into synthetic rubbers, medicines, cosmetics, safety glass, food flavoring agents, adhesives, photographic chemicals, epoxy resins, leather tanning products, perfume, antifreeze, brake fluids, herbicides, dog food and poultry feed additives, nylon, wood preservatives, polishes, explosives and paper coatings.

When the many vital chemical applications of propylene are coupled with the fact that it is one of the components of gasoline that keeps the car engine running efficiently, it's easy to understand why propylene often is termed "lifeblood" for American industry.

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

Sheep producers of this area should gain some useful information from the Sheep and Goat Field Day at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center at San Angelo next Thursday, September 2. Anyone interested in sheep, producer or not, is invited to attend. Registration begins at 9:00 A.M. and the program starts at 9:30 under the direction of George Ahlswede, Extension Service Sheep and Goat Specialist.

Carl Menzies of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will welcome the group and discuss the research potential for a few minutes. A progress report on the Klein grass toxicity with sheep will be given by Murl Bailey and Dr. Charles Livingston who have been conducting the research on this problem. A panel will also discuss research and experiences with Finn sheep and other crossbreds.

There will also be a discussion on the composition of some of the native range plants, a discussion on adapting lambs to high concentrate rations, and a report by the president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association before the Dutch treat barbecue lunch.

After lunch, there will be a discussion of the research and facilities at the center. Reports on the investigation in reproductive efficiency of sheep, nutrition of Angora goats, lamb feeding studies, bitterweed toxicity studies, performance testing of Spanish goats, and veterinary research will follow. A tour of brush control, reseeding, and range supplementation will conclude the program.

Sterling County is still holding on with three confirmed screw-worm cases this year, all of them in May and June. Some neighboring counties have not been as lucky with more reported cases in recent weeks. Howard County tabulated its first case for the year last week and became the last link in the chain of counties around us with confirmed cases.

Screwworms have usually been worse in the fall months of the year so producers should maintain their vigilance. Doctor all cases, take and submit samples to the laboratory.

Steers being fed by Sterling County 4-H Club and FFA members will be validated for the spring shows Saturday morning at the Stan Horwood barn here in town. The validation, required by the major livestock shows, consists of ear-tagging the steers with a metal tag, photographing them, and completing a form on each animal. No two steers in the state have the same number—sort of like automobile licenses—and they must have this to be shown. This validation must be completed by September 1 which is the ownership deadline for steers for the shows.

Agricultural producers use land for producing crops in many ways in the nation today. Last week we attended the Annual Meeting of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents held in Richmond, Virginia, and on landing at the airport there saw one of the ways. A farmer has leased the land between the runways at the airport and has a crop of soybeans growing up the edges of the runways. To cut down on the time spent in weed control and keep machinery off the airport, he was using herbicides to control the weeds.

This is not the first time this was observed however. A young farmer has leased the land at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport and grows primarily small grains on the land around the airport runways. Since airports require a large acreage, this farming of the areas not directly involved in the operation of the field returns some of the land to production. Also, this provides a means of reducing the upkeep for the airport itself.

Toastmaster Club

The Toastmasters Club met at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday in the community center with Hank Watson presiding.

Traugott Vogel was master of ceremonies. He carried through table topics as given by David Foster and then James Thompson an Reynolds Foster gave the main talks for the day in crisp and orderly fashion.

The best speaker award went to Reynolds Foster, best evaluator was Bobby Dodds and best table topics speaker was Roy Thruston, our out of town member from San Angelo. Roy drives in from San Angelo and when he is able to attend, he is never late. More of our local men might find out that they could make it to the community center by 6:30 a.m. on Tuesday if they came out and let Roy tell them his secret.
