BASKETBALL NOTES

A GIRLS LOSE TO LORAIN

Floor errors helped to defeat the Sterling girls A team here on Nov. 9, losing to Loraine 39 to 37.

Kay Beth Kilpatrick lead the Eagles in scoring with 21 points and 3 offensive rebounds.

Lynese Gaston added 8 points and 3 offensive rebounds along with Lisa Rich who had 6 points and Melinda Terry had 2 points.

On the guard end, Patti Bynum lead with 8 defensive rebounds and then came Kim Rich and Marcy Jordan with 4 rebounds each. Debra Watson closed out the rebounding for the Eagles with 3.

The Eagles have not had much backing from the people of Sterling in basketball for years and we need your support. The adult population of our town always seems to notice the kids who get into trouble but never the kids who are good. Well, if you want to watch some of the good kids in action come see our all games. Don't use any excuse to miss a game because the young people in a few years will be gone and you will have missed a most important time in their lives. Coach

Ingenious Triumphs Of Chemistry

GOOD NEWS ABOUT SCIENTIFIC ADVANCES

CRACKING GETS THE RUBBING ALCOHOL OUT OF YOUR GAS TANK

What do a washing machine agitator, dog food, aspirin and perfume have in common?

Without propylene, one of the basic chemicals made from oil and natural gas, these and countless other everyday products could not be made.

Propylene holds a unique position as a chemical raw material. It is one of the most important petrochemical building blocks and is also a significant component of gasoline. Catalytic cracking of petroleum to make high octane gasoline produces large amounts of propylene. Last year, only one quarter of this or about 11.5 billion pounds of propylene was separated from the gasoline for chemical use.

Although this is a relatively small volume when compared to other petrochemical building blocks, propylene, an odorless, colorless gas, winds up in countless products vital to the comfort and well being of Americans and to the strength of their economy.

A very significant end-use application of propylene is isopropyl alcohol. Whether it's called 2-propanol, dimethyl carbinol, isopropanol or just plain IPA, this propylene-derived product is, in fact, the rubbing alcohol in your medicine chest.

The Many Uses of IPA

IPA, in addition to its use as a household antiseptic, is also an important ingredient in the manufacture of hydrogen peroxide, solvents, antistalling agents, dyes, aspirin, de-icing agents, surface coatings, insect repellent, printing ink, paint and varnish removers, latex paints and fuel additives.

Another major use of propylene is to make polypropylene, one of the most versatile plastic resins. Because of its superior physical properties—strength, resistance to work fatigue, chemical and heat resistance, colorability and flex strength—polypropylene is finding its way into applications that dispell the myth that plastics are only good for cheap toys and olive stabbers.

The medical field recently has discovered the many assets of polypropylene. Pacemakers and artificial hearts now have parts made of polypropylene. It is also used as through-the-bone marrow pins, screws, staples, and as sutures to close contaminated wounds. Polypropylene has other medical uses such as dentures, disposable hypodermic needles and syringes, test tubes, soap dishes, graduated basins and thermometer holders.

The appliance and automotive industries are using a great deal of polypropylene these days. For example, washing machine agitators, dishwasher innerliners and many other parts for major and small appliances are made of it.

When the Going is Tough

One of the most revolutionary uses is in car batteries. Most of the 1974-model U.S. cars now have batteries—and numerous other parts such as steering wheels, bucket seat backs and accelerator pedals—made of tough polypropylene.

Polypropylene fibers are being also used by the furniture and carpet industries because of their resistance to stains. And its toughness is causing polypropylene to become widely used in making cordage. These are just some of the many ways polypropylene is being used to provide better quality products for American consumers.

In addition to IPA and polypropylene and their many end-uses, propylene finds its way into synthetic rubbers, medicines, cosmetics, safety glass, food flavoring agents, adhesives, photographic chemicals, epoxy resins, leather tanning products, perfume, antifreeze, brake fluids, herbicides, dog food and poultry feed additives, nylon, wood preservatives, polishes, explosives and paper coatings.

When the many vital chemical applications of propylene are coupled with the fact that it is one of the components of gasoline that keeps the car engine running efficiently, it's easy to understand why propylene often is termed "lifeblood" for American industry.

AROUND
COUNTY
by

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

Cold weather since the freeze on October 20 appears to have slowed or stopped the screwworm invasion here. Since that time, the number of confirmed cases in the county has decreased rapidly and in the last two weeks, all samples sent in from the county have been identified as nonscrewworm. The last sample identified as nonscrewworm was sent in from the Riley King ranch on the fifth of November; it was taken from the head of a sheep.

These samples many times are not screwworms. The majority of the confirmed cases in recent weeks have been in the navels of newborn calves—these are almost certain to be screwworms according to the Mission laboratory.

The last report that has been received here covering the year from January 1 to October 31 credits Sterling County with twenty confirmed cases; twelve of those occurred during October. The majority were in calves.

Livestock producers are reminded to keep up their vigilance throughout the weeks ahead though. It is still possible to have some confirmed cases and one case missed now could result in an outbreak early next year; fertile flies could possibly overwinter in some protected sites. If the cold weather prevailing the last week is a fore-runner of the winter along with the general feeling that a cold winter is ahead, the flies may have a hard time making it through the winter.

Starting the second week in November, all sterile flies produced at the Mission plant are being concentrated in the overwintering area of South Texas. At the same time, the flies be-produced in the recently opened plant in Mexico will be released in that country just south of the Rio Grande. This is the beginning of the plan to eradicate the flies there, force them south to the narrowest part of Mexico, and hopefully eradicate the pest.

Pecan harvesting has been slowed by the weather the last weeks. Too, the pecans are slow to fall out of the shucks but the weather last weekend removed most of the leaves and this should speed up the harvesting.

If you have pecans you would like to enter in the Tom Green County Pecan Show December 4 and 5, they must be in the office of the Tom Green County Extension Agent by December 2. An entry consists of 42 pecans from the 1976 crop. Also, entrants are asked to send some extra pecans to be sold and help defray the cost of the show as there is no entry fee. The show will be held in the lobby of the Tom Green County Courthouse.

Considering my wife and I have been married only a short time, do we really have a need for life insurance?

Yes. The amount and kind depends on your needs, responsibilities and lifestyle. If you are childless, both working with well-paying jobs, your need for protection is less than a family with children, a non-working wife and probably a smaller savings account. Think of life insurance in terms of income. Income to meet medical expenses in case of disability, to help cover the cost of your children's education, income to help support a family. With all these variables, you should discuss your personal circumstances with your agent. He will help advise you as to your needs and the best way to meet them.

LET YOUR CHILD TAKE YOU THROUGH DENMARK

One of the questions you hear over and over again when tourists plan their vacation is: "Where do we find a place where all members of the family can have fun and where prices fit our family budgets?"

The answer is easy. For tots and teenagers, for 20-year-olds to senior citizens, Denmark offers a variety of fun that can't be found anywhere else.

Your children will be completely captivated by a visit to a real fairy-tale park with its Renaissance castle Egeskov, erected in a lake, on the island of Funen. In the barn there is a museum filled with vintage aeroplanes, cars and motorcycles.

Denmark is truly a children's wonderland. Of course there are summer camps, riding schools and sailing schools. But what about the real children's traffic school at Legoland? The miniature village in Jutland is virtually a children's paradise.

From June through September, you can ride the Veteran Railway every Sunday from legendary Elsinore (site of Hamlet's castle) to the resort of Gilleleje, and there's a parade every Friday by the Elsinore Girl Guards.

For the adventurous, there is Givskud Lions Park, where you'll see African Lions, enormous elephants and gentle giraffes in natural surroundings. Driving your car among these exotic animals is comparable to enjoying a mini-safari.

At the Circus Building, Benneweis, Scandinavia's biggest circus, presents world artists in the ring every night, from mid-April to September 30. Tivoli, Denmark's world-famous fairy-tale garden in the heart of the city, is filled with amusements for children and adults, restaurants and dancing from May 1 to September 16. It features a fascinating playground, Children's Holiday Shows, the Pantomime Theater, The Open-Air Stage, the Tivoli Boy Guards, parades and fireworks. And every Tuesday throughout the summer, there is a very lively children's circus in the Odense Zoo.

Denmark even has its very special Hans Christian Andersen Festival held in the Funen Village, in his native town Odense, from July 6 to August 5, where children enact Andersen fairytales on an open-air stage, that will delight the whole family.
