LATEST FROM THE OLD WORLD. GENERAL FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE. MISCELLANEOUS. London, July 25.—In the House of Commons today, Joseph Cowan, Radical member from St. Austell-on-Tyne, presented a petition of a small faction of extreme Republicans demanding the impeachment of Beaconsfield.

NEW ORLEANS, July 25.—The following explains itself: New Orleans, July 25, 1878. Dr. J. M. Woodworth, Surgeon, Geo. Marine Hospital, New Orleans, Louisiana, D. C. Dear Sir: It now becomes my duty to report the existence of yellow fever in New Orleans. About the 17th inst., cases began to appear in the practice of several of our physicians near the intersection of Constance and Tchoupchee streets, which were considered suspicious symptoms, and we now report four or five cases at that focus of infection, with six deaths. In addition to those seven other cases have come to light at different points and much more scattered. We are endeavoring diligently to trace the origin of this outbreak, but so far had no connection with any foreign source. It is rigorously carried out at all infected points, and we hope to prevent the pestilence from assuming epidemic proportions.

DRAMATIC SUICIDE. Chicago, July 25.—A special despatch to the Times from Capron, Illinois, says a dramatic suicide occurred Tuesday night. George W. Berghoff, an old resident, formerly a member of the Chicago Police, was charged with the murder of a woman. He was arrested and placed in the jail. He was found dead in his cell, with a pistol wound in his head, and fell lifeless.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE. Saratoga, July 25.—First race, purse $300, main in four years old or upward, allowed 7 pounds, one mile, was won by Bramble by a neck. Time 1:45. Second race, Saratoga cup, all ages, two and a quarter miles, won by Parole in a snail, by four lengths. Time, 4:28. Third race, three-fourths mile, Perfection jumped the lead and kept it, but was overtaken by a length. Time, 1:17. Fourth race, winner to be sold at auction, one mile and a quarter, won by Marana. Time, 2:28.

THE FIRE RECORD. Cincinnati, July 25.—A special states a fire at Sharon, Mercer county, Pa., this morning, destroyed Bowler's candy store, worth $12,000; Macken's grocery, $20,000; Henton's grocery, $4,000; Heister's shoe store, $3,000; McCormick's tobacco store, $2,000. Highgate packing house, $8,000; Evans' two dwellings, $3,000; Olux (dwelling and barn), $10,000.

GALVESTON QUARANTINED. Galveston, July 25.—The Board of Health today quarantined against New Orleans. No passengers by steamer or rail will be permitted to come in after to-day. Vessels will be fumigated and disinfected at the quarantine station before they will be permitted to come to the wharves.

TELEGRAMS MISCELLANY. San Francisco, July 25.—A Boia City dispatch says Havana has formed a junction with Port-au-Prince, the whole force following the fleeing hostiles. St. Louis, July 25.—B. S. Elliott, Secretary South Pass Ferry Co., publishes a card in the Herald, and Mr. Foster, Matthews asked for reasons for filibustering against the continuation of the clerical count. Wilson told him it was apprehensive as to the course Hayes would pursue if inaugurated, that the article in the Ohio State Journal, supposed to reflect Hayes's views, had induced members to believe that the beyond time of policy would be continued. Matthews then exhaustively reviewed the Southern question. He said he was a friend of Mr. Hayes, but he was not all his life, and was perfectly conversant with his views, and while he did not profess to speak for him, he thought Hayes's views were familiar enough with his views of the situation to be able to indicate what would be his policy if inaugurated. Then he said he thought Hayes would be a fairer man than Mr. Hayes, and that he would be a fairer man than Mr. Hayes, and that he would be a fairer man than Mr. Hayes.

WASHINGTON NOTES. Washington, July 25.—Professor Groves, of the University of Virginia, was appointed to the position of Professor of Chemistry at the University of Mississippi, and Professor Condit, of the Cornell University, has been appointed to the position of Professor of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company objects to the forwarding of coin from the Pa-his escape, and while in the water was shot at twice. The boat was capsized, and the side of the bayou, heard the man groan after each shot, and never saw him make his escape from the water. The probability is that he was drowned. Corpus Christi Gazette: A red-headed lothario euphemistically styled Bill Taylor, otherwise "Red Bill," who has been rendering his obnoxious to the inhabitants of the big part of the city, by various and sundry acts, too disgusting and obscene to be mentioned in print, was taken up by a party of unknown persons, on the night of the 13th inst., and unceremoniously introduced to a dose of tar and feathers, such to his annoyance.

HOUSTON FRUIT, July 24.—Samuel Evans and Frank Cross, local dealers, had difficulty this afternoon about 4 o'clock, concerning some money matters, and coming very much excited, Evans pushed Cross with a pocket knife and stabbed him in the breast near the heart. Evans did not flee in fifteen minutes after receiving the wound. Dr. Theobald was called, and he would do nothing for him. Evans has escaped so far, but officers are in pursuit.

DALLAS COMMERCIAL: An intelligent and observant farmer who has just returned from the State of Texas, and who has been in a life time's experience in the North, West and South, has never seen like a grand panorama of fruitfulness, but especially was he struck with the crops in Hill County. He thinks cotton will be a fair average in spite of a few weeds and the fact that the wind has not been so much damaged as was thought.

VIctoria Advocate: The cotton prospect in this section was never better. Owing to the unusual amount of rain which has already fallen, the early appearance of cotton vines was anticipated by many old cotton planters, yet at this writing there has been reported a very low yield in some portions of Mission Valley, and even there the numbers are no insignificant as to create no particular alarm for the safety of the crop. As a general thing our farmers are simply awaiting the appearance of their foe to commence the use of poison. The growth of the plant is now in the early stage of its life, and there are a half bale to the acre in no cotton worth appears. It is thought the crop will produce this year about 600 bales against 200 last year and 250 the year previous.

Schleicher vs. Ireland. (From the Dallas Mail.) Mr. John Ireland, of Seguin, Guadalupe county, is a child of luck. As a Keno nothing in 1855 he jumped on to the political stage as a candidate for the legislature, and was beaten by the Democratic front runner, Gladstone. Gladstone then withdrew his name. After the war he became intensely Democratic, and in the legislature he left all the old school boys and the new school boys, assuming to consider as amount in the faith all who did not look through his glasses. Men knowing nothing of his antecedents, but who were misled by his name, were in South Carolina and trained by W. L. Yancy. Bill has now on the chair behind him, and he has been in the race for gubernatorial honors in 1876, and met the same fate in 1876 when he desired to fill a seat in the United States Congress. He has been in the race for governor, but contracted his domain and entered the field for congress in 1876. He has been in the race for governor, but contracted his domain and entered the field for congress in 1876. No protests have been filed with the returns of the Austin returning board, but the suspension of the people is unmistakable on one point. The returns are not what they should have been.

The delegates to the Austin Convention have returned to their homes, and the way the little word "if" is being bandied about is a caution to the whole lexicon of the English language.

The State and Congressional Convention season has closed. We shall soon open the fall county season with a new company. Would it not be well to fix the date so candidates can begin to "set their pegs"?

First Ball is already receiving mention in many of the papers of the State. The announcement is always hailed with satisfaction, as that of a revival of business and consequent returning prosperity.

Now that the State convention is over the most important and all absorbing question presented to the average editorial mind is, "What next to write about?" The question is generally conceded to be a stumper.

The heat in the North is becoming less intense, and fewer strokes are reported. The flames that strove forth from the nostrils of the Northern editors when they exhale are correspondingly lessened in length.

YELLOW FEVER as close as New Orleans is no pleasant thing to contemplate. No doubt every effort has so far been made to suppress the real facts in the case, and there can be no doubt that the disease has created much more havoc than has been reported.

We have no desire to startle our authorities by a too sudden announcement of a piece of intelligence, but in view of the large number of mad-dogs that run through the country, there can be no harm to say that there is a dog law in existence in this city, which should be in force.

The Georgia convicts can be leased or hired out to labor. It has been suggested that Kate Sothern's husband lease her and carry her home. This suggestion however, is met with the statement that Kate is not well situated where she is at present that she would not care to go back to her old haunts.

The Houston Affair repeats. "The San Antonio Express and the Herald are vastly mistaken if they suppose the relations between this paper and the Telegram are not as friendly as harmonious. When the editor of the Telegram wishes to appear to uncommon advantage on the streets, we loan him a suit of our best clothes."

It is almost astonishing to see how a man's failure changes people's treatment of him. A few short days ago and Hubbard was a great man, and was spoken of in certain quarters in the most respectful terms. He lost the nomination; he will not be governor after a few months, and now he is referred to as flippantly as though he were no better than a jumping-jack.

It is now rumored that Throckmorton's editorial corps was organized as a sort of Guy Fawkes gang, not that Millard's Opera House underground and charged with dynamite, ready to blow up the convention if it failed to nominate their favorite. The scheme failed through the managers not placing a sufficiently high estimate upon the proof of the Robinson county whisky at Austin.

The San Antonio Express thought a few weeks ago that it knew a great many things about conducting a campaign, and it now worked itself into a convulsion. Since the ways of the North Texas papers. But since the wrecked state at San Antonio, it has been very quiet on this subject. Dallas Commercial.

Our man is still in the field, backed by the recommendation of only ten less than two-thirds of the delegates of the convention. Where's the Commercial's man, who was sweeping all before him at such a terrible rate? Now, then!

The propriety of the royal family of England is appalling for the tax-paying community to contemplate. The demands for grants for the maintenance of the royal page and off-shoots have become so numerous that the House of Commons calls for statistics showing how many of the property of the royal family have been provided with government grants since the accession of William III. We would advise the British government to not foot up these expenses, or, if it does, not let the people know the sum total. It might create a revolution.

Texas is just the slightest trace of unsteady in Throckmorton's district. It is not known just how far he will be able to resist the heart-rending appeals that doubtless will be made upon him to return to Congress. Unsay he the heads of about twenty-seven candidates for Congress in that district. Of course, when he said he would not be a candidate for re-election, it was after reading in the Dallas Commercial or some such paper that the people of Texas as a unit were fairly gassed with a desire to have him as Governor, and insurrection would ensue if he was not elected. As the promise was made under false pretences, it cannot be considered as binding.

Ferreros are being circulated for the pardon of Bill Longley. Some of the risks given for signing it are "sympathy for the convict, and, perhaps, confidence in his honor and honesty of purpose." Bill Longley never thought of mercy when he sent the death-dealing bullet into the brains of his many victims. He fairly lashed of his healthiest by the publication of a history of himself which related his crimes in all their shocking details. He knew naught of sympathy for his victims or repentance for his sins until the rope was almost adjusted about his neck, and we think sympathy for the bloody-handed murderer should be reserved until his neck is stretched.

An exchange furnished some interesting notes concerning the movements of the bank of England, notes. A £5 note of the bank of England returns in circulation only 73 days; then it "retires" into some old miser's coffers, and is long out of sight. A £10 note stays 77 days; £20, 57 days; £30, 39 days; £40, 14 days; £50, 29 days; £100, 39 days; £200, 13 days; £1,000, 11 days. A century sometimes changes before some of these notes are again presented at the bank.

On the 27th of September, 1846, a £20 note was handed over the counter bearing date January 20, 1745. American bank notes do not stay away from home for such long periods if they did, many of them would look in vain for the banks that issued them when they returned.

THE RACE FOR GOVERNOR.

Our morning contemporary, yesterday, contained an article on the gubernatorial race, as it calls it. Western Texas in the States of Western Texas for not voting solid for Judge Devine, and then turns around and abuses Hubbard for not throwing the election to Devine whether Western Texas wanted him or not. We believe our contemporary is at fault in its conclusions. We believe Western Texas would have preferred Judge Devine to any of the gentlemen named, but that those who cling to their superstitions and voted straight for Hubbard did so because he was manifestly the choice of a majority of the people of the State, and they refused to partake of the sop so lavishly thrown out to Western Texas by the Throckmorton men. The ways of conventions are devious, now-a-days, and almost past finding out, but we do not believe Judge Devine would have received the nomination had the whole strength of Hubbard been given him, because it was not two-thirds of the convention. The Throckmorton men threw the nomination towards Judge Devine, it is true, but there was a string attached by which they could pull it back, when danger of his securing it threatened. It never was the intention of that convention to give the Governor to Western Texas, and the vote given Judge Devine was only a shrewdly devised effort to break the ranks of Hubbard, and in the confusion prevailing bring Throckmorton again before the convention in the hope of securing the nomination before order could be restored.

Our contemporary may be correct, but in the light of all the facts presented, we believe Hubbard had been withdrawn, Throckmorton's name would have been presented again at once, and the nomination of Devine been as hopeless as ever. Western Texas can secure the governor only when we have the preponderating influence in the way of votes.

A GREENBACKER COMES TO THE RESCUE.

As has been frequently stated in the Express, our columns are open to all parties desiring to write short communications on matters of public interest. In another column "A Greenbacker" comes up with the assurance as provided with that class, and in a fitly solves the problem, at least to his own satisfaction, of how to get the new silver dollars into circulation. Our greatest surprise, in connection with "Greenbacker's" proposition is that he favors redeeming those bonds with silver. Why not redeem the bonds with greenbacks, costing only the paper on which they are printed, and sell the silver to the junk-shops? It is so much more valuable as a commercial commodity than paper. We are in favor of redeeming our bonds as fast as they mature, and with any money in the Treasury, but we do not believe a Democratic Congress, or any other kind of a Congress (unless it be a Greenback one, which no doubt could accomplish anything) can compel bondholders to present their bonds before they become due, or to receive for them any money other than was stipulated in the contract. We do not remember any of the bonds of the United States going to protest. July 23rd the Treasury called for the redemption of five millions of the 5-20's, the interest on which expires October 28th next. The Treasury certainly, then, is well up with its work in the matter of bond redemption, as it calls for the bonds in full time to get them all in by the date of the expiration of their interest. No doubt, if the bonds maturing can be paid in the new silver dollars, and there is enough on hand not appropriated to other purposes, the desire of "Greenbacker" will be gratified.

As we are seeking after information in regard to the government bond matter, will "Greenbacker" please inform the Express what bonds of the United States are past due and unpaid. It would be more satisfactory to the reader if they were particularized. We frankly acknowledge our lack of information on this subject.

THE CANDIDATE FOR LAND COMMISSIONER.

At the time our article on the Democratic nominations, which appeared yesterday morning, was written, we had not received the nomination for the office named above.

William C. Walsh, candidate for Commissioner of the General Land Office, is a resident of Travis county, and his selection from among a large number of candidates, some of whom at least were held in the highest esteem, not only on account of their personal popularity, but for their recognized fitness for the office sought, gives a fair guarantee of the faith of the convention, and his nomination is eminently fitted for the position. We were wounded in the battles around Richmond, from the effects of which he has since been a hopeless cripple. His father was one of the first settlers of Austin, and the pioneer has passed a good portion of his life since his boyhood in some one or other of the State departments. He has an intimate knowledge of the workings of the Land Office, and possesses every qualification for making an excellent officer.

THE MEXICAN DOLLAR.

The silver outflow, the Mexican dollar, continues to give trouble to communities. When it was denounced in one place its previous good reputation secured it a welcome in another. But it failed to remain in favor in its latest stopping place, and had to seek still newer fields or take its legitimate place in the family of dollars. Driven from one place to another in Texas it finally had to seek refuge outside the State. It found a welcome in Missouri, and the State was flooded with Mexican silver. From a rarity the Mexican silver-burn became as common as currency, and the people became alarmed. Very soon St. Louis clapped on the depreciation. But in other places the people hated it. They could not understand why it was not as good as any dollar, though it would not buy as much in other places. The "cartwheels" rolled into Kansas City, and soon began to move on, to attempt the protection of themselves of the banks, and they to protect themselves, declared it must be discontinued. The people became indignant. Was not a Mexican dollar more valuable than an American dollar? Did it not contain more fine silver, etc., etc.? The banks could go to eternal thunder and blazes! The patriotic people would take it at par; and they had little trouble in securing a pretty heavy shipping Mexican money to that place, and of course, the greater portion of it went into the hands of poor men—the working classes. But the result was inevitable. The merchants had to combine together to meet the heavy pressure of their new acquaintances. They discounted it ten per cent, or when taken in large sums, seven per cent. A reporter of the Journal interviewed the merchants on the subject a few days ago, and the results fill a column. It is the old story. It may be intrinsically worth more than a dollar, but circumstances give it a commercial value
