New Orleans, August 16—31ed 12:30 p. m.

New cases 198; deaths 29.
The deaths to-day include twelve children, ten of them under five years. taims some valuable information as to the treatment, &c., of yellow fever and enforcing of quarantine regulations. Surgaon. Woodworth says a vesul may escape infection if kent clean and dry and all the parts capable of being closed are frequently subject d to the fames of burning sulphur, and the men employed on board are compelled to bathe and change flannels daily and not allowed to sleep on the deck or in the hold of the vessel. There is an example of a ship trading between Havana and New York upon which these precautions have been enforced for a period of twelve years, and not a case of yellow fever has occurred on board. Though not sufficiently demonstrated to state as a fact, still there seems good reason to believe that much may be accomplished by individual prophylaxis, by the use internally of until desert of suphaste of quinine at regular intervals, and chlorate of potash, as the poison enfers the system through the air passage. It has been suggested that the mash passages be bathed frequently with a solution containing quinine, to be applied by means of a need uppay.
