Dear Site,—I wish to give you this testimony, that you may know, and let others know, what Yegetine, has done for me. About I we years ago a must regent on my leg; it soon became a large there, so troublesome that I consulted the elector, but I got no religit, growing wonse from day to day. I suffered terribly; I could not rest day or night; I was so reduced my friends thought I wenth never recover; I consulted a doctor at Columbus. I rollowed this advice. It did no good. I can truly say I was discouraged. At this time I was looking over my newspape. I saw your advectisement of Vegeting, the "Great Blood Partier," for elemanting the blood from all impurities, curing Humanes, Unions, etc. I said to my family, I will be some of the regesting from all impurities, curing Humanes, Unions, etc. I said to my family, I will be some of the regestine better. I made up toy mind I had get the registing the blood from the country of the property of the continued taking Yegetine. I took thirteen besties.

—Don't forget, ladies, that the prettiest sewing and the most fashionable dressmak-ing, and for the least money, is done at Mrs.

Among the incidents of interest that cocurred about the city yesterday was the arrest of Colonel W. A. E. Bhodes, of Graham, Young county, Texas. The Colonel, it seems, was induced to come to Texns from Washington City, where he was engaged in the practice of law, his profession. He was a fine appearing and intelligent fellow, and Grahamites, by whom he was entrusted with much responsible business. About six months ago, he married a young lady or good parentage and of excellent social standdiag. After living with his wife for three or four months, he suddesly disappeared, when it was developed that he had embezzied, it is supposed, between three and four thousand dollars which he had collected for clients. The last grand jury of Young county indicted Mr. Rhodes, charging embezziement, but his whereabouts were unknown, for he had fied weeks before. Yestecrday, however, Judge Fleming, of Comancle county, and the Judge for the district in which Rhodes' embezziement is alleged, happened to be upon our streets and met up with the runaway Colonel. When Rhodes observed the Judge, he began to move offbut was in time followed by an officer and control that the round send at once for the prisoner. Rhodes deeply laments his

The city employs two health police, whose duties are simply to go about and notify persons to clean their premises. Of course, if the instructions from those officers are not complied with, why the offenders are arrested and fined. Now, this is not the first nor the second nor the third time that we have suggested that it would seem proper first for the city to set an example of cleanliness, and then punish the citizens who refuse to follow that example. While poor families are compelled to do this or that toward the sanitation of their surroundings, the city totally ignores the existence of far filthier and more obnounce fever-breeding agencies upout the street. Take Acequia street, and the corners of Main plaza, the 'vicinity of Military plaza and Market street, and the stench and stench and Market street, and the stench and stench the city. Again, last evening an employee of the city cleaned onta filthy gutteron Market street, dragging the sour mud and general filth and scrapings from the main market into the centre of the street, where they were left to bake and dry leaving their impuritied in ha are that we breath. Robbing French Ladies.

(From the Chamber's Journal.)

Strategy is a thing to be admired when it is employed for the circumvention of rogues. While the French were in Mexico stage robberies on the Monterey road became very frequent. The French commander resolved to put a stop to them; and this is how he did it: He dressed up half a dozen Zouavea in ladies attire and sent them the next stage, their faces hidden by veils, their carriers in the stage was stopped; the ladies, without waiting to be invited, left the vehicle and fell into line with the other passengers. Suddenly a series of reports came from that line, and some dozen robbers lay dead; the rest discreetly disappeared. For a long while afterward it was only requisite to display a shawl and honnet conspicuously to secure a free passage for a stage on that route.
