HANGING AT WACO.

[Fix-cial Dispatch to the Daray Expanse] Waco, September 20, 1878. eers, for the murder of Parso Pledger, in this county, in 1873, was hung o-day. The execution took place in the members of the press, physicians and were issued.

A few moments before four o'clock service vere held in the jail, and at the conclusion prisoner was brought down to the scaffold, supported on the left by Rev. H. M. Wells, Methodist minister, on the right by A. R. McCollum, editor of the Telephone, who had known Speers as a school boy. The doomed man ascended the scaffold ith case, and between the minister and Mr. McCollum and officers, he stood and listened to the singing of "Jesus lover of my soul. During the singing he was somewhat affected Mr. McCollum. After the singing was donslight motion of the fingers being the only pervousness perceptible. He removed his slippers with ease, shook hands with the Min-Moore. He then cast his eyes up at the beam, took his place under the drop, had Sheriff Ross pulled the drop and the body of John Speers was suspended between earth and heaven. His legs awayed until five and one half minutes past four; at seven minutes past 4 his shoulders shrugged; at eight minutes the pulse was lost; and at ten and one half minutes the heart ceased to beat; at twelve minutes he was pronounced dead, and was cut down at twenty minutes after four. He made no public remarks, but his last unthorized statement in his own hand minutes the pulse was furnished the Dalle Telephone.

port of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, made to the General Assembly of Ohio. It is a complete and comprehensive report of the condition of labor in the State of Ohio for the past year, showing the state of business in that State, and is particularly interesting for the historical facts it contains relative to the laboring classes of the world. The idea that although artisans and trades of every kind—the producers, or hard workers—were necessary to a state they were not part of it, prevailed in the older countries until the seventeenth century. The Magna Charta wrested from King John only applied to a moiety of the population of England—laborers, not being considered part of the State, being bondsmen, the Magna Charta did not apply to them. Producers were serfs, or slaves to the soil, and were bought and sold with it, cattle and represented, which is not the case with the labor and to little conversion is and soil, and were bought and sold with it, cattle and represented, which is not the case with the labor and to little component market to the laborers wife. Vegetine

Ma. H. R. STRUERSDear Bir.—Your Vegetine has been doing wonders for me. Have been having the Chills and Fever, contracted in the swamps of the South, nothing giving me relief until. I began sating your Vegetine, it is more than the swamps of the South, nothing giving and the swamps of the South, whereas other medicines weakened me and filled my system with poison. And I am satisfied that if families that live in the agne districts of the South and West would take Vegetine two or three times a week they would not be troubled with the Chills or the malignant Fovere that prevail at certain times of the year, save doctors bills and live to a good old age.

Of course you have heard who are to be the prima domnas at the New York Academy this winter. There does not seem to me to be any one in the list of much account except Gerster, who is splendid, a beautiful singer and a fine actress. I speak of the prima domnas only, as it is the role in this country, as well as at home, to go to the opens on account of the female singer, and according as she attracts, so is the house filled. It is nonsense to say that it is otherwise over here. To be sure, the mise en scene is better than at our Academy, but I have seen Faust given at the miss en scene is better than at our Academy, but I have seen Fanat given at Convent Garden, with its magnificent scenery, ballet and chorus, and a second-rate Marguerite, to an empty house, and I have seen the same opera, presented in exactly the same manner, with the mere addition of Patti, crowded to the very ceiling, Albani is an enormous favorite here. She is, next to Patti, the most attractive singer we have, She was married a few days ago to Mr. Ernest Gye. All mails close half an Bour previous to the time over tables and chairs is but a poor way of trying to be funny. Taking off ladies chigoons and jumping over tables and chairs is but a poor way of trying to be funny. The whole performance was forced and slow. Christine Nilsson has been unfortunate in business affairs, ance was forced and more than the beau unfortunate in business affairs, having tost nearly all her money. She will have to go to work again as hard as ever. I read an article the other day in one of the English journals published expressly for ladies, in which a short account of Long Branch was given. Either manners and American Weman. From the New York Commercial Advertuser. Margate, August 15.—I have often noticed that whenever the English watering place is described for the benefit of American readers, Brighton is invariably the place chosen to write about; as if being the largest and most important, it monopolized all the elements of life at the seaside in this country. This is not the case, although there are many weak imitations of Brighton, lessen luminaries triving to obtain a small portion of the importance of this great planet, such as Worthing, Ponsatone, Dover, Deal, etc. Yet there are others which are no more like Brighton than they are like Long Branch. Three thousand miles away one of these is Margate, a place which contains in the season 100,000 souls. The most unfashionable of the seaside resorts is the healthiest and most charming in all England, facing directly north, with its magnificent expanse of beach more than twelve miles in length, composed of hard, smooth, yellow sand. The walks which it affocds on the efficiency who go to the seaside for health and not for fashion. One never hears of a person of season for the paradise of children and of all those who go to the seaside for health and not for fashion. One never hears of a person of season for the seaside for health and not for fashion. One never hears of a person of Americans here almost every day. The success of the American woman in society is becoming a public calamity. "I think lit's a piece of great impertinence for those American girls to come over here and take to themselves all our best men," said a very pretty English girl to me the other day. "You should prevent them," I said, "If you "You should prevent them," I said, "If you CAPLES" CAPLES CAPLES CAPLES Star, "I and 15 os., $\psi$ box, 40 B $\psi$ box, $\psi$ 6 78 Parafine, colored, per B. 28 to the seaside for health and not for who go to the seaside for heafth and not for fashion. One never hears of a person of any pretensions who dares say that he has spent a season there, and to take a house at Margate would be to a member of good so-ciety here as if Mr. Belmont went to build himself a villa at Coney Island. Margate would be to a member of good society here as if Mr. Belmont went to build himself a villa at Coney Island. The system here of bathing in the sea is decidedly an improvement on ours. For the small sum of 4 pence one can hire a nice comfortable room on four wheels, which is driven out into the sea as far as you wish to go, when your horse and driver leaves you to take your bath in the most private and enjoyable manner possible. All the annoyance of walking across burning saud to a bathing house before the laughing gaze of the by-standers is done away with; besides, the bucket of water to rinse one's feet is entirely unnecessary, as one enters one's bathing machine without a trace of sand. There is no hotel life here; that is to say, there are quenting one of the popular resorts of the craft, but mingling little in the idle babble of the throng. When drawn into conversa-tion it is generally to correct some error ing machine without a trace of sand. There is no hotel life here that is to say, there are pointy of hotels, but no life such as is known in as American watering place. Scarcely any one but transient people stay at the hotels. In this, Margate is the same as all the other English seaside resorts. 18. That keroseys will soften boots or shoes which have been hardened by water, and reasier them as pliable as new.

14. That kerosene will make tin teaketill tes as bright as new. Saturate a woolen tes as a tribe of burning phosphorous lodged under the nail and, though instantly quenched, communicated poison which soon extended to the arm. Amputation was advised, but to the arm. A safely snuggled out of the country a modern lindscape was painted over it. "When you get it to England any picture cleaner with a light finger will remove the yell of the modern painter and reveal the beauties which it concealed." The plan succeeded admirably up to a certain point. The picture cleaner had not a "light finger." He removed the modern landscape, but in doing so unfortunately rubbed out at the same time the old master, and the purchaser when the picture was cleaned, found that all he had really got to adopt his gallery was the portrait of a general officer of the time of George I. in fall suffers.

Nothing like being in good time. Anticipating a war between China and the Argentine Republic, the Chilian banks have suspended specis payments.

A tavern assper in Bristol. England, has relinquished selling beer and strong liquor his bar, and confines himself to milk. He does a good business and has no license to pay.

Mr. A. H. Moor's span of elk attracted much attention in the grounds yesterday. Their names are Dexter and Dasher. Dexter weighs 516 pounds and Dasher 500 pounds. They are two years old each, well broke to harness, and Mr. Moore says, so well trained that a woman can drive them. They were captured on Rice river, eight miles south of Fargo, Dakota, when four or five days' old. It is an easy matter for them to travel sixteen miles an hour and have two men and a buggy, and it is said they can travel one hundred miles as easy as a horse team can fifty. Their antiers are in what the hunters term the velvety stage.
