MEXICAN MATTERS.

FORMIDABLE REVOLT AGAINST

ments on the Frontier

Washington, July 30.—The progress of events in the political world of Jackino during the cusping few months will be well worth watching. Indeed, some very insportant news may be expected from that country at any moment. According to the tenor of advices received by officials in the war department from army officers and others on the frontier, who have been closely observing the development of matters in our sister republic, a formidable revolt against the government of President Diar is likely to manifest itself before the close of the present convention. Mr. Gamp, of Milwaukee, read an interesting paper on the history of western banking.

of the Alamo ditch to the head of the river, and which appeared in yesterday's Exymen, stirred up the natives and served as a theme of general talk through the day. There were many who had nothing further to remark about the matter than. 'I always said so,' a few had 'known that to be the case all my life," while others didn't think that the city authorities had the nerve to prosecute the claim of the city, and others still held that the matter amounted to nothing whatever. But the fact is, the majerity appeared to believe the right of the city to the property along the river's bank wall founded, and the older citizens, especially, were of this opinion. Their memories reverted to days gone by when no one dared to dispute this right—when it was as generally conceded as the right to use Commerce street as a public thoroughfare is to-day.

It is stated that there were particular reasons to urge the city council to take the step it has taken toward reclaiming this right. An alderman remarked pesterdiy in a conversation with this reporter that Major Brackenridge, Col. Peirce and others were talking of cutting a channel from some point at the head of the river around lo another point below the cild daur, for the establishment of a woolen goods manufacturing enterprise. In such an event, the amount of water that would be taken from the main channel of the

In such an event, the amount of water that would be taken from the main channel of the river between the points, which supplies the Alamo ditch and rams the waterworks, would render valueless both the ditch and the waterworks. It is also said that Maj. Brack-enridge boasted that he owned the river at its head, and could do with it as suited his mind—that he could even turn the channel away from the city. Because of such take as this, the council thought it high time to move in the matter of ascertaining whether there existed any substantial foundation for it, and that the privileges of Mr. Brackenridge and the rights of the city might be defined and forever settled.
