A correspondent of the Waxabachie En-terprise gives an account of the cactus hedge, which seems to be a great success. It is claimed that this hedge can be made imper-vious to the unstanted and will set feerer. At all events, Mr. Fleming, the originator, is taking contracts to put out hedges and cultivate at sixty cents per rod, in annual payments.

Probably the best that can be done for a horse that knuckies over at the "ankies" from hard driving is to give him liberty on an inclosed pasture. In shoeing it is better to use calking and no toe-piece, instead of trying to force the "ankie" into a natural position by using shoes without heels. The horse assumes the knucking position simply to relieve the strained tendons, etc., which positions for the Inture of his limbs, he should be assisted in assuming, rather than the giverse.—National Live Stock Journal, Chicago.
