Mr. Isaac Dugger, just returned from a short jaunt west, reports having passed four days out of cattle on their way to Kinney county, which were from Atascosa, Karnes and Liveoak counties.

Ed. Treadwell, reported by our correspondents to have been killed at McFerret, was a brother of John Treadwell, formerly of this city and well known in musical circles here. Ed. Treadwell was painter, and leaves actually in this city, from whom, however, he has long been absent.

Friday night a young man of this city, while at Maverick's grave, where a dame was to be seen, observed a brace of young, dark-eyed, slender girls, who, according to the story, were after a row and who evidently got it. One of the shapes walked away and the other followed him with a smile on her face.

The first meeting of the newly-organized Jockey club met at Gen. Ord's last evening, and rode out to the reservoir. A slight accident occurred by the break of the girth of a young lady's saddle, by which she was thrown to the ground, but fortunately was not injured. She got up and continued with the company to the reservoir, who took them into custody. They gave their names as Isidore Almone and Tomas Castillo.

Last Friday these two-thieves stole several horses and mules from the premises of Amadeo Garcia, near Espada mission, and upon finding that his stock was gone, Garcia issued the courage, and was soon after to be seen in the reservoir. From there he trailed them back to San Antonio, and yesterday pointed them out to Detective Gardner, who took them into custody. They gave their names as Isidore Almone and Tomas Castillo.

On Saturday night, Mrs. Flock, whose business has charge of Elmer's cigar store, had a small fire in the back room, by which used to fester the window with falling from its place, and looking up she observed a man crawling in. Seizing a revolver, she dropped it on the rogue, ordering him to leave, and the fellow did without a word.

Another night a young man of this city, while at Maverick's grave, where a dame was to be seen, observed a brace of young, dark-eyed, slender girls, who, according to the story, were after a row and who evidently got it. One of the shapes walked away and the other followed him with a smile on her face.

Day by day the "feats of the drought" are the more frequently realized. A gentleman by the name of Ryan, who resides east of the city, in the Laredo road, has just disposed of his farm, which is about 100 acres, of which 50 are in water, and 50 are in timber. Mr. Hermann Huppert purchased same for them of his family, and selected one from the number which he threw upon the ground, and it weighed over 100 pounds. It is said to be the largest ever raised in this section of the country, and is an interesting amount of timber, which should come here, or has been accustomed to doing so until now.

THE COMFORT CELEBRATION.

Two Days of Dancing and Delight.

Six Hundred Guests Indulge in the Festivities.

Our reporter is indebted to Mr. Hans L. Degener, of this city, who has just returned to attend the celebration of the 25th anniversary of their village, by the citizens of Comfort, Kendall county, for notes relative to the proceedings. The celebration was referred to as a great social picnic and the nature of the surrounding country, in our Sunday's edition, but no information regarding the proceedings incident to the celebration has up to this time been received. The celebration will be coming from San Antonio and points intermediate between Comfort and this city were received, with a band of music, on the banks of the Guadalupe, just east of Comfort, from whence they were escorted to the grand hall, which was filled with a great number of people.
