

The Artesia Advocate.

Twice-a-Week---Wednesday and Saturday

VOL. 9

ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1911.

NO. 27.

IT IS UP TO ARTESIA

Business Men as to Whether This Town Continues to Have a Creditable Newspaper.

Omaha, Nebr. 11-25-11.
J. L. Tullis, Artesia, N. M.

Dear Sir:—I have looked your paper over for a month or two and tried to find a cement block "ad", but as none appears, I will write you to see if you can give me prices or get prices for me as I expect to move to Artesia in the spring and want to know the price of cement blocks 8x8x16. I will want a thousand or fourteen hundred.

I am very much interested in the valley and your paper. I think you deserve better support than you are getting from the business men.

Please hand my address to the cement block man as I would like to know as soon as possible. Yours respt.

J. C. HAMMANG.

The above letter explains itself. Any one having the blocks desired, will please write Mr. Hammang.

This is another subscriber at a distance who recognizes that the Advocate is worthy of a better support than the people of Artesia are giving it. Such reminders of their dereliction of duty ought to cause the business men here to give more patronage to a paper that is appreciated by outsiders and one that is doing good work for Artesia. If they persist in their refusal to extend sufficient support to justify the publishing of a creditable newspaper, the present management will get some one to take it who will give a paper commensurate with the patronage. We haven't time to educate people to do their duty.

Killed Five of His Family.

New York, Nov. 28.—Ignazia Phospia, an Italian store-keeper, killed his wife, his mother, his sister and his two children, then shot himself to death in the rooms back of his store at Lodi, N. J., today.

Phospia had quarreled with his family and had been away for a week. He returned today and went to the store. A customer who entered soon after found the six corpses. The man used a revolver and each cartridge counted for a life.

Phospia's corpse lay nearest the door. Between him and the living room at the back lay the body of his wife. In the next room were the other two women and in the bedroom the two children, aged four and six.

Mr. S. W. Gilbert has been at St. Joe, Mo., with the fruit exhibit which took the ribbons at Denver. He will no doubt do as well there with this fine exhibit.

The price of alfalfa has gone to $14.00 and $15.00 per ton, since most of it is out of the hands of the producers. More warehouses and barns are needed in Pecos Valley to store alfalfa until better prices can be obtained than is usually secured at the beginning of the season.

Rexall

Shampoo Paste

Is advertised on the two center pages of the Saturday Evening Post this week.

Our store sells Rexall Remedies, including the 93 SHAMPOO PASTE, and we are the only place in Artesia where these remedies can be bought.

We sell every one of them on a positive guarantee to give satisfaction or your money back.

There is one Rexall store in every town of any size in the United States and all are conducted the same way.

We take all the risk when you buy

so why should you spend your money for something that does not carry the "money back" guarantee.

Ask us about Rexall next time you need a family medicine.

22 PRECINCTS OUT.

While There is Some Dissatisfaction it is not Believed Another Election be Demanded.

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 29.—With the official returns from twenty-two precincts missing and three precincts not having held an election, the official canvassing board of the November election when it convened this forenoon, was confronted by a peculiar situation. The returns from six counties are still to be sorted, which will probably swell the missing precincts returns to thirty. This process of sorting the returns before beginning the actual canvass may be completed today.

While neither party has made any charge of fraud thus far, the withholding of thirty precinct returns for three weeks has made such charges possible and has revived talk of congressional investigation and delay in President Taft in issuing the proclamation which the law directs he shall do immediately upon receiving officially the result of the canvass. However, neither republican nor democrat leaders desire such delay and would fight such proposition. It is believed, therefore, that any movement to set aside the election and providing for another election next November, will not crystallize into any organized or definite movement.

Says Roosevelt is Not a Candidate.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 27.—The North American publishes what it calls an "authoritative statement" of Col. Roosevelt's position with reference to the Republican national campaign for the presidency in 1912.

The statement reiterates Mr. Roosevelt's declarations that he will not be a candidate in 1912; neither would he lend his aid to any prospective candidate. The North American says the statement was made no more than three days ago by Col. Roosevelt. It says:

"Col. Roosevelt will not support any man for the nomination in 1912, neither Mr. Taft nor anyone else. He never gave Mr. Taft any pledge or offer of support, nor did Mr. Taft ever have such an impression.

"As to himself, Col. Roosevelt is not a candidate nor has he been at any time. He has repeatedly discouraged suggestions of this character, not only from sincere friends, but from political leaders, who for one reason or another, desire to use his name, and he has emphatically refused pledges of active support, even delivery of delegates."

A car load of telegraph poles have arrived for the new railroad.

Acquitted of Charge of Murder.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 29.—Gertrude Gibson Patterson, charged with the murder of her husband, Charles A. Patterson, of Chicago, in this city September 25, was acquitted by a jury, which reported to judge Allen at 2:35 this afternoon. The prisoner flushed and swayed, but regained her composure in a moment, shook hands with her attorney and then with the jurors.

The released prisoner was given a tremendous demonstration by the throng in the courtroom and again outside as she made her way back to the jail to secure her personal effects.

Western College.

Messrs. E. B. Kemp, C. A. Sipple and J. E. Swebston, the executive committee of Western College, have issued notice of a meeting to be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 6th, at 7 p. m., at the Commercial Club room, for the purpose of discussing questions of vital interest concerning the future welfare of Western College. All citizens of this town and community are urged to be present.

Western College is an institution worthy of the support and influence of the people here, and it is to be trusted that there will be a large and enthusiastic crowd present.

Shot in the Eye.

The four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cady, Hope, was accidentally shot in the eye with an arrow while playing with a little companion in the yard. The child may lose both eyes. She looked up when the arrow was shot and as it fell, struck her in one eye putting it out, and since the eye ball has been removed, the other is in danger from the affected sympathy.

The revival meetings continue and much interest is being manifested. Both will likely close Sunday—or at least the Baptist will.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Is Universally Observed in Artesia. Union Services.—Foot-Basket Ball.—Bronco Busting.

Thanksgiving Day was universally observed in Artesia. The weather was fine—a regular New Mexico day of sunshine.

There were union services at the Presbyterian church. Rev. E. C. Morgan president of Western Pollege, read the Thanksgiving Proclamation of President Taft, and Rev. W. A. Dawson pastor of the Christian church preached an appropriate, able and eloquent sermon on the day that was being observed.

An offering was made for the needy of Artesia and vicinity and a very nice sum realized.

The choir led by Mrs. Gates furnished excellent music, and a duet by Mrs. Gates and Mr. Woodrow was very much enjoyed.

Thursday afternoon there was a game of football between Roswell High School and Western College teams, resulting in 21 to 0 in favor of the visitors.

A game of basket ball between girls from Roswell High School and Western College, resulted in victory for the latter by a score of 5 to 6.

Quite a crowd of Roswell people accompanied the teams from there.

There was some bronco busting at the ball park, but not many attended.

Eddy County Guano Beds.

In the bat caves of Eddy county are some very rich guano beds, which people of the upper valley desire to use as fertilizer, but so far have not been able to come to terms with the owners of the caves. These beds of guano are in the southwestern portion of this county and are said to be very rich and in great quantity. The price now quoted for the guano is $25 per ton.

The Advocate is recognized as the leading newspaper of this section, and consequently it can do more good for Artesia and surrounding country than any paper not up to the standard of excellence as the Advocate. It is now up to the people of Artesia, especially, as to whether they want such a paper continued. No one with sense enough to publish a creditable newspaper is going to sit in a place and be starved out. If this town does not appreciate newspaper ability there are places that do. If Artesia people want to drop back from their heretofore enviable position of enterprise, the Advocate can't help it. This paper has done its part, and more.

Carlsbad sent a committee to Roswell to enlist the aid of citizens of that place for Carlsbad in its efforts to secure the Eastern New Mexico Normal. On the committee were Dr. F. F. Doepp state senator elect, and Sheriff M. C. Stewart. The latter is showing his appreciation of the nomination for sheriff given him by Artesia voters, because without the vote he received here, Stewart could not have been nominated. However, that is the way he treated the people here on the county division matter, so those who assisted in his nomination are not entitled to any sympathy or anything else from the people of Artesia, who are really friends of the place they make their home and where they get their living.

pointed the following committee to take the proper steps: Clark Dilley, J. E. Rhea and Frank N. Brown.—Roswell Correspondent Albuquerque Journal.

The Advocate is pleased to see the managers of the Roswell Products Exposition change the name, and it is what this paper suggested at the time the last Exposition was held, and to which the managers became very much incensed. If more attention was paid the suggestions of the Advocate a considerable number of people would do better, and especially would Artesia and the business interests here profit by heeding the advice of this paper.

New Wrinkles for New Train De Luxe.

(El Paso Herald)

Class will be written with a capital "C" on the Sunset limited trains de luxe, which will be put into service from New York to New Orleans, El Paso, Los Angeles and San Francisco on the Southern Pacific systems. It is expected that these new trains de luxe will be the finest operating between New York and the coast. It will require an extra fare to ride on this train, which is expected to lop off several hours in the total running time from coast to coast.

The newest wrinkle announced as one of the conveniences of the Sunset limited de luxe will be three stenographers who will be at the service of the passengers of the new train, free of charge. They will not only be able to take 100 words a minute and better of dictation, but will be walking information bureaus regarding the points of interest along the Sunset route. They will be men stenographers rather than the skirted, curled and beribboned variety of this useful as well as ornamental tribe. Believing that the stenographers are to be assigned to the trains for what they can do rather than for looks, the ban has been put on the female of the species, and mere men will punch the keys of the typewriters.

The stenographers are now being given a thorough schooling in the places of interest along the southern route, and are being taken to Mt. Lowe, the California beach resorts, Mt. Washington, Redlands and San Diego. Later they will visit El Paso and Juarez to acquaint themselves with the attractions, history and places of interest in these two cities. This is being done in order that the stenographers may answer intelligently all the questions propounded by the passengers on the de luxe limited.

In addition to the stenographic service, the Southern Pacific has arranged for barbers, maids, hairdressers, manicurists, and bath attendants. A shower bath is to be included in the list of conveniences on the through trains.

May Belle Fowler Co.

The May Belle Fowler Co., will open the Majestic theatre, the week of December 4th. This is one of the best dramatic companies, playing this territory, and the manager guarantees to the people of Artesia, a week of high class entertainment. The company is headed by May Belle Fowler, one of the best leading women in this territory, and when you see her on next Monday night you will want to come again. In addition to the play, they carry a number of high class vaudeville acts, such as the Dancing Gordiniers, Fred Hobbs, the funny character comedian, Fowler & Dumont, in refined singing and dancing. During the engagement they will present such well known plays as Amy, The Circus Girl, As Told in the Hills, East Lynne, The Village School Master, A Wife's Honor, A Yankee in Ireland and Peck's Bad Boy will be the popular matinee play. Prices for this engagement will be 35c for adults, and 25c for children.

The Republicans in New Mexico have so long posed as the friends of the native people that it must be quite a shock for them to realize that the only natives to be elected during the recent election to a state office were those so elected upon the Democratic ticket. Now the Republicans have another chance to live up to their protestations of friendship and, with control of the legislature elect a native son of New Mexico to the United States senate. But as usual the native New Mexicans will get it in the "neck" and the bosses will line up for one of their kind, such as Andrews and Bursum.—Roswell Record.

Too Palpable a Fraud.
Gifford Pinchot asserts that an amendment written into the agricultural appropriation bill by the senate would take millions of acres out of the national forest reserves. The amendment provided that all land on which there is standing less than 4,000 feet of merchantable timber to a section of 160 acres shall be excluded from government reservations. Inasmuch as the amendment was proposed by Senator Heyburn, who is an avowed enemy of the policy of conservation, the fears of Gifford Pinchot were probably well-founded. Equally, if not more, inimical to a conservative land policy was the amendment tacked on the same bill by Senator Carter in aid of fraudulent mining claims. A prospector drops a gilt collar button and grubstake a location on the pretense of having found gold. Senator Flint declared that half the timber land in California was taken under fraudulent mining locations. Senator Carter would have validated such frauds if the claims did not in terms include the timber—in fact, the timber is never specifically included. The hair naturally goes with the hide.

Wise Democratic Policy.

The Democrats, if they are wise, will help the administration to pass the reciprocity measure and the tariff board bill, and go home. They may point to their achievements and formulate at leisure their policies, which can be developed to advantage at the next regular session of congress. The country does not want a tariff campaign this summer; it does not wish congress to remain in session and the Democrats will doubtless use discretion. In the history of the party wise leadership was never more important.

The Origin of That Shady Bend Outrage.

There are thousands of instances in which light-headed and small-hearted women, moved by jealousy, envy or mean motives, have, by their gossip, led their fathers, husbands and sons, into deadly difficulties and feuds of long standing. In some instances idle and desperate gossips have been the cause of war. The scandalous mistreatment of Miss Chamberlain at Shady Bend, Kansas, is attributed to the hot gossip of the women of the neighborhood in which she taught school. This in answer to a correspondent who inquires as to the origin of the trouble.

To begin with, Miss Chamberlain is good-looking, bright and generally attractive. In a social way she took the lead at once on her arrival in the Lincoln Center community. The story has in it that the belles of the locality soon began to "cut" her, and that the attacks upon her were led by three or four "snipnose mothers" of the settlement. The "tales" went from house to house on foot, by phone, and in other ways.

In order to make the attacks effective it was found necessary to bring in the men. Miss Chamberlain's rivals and their mothers spread the report that the young teacher was boasting of her conquests; that she was "carrying on" with the husbands of certain of the wives, and that she boasted that she had at her feet every beau in the town. The wives whose husbands were alleged to be accused proceeded to do the rest. When the young husbands heard that she was boasting that she had been "taking on" with them, this, of course, aroused their anger. The girls also told their sweethearts that the teacher had been boasting that she had them "at her feet," so to speak and urged them to resent it.

Thus the town was worked into a frenzy. The young husbands and sweethearts held a meeting and decided to wreak vengeance upon the young woman they had been led to believe was doing so much talking. The most cruel torture was decided upon—that of applying tar.

This is the way in which the outrage began and was worked up, according to the published accounts. This version is based, of course, upon the idea that there were half a dozen women at the bottom of it. The outrage has not been accounted for in any other way, and it is at least probable that it began with rivals and gossips as alleged.

Regardless of the causes leading to the attack, it is one of the most cowardly, treacherous and dastardly crimes that has been committed in this country. It is hard to conceive of men who are low enough to conspire to commit such an outrage upon any woman, and last of all upon a young woman, far away from her people and her friends, and to whom the criminals actually pretended to be friendly, even as a means of deceiving, betraying and disgracing her. What a shame to the community that she should not have had one manly and courageous friend to defend her against this gang of heartless and treacherous cowards; that she could not have had, say, a couple of manly brothers who know how to do their duty to the best advantage when occasion requires it, and when the beasts need thinning down to a stand. —Dallas News.

In Hat Trimming

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

WITH a remarkable vogue in black and white in ribbons and straw shapes the liking for flowers to provide color, follows "as night the day." But flowers are everywhere used, whether the hat is quiet or gay. A group of three models shown here portray what may truthfully be termed the three leading ideal shapes and their popular and tasteful trimming.

In Fig. 1 a French sailor with a decided upward roll to the brim and a low dome crown, is pictured. The shape is in white chip, but any other white braid will give good effects. The bow across the back is of white satin ribbon having a border of black velvet ribbon stitched on one edge. The loops are wired. There are four of them making a wide double Alsatian bow, extending across the back of the hat, mounted against the crown.

Small, full blown garden roses are massed over the crown, concealing it, and a few glossy leaves peep out about the base, outlining the shape and making a good finish.

One of the hats on the helmet order is shown in Fig. 2, made of rough braid in tones of bronze and purple. A bronze velvet faces the brim and is laid in a flat plaited bow at the left. Here a spray of wild flowers in shaded colorings in which dark red, purple and green tints appear. This hat may be designed in almost any color. In amethyst shades, with deep purple facing, and cerise flowers, it is very handsome. It is a good model in all black.

Shapes which flare off the face have captivated many fancies and are apt to lead all others for summer wear. Fig. 3 shows a smooth straw in log-horn color, in which the brim droops about the head but lifts abruptly at the front with a sharp turn upward. Two bouquets of roses and moss joined by a band of black velvet ribbon, which extends about the crown, make this a hat which will harmonize with almost any costume.

This shape is to be had in many colors as well as black and white. It is pretty in black hemp or tagal, and in good black chip will prove serviceable. The color of the roses is a matter of taste, which the wearer may settle to suit herself.
