Linda Huckaby Awarded As 4-H Volunteer Leader

Two 4-H leaders from the South Plains area were among 28 in the state honored at the 1986 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 11. Linda Huckaby of Muleshoe and Freda Sparkman of Levelland were recognized as the top adult volunteer leaders in the South Plains District of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. The Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H.

Each of the leaders were presented the Texas 4-H Salute to Excellence Award provided by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, the service organization of 4-H, through a grant from the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Co. of Waco and the Raymond Dickson Foundation of Hallettsville.

Huckaby, who is municipal judge for the city of Muleshoe has been a 4-H leader in Bailey County for nine years. She has been actively involved in helping 4-H members learn a wide range of skills, particularly through clothing and food and nutrition projects. Huckaby's leadership, fund-raising skills and organizational abilities have been key elements in furthering the 4-H program in Bailey County. ## Important Tax Notices Have Gone In Mail

"If you are among the millions of Texas property owners who receive a notice of appraised value this year from county appraisal districts, pay close attention to it," advised Ron Patterson, executive director of the State Property Tax Board. "This notice contains important information concerning your 1986 property taxes."

Patterson explained that the notice of appraised value is designed to inform taxpayers of proposed increases in the appraised value of their properties and the possible effect on their property taxes. "The notice also tells you how to protest the appraisal to an appraisal review board if you disagree with it," he added.

In most cases, a notice of appraised value means that the appraisal district proposes to increase the property's value by more than $1,000 over its value the previous year. It may also indicate that the proposed value is higher than the value the owner reported on a rendition form, or that the property is on the tax records for the first time in 1986.

Patterson counseled taxpayers to carefully inspect their notices of appraised value. "If the notice shows an incorrect description of your property, or if you simply disagree with the value, it's best to contact the appraisal district as soon as possible. By acting promptly, you can often clear up errors or

'Proud To Be A Texan' Is Theme For This Year

The community of Sudan is gearing up for an expanded, and much larger celebration just prior to the annual July 4th Celebration.

Many more activities have been added to the celebration, which started out on a relatively 'small scale' several years ago.

"Proud To Be A Texan," is the theme for the celebration this year, and it is scheduled for all day on Saturday, June 28.

One new item of interest is the "Adopt a Fireplug," contest. "In keeping with the theme 'Proud to be a Texan,' in mind, but it is not an absolute requirement, select the fireplug you plan to adopt and paint," said Jane Wiseman.

"Requirements are that they will be assigned on a first come, first served basis and there cannot be any added 'frills', and although enamel paint is best, it is not a requirement.

"Deadline for the competition is midnight, June 27," added Ms. Wiseman.

You may sign up by calling Nell Ingle at 227-2090 after 6 p.m. or for additional information, see or call Jane Wiseman, 946-2601.

disagreements over value without a formal hearing," he said.

Bridal Shower Fetes

Miss Celia Summers

Miss Celia Summers, bride elect of Gary Merriott, was feted with a bridal shower Saturday, June 14 from 2 until 3:30 p.m. at the Bailey County Coliseum.

The honoree, Miss Summers; Mrs. Earl Summers, mother of the bride elect; and Mrs. Lonnie Merriott, mother of the prospective groom; greeted the guests which were registered by Mrs. Billie Downing.

Elaine Parker and Caice Hendrix served finger sandwiches, ham rolls, fruit plates, mints and nuts, pineapple punch, and thumbprint cookies, with filling in the honoree's chosen colors, from crystal appointments.

Special guests included: Imogene Merriott, grandmother of the groom of Littlefield; Mrs. Lynial Ashford, cousin of the groom, and her daughter, Robin; Mrs. Wannie Frazier, aunt of the groom; and out of town guests, Mrs. N.T. #### ABOUT YOUR HOME

Encourage small children to drink all their milk by giving them a colored straw.

One of the best ways to water flowers or a garden is by using a soaker hose. The slow moving water doesn't disturb the soil.

Planning to repair your roof or clean drain spouts? Be sure your ladder extends at least two feet above the eaves line.

Tulip leaves should not be cut while they are still green because they provide food for the next season's blooms.

An old train case makes an excellent sewing basket. The tray is just right for small sewing articles.

Planning a vacation? Don't overload yourself with clothes. Carefully plan by mixing matching outfits.

Gelatine can help you beat high prices by extending your supply of expensive food so it serves more people. Also, gelatine is a protein and for this reason is a much better meat-extender than a starch or cereal.

MISS CELIA SUMMERS

DID YOU KNOW...?

1 in 11 women will develop breast cancer during her life
100,000 women will get breast cancer this year
38,000 women will die from it

These are the Facts

Roosevelt General Hospital now has a safe, low dose x-ray technique that can detect breast cancer up to three years before you can feel it, and long before it is detectable by conventional radiology. When it is most curable.

Preventive healthcare is something everyone should be practicing, no matter what your age. And preventing a problem costs much less than curing one. A mammogram (done by a female technologist) with a radiologist's interpretation costs $90.00 and can be done at the patient's request. Not much to pay for a big peace of mind.

Having a mammogram shouldn't scare you. Not having one should.

Texas Sesquicentennial Drawing Many Inquiries

Inquiries about West Texas Sesquicentennial Events and Attractions are pouring into the West Texas Chamber Offices from throughout the nation and the West Texas Chamber is answering thousands of these through its Tourism Development Program.

Adolph J. Jance, Executive Vice President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce says that more than 25,000 copies of the colorful West Texas Sesquicentennial Host Map and Calendar of Events will be delivered during May & June to chambers of commerce, convention bureaus, sports & vacation shows, Texas Tourist Development Agency, Texas Sesquicentennial Commission, 12 Texas State Tourist Bureaus and rated Travel Parks to answer tourism inquiries from around the nation.

By the end of the tourist season more than 50,000 Sesquicentennial Maps advertising communities in West Texas will be mailed through the program to persons who request information on communities, events and attractions in West Texas.

The four-color host map published by the West Texas Chamber lists various cities as host communities for the Sesquicentennial and gives a detailed description of things to see and do.

The direct pay-off, the state's research indicates, is that 60% of the people who respond visit Texas in the first year and another 20% the second year.

The balance of the maps will be sent later in the year in a bulk distribution program to 12 Texas Highway Tourist Bureaus, more than 200 auto clubs and to information centers throughout the United States.

West Plains Healthline By: George Florey Administrator

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to readers of the Journal. Recently, I have become the Administrator of the West Plains Medical Center. For the past 20 years, I have been involved in providing healthcare to the citizens of the communities in Chicago, Central Illinois and Southern California.

One of the greatest problems of any healthcare facility is in the communication and understanding with those it serves. It is my desire to provide the readers with as much information about health matters and their Hospital services as possible.

Please feel free to write any question which you may have in regards to West Plains Medical Center or any Health related matter. I or members of our Staff will do our best to be as informative as possible.

I would like to extend an invitation to any individual or group that would like to discuss any concerns about our services they have with me personally. I will be available to any group at any time to help develop a better understanding of healthcare services available through West Plains Medical Center.

There have been many questions and misunderstandings in regards to our Healthcare services. Pricing, quality of service and care have been an issue. Whether we feel it is fair or unfair let's discuss the matter and I really feel you'll be surprised at the amount of excellence of service, quality of care, and competitive pricing which are provided right here in town.

I and my family look forward to living in Muleshoe. We hope that long and lasting friendships will be developed. It is my sincere desire to earn your respect through my profession which is providing the best possible Health-care available for the people within our community. I look forward to answering your letters in this column, but even more so having the opportunity to meet with you personally. Understanding comes through communication. PLEASE LET'S TALK.

Holding Down Clothing Cost

While clothing costs are going up, they may have less of an impact on family budgets than in the past, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

According to clothing specialist Becky Saunders, 1985 apparel and upkeep prices, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, rose 4.4 percent over 1984.

This is the first time since 1969 that clothing prices increased at a higher rate than prices for the "all items" category, she says.

Women's suits and women's separates and sportswear led the increase in clothing prices, notes the specialist. Only prices of boys' and girls' footwear and mens' coats and jackets declined during the year.

"In spite of the increasing prices, families are actually spending a lower percentage of their budgets on clothing," Saunders reports. "In current dollars, consumers spend an average of 5.5 percent of their total expenditures on clothing a related purchases, compared to 7.7 percent in 1972-73."

If you find that clothing costs are still taking too big a bite out of your income, the specialist suggests some advanced planning to avoid wasting money and winding up with a closet full of mis-matched, impractical clothes.

She advises taking inventory of your present wardrobe to determine what can be restyled or repaired before buying anything new.

Then if you still think you need new clothing, establish a plan for the items you need. Indicate how much you are willing to spend and set up a time schedule for buying the clothes.

"If you have the time and the inclination, shopping at outlet stores, at garage sales and re-sale stores can also save you considerable amounts of money on clothing purchases," Saunders says.

FRAN HAMILTON

Spaghetti squash is a cylindrical fruit four or five inches in diameter and eight to nine inches long with rounded ends. The rind is hard and ivory colored at maturity. The stringy flesh resembles spaghetti when scooped out of a cooked fruit, and has a nutty flavor.

Spaghetti squash is in the cucumber family which includes cucumbers, watermelons, cantaloupes, gourds, pumpkins, and squash. It requires fertile, well drained warm soil. Cultural requirements are basically the same for all vine crops. Plant two seeds in groups about four feet apart in rows about eight feet apart or in groups of three, 8' x 8' (hills). Fruits will mature on vigorous vines about 90 days after seeding.

Spaghetti squash is popular in Texas gardens and is grown commercially on the High Plains. It is shipped to Texas cities from California and Florida, too. The fruit is sold year round in supermarkets and specialty grocery stores. Texas grown fruit are on the market from late May through the fall.

The fruit that should be purchased should have a hard rind, free of bruises and heavy for their size. Mature fruit is uniformly ivory-yellow and weighs two to three pounds.

Cure freshly harvested mature fruits should be stored at 80-86 degrees F and 80 percent relative humidity for 10 days. Store cured spaghetti squash at 50-60 degrees F and at a humidity of near 60 percent. If the stem is loosely attached when fruit is purchased, it should be removed to allow the injured area to heal.

Spaghetti squash is a fresh alternative to pasta for dieters. One three and half ounce serving (100gms.) of spaghetti squash contains only 29 calories compared to 149 calories for the same serving of spaghetti.

Spaghetti squash can be prepared following various cooking methods, or until tender. Then cut into halves and remove the seed and pulp. Squash can also be steamed by cutting into halves, removing the seeds and pulp, and placing cut side down in a baking dish in two-three inches of water; steam for about 45 minutes, or until the shell yields to pressure. Prior to baking pierce the shell with a fork.

Squash can be served simply with butter or margarine and seasoned with herbs and spices. It can be sprinkled with Parmesan, Romano cheese; blended with sour cream; or served with traditional pasta toppings.

To prepare in the microwave, pierce the rind deeply several times with a sharp knife for stem outlets. Place on paper towel in oven. Microwave until squash yields to pressure and feels soft. Microwave a whole one pound squash on high for four to six and a half minutes. Let stand, covered, for five minutes. Halve crosswise. Scoop out seeds and fibers. Twist out long strands of flesh with a fork.

Mobile Home

Summer Survival

Mobile homes lack the ventilated attic space, overhangs and insulation that make it easier to cool a site-built home. But that doesn't mean that mobile home residents have to suffer with the summer heat.

According to Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist Dr. Susan Quiring, mobile home owners can make minor improvements that will increase comfort and help maintain reasonable energy costs.

If your mobile home doesn't have large trees shading it, she suggests adding arbors and trellises to support vining plants that will provide shade. Low-cost, easy-to-build trellises are especially effective on east and west facing walls where the summer sun is intense.

When the roof can't be shaded, coat it with a light-colored or aluminized treatment so that most of the sunlight will be reflected, says Quiring.

To protect windows from direct exposure to the sun, the housing specialist suggests awnings, light-colored or reflective draperies or reflective film for the glass on west-facing windows.

While home improvements can help, mobile home dwellers should also be aware that their lifestyle will affect cooling costs and summer comfort, says the specialist.

Since running just a few appliances can consume a large part of an air conditioner's capacity, they should be run in the morning or late evening when it's coolest.

When you do run washers, ovens and other major appliances, she suggests shutting the air conditioner off and running the range exhaust hood over the stove to exhaust the heated air directly to the outside.

By investing in a fan to circulate air, it will also be possible to set the thermostat between 78 and 80 degrees and still maintain comfort.

On cool nights, the specialist recommends using a large capacity window fan to pull air through your mobile home. Install the fan in a kitchen or living room window so the air will exit there, and open windows in the bedrooms to let the cool night air flow through.

Manage your Lawn To Cut Water Bills

When the weather turns dry, don't just turn on your lawn sprinkler and then gripe about your high water bill. By watering, fertilizing and mowing your lawn properly, you can reduce your water bill as much as 40 percent, says a turfgrass specialist.

"Conservation by the homeowner provides the only solution to high water bills and excessive water demands during our hot and usually dry Texas summers," says Dr. Richard Duble with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. In small cities where industrial demand for water is low, lawn watering may account for as much as half of all the water used during summer months. Even in larger cities, lawns get 30 to 40 percent of all the water supplied by municipalities.

"Most Texas lawns use about 2 inches of water per week during the summer, and most of this usually comes from irrigation," Duble says. "However, as little as 1 inch of water per week can keep lawns alive and green."

Notices...

begin hearing protests from taxpayers.

"Again, it's best to file your protest soon after you received your notice of appraised value," advised Patterson. "It makes it easier for the appraisal district to schedule protests and to provide you with information you may need to back up your protest."

Among other information, the notice of appraised value lists the taxing units that tax the property, any exemptions granted for 1986, and value information from the previous year for comparison.

"State law requires the notice to show your estimated taxes for 1986, so that you can gauge the possible effect of the proposed value on your taxes," said Patterson.

"However," he added, "keep in mind that these estimates assume that proposed values won't change and that the taxing units won't need more taxes than the year before. In practice, the estimated tax rates on your notice will rarely be the same tax rates that the local taxing units actually adopt."

"Remember," Patterson concluded, "the appraisal district only appraises your property. The governing bodies of your local taxing units are the ones who set the tax rates, and they must notify and listen to their taxpayers before adopting all but the smallest tax increases."

Exactly what can a homeowner do to reduce his summer water bill?

"First, water your lawn only when grass starts to show signs of drought stress," explains Duble. "Look for discoloration and wilting. If leaves roll up in the late afternoon and footprints remain after walking across the lawn, then water within 24 hours."

"Once you've decided that your lawn needs watering, do it right," he emphasizes. "Most homeowners don't water their lawns properly. They either water too often, causing grass to develop shallow roots and making it a prime target for insects, diseases and temperature extremes, or they water too infrequently and apply too much water at one time, resulting in a lot of runoff."

"When watering, soak the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches."

School...

and successfully. It's a whole new world and the importance of professional education for bankers has never been greater," Shelton is Executive Vice President of Southeast Bank, N.A., Miami, Fla.

During their three years at the School of Banking, students receive 180 hours of classroom instruction, thirty hours of reviews, planned evening study, and written final examinations at the end of each session.

recommends the specialist. In heavy clay soils, watering for 15-20 minute periods may be necessary to prevent excessive runoff.

"Cutting back on lawn fertilization can also reduce watering," says Duble. Applying fertilizer in the spring and fall will generally keep your lawn healthy. Fertilizing during the summer, especially with nitrogen fertilizer, will green up your lawn, but it will also increase grass growth and water use.

"Mowing less often and cutting your grass at taller heights also will help keep your lawn in better shape during hot, dry weather," adds Duble. "St. Augustinegrass lawns do well when mowed at a 3-inch height, and bermudagrass lawns can be cut at a 2-inch height."

Don't Mess With Texas Says State

The state's hard-hitting new antilitter slogan is gaining popularity, even among tourists, according to Texas experts on tourism.

"Don't Mess with Texas" is a different approach to getting people to stop littering. And it's gotten a lot of publicity in recent weeks. Some Texans were fearful that visitors to the Lone Star State would think the welcome mat had been pulled in. Not to worry.

"We've reached the conclusion that most tourists think it's clever," said Tom Taylor, director of the Travel and Information Division of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Taylor's division is responsible for the 12 Texas tourist bureaus throughout the state. Each year, some 3.2 million visitors pass through the tourist bureaus.

"We've talked with our travel counselors, and they tell us that out-of-staters appreciate the campaign. They've noticed the trash along the roads, and they're glad to see we're finally serious about the problem," says Taylor.

Larry Todd, executive director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, agrees with Taylor. "People I've talked to from other states really like the 'Don't Mess with Texas' approach. They feel like only Texans can get away with such a bold, brash approach because it fits our image. We're known throughout the world as a friendly bunch that's proud of our heritage and protective of our state."

During the Sesquicentennial year, Texas is expecting to attract 20 percent more tourists than last year.

A HAT WOULD BE SO MUCH COOLER!

She must go to the native market for her physical needs. The straw hat would be so much better than the old scarf tied and knotted about her head. Sweet, cool air could come through that straw and that would feel so wonderful in this heat!

Where does she go for her spiritual needs? Is there a church on the island? Does she know that she will be told about a great God there who will help her, guide her, and refresh her?

How fortunate we are in this country that there is a church in every community. Spiritual help, refreshment of soul, fellowship and love awaits all who enter her doors. We invite you to attend Church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and of His demand for men to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long preserve and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Use your local rates to determine actual savings.

And that's only the beginning.

Saving up to 60% (or more!) each month is only one benefit of heating your home and hot water with propane instead of electricity. With a propane furnace/electric air conditioner combination, you'll be more comfortable year-round than with a heat pump and you'll save money. And a propane water heater delivers more hot water for a lot less money than an electric water heater.

Precise cooking, smokeless broiling, faster clothes drying — it's all yours, along with a lower energy bill.

Study the above chart to see how much you can save. Then, if you want more comfort and value for your hard-earned money, call us toll-free for the name of your nearest propane dealer.
