Norman, Okla., March 15.—Four University of Oklahoma students from New Mexico are eligible for either the 1921 Infantry R. O. T. C. camp, at Logan, Colo., or the Artillery R. O. T. C. camp, Camp Knox, Kentucky, according to information received here this week by Major Carl A. Baehr, Field Artillery, U. S. A., state university commandant. Five hundred and forty-eight Sooners are eligible for these camps during 1921, which will open in June and continue six weeks. Oklahomans who attend these camps will be quartered with students from Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas.

During the 1920 camps eight University of Oklahoma men attended the Artillery camp at Camp Knox and six were enrolled in the Infantry camp at Camp Jackson. The University of Oklahoma and the Oklahoma A. and M. College, Stillwater, are the only educational institutions in Oklahoma that are represented in the senior divisions of the officers' training corps, as the senior divisions are restricted to universities and colleges that require four years' study for a degree.

One of the main purposes of the summer R. O. T. C. camps, Major Baehr points out, is to put into practical operation the theoretical instruction that the students has learned during the regular university year in only a theoretical way. But systematic military training for the purpose of qualifying students as reserve officers in the military forces of the United States are not the only objects of these summer camps. Special attention is also given to the physical, mental and moral training of the young men during a formative and plastic stage in his life. Devotional services are arranged for and the services of chaplains secured. Healthy amusements are also provided, including athletic field meets, musical concerts, swimming, recreation, reading and writing rooms.

Transportation to and from the camps is provided by the government, including pullman and meals, and subsistence while there.

New Mexico Oklahoma university R. O. T. C. students who are eligible for these camps include, Artillery, Newman Smith, Artesia; and Infantry, Donald E. Mathes, Artesia; W. Harrington Wimberly, Hagerman; and James W. Stagner, Artesia.

AN OLD FASHIONED IDEA

Sometimes we think that neighborliness is going "out of style" along with the good many other old-fashioned ideas.

But as long as we are in business, we will urge the people of Artesia and Eddy County to cordially welcome each newcomer with the friendly spirit of a good neighbor. If this is "old-fashioned" then the Citizens State Bank is old-fashioned, and we are proud of it.
