The football season officially starts Friday, September 5, when Olton comes to Muleshoe for the opening game.

SPS Will Conduct Business Survey Here

★★ Brief, Heavy Showers Fall Late Monday

Monday afternoon shortly after 4 p.m., rain moved into the Muleshoe area, dropping .27 officially in Muleshoe. Unofficially, more than .4 was recorded in isolated portions of the city.

Amid reports of heavy rains to the east, the heaviest rain skipped around this area, concentrating its fury on Sudan and the Earth area.

Despite predictions of "up to an inch of rain an hour" the rains failed to materialize after the initial downpour in Muleshoe, where curbs ran full of water until after 5 p.m. Some street flooding was reported for up to an hour before the rain ran off to low places.

National Weather Service kept a 70 percent chance for additional moisture in the forecast, and at presstime, the skies were heavy with clouds, although no additional moisture had been reported.

Emergency Loans Can Be Obtained From FmHA Here

Emergency loans for farmers and ranchers are available through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Melvin L. Hoover, FmHA Assistant District Director said.

Hoover asked that those who need farm credit as a result of heavy rains on June 4 through June 11, 1986, make their needs known at the Farmers Home Administration office at 115 East Avenue D Muleshoe.

Applications for assistance in the disaster stricken counties will be accepted by Farmers Home until April 1, 1987 for physical losses.

FmHA covering actual physical losses may be used to replace installations, equipment or buildings (including homes) lost through this disaster.

Applicants that certify that other credit is not available may receive loans covering actual losses at an interest rate of five percent for the first $100,000 and eight percent on any amount over $100,000 and are scheduled for repayment rapidly as feasible consistent with the applicant's ability to pay.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, an applicant must have suffered physical losses from the disaster.

JH Cheerleaders Win Ribbons, Honors At Camp

Watson Junior High School cheerleaders recently returned from the International Cheerleaders Federated Camp held in Lubbock.

The cheerleaders received training in cheers, chants, jumps, pyramids, partner stunts and dance. Their sponsor, Barbara Mutschler said their evaluations resulted in the WJHS cheerleaders receiving five ribbons for jumps, two ribbons for excellence, one ribbon for sparkle and shine and one ribbon for being participants in the Grand Champion competition.

"I'm excited about the upcoming year," said their sponsor, "The girls learned to work together and a squad will be doing a really good job all year long."

WJHS cheerleaders are Jamie Kelton, head cheerleader, daughter of Carrol Kelton and Doris Koenig; Monica Pacheco daughter of Luis and Aida Pacheco; Erin Kelley, daughter of Danny and Ricki Kelley and Tiffany Angeley, daughter of Tub and Pay Angeley.

Spurring economic growth from within this area is the goal of an extensive new program being developed by Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS).

Within the next two weeks, many industries throughout the SPS service area will be receiving a survey designed to provide a base of information about the needs and the services of these firms. Chambers of Commerce and development foundations area involved in the program. Rural electric cooperatives who purchase wholesale power from SPS will be seeking participation from their customers.

"The idea is to help cross-match firms in this area with other firms in this area with whom they can do business or otherwise cooperate," said Gary Gibson, vice president of marketing at SPS. "We want to keep dollars and jobs from going outside this region when they don't have to. Working together we can help existing industry spark the internal growth that our area needs, especially now."

Nationally, 85 percent of new jobs are created by existing businesses that expand locally, Gibson said.

"The more firms that participate in this survey, the greater good it can do -- for those firms and their employees and communities," he added.

SPS provides electric service in a 52,000-square-mile area comprising the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, much of eastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and southwest corner of Kansas.

"Our region has a lot of firms -- big and small -- who may discover with the help of this survey that the markets or services they need are in their own backyards, or not far from it Gibson said.

The survey asks for information about products, services, employment, transportation and other vital factors, he continued. The information about specific firms will be kept in strictest confidence he added. Great care will be taken that potential competitors do not become aware of details that another firm does not want to be known.

Rotary Speaker Is Geologist From University

"It was a very interesting program," according to one Rotary member on Tuesday afternoon, Rotarian Vic Coker was in charge of the program and introduced Dr. Robert Pierce, geologist, from Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, N.M.

Dr. Pierce spoke on volcanoes. He showed slides, with a narrative about the St. Helena volcano, and explained preliminaries for eruptions.

His session was followed by a question and answer portion, during which time, it was reported that Rotary President Bill Liles asked if any University of Houston basketball recruiters were injured in the weekend explosion of Lake Nios in Cameroon.

Among the guests at the meeting were John and Bryan Collins, Johnny Actkinson, Don Bryant, Al Henderson, Audrey McCormick, Nelda Hunt, Martina Schornhorst, G.D. Shelburne, Jr., Angela Crawford and Ruben Rodriguez.

TEACHER ATTENDS MOTOR WORKSHOP--Rick Copp, left, vocational agricultural teacher at Lazbudd High School, receives a certificate of completion of an "Electric Motors in Agriculture" work shop from Seth Thomason, manager of agricultural and industrial power of Southwestern Public Service Company. Wheat Fertilization Can Help Dryland Fertilizer application are often needed to meet basic nutrient requirements for winter wheat production. However, the cost effectiveness of applying additional fertilizer can vary, depending on the management strategies used in production.

Dr. Harold Eck, soil scientist with the USDA Agricultural Research Service at Bushland, explains, "Fertilizer may not pay for itself when applied routinely in wheat produced on normal dryland Pullman soils. But, if water is not limiting factor, such as on irrigated land, it probably will pay for itself."

Eck does not recommend additional fertilizer to increase wheat yields on dryland Pullman soils because the residual soil fertility is sufficient to produce 25 to 30 bushels per acre, which is the average yield potential for wheat under dryland conditions. However, if the soil test shows deficiencies in nitrogen, phosphorus or other essential soil nutrients, Eck suggests adding the recommended amounts.

"On the other hand, applying additional fertilizer on irrigated wheat can help maximize yields.

"If producers are irrigating for maximum yields of around 100 bushels per acre, we recom-

4-H Youth Will Become Leaders In Community

With the fall club sessions gearing up -- the 4-H programs are no exception. What is 4-H? Agents from the Bailey County Extension Office explain, "4-H is learning by doing. It is an action program, real-life experience, a family affair, flexible, with the opportunity to work with others. It provides for ownership and is an important part of the community."

They further added, Who can be in 4-H? Boys and girls enrolled in the third grade, or who are between the ages of nine and 19, who are interested in real-life experiences and in gaining skills in home economics, agriculture, and related areas.

Also, what are the goals of 4-H? 4-H helps boys and girls become leaders and citizens; to take part in group activities with friends; learn new ideas and skills; and to become well developed individuals through wise guidance in varied experiences and projects.

4-H project work -- what is it? There are approximately 140 different projects from which a member may choose his or her individual project. Some projects are conducted on a group basis while others are self-determined and are conducted by the individual member to meet his or her special needs. Examples of projects are: safety, foods and nutrition, livestock, clothing, decision-making, public speaking, electricity, health, leadership, and many more. Each club member is encouraged to select at least one project a year and to keep records on the progress of that project. Parents and leaders can help select projects best suited for the individual and his or her family situation.

How does someone join 4-H? The Muleshoe 4-H Club holds their meeting on September 8, at 7 p.m. at Summit Savings community room. All interested youth and parents are invited to attend. Also, the Three Way 4-H Club will meet on September 9, immediately after school in the Three Way home economics department. Announcements will be made each month as to the location and time of each meeting.

The county extension agents, Spencer Tanksley and Deana Finck, said they welcome your questions and are ready to visit with you about 4-H. For answers to any of your questions go by the Extension office in the Bailey County courthouse in Muleshoe or call 272-4583.

Lion's Camp For Youth Is Success

Jim Stewart of Muleshoe, worked as a counselor at a camp for physically handicapped children this summer.

A Texas Lions League spokesman said, "The counselors at the Texas Lions Camp for Handicapped Children are special people with big hearts who spend their summers helping children who may not be eligible for other camps. A counselor works long hours for little pay, but the rewards are unforgettable."

"The summer begins with a training program which teaches the counselors sign language, techniques in lifting children from wheelchairs, and how to adapt the activities to include every handicapped camper. The counselors then become parent/teacher/friend for approximately 1300 children during the summer."

On the 500 acre camp located near Kerrville the counselors plan and assist the children in all activities. Some of the activities include swimming, horseback riding, canoeing, shooting sports, fishing, studying nature, field sports and overnight campouts.

The 'I can' philosophy is emphasized and the campers are encouraged to try new activities. The counselors provide safe ways for every child to do things he or she may have only dreamed of doing before.

One camper's parent wrote to the camp: "I was so impressed with the overall Camp. The counselors were so energetic and everything seemed to be so organized. I feel lucky and blessed that my son was able to attend the Texas Lions Camp. You have an excellent program with so many loving, caring people. Thank you for giving my child and other children the opportunities you offer."

Earl Stinnett, employee of Caprock Highway Construction, was injured around 8:15 a.m. Wednesday, when a highway sweeper he was driving approximately one mile west of Muleshoe on Highway 84, overturned. He was taken by ambulance to West Plains Medical Center for emergency treatment. No other information was available at presstime.

Congressman Larry Combest said he will take his 1986 re-election campaign to the people during a two-day, 15 county district tour.

Congressman Combest will officially kick off his re-election campaign effort on Wednesday, August 27 and Thursday, August 28 with scheduled stops in Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa, Odessa, Andrews, Seminole, Plains, Morton, Levelland, Littlefield, Muleshoe, Farwell, Hereford, Dimmitt and Plainview.

He is scheduled to be at the courthouse in Muleshoe at 12:45 p.m. on Thursday, August 28.

The Muleshoe 4-H Club will hold its first meeting of the 1986-87 4-H year on Monday, September 8, at 7 p.m. in the community room of Summit Savings.

All interested youth and their parents are urged to attend this meeting. For further information concerning the Bailey County 4-H program, contact the county agent at 272-4583.

Creative Living

by Sheryl Borden

One of the most popular topics on "Creative Living" each year is the festive foods program by Connie Moyers, Marketing Home Economist with Southwestern Public Service Co. in Clovis. This year's presentation will be on Tuesday, August 26 at 12 noon and repeated on Saturday, August 30 at 2:00 p.m. (all times are mountain). This is the twenty-second year Southwestern Public Service Company has compiled this special collection of recipes and featured them by their company's home economists. Connie will demonstrate a variety of recipes from the 1985 Festive Foods booklet. Some of the ones she will share include Raw Radish Dip, Sausage Vegetable Dinner, Puttin' on the Ritz Cookies, Buttermilk Salad, Pull Apart Coffee Cake, and Pina Colada Punch. Copies of the Festive Foods booklet will be available to viewers who call on the toll free telephone lines.

Due to program changes during KENW-TV's pledge drive August 16-24, "Creative Living" will not be aired on Tuesday, August 26 at 9:30 p.m., but will return at its regular time on September 2.

On Thursday, August 28 at noon three topics will be presented on the show. Did you know that about one-half of all Americans participate in some form of weight control and/or physical activity. And, why do some diets work and others don't? Audrey Waldorf is with the Roman Meal Co. from Tacoma, Wa. and she will discuss the Roman Meal Diet Plan and explain why it does work.

Another guest will be Kathleen Keer, consumer Advocate with the New Mexico Attorney General's office in Santa Fe. Kathleen works in the consumer Protection and Economics Crimes Division. As one of the consumer advocates, her job entails extensive public contact with citizens, and she's going to explain how we can learn to complain effectively and get the results we want.

If you have teenagers in your household or anyone with a big appetite, you'll enjoy learning how deli meats can stretch the food dollar and provide wholesome nutritious food at the same time. May Joe Bergland is a home economist with Swift and Co. from Glen Ellyn, IL, and she'll share some recipes for submarine sandwiches and hero sandwiches that are mouthwatering.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-432-2361; out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112. Viewers are asked to call between 8:00 am and 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday.

"Creative Living" is carried on more than 95 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by the Pacific Mountain Network.

Some other favorite recipes from the Festive Foods booklet include the following:

CHEESECAKE DREAMS
 1/2 c brown sugar, 1 c flour, 1/2 c margarine melted, 1/2 c chopped walnuts, 1 pkg. (8 ozs.) cream cheese, 1/4 c sugar, 1 egg, 1 Tbsp. milk, 1 tsp. lemon juice, and 1 tsp. vanilla.

Combine brown sugar, flour, margarine, and nuts until crumbly; reserve 1/2 cup for topping. Press remaining crumbs into a greased 8-inch square dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Combine cream cheese, sugar, egg, milk, lemon juice and vanilla together; blend until creamy.

Why?

Why be logical and reasonable, when it is a great deal easier and ever so much more fun to be emotional and prejudiced?

-Journal, Atlanta.

Pour cream filling over crust. Top with the remaining crumbs and bake 25 minutes at 350 degrees. Cut into 2-inch squares and then in half for triangles.

MICROWAVE: prepare crust as above and microwave on HIGH 4 minutes. Top with filling and crumbs. Microwave 6 minutes on MEDIUM-HIGH, turning dish once after 3 minutes.

CREOLE PORK
 2 pork shoulder arm steaks, each cut 3/4-inch thick (about 2 lb), 2 Tbsp. oil, 2 Tbsp. flour, 1 stalk celery, diced, 1 small bell pepper, diced, 1 small onion, diced, 1 1/2 ozs. can stewed tomatoes, 2 tsp. sugar, 1 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. hot pepper sauce.

Cut the pork steaks into cubes to eliminate the fat and bone and make serving easier. Brown in hot oil in a large skillet or electric skillet. Set meat aside. Stir flour into drippings and cook, stirring constantly until flour is dark brown. Add celery, bell pepper, and onion; cook over medium heat until vegetables are tender, about 10 minutes. Return meat to skillet along with tomatoes, sugar, salt, and hot pepper sauce. Bring to a boil and then turn heat to simmer. Cover and cook 30 to 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve over rice. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

NOTE: use the food processor to dice the vegetables and chop the tomatoes into smaller pieces.

APRICOT SALAD
 1 pkg. (3 ozs.) apricot gelatin, 1 can (8 ozs.) crushed pineapple, undrained, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 pkg. (8 ozs.) cream cheese softened, 2 jars (4 ozs. ea.) apricot baby food, 1 carton (9 ozs.) non-dairy whipped topping and 1/2 cup chopped nuts.

Combine Gelatin, pineapple, and sugar in a saucepan; heat until gelatin dissolves. Use a blender, food processor, or electric mixer to combine the gelatin mixture together thoroughly with the cream cheese and apricots. Fold in the whipped topping, pour into a 9-inch square pan; sprinkle with nuts for garnish. Refrigerate until set.

Alternatives Exist For Aging Families

Does grandma have to go to a nursing home? Can dad manage in that big house all alone? How can I cope with the demands of raising teenagers and mother's illness at the same time?

These are the kinds of questions faced by many families with aging members.

"Between 80-90 percent of the care needed by elderly persons is provided from within the family," says gerontologist Dr. Judith Warren.

"Sometimes these situations become unsatisfactory, either because the elder is not receiving necessary support, or because one member of the family has been burdened with almost all of the caregiving duties," she adds.

Family members may also feel the situation can't be changed, when in fact there are resources they can use to discover alternative approaches to their caregiving responsibilities, says Warren, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program.

The gerontologist points out the family members can learn something about coping with their situation by attending courses on caregiving offered through county Extension offices, community colleges, health care or other organizations.

Books and publications on subjects such as coping with senility, the aging process or dealing with an Alzheimer's patient are available from the same sources. County Extension offices have a letter series on "Adult Children -- Aging Parents" with information for families.

Family members can also talk to someone with special knowledge, such as the aging parent's doctor, a geriatric specialist, family counselor or social worker who can help them identify possible solutions to caregiving problems," Warren remarks.

Local resources for families include the nearest Area Office in Aging. Staff members at this office will have information on adult day-care services, home care and visiting nurse services as well as nursing homes.

Once you have located available options for caregiving in your community, it's important to have a family conference which includes all family members, not just those who are doing most of the care, Warren emphasizes.

"The elder should be involved, if possible, to express his or her needs and wants," Warren says.

In a family conference, members can discuss and decide on ways to provide needed care and how to share caregiving tasks, along with the financial and emotional demands of caring for an elderly parent.

"This type of meeting may not be easy, and will probably have to be repeated as the aging parent's situation changes," Warren observes. "But it can result in improved care for the elder and better relations among family members who care for and about that person."

After School Activities Help Teen Behavior

Participation in band, 4-H, clubs, athletics and other after school activities is more than just a "good time" for teenagers.

After-school activities encourage responsible behavior and help teenagers avoid delinquent behaviors, such as vandalism, says Diane T. Welch, a family life education specialist.

Vandalism is commonly thought of as an urban problem, notes Welch, a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

According to studies reported by Pennsylvania State University researchers, however, over half the students in rural high schools had committed at least one act of vandalism. Nearly 75 percent of those students repeated their behaviors 3 or more times.

The reports also show that young people who participated in organized youth activities were not as involved in vandalism as those young people who did not have after-school hour activities.

"Of course, not all youngsters who participate in youth activities are perfect, reminds Welch. "But the studies show that teenagers involved in youth activities tend to commit more of the Halloween-type pranks as opposed to more malicious acts."

The specialist says that young people commit acts of vandalism in order to gain status and prestige, or they see vandalism as a "game" or "contest."

She points out that by participating in extra-curricular activities, teenagers have a chance to learn new skills, to gain status and to develop good feelings about themselves.

In such an environment, Welch says, a youth can grow into a responsible person who does not have the need to vandalize property. Participating in after-school activities takes time for both the students and the parents who may have to drive them to meetings and practices or serve as chaperones or volunteer leaders.

Some after-school activities may also involve extra costs or interfere with the family schedule, acknowledges the specialist.

your own individual frozen dinners using foods that complement each other. These can be most helpful for those days when family members eat at different times due to conflicting schedules.

If you choose not to freeze leftovers, be sure to cover or wrap them properly and refrigerate immediately. Know how long you can safely refrigerate different food items and make definite attempts to use the food while it's still fresh.

Use your imagination to come up with different ways of incorporating the food into your week's meals. The idea behind "planned-leftovers" is to think about leftovers in a new way - no longer as food waiting to be thrown away but as complete or partial meals waiting to come to your rescue.

Allsup's To Conduct Fund Raising

Allsup's Convenience Stores, participants in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, will conduct pre-telethon fund raising activities during the month of August. The company will display collection canisters in all 286 Allsup's Stores throughout New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma. According to J.R. Jacobs, Director of Public Relations, "The canister collection campaign is an integral part of fund raising prior to the telethon. The Muscular Dystrophy Association received no tax supported grants nor does it see fees from patients or their families," Jacobs adds, "The M.D.A. Programs are funded almost entirely by private contributors and corporations through fund raising activities such as Allsup's."

Also during August, Allsup's Stores will conduct "Kids Doorbell Brigade and Win-A-Prize Campaign." All area youngsters are encouraged to visit the local Allsup's for details on winning valuable prizes by collecting donations for "Jerry's Kids." The official collection kits are available from Allsup's managers.

From J.R. Jacobs, "We are looking forward to working with our neighbors to help fight the 40 neuromuscular disorders covered by M.D.A. Muscular Dystrophy affects an estimated one million American of all ages, and the contributions stay in each community, so that we are all helping our neighbors by helping the Muscular Dystrophy Association."

Whole Wheat Bread Is Good Nutrition Idea

If you're trying to add more whole grains to your diet, as recommended by health and nutrition experts, choosing wheat bread is a good idea.

But many consumers mistakenly think that all brown bread is whole-wheat, when it's not, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Dr. Alice Hunt explains that by law, bread that is labeled "whole wheat" must be made from 100 percent whole-wheat flour. "Wheat bread," however, may be made from varying proportions of enriched white flour and whole-wheat flour.

The type of flour present in the largest amount is listed first on the bread label, she says. Sometimes the dark color in bread is achieved with caramel coloring, which would also be listed on the label.

Milling wheat to produce white flour removes nutrients from the bran and germ, says the nutritionist.

Hunt points out that enriched breads replace the lost iron, thiamin, riboflavin and niacin. But flours made from the whole grain contain more of other nutrients, such as folic acid, vitamin B-6, vitamin E, phosphorus, magnesium and zinc than enriched white flour.

If you don't like whole wheat bread, you don't have to switch to increase your intake of whole grains, she maintains. Brown rice, oatmeal, corn tortillas, barley and whole-wheat pasta are all whole grains.

Or, the nutritionist recommends trying foods made with a mixture of whole-grain flours and enriched flour, including bran muffins, cornbread, cracked wheat bread, crackers and rye bread.

None can pray well but he that lives well.

Corn and feed stuff is making wonderful growths now. This puts the land in fine shape for the farmer who wants to plant wheat. And many of them are plowing early and late taking advantage of the fine rains.

It's Sandy, Bumpy, Slow, But Is Much Nearer To Portales

The road to Portales is open, almost as straight as an arrow and lopping 21.3 miles off the previous route. Credit for the road goes to a commissioner, whose farm lies alongside the new route, for a fantastic job of hooking the Texas and New Mexico links together and making a road out of the rolling hills which didn't want to become a road in the first place -- not under any circumstances.

For that matter, the road, both on the Texas and the New Mexico side, still feels that way; the road, wanted to stay just wide open spaces with sand, cacti, sand, yucca, sand, scrub oak and sand - especially sand.

The route would have been perfectly happy to have lived like that for the rest of eternity, the hoof of antelope, the paw of a jackrabbit the only mobile creatures for miles around. But there are some folks on both sides of the line who felt that it was time to shoo off the antelopes and jackrabbits and push through a route for men and his gasoline and diesel burning machines.

The tomatoes, 40,000 pounds worth, rolled out of Muleshoe last Thursday night, the first of the "green" tomato shipments to leave the local area so far as is known.

mend 125 pounds of nitrogen per acre," Eck says. Additions of phosphorus may also be necessary under fully irrigated conditions, and Eck states, "Normally, we would recommend adding 40 pounds of phosphated under fully irrigated condition." Data from a two-year study at the Bushland experiment station shows the addition of 40 and 80 pounds of phosphate results in yield increases of nine and 17 percent, respectively.

Twelfth Annual Allsup Roadrace Slated October 18

Plans have been announced for the Twelfth Annual Allsup's Roadraces to be held in Clovis, New Mexico.

The date for this years events is Saturday, October 18, 1986. As always, the Annual Allsup's Roadraces promise a well planned day of racing for the serious runner as well as the weekend jogger. Entrants have a choice of the 26.2 mile full marathon, 13.1 mile half marathon, the 10,000 meter 6 mile race or the one mile event. Races will begin precisely at 7 am Mountain Daylight Time Saturday and they will finish in traditional olympic style on the Clovis High School Stadium track. The courses are flat, asphalt paved loops with temperatures traditionally ranging from 50 to 75 degrees.

Quality trophies will be awarded at noon at Clovis High School Stadium. In addition, commemorative Allsup's Roadrace long sleeve t-shirts will be awarded to all finishers.

The activities will begin with pre-registration Friday, October 17 at the Clovis Family YMCA, 1700 E. 7th Street. Check in time from 5 to 9pm.

"At this production level, our studies show no response to the addition of phosphorus," he notes.

If cattle are grazed on the winter wheat, additional nitrogen may be called for before harvest. "A spring top dressing of 40 to 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre may be in order after heavy grazing," Eck says.

In addition, grazing termination dates may also affect yields. It is recommended that wheat be removed from winter wheat grazing by March 15 to avoid grain yield losses. Grazing past this date may reduce yields by as much as 20 bushels per acre.

A study conducted by Dr. S.R. Winter, of the USDA-ARS at Bushland, demonstrated three-year average grain yields of 82 bushels per acre for non-grazed wheat, 82 bushels per acre of grazed wheat with the cattle taken off the wheat February 1, 73 bushels per acre for a grazing termination date of March 6, 63 bushels per acre for a March 17 termination date, 55 bushels per acre for a grazing termination date of March 31, and 41 bushels per acre with cattle removed from the wheat April 13.

In all cases it is a good idea to have a soil test. Eck noted. "The best way to determine fertilizer needs is to have them tested at the Texas A&M Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratory at Lubbock."

EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH--Monday morning, 'Employee of the Month' honors were designated for Berta Combs, right, loan secretary at Muleshoe State Bank. The certificate and traveling trophy were presented by Toni Eagle, left, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. Mrs. Combs has employed at the bank at the bank for six years. NOW, DO IT THIS WAY--Coach Carver, left, is giving instructions to Bo Easley, who just moved to Muleshoe from Portales and has joined the Muleshoe Mules.

LISTEN UP, THE SEASON'S HERE--In the center, Coach Lonnie Scott gives instructions to some of the Muleshoe Mules as they prepare for another football season.

KICKING IT AROUND--Greg Young, who will be kicking for the Muleshoe Mules, lofts the ball into the air as he practices kicking over the goal posts.

HITTING...AGAIN AND AGAIN--If practice makes perfect, the Muleshoe Mules should be in good form by the time the 1986 football season starts next week.

A WIERD SORT OF DANCE--Quick feet and agility are taught in this exercise which teaches the Muleshoe Mules to be agile, as they dance along a dirt line.

PUNTING AWAY--Jeff Hicks, who will be punting for the Muleshoe Mules, lofts the ball into the air as the Mules wind down practices preceding the 1986 season.

Land Owners Required To Check Contaminants

Landowners can no longer assume they can build anything on their land they wish, especially not a potential source of air pollution.

"Several agricultural product processing plants or livestock feeding operations in Texas have had additional expense and disrupted operations because they failed to obtain a construction permit from the Texas Air Control Board," points out Dr. John Sweeten, agricultural engineer in waste management Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. The Air Control board regulates air pollution in the state and can impose administratively penalties on operations that are not in compliance.

Any new operation or process, whether in industry or agriculture, is required to obtain a construction permit from the Texas Air Control Board if it has the potential to contaminate the air, say Sweeten. Among air contaminants are odors, dust, hydrocarbons, nitrogen oxides, sulfur oxides and similar substances.

"The construction permit has to be obtained before the facility is built," cautions the engineer.

To obtain an air pollution control construction permit, attention must be given to the following:

--Site selection--how many neighbors, distance and prevailing winds.

--Operating or processing methods-- potential for air pollution emissions.

--Abatement measures and systems to be employed.

"A construction permit usually can be obtained from the Texas Air Control Board within about three months if things go smoothly," says Sweeten. "But, if someone requests a public hearing, the process can take six months or more."

Without a construction permit, and operation could be idled for several months while one is obtained after the fact.

usually with costly retrofit for air pollution controls, the engineer points out.

Once a construction permit is obtained and after the facility has started operation, the owner has 60 days to apply for an operating permit. This allows for continued operation as long as proper air pollution control systems and procedures are used.

"As the public becomes more environmentally aware, and perhaps more of them move out to the country, environmental pressures on agricultural production and processing operations to reduce air pollution (dust and odors) will continue to increase," says Sweeten. "At the same Texas' air pollution control statute and regulations are being enforced more stringently, and those in the agricultural industry must be aware of that."

An agricultural production facility that has properly obtained the construction and operating permit from the TACB can then benefit from legal protection against possible nuisance lawsuits from private parties, according to the Texas Right to Farm Law. That law says that it is the policy of the state "to conserve, protect and encourage the development and improvement of its agricultural land for the production of food and other agricultural products."

The stated purpose of the Texas Right to Farm Law is to reduce the loss of agricultural resources by limiting circumstances under which agricultural operations such as farming and livestock production can be considered a nuisance, notes Sweeten. Private nuisance lawsuits cannot be brought by neighbors against an operation that has been lawfully operating without substantial change for more than a year. However, the Texas Right to Farm Law does not affect state agencies or their enforcement programs, he adds.

Prehistoric drawing may be earliest record of comet sighting

COLLEGE STATION — A prehistoric rock drawing found in Texas may depict the appearance of a comet before the time of Christ, making the artwork one of mankind's oldest records of such heavenly events, says a Texas A&M University archaeologist.

The drawing is at least 1,500 years old — predating Spanish explorers by a millennium — and could date back as far as 2000 B.C., said Dr. Harry Shafer, an authority on Texas Indians and American stone age technology.

The rock art is located near the southwestern border town of Del Rio, but further details were withheld to protect the drawings from vandals or collectors who might chip away portions to sell, he explained.

What appears to be a comet with a tail pointed down toward the Earth is depicted as part of a larger, serpent-like mural outlining some celestial event, said Shafer.

Other symbols representing the moon, and perhaps the passage of several months during which the comet appeared regularly, are also drawn on the same rocks, he said. The art has been described as some of the most beautiful in the New World.

CATARACTS

Exactly what is a cataract? If I have one, must I have surgery right away?

Cataracts, commonly associated with aging, are a clouding of the eye's lens caused by physical or chemical changes in the lens. The clouding blocks the passage of light and may eventually distort or obstruct vision. "Senile" cataracts occur the most frequently and are found in older patients, but cataracts can develop at any age.

Although cataract removal used to be a dangerous and difficult procedure, it is now a much safer operation and has a 95 percent success rate. Of the approximately 700,000 cataract removal operations performed each year in the United States, most are conducted as ambulatory or same-day procedures, often with local anesthesia.

The soft cataracts of children and young adults may either be cut and drained or broken up by use of high pitched sound waves (ultrasound). The eye is then flushed and the fragments are removed through a small incision.

There are two ways to remove "senile" cataracts: Intracapsular extraction involves removing the opaque natural lens along with its enveloping capsule. More common today is extracapsular extraction -- the removal of only the cloudy natural lens, leaving the back part of its clear enveloping capsule intact. Surgery usually takes about one hour, with recovery and adjustment time running from six to eight weeks. You may be told to wear an eye patch and to avoid straining activities such as lifting heavy objects.

There are several types of replacement lenses available today, which is a great improvement over the past when cataract glasses were the only choice. Glasses still are an option, but they are very thick and can cause distortion and loss of peripheral vision. Contact lenses are a possible choice, but they can cause discomfort in some patients, and may be too difficult to handle for some elderly patients. Many patients choose intraocular lens implants, or IOLs. They are made of clear polymer material, and placed in the eye during cataract surgery. They are permanent, never need to be changed or removed, and generally cannot be felt. IOLs do increase slightly the risks of complications during the after surgery, but the risks are quite low.

Just because you've been told you have a cataract, it is not necessary to have surgery immediately unless yours is an acute case requiring urgent treatment. Some people wait 10 to 20 years before having cataracts removed. Your quality of life should be your guide in making this decision. If you rely on driving to maintain your independence, and your vision has been impaired to the point that driving is difficult, then you'll probably opt for surgery. If reading or other favorite hobbies are becoming difficult, that might be the time to consider removal of the cataract.

If you have two cataracts, it's generally not considered a good idea to remove both at once. You'll need one eye to function normally while the other is healing and adjusting.

Finally, once you do have cataract surgery, it's very important to see your doctor regularly so your eye condition can be monitored to prevent complication.

Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres has a few comments on the tax reform bill.

Dear editor:
Reforming the tax system may be like reforming a bank robber. You send him to prison for a while, think he has reformed and turn him loose and he robs another bank. Loop-holes are already hard at work studying the 3200-page tax bill and you can depend on it, if they don't find any holes they'll be back at the next session of Congress agitating for some.

What brought this to mind was a statement by one of the members of the joint committee that hammered out the new tax bill. After shucking their coats and wrestling with the bill late into the night, night after night, even working one whole weekend, they came up with a bill which does seem to equalize the tax burden some and bring in some big corporations that have been getting by scott-free.

This one committee member said the reason they all worked so hard and so constantly was that they wanted to get the bill completed, signed and sealed, before the lobbyists saw what was in it and had a chance to get them to change their minds. In other words, some congressmen's convictions on what's right will stand up so long as they can dodge their lobbyists.

I have often thought what a frustrating life lobbyists would have if a congressman was limited to one 4-year term, had no chance of making a life-time job out of the office, hence had little use for lobbyists' re-election money, could freely vote his own mind on legislation, and then go back home and do whatever he was doing before he went to Washington.

Anybody however who thinks congressmen are going to vote to end their life-time jobs doesn't know much about human nature. Or lobbyists.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

The Door of God's House

This old door, cracked and paint peeling, might well be the door of any small church throughout our vast land. The people that worship here perhaps are not able at this time to apply a costly coat of paint or do an extensive repair job. However, they are not ashamed of its weatherbeaten or well-worn appearance. Far from it, they are proud that it has stood always unlocked and sometimes open through a rainy day or stormy night ready to let all enter who seek refuge and comfort. Its hinges are loose; not from oversight but from overwork. Its old knob is shiny by the continual turning of humble hands. Wherever your church affiliation may be... from the smallest of wooden buildings to the loftiest cathedral, the door of God's house is always open to you. Go this Sunday! Remember, the church needs you; but more importantly... you need your church.

A MESSAGE FROM THIS NEWSPAPER AND THE DPS TROOPERS

Two Sides To The Story... and I'm Mad!!!

The Portales Livestock Auction has had its character and integrity smeared by charges made by the National Packers and Stockyards Administration.

In simple language, the charges stems from not depositing funds in the correct accounts in the time specified by the National Packers and Stockyards Administration on 2 dates, Sept. 30 and Nov. 14, 1985.

There never has been any insufficient checks and never will be any given by the Portales Livestock Auction. We would welcome anyone that is interested to contact the First National Bank of Clovis to check on our financial standing.

We feel that under the present money situation within our government, that government agencies are struggling for their share of the funds and by being in the news it appears they are doing their job.

We do not feel we are guilty of any wrongdoing, but it is difficult to overcome the bad publicity.

I am asking for your support and help.

I feel we still live in America where you are innocent until proven guilty and with your help I am going to fight.

Thank You, Tommy Bouldin
