HIGH SCHOOL LOSES FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

Score of 14 to 0 in Favor of Town Eleven. Line Plunges Feature Game.

The Artesia high school lost the first football game to be played this season on last Thursday afternoon, when the heavy hitting, line plunging, town team, composed of ex-college stars and other players of note, clashed with the high school lads on the local gridiron. Coach Adams "Bulldogs" were game and put up a good fight for the first game of the season. Several new men were in the game for their first gridiron contest. Although outweighed, they were able to hold the experienced players to two touchdowns.

The town team was also handicapped by a lack of practice, which caused them to lack endurance. Very few passes were tried by either team. However, the town team completed a forward pass across the goal line after the initial touchdown. The high school was successful in two attempts at the passing game. Bullock was forced to punt several times for the school boys, while it was necessary for Evans to punt a few times for the Ex-Stars.

Coach Adams did not start Captain Yeager in the first half of the game, but kept this speedy backfield man in reserve. Yeager can play any position in the backfield with ease. Bullock, Davis, House and DeAutremont were the backfield quartette for the school lads, during the first half. Yeager went into the game at quarter in the last half and proved an excellent team manager. Welsh at tackle and Williams at center played an excellent game in the line. Many new recruits were in the lineup.

F. Cole, Feather, Evans and Gentry played the backfield positions for the Ex-Stars until Feather was forced to leave the game with an injured arm. Flanders was shifted from end to this half-back position. Evans speedy full-back, deserves much credit for the success of the winning eleven.

The high school received the ball on the initial kickoff, but soon lost the ball on downs. The town team advanced for a few downs, but lost the ball. The high school kicked out of danger and the ball went back and forth during the remainder of the quarter. Soon after the beginning of the second quarter, Flanders carried the ball across the line after a series of line smashes. The ball was brought to the five yard line for the scrimmage play for the extra point. A forward pass from F. Cole to Gentry was successful. The last half began as before by the high school kicking. Two forward passes in the third quarter, placed the school lads to their nearest point of the goal line. However, a sixty yard run around left end by Evans almost resulted in a touchdown. Flanders attempted a drop kick from scrimmage for extra point but kick went wide. The point was allowed on account of the high school being offside. When play was resumed, the town team attempted a forward pass from F. Cole to C. Cole, which was intercepted by Knowles, who passed all tacklers but one, thereby losing the chance for a touchdown.

The next game is expected to be played with the New Mexico Military Institute Preps from Roswell. Coach Adams is putting the high school gridiron warriors through a strenuous drill each afternoon for the regular schedule. The line-up was as follows:

Substitutions: Rideout for Bruce; Yeager for DeAutremont; DeAutremont for Davis; Adams for Flanders; Flanders for Feather.

A large number of football fans motored to Roswell on last Saturday to witness the football game between the New Mexico Military Institute eleven and the aggregation from Simmons college at Abilene, Texas. The Simmons team was victorious by a score of 19 to 0. Among those who attended were Fred Cole, Henry Davis and Erwin Mansell, former Simmons students. Others were Coach F. C. Adams of the high school, O. K. Evans, Raymond Gentry, Ralph Reed, Chauncey Yeager, Charlie Martin, Herman Cole, Edward Welsh, Garland Rideout, Hugh DeAutremont, Guy Stevenson, Tom Bullock, Fred Knowles, Bill Meadows, Ralph Davis, George Williams, Craig Baker and Luther Caraway.

Sheriff Sam Batton was in the city yesterday summoning the jury for the term of court which convenes Monday, Oct. 2. Sam places his announcement in this issue of the Advocate as a candidate for the office of sheriff subject to the Independent convention which will be held at Carlsbad Monday.

Carlsbad, New Mexico, September 27, 1922. The Artesia Advocate, Carlsbad, N. M.

Dear Sir: With reference to the article published last week by the Current and the Artesia Advocate, I wish to say to the public at large:

First: The pledge that was printed at the top of the ticket in the 1922 primary was authorized and the wording of the pledge was adopted, by resolution at the same meeting of the Democratic Central Committee that called the primary. It was a representative meeting of the committee and was attended by members from practically all of the precincts in the county.

Second: I did not, when the judges of election at the primary were appointed, know that any of the judges appointed were interested in the nomination of any particular candidates. I assumed that all voters had preferences but no judges were appointed by reason of any preferences known by me for any candidates.

Third: The question as to whether or not the votes cast at the 1922 primary should be recounted was passed upon by the Eddy County Democratic Central Committee that was selected in the 1920 primary, at which the late George W. Batton was nominated for sheriff. It was not determined by the committee named at the 1922 primary.

Fourth: I came to New Mexico in 1911. The present Eddy County Democratic Central Committee was selected in the same way that all committees have been selected since 1911.

Fifth: The County Convention was called by me as chairman, the same way all county conventions have been called since 1911. I, as the County Chairman called the Convention and sent notices of the call promptly to each member of the County Central Committee in the entire county. The members of the committee in the various precincts called the Convention in their respective precincts. The County Chairman does not call and never has called precinct conventions.

Sixth: The Central Committee, as now constituted, and as it has been constituted since 1911 (when I came here) has my entire respect and confidences. I think that the various members are prompted in their acts and doings by proper motives and that they are entitled to the respect and confidence of the public.

Yours very truly,
S. D. STENNIS, JR.
County Chairman.

COMPLIMENTARY TO B. STEVE
The members of the Artesia Fire Department gave a banquet on the evening of Monday in honor of B. Steve who has gone to El Paso to live.

The banquet was held at City Hall and was attended by all the members of the fire department with a few invited guests. Sixteen in all had their feet under the table.

The spread combined the delicate with the substantial, all of which was washed down by a swift current of the amber liquid known as "near." Impromptu post prandial orations were discharged by several, but the important and interesting one was the one released by the guest of honor. B. Steve was at his best. His humorous scintillations were hurled in a volume sufficient to illuminate all the surrounding space while his falsetto voice and false-setteeth added to the impressiveness of his effort. But back of his humor were evidences that he was deeply affected.

B. Steve had been secretary, treasurer, manager and general high-cock oorum of the department since its organization. And it was he who organized it. It could be said in truth and fact that he held at one and the same time every office and every position connected with it. He was the hub around which the organization revolved. He was the dog, the hair and the flea of the whole business. No wonder he was visibly affected on this occasion, and his subordinates never spoke more truly than when they told him with tearful eyes and trembling tongue that he would be sadly missed.

Every one knew that a successor could not be found who could do more than rattle about in his shoes. Incidentally, the man who was thought to come nearest to being able to carry the burden was Billy Lencell, and he was chosen.

The banquet was really a love feast, for all members had a high regard for its chief and every one wishes him well in his new field of endeavor. It is only the truth to add that these sentiments are also shared by all the people of Artesia. There is, never has been, nor ever will be but one B. Steve. He stands alone in special, variety and class. He had a long rod which he could wield cleverly and skillfully. But he rapped lightly and he was a man of intelligence, versatility and a generous heart.
Ta, ta, old scout.

EPWORTH LEAGUE HAVE SOCIAL ON CHURCH LAWN

About forty members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church were present at a league social on last Friday evening. The lawn is an ideal place for a social event of this type. The outdoor games were entered with much zeal by the young people.

After participating in many games of this nature, Messrs. Henry Davis and Ralph Reed, guests of the organization, entertained all present with a few comical jokes. An almost unlimited supply of watermelons were eaten by the young people present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keinath made a business trip to Roswell on last Saturday afternoon.

Remember Gail Hamilton, the overseas man, who fell in love with the nurse. See him at the high school auditorium tonight.

DO YOUR PART

The Town Board is glad to be able to inform the people of Artesia that they are daily expecting word that the new engines for the Light Plant have been shipped. It takes some time to assemble and test out equipment of the size the Town bought but the last reported progress in the work indicated that the shipping date was near.

The people of Artesia have had a long, hard struggle for adequate light service from outside corporations that did not seem to be in the least responsive to the needs of the town. This has naturally bred some antagonism to public service institutions, but the condition is different now. The town is now operating both the Water and Light plants. That means you and me. We have elected Trustees to handle the active management of both concerns, but we own them and are individually interested in keeping down the expenses of operation to where the income will exceed the outgo.

Along with railroads, many people have an idea that light plants and water works in almost any kind of a town are big money-makers. It is sad, but true, that such is seldom the case in a town the size of ours, and then only when every cent of unnecessary expense is rigidly guarded against. The Oklahoma Co. was steadily losing money operating the light plant and the Town is not breaking even at it now. We will be able to do better when the new engines are installed, but in the meantime let us all help to keep the cost of operation down by violating waste.

Don't burn all the lights in the house unnecessarily just because you are on a flat rate. Every lamp that burns takes a little additional fuel, and when you waste light on a flat rate you are robbing both yourself and your neighbor. Don't waste water just because you are not on a meter. It costs money to pump it and all you waste is taking money out of your pocket as well as from your neighbor.

It is costing the Town too much to collect the Water and Light bills. This could be avoided if we would all pay up promptly as soon as the bills are received. The Board is having to spend some extra money in repairs and improvements for both the Water and Light service. The only place it can get the money for this work and for operating expenses is from the service bills and if you are slow in paying yours, you hinder the work and make it more expensive.

Beginning with this month, the Water and Light service will be billed to the customers on one bill, to be paid at the Town office during the first ten days of the month. Quite a little extra work is involved in making the first combination of the accounts and it is probable that all the bills cannot be in the mail on the first, but they will be mailed in ample time for each customer to make payment by the 10th of October.

HOW IT WORKS

The tariff question has made our congressmen a lot of sharp traders. For instance, Senator Johnson of California will support the tariff bill if they will put a prohibitive duty on lemons and a few other articles raised in California. He doesn't care one iota how unfair it is to the rest of the country so long as the Californians get theirs.

Then the senators from Nevada, Wyoming, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Idaho and Oregon will vote for the bill if they put in a tariff of 130 per cent on raw wool as well as cloth and other woolen goods. Think of the millions of dollars which the people of this country will have to pay if a wool tariff like this goes through. It would cost the American consumer $200,000,000 in increased prices on woolen goods.

Then the time all the different congressmen get what they want in the bill they will dip down into the pocket of the American consumer to a large extent that the whole thing will have to be torn up and rewritten. Everyone from the highest officials down seem to be playing politics, and the interest of the country at large is of secondary consideration.

There is no question but what the tariff bill is going to prove unpopular with the people. It cannot help improve so, considering the way it has been framed.—"Retail Druggist"

REBEKAHS HAVE ANNUAL SOCIAL EVENT

Hundred Persons Attend "Corn Boiling" at Turknett Grove

The members of Sunrise Rebekah lodge, No. 9, and their families, were present at the annual social event of the order at the Turknett grove, south of Artesia, on last Thursday evening. About one hundred persons were present to enjoy the occasion. The younger members of the party entered into more strenuous games for the pleasure of the evening. Many others enjoyed a general social gathering and "tongue-fest."

A large pot was taken to the scene of festivities and filled with water, a fire was placed under the pot and hundreds of ears of corn carefully shucked, were placed in the water for the purpose of cooking. The first supply was devoured in record time and a second supply prepared. The other eats including almost every kind of delicious eatables, were also served with the boiled corn. An almost unlimited supply appeared to be available.

After a sumptuous meal, the group gathered around the fire and listened to the most "hair-raising" and "blood-curdling" ghost stories ever told. They appeared to be very realistic, (as a grave yard was very near. The merry party broke up at a late hour after a very delightful evening, regardless of the threatening weather.

Dr. E. E. Mathes, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was in Roswell last week attending to denominational matters. He returned to Artesia on Saturday night.

CHINESE MINISTER AS CUPID

Jesting Remark Made by Wu Ting Fang Led to the Union of Two Loving Hearts.

Wu Ting Fang was, while minister at Washington, attending the wedding of the daughter of the chief justice at that time. At the breakfast he asked one of the bridesmaids when it would be her turn to become a bride. She modestly said that she did not know, as she had not yet had an offer. Turning to a group of young men, Doctor Wu jocularly remarked to one of them, "This is a beautiful lady, would you not like to marry her?" He replied, "I should be most delighted to." "Will you accept his offer?" said Doctor Wu to the bridesmaid. She seemed slightly embarrassed and said something to the effect that as she did not know the gentleman she could not give a definite answer. Meeting the Chinese minister at an "at home" a few days later, she scolded him for his bluntness, and he excused himself by saying that he was actuated by the best of motives.

A few months afterward Wu received an invitation from the young lady's parents to attend her marriage. The bridegroom was the young man who had figured in the unconventional incident. To Wu's agreeable surprise the mother of the bride informed him that it was he who had first proposed to the young couple together, and both bride and bridegroom heartily thanked him for his good offices.

EXCITED WRATH OF DICKENS

Great Writer, at His Best, Denounced Public Hangings, Which Were Disgrace to English Law.

Charles Dickens, at the time of the execution of Manning and his wife for the murder of Patrick O'Connor was at his fullest power as a writer. In a letter to the London Times he wrote: "I believe that a sight so inconceivably awful as the wickedness and levity of the immense crowd collected at the execution this morning could be imagined by no man, and presented by no heathen land under the sun. The horrors of the gibbet and the crime which brought the wretched murderers to it faded in my mind before the atrocious bearing, looks and language of the assembled spectators. When I came upon the scene at midnight the shrillness of the cries and howls that were raised from time to time, denoting that they came from a concourse of boys and girls already assembled in the best places, made my blood run cold. When the two miserable creatures who attracted all this ghastly sight about them were turned quivering into the air, there was no more emotion, no more pity, no more thought that two immortal souls had gone to judgment, no more restraint in any of the previous obscenities, than if the name of Christ had never been heard in this world, and there were no belief among men but that they perish like the beasts."

Lao-tze Wrote Gospel of Taoism.

Lao-tze wrote the gospel of Taoism, from whose pages an immense religion grew up. Having been librarian of a Chinese king, and having much time for meditation, he came after many years to the conclusion that humility was the supreme virtue. He resigned, and desired to hide in seclusion. While passing through the gate of the palace on his way to solitude the warder besought him: "You are about to withdraw yourself from the world. I pray you write me a book before you go."

Lao-tze thereupon sat down and wrote a book about half the size of St. Mark's gospel. He gave this to the warder, passed through the gate and no man knows where he died. The little book is the gospel of Taoism. The word "Tao" means way—man of destiny. The advice was that men should become like little children and act without reflection.

In Doubt.

One of our good housekeepers knows she has no ear for music, but when she is hustling around her pots and pans and scrubbing and washing out tea towels she cannot restrain humming a bit just out of her cleaning-up joy. Now there is also a little neighbor boy who plays under her window. Once while the process of scrubbing was going on above the little fellow looked up at the window with a face all puckered and serious, as if some question had been troubling him for quite a while.

"Well, Tommy, what's the matter?" inquired the housekeeper.

A long pause—then, "Please, ma'am is you singing?"—Exchange.

Self-Starting Engine.

Automatic starting of an engine surprised the driver and fireman of a train at Beauvais, in France. The two men in charge were standing by their detached steam engine, when it suddenly started off, leaving them at the station. The engine, being short of steam, ran only six miles, to Herchies Junction, where it pulled up and awaited the arrival of its crew.

Grateful Son.

"My boy," said the millionaire lecturing his son on the importance of economy, "when I was your age I carried water for a gang of bricklayers."

"I'm proud of you, father," answered his offspring; "if it hadn't been for your pluck and perseverance I might have had to do something of that sort myself."—Irish World.

Santa Fe, Sept. 18.—Virtually four thousand words from its beginning the Republican Platform commends the "efficient and capable business like administration" of Gov. Mechem.

There hangs the line upon which is hung the present state campaign. Democratic candidates share the view of the cowman, the sheepman, the small home owner—it is time such efficiency ceased and a different type assumed control. Efficiency directed toward building up the state and not a political machine, is New Mexico's need as seen by James F. Hinkle, candidate for governor.

The Roswell banker-stockman, recalling that it recently was necessary for the state's livestock interests to seek a special dispensation from the Republican powers in order to have taxes specially cut to permit that industry to live, is unable to reconcile that situation with "efficient administration."

A similar inability to view seriously the praise for Secretary Fall's "splendid patriotic service" is evident over the state.

New Mexico's memory still holds the splendidly patriotic service the secretary performed for an oil interest eager to have the tea-pot dome.

The Republican platform and the press of the nation are at a variance on the merits of the tariff bill about which the state G. O. P. waxes rhapsodic. What Senator Jones said in condemning the measure is mild to the expressions Republicans and Republican papers are using.

To prove its faith in its own, the Republican Convention resolved that it commends and endorses "the splendid, efficient and patriotic service rendered in the congress of the United States" by Nestor Montoya. Then the convention on its first ballot for a congressional nominee swept Mr. Montoya into the discard with an avalanche of votes for his opponent. There was an administration in New Mexico which brought praise from the people. It was led by Gov. MacDonald, Democrat.

PICTURESQUE FAMILY HISTORY ADDS
INTEREST TO RACE FOR CONGRESS
BY MRS. OTERO-WARREN

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE IS LINEAL DESCENDANT OF TWO OF FAMOUS FAMILIES OF OLD SPAIN. CANDIDACY ATTRACTS NATIONAL ATTENTION AND INTEREST

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 27.—The fact that she is the first New Mexico woman to be nominated for a seat in congress, together with the picturesque history which traces her ancestry back to two of the illustrious families of old Spain, have aroused national interest and attention and brought a deluge of requests to Albuquerque newspaper correspondents for photographs and information about Mrs. Adelina Otero-Warren, the republican candidate for representative.

Mrs. Warren has never been a seeker after publicity and the photograph made for use in her campaign is the first that she has ever given out for publication. This one however, is making up for lost time having been published in the metropolitan newspapers of New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, and in fact in almost every large city from coast to coast.

The big city newspapers find special interest in the fact that on the side of her mother, who was Miss Elosia Luna, sister of the late Soloman Luna, who for nearly half a century was a republican leader in New Mexico, Mrs. Warren's ancestry is traced in unbroken line back to the Aragones nobility of the Aragon of the thirteenth century Don Pedro de Luna, of Illueca, Aragon, having been one of the leading spirits of the European diplomacy of his time, heading the Spanish legations in France, Flanders, Scotland, England and Ireland. Descendants of Don Pedro, Louis and Juan Luna, were captains under Cortes in the latter's conquest of Mexico. In 1559, Don Tristan de Luna y Attellano was appointed Spanish governor of Florida. Don Miguel Vandelmira Luna (1747) was one of Mexico's famous jurists and founder of the house whose descendants came to New Mexico in the early history of the region. Don Domingo de Luna, a first cousin of the Duke of Albuquerque, was the first of the house to settle in New Mexico establishing his home in Los Lunas where the family has since made its home and where Mrs. Warren was born, October 23, 1881.

On the side of her father, Manuel B. Otero, Mrs. Warren's ancestry also traces back in unbroken line to the Spanish aristocracy, finding on the way numerous characters who held positions of prominence in the mother country, in Mexico and New Mexico. Don Antonio Jose Otero was the first judge on the supreme bench of New Mexico. Mariano Otero of Guadalajara was secretary of state and secretary of the interior of Mexico from 1842 to 1848 and was one of the famous orators of his period. There are a dozen other members of the family whose names figure prominently in the history of three nations.

That Mrs. Warren, the descendant of such a double line of ancestry, should gravitate to public life, seems a natural application of the maxim that "blood will tell", altho this thoroughgoing twentieth century woman gives little thought to ancestry. Following her graduation from the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Saint Louis, Mrs. Warren spent her girlhood in New Mexico until her marriage to Lieutenant Warren, U. S. Army, whose death occurred shortly after their marriage. There were no children. Mrs. Warren went to New York in 1912 to become associated with Miss Ann Morgan in the notable Vacation committee work among poor children in the metropolis. She remained in this work until 1914 when the death of her mother recalled her to New Mexico and the care of a home with six young sisters and two brothers, children of her mother's second marriage with A. M. Bergere of Santa Fe. Mrs. Warren has since managed the household although the marriage of her sisters has given her the time to resume her public activities. These have included the campaign for equal suffrage which she led as chairman of the New Mexico federation of women's clubs, chairman of the state board of health which she aided in creating, active membership in various war-time activities including the state council of defense and the Red Cross, and nearly five years as superintendent of the Santa Fe county schools which she has brought from insolvency to a cash surplus of $27,000 and advanced to a high state of efficiency, with two rural high schools and an all-year school nurse. Mrs. Warren is a fluent speaker in both English and Spanish, and is a ready and resourceful debater. She is a student of political science and economy and a wide reader of history.

It is very gratifying to the Health Department because of the splendid cooperation which was given by the people of Artesia in collecting their garbage and waste material for disposal during the past two weeks. If you don't believe some good work has been done go out just northwest of town and see for your self the amount which was hauled away. More than 125 ordinary wagon loads the first week.

However, upon a recent survey of several alleys we find that there still remains more than this amount scattered over certain yards and vacant lots which should be collected in some receptacle so that it might be picked up next week. We have made a good start but we lack a good bit being "Cleaned Up." If everyone would cut the weeds on their lots can you imagine what a difference it would make in the appearance of your town? Some of these things may not be unsanitary but they are unsightly and a nuisance and must be dispensed with if we intend to have a sanitary town. Your meat markets, cafes, soda fountains, dairies, etc., are rigidly and regularly inspected so let's get these things fixed up in our back yards and alleys and do our part at home, thereby saving yourself a visit from the Health Officer.

AN ORDINANCE GOVERNING THE PRODUCTION, HANDLING AND DISPOSAL OF MILK, CREAM AND THE PRODUCTS THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR THE INSPECTION OF COWS, PREMISES, ETC., AND REQUIRING A LICENSE FOR THE SALE OF MILK, CREAM AND THEIR PRODUCTS, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Trustees of the Town of Artesia, New Mexico.

Sec. 1. No person, firm or corporation shall maintain or operate a dairy or milk depot, as hereinafter defined, or produce for sale, sell, offer for sale, or have in his or their charge, custody or control for sale or distribution within the town of Artesia, any milk or cream and the products thereof, without first obtaining a license to conduct such business or distribution under penalty as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. The word "dairy" as used in this ordinance shall be held and construed to mean any place from which milk is shipped or in which milk is kept for purposes of sale or distribution as food.

The word "herd" or "dairy herd" shall for purposes of this ordinance, be held and construed to mean one or more cows from which milk is sold or distributed for consumption as food.

Sec. 3. Any person desiring a license pursuant to this ordinance, shall first make a written application therefor to the Health Officer, authorized by the Board of Trustees stating the following facts:

(a) The name and place of residence and business of the applicant.

(b) Whether said applicant is a producer of milk.

(c) The exact location of the dairy and herd which produces the milk.

(d) The number of cows in each dairy herd.

(e) If this applicant is not a producer of milk or if he purchases milk for distribution in addition to the amount produced, the name of each person from whom he obtains or is about to obtain the milk, the location of each dairy, and the number of cows in each herd from which the milk is obtained.

(f) That the applicant will permit the Health Officer or anyone authorized by the Board of Trustees of the Town of Artesia, prior to the issuance of a license, to inspect in accordance with this ordinance, his dairy herd and dairy premises, and that he will permit such inspection at any time thereafter. If the applicant is not a producer of milk, or if he sells or is about to sell milk not produced by his own cows, his application must be accompanied by a written statement from the owner of each dairy or herd where such milk is produced, to the effect that such owner will consent to an inspection by the Health Officer or anyone so authorized prior to the issuance of any license for the sale of milk in the town of Artesia, from such herd or dairy, and that he will permit such inspection to be made at any time thereafter.

Sec. 4. Upon the filing of such application, the Health Officer shall cause the dairy and herd of the applicant, or the person from whom he obtains milk, to be thoroughly inspected. If he finds the dairy or herd to be maintained and operated, and the milk prepared, handled, transported, sold and delivered in the town of Artesia in a clean and sanitary way, and in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance, he shall issue to each applicant a certificate of inspection. No such inspection certificate shall be issued to any applicant until such inspection shall have been made, provided, however, that the said dairy or herd owner shall have a reasonable time to conform to the provisions of this ordinance. Thirty days is to be considered a reasonable time, under the provisions of this section.

Sec. 5. In order to defray the expenses of regulating the production, handling and disposal of milk, cream and the products thereof; and providing for the inspection of cows, dairies, premises, etc., the following fees shall be charged for license for the sale or distribution of milk and cream, in the Town of Artesia, and are hereby established as follows:

Sec. 6. Upon the receipt of the certificate of inspection provided for by Sections 3 and 4 of this ordinance the applicant shall pay to the Clerk of the Town of Artesia the annual fee provided for by Section 5 of this ordinance. The Clerk shall then issue a license to sell and distribute milk and cream in the Town of Artesia.

Sec. 7. Each license issued under the provisions of this ordinance shall be issued upon the condition that each person so granted a license, as well as the person from whom he obtains his milk, shall at all times permit the Health Officer or the Town of Artesia or the dairy and milk inspector thereof or other proper agents authorized by or cooperating with the Board of Trustees to thoroughly inspect in accordance with this ordinance, any dairy or herd from which milk is obtained for sale or consumption within the Town of Artesia. If any person granted a license under this ordinance shall at any time refuse to permit an inspection of his dairy or herd as herein provided for, his license shall be revoked by the Board of Trustees. If any person granted a license shall sell milk in the Town of Artesia from any dairy or herd, the owner of which shall have refused to permit an inspection of his dairy, as herein provided for, the license shall be revoked by the Board of Trustees.

Sec. 8. No person who has in good faith filed a proper application as herein provided shall be prosecuted upon the charge of selling milk in the Town of Artesia without a license, pending action upon such application by the Health Officer, but in all other respects such applicant shall, during such time, and all other times, comply with this ordinance and all the rules and regulations thereof, and it shall be unlawful for such applicant or any person to sell or have for sale in the Town of Artesia, milk produced by tubercular or otherwise diseased cows or any unwholesome milk, or to violate this ordinance in any way.

Sec. 9. The Board of Trustees is hereby authorized to employ one or more competent persons as dairy and milk inspectors, who shall receive such compensation as the Board of Trustees may fix by resolution.

Sec. 10. It shall be the duty of the Health Officer to cooperate with the Board of Trustees, to inspect all dairies or herd owners delivering or selling milk within the Town of Artesia. An initial inspection shall be made upon each application for a permit, as provided for by Section 3 of this ordinance. Additional inspections shall be made when deemed necessary by the Health Officer, which inspection shall be made in accordance with the Dairy Farm Score Card System as adopted by the rules and regulations of the State Bureau of Public Health. The report of such inspection shall be published under the direction of the Health Officer at least once every sixty days. Expansion Depends Upon Earnings

THE telephone system must keep ahead of the needs of its community. That costs money. The expenditures for expansion, however, do not come from earnings, but from new money which is constantly being invested in the securities of the company.

A reasonable dividend must be paid on this investment exactly the same as reasonable wages must be paid to employees. If earnings are too low there will be no dividends and therefore no new investments and no extensions and no important betterments.

Remember that a company which is not prosperous cannot render good service nor extend its system to meet the demands of growing communities.

Santa Fe.—"We have a Hill in the north, a Hill in the south and a big morass in the center of the state. We are going to throw all of the Democratic filth into the morass and kick the Democrats in after it."

The then chairman of the Republican Central Committee is reported to have made the foregoing statement, as his opening announcement to the public in the present campaign.

The Republican leader speaks of Democratic filth. Was it Democratic filth which caused the recent penitentiary killing; the fiasco of military protection at Gallup at heavy expense to the taxpayers; the plugging of the Normal University at Las Vegas into politics with the appointment of a political favorite to its presidency?

Was it Democratic filth which caused the holding of public moneys in a private account; has Democratic filth caused the enormous waste, extravagance and expense of Governmental affairs during Republican administrations?

Let the people of New Mexico answer November 7th, and in the answering let the people remember that the Democratic party has nominated men who are not running on a platform of morals and filth but who are pledged to give the people a business administration, an administration of economy and service.

power to revoke the license of such licensee and shall forthwith file his revocation of said license with the Town Clerk, whose duty it shall be forthwith to mail a copy of such revocation to the said licensee, with a notice that said licensee may within ten days take an appeal from such action of the milk inspector to the Mayor and Board of Trustees.

Should such licensee desire to continue business during the pendency of such appeal, he shall file a bond with good and sufficient sureties to the Town of Artesia in any amount to be fixed by the Mayor conditioned that he will while thus continuing business, not violate any provisions of this ordinance.

(c) Any person who shall sell or offer for sale any milk or cream or milk products within the Town of Artesia which is produced, obtained, handled, carried or treated contrary to the provisions of this ordinance, or which falls below the standards required by this ordinance, shall upon conviction be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $100.00 for the first offense, and by a fine of not less than $50.00 nor more than $200.00 or by imprisonment in the City Jail for a period not exceeding 90 days for subsequent offenses; or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court trying the case, but not more than one offense shall be chargeable within a period of 24 hours.

Sec. 24. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after five days after its passage and publication as required by law.

Passed and approved this 21st day of September, A. D. 1922.

SEEING POWER OF INSECTS

Interesting Data Collected in Connection With Studies in Comparison With the Human Eye.

Very curious data have been collected in regard to the seeing powers of insects. The human eye in perfect condition is able to see objects separately that are only one minute of arc apart. Put two objects, as, for instance, two black circles, on a white ground just one inch apart and then place them at a distance of about 286 1/2 feet. As seen with the naked eye the apparent space between the circles will be a minute of arc. This space is plainly the limit of detail visible to the unassisted human eye.

Now it might be supposed that an insect, having a compound eye, would be able to see more detail than we do; in other words, could separate small objects closer together. As a matter of fact, owing to the small aperture of the lenses composing the facets of the eye, and the spacing between the facets, insects see less detail than we do.

It has been calculated that a dragonfly cannot see separately two objects that are placed less than one degree apart. In other words, to such an insect two silver coins lying on a table three inches apart, and viewed from a distance exceeding 14 1/2 feet, would appear as a single object.

Bees and flies, according to the same investigator, are still more limited in their ability to see the details of objects presented to their eyes. A fly could see the two silver coins above described separately only at a distance not exceeding about seven feet.

It has been remarked as a consequence of this that we can see the details on the antennae of a fly at a distance of two feet or more better than the fly itself can, though they are but the fraction of an inch from its eyes.

CURED MONARCH OF AVARICE

Power of Turning Everything He Touched into Gold Quickly Palled on King Midas.

It was because King Midas helped a drunken companion of Bacchus to sober up that he received the power of turning everything into gold at his touch. Bacchus had offered to grant Midas anything he asked, and the king wished this unpleasant power upon himself, according to Ovid.

Midas enjoyed himself immensely at first, turning twigs, apples, stones and clods of earth into gold. But the trouble began as soon as he sat down to eat. The bread he touched turned to gold and defied his teeth. The wine flowed down his throat as liquid gold.

According to an embellished version of the myth, the crowning misfortune wrought by Midas' curse in blessing's guise was when, in the act of caressing his little daughter, he turned the child into a golden statue.

Bacchus had been aware that the gift was anything but desirable. So, believing Midas cured of avarice, he sent the king to wash away the power in the fountainhead of the River Pactolus. As a result of his bath, the sands of that river remain golden to this day.

Peculiar Deep-Sea Fish.

The Aristeus, a deep-sea prawn, has a method of lighting that gives the appearance of a multitude of smoke rings. When excited by the nearness of an enemy, the prawn ejects respiratory water in tiny squirts and into this stream the luciferin is forced from countless glands opening into the stream by fine ducts. As the chemicals combine, puffy clouds of luminescent particles float in the sea. This is the "smoke screen" provided by nature.

The species of luminous fish, called "Photoblephron," has a dimmer system in an inside chamber and burns continuously. When the fish wishes to shut off the light, he causes a black pigmented curtain to slide down over the light cell's opening like an eyelid. The light organ preserves its luminescence even when removed and is used by fishermen of the Islands of Banda, about 800 miles southeast of the Philippines, as bait for night fishing.

The Singer and the Song.

A song is a great adventure. Thousands write it, tens succeed; and when they have succeeded, its fate still lies entirely with the singer. No one ever had it so much in his power to make the worse appear the better cause, or to refrain from so doing. The ancients placed Thamyris and Narada among the gods; the moderns pay their counterparts royalties. But the singer's personality is still incalculable in terms of canonization or of cash. That personality means all that he has been able to crowd into his life; and he may still enlarge it. A good way to do that is to read all the poetry that he does not sing, and to listen to all the music written for some other instrument than the voice.—A. H. Fox Strangways.

It Sometimes Happens.
 When a man won't make love to a pretty girl he is either sick, sleepy or sore.

Most girls are clever prestidigitators: they can make a man's $20 bill disappear the moment the waiter presents the check.

Some men take years to learn that all you can get from a woman is just exactly what she wants to give—and that you must accept that much.—New York Sun.

Our Foreign Relations

STEPHEN B. DAVIS, JR.
 Republican Candidate for United States Senator

Stephen B. Davis, Jr.

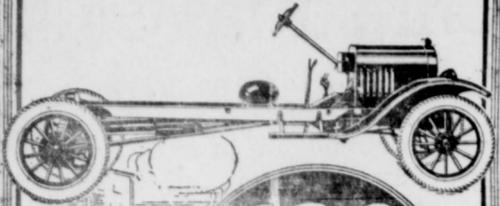

Two years ago the Democratic party told the American people that a League of Nations would solve international dissension and bring peace to the world,

The League is in existence today, but instead of world peace we see the flames of battle and massacre consuming Asia Minor, and Europe likely to be swept by the spreading conflagration.

Now we are told that the League does not function efficiently because the United States is not a member of it, which in plain language means that our men and our money should be sacrificed in the cause of foreign jealousies, hatreds, hopes for revenge and longings for aggrandisement.

Present world conditions have fully justified the farsighted stand of the Republican party which resulted in the overwhelming decision of this nation to keep itself free from foreign entanglements.

You should not retain Republican administration of New Mexico's business. Such practice is condemned by the rulers of the party. It is not business, but it is good politics to overlook improper practices by officials elected by the gang.

W. ROY BREG SPEAKS AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

W. Roy Breg, secretary of the Epworth League of the Presbyterian church, spoke at the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening to a fair sized crowd of young people. His discussion of the activities and aims of the young peoples' societies was very interesting. Preceding the address, Miss Emma LaDue and Mr. R. A. Brewer sang a very appropriate and pleasing duet. The speaker left on Friday morning for Roswell.

G. R. Brainard went to the Ruidoso country in the mountains last Thursday and returned Sunday with Mrs. Brainard who has been spending the summer in their cabin up there.

Mr. Dick Attebery has returned from El Paso, Texas, where he has been visiting his sisters, Misses Alice and Virginia Attebery. While there, he made a short pleasure tour into Juarez.

INDEPENDENT CONVENTION. AT CARLSBAD, MONDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1922

REMEMBER THE DATE AND IF YOU ARE AN INDEPENDENT NOT WILLING TO HAVE YOUR VOTE TIED UP SO THAT IT CAN ACTUALLY BE DELIVERED IN ADVANCE OF THE COMING ELECTION BY THE

CHOSEN FEW. Come and bring your husband. Come and bring your wife. Women voters are especially invited.

SAY Did you know that Mr. Waller only received 749 votes out of a possible total of more than 3,000 in Eddy County?

He was declared nominated by a plurality of Five (not a majority), and his total vote was less than 25 percent of the possible total in this county.

Did you know that Mr. Rickman did not carry a single box in his own District?

Yet he was nominated to represent the people of that district.

He lost his own district by 101 votes under the old committees own count.

Did you know that Mr. Howard did not carry his own district?

Yet his people have him as the nominee of chosen few to represent them.

This convention is purely a county matter and the foregoing are not instances singled out as this page belongs to the Independents until the coming election and the people will be educated with facts no matter where the chips may fall.

If you are an Independent, come to the convention. Others will be courteously treated as visitors.
