The date of the mohair sale of the Pinon-Avis Angora Goat Association, has been definitely set as Wednesday, October 9th, according to an announcement made yesterday. The total fall clip is expected to reach 110,000 pounds. Practically all of the growers have secured a ten per cent increase over the average yield, it is said.

BIG VARIETY WILL BE OFFERED THIS YEAR BY THE COTTON CARNIVAL

There will be variety enough for everybody in the program of this year's cotton carnival to be held in Roswell October 9, 10, 11, and 12. The addition of livestock exhibits will attract more farmers and stockmen than ever before, and communities of southeastern New Mexico are entering heartily into the exhibit plans of the carnival. The domestic arts department has grown to such an extent that it will be necessary to hold it in the armory, which when the carnival first started seven years ago, housed all the exhibits.

The Old Fiddlers' contest to which have been added a number of features this year will be held in the new Junior High school auditorium which seats 1400 people.

The opening parade on Wednesday October 9 will far exceed previous similar events it is said. A number of communities in southeastern New Mexico are participating in this parade and there will be many new features.

The rodeo each afternoon will be on a much larger scale than in previous years. Harold Crosby and Ed Ammonett will manage the rodeo and that alone insures a greater show. Bob Crosby world champion cowboy, has announced definitely that he will be at this rodeo. He is now attending the Pendleton, Oregon round-up.

On three mornings there will be horse races under the direction of Tobe Foster. Some of the best running horses in the southwest are coming for these races in which there will be substantial purses.

Wortham shows one of the largest and cleanest carnival companies on the road to-day will play at the cotton carnival grounds each day with fifteen rides and fifteen shows.

KEISER RIDES A BULL ELK ON THE FIRST BIG GAME HUNT OF SEASON

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyoming.—An almost incredible story comes out of the first big game hunt of the season in the remote Jackson's Hole country south of Yellowstone Park, in which a rider, momentarily dazed after being thrown from Silver Tip, notorious cream bucking gelding, arose and threw himself astride a bull elk, which also objected and threw him.

Herman Keiser, former resident of Artesia, hero of the snowbound party of 23 automobile trucks at the Red Desert on the continental divide last November, where bags of food had to be dropped from a merciful airplane before they finally were dug out of huge walls of snow and rescued, also is the hero of this most unusual incident.

While scouting is the foothills, Keiser sighted a splendid specimen of elk and followed it into a winding gulch for a good shot. While rounding a sharp turn, Keiser's saddle horse, Silver Tip, objected to the rider's urging spurs, bucked and threw Keiser viciously to the ground.

Momentarily stunned, Keiser finally arose in a dazed condition with a first thought on the dozen miles walk back to camp without a horse. Meanwhile the pony released and free continued chasing the elk up the draw. The frightened elk, bent on prolonging his career, was trapped in a blind canyon. He instinctively re-traced and dashed back past the horse.

Keiser, hearing an approaching tread of hoofs, stood behind a huge rock at a narrow entrance prepared to spring at his horse and capture it. Bracing himself just as the objects nose appeared at the edge of the rock, Keiser, powerfully built, made a leap and landed on the back of the supposed horse.

ONE KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED RESULT OF A LOVER'S QUARREL

Johnson Enters A Roswell Home — Shoots Two Girls And Then Attempts To Kill Self—May Be Held On 1st. Degree Charge.

Two girls, Miss Norma Foreman of Roswell, and Miss Minnie Lumpkins of Capitan were shot at Roswell, Saturday night about 10:15 p. m., as result of a lover's quarrel by Will Johnson of Carrizozo, according to reports from Roswell early in the week. Johnson walked into the home of George Foreman at 205 North Pennsylvania and shot and seriously wounded Miss Norma Foreman and Miss Lumpkins. With the chambers of his .32 calibre revolver empty, Johnson hit himself over the head with the gun and then stabbed himself several times in the breast with an ice pick.

All of the wounded were rushed to the St. Mary's hospital where Miss Lumpkins died about 3:00 p. m., Sunday morning. Miss Foreman was shot in the back; the bullet lodged against her spine. Her condition was regarded as critical according to an early report. Miss Lumpkins and Johnson were sweethearts at Capitan. Several weeks ago she entered a business college at Roswell and was visiting in the Foreman home when the shooting occurred. Johnson it was said became demented over the refusal of Miss Lumpkins to marry him and invaded the Foreman home, where he found Miss Lumpkins and Miss Foreman sitting on the sofa in the front room. Johnson opened fire with his revolver, shooting four times, but it was known which girl was shot first. The fifth bullet he reserved for himself, but the gun snapped. Later he beat himself over the head several times with the gun and attempted to commit suicide by stabbing himself in the breast with an ice pick. A letter found beside the wounded man addressed to Mrs. W. T. Lumpkins, mother of the deceased girl, in which he (Johnson) stated that the time had come when he and Miss Lumpkins must part but that they would end it together, explained partly his mental condition.

Reports received later were to the effect that both Johnson and Miss Foreman would recover. Johnson has been conscious for sometime but has never made a statement with reference to the affair. In the event of his recovery, he will be charged with first degree murder, it is said.

NEW PROGRAM TO BE INAUGURATED FOR THE SUPPORT OF CEMETERY

The time of the annual cemetery drive is approaching but the board has planned a different program for this year. No general drive will be made, but all will be given an opportunity to lend assistance in making and keeping our cemetery beautiful and a place worthy to be the last resting place of our loved ones.

To do this requires money and with no funds available to meet the expense of a sexton, water rent and incidentals, calls must be made upon the public. The ladies of the board, who work so faithfully for the cemetery donate their services, but they must have money to carry on the work. The expenses of the cemetery are about $1500 per year. Therefore this year they are asking each lot owner to donate at least $3.00 and all others $1.00 and as much more as they will give. Personal letters will be sent out on October 22nd, and they are confidently looking for a generous response. A committee will also solicit on Main street and booths will be maintained at several places on that day. Let us all get behind this worthy cause and put it over the top.

PRICE OF COTTON IS TOO LOW ON BASIS PRESENT CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Carl Williams federal farm bureau member told the senate agricultural committee Tuesday that on the basis of present conditions of supply and demand cotton should be bringing from one to one and a quarter cents per pound more than it is at present.

This was challenged as being too small by Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, who quoted statistics from the agriculture department which fixed the average price since 1920 at 22 1/2 cents.

"And yet to say," Smith said, that under present conditions of supply and demand, cotton should be bringing only about 18 1/2 cents." Williams questioned the accuracy of the sources of figures Smith gave on world consumption asserting the data was not gathered by the best of equipped agencies, Smith replied they were the best anyone had.

"But what I want to point out," Smith said, "is that here these distressing conditions have come to the cotton grower at a time where the world consumed about a million bales more than we produced."

"And yet you sit here and tell Senator Caraway that after five or six years we might be able to pump a little life into the farmer. The whole thing is absurd on its face."

"Senator Williams replied "we will need ten to twenty billions rather than $500,000,000 if you want to fix a price for cotton far above that which conditions of supply and demand will permit. We couldn't do that except by buying the entire crop."

Senator Smith said that in "less than two weeks," the board could raise the price of cotton "somewhere near its intrinsic value to the farmer" if the board announced that it intended to buy the surplus.

SIXTEEN MILES OF THE HIGHWAY OILED FROM ARTESIA TO LAKEWOOD

Rapid progress has been made on the road oiling operations on the Dexter-Lakewood stretch of the Pecos Valley highway and sixteen miles of the south end of the road is being traveled. Dry weather has been of material assistance to the workmen who are oiling the road between Artesia and Lake Arthur.

Owing to the condition of the highway to Dexter, fast travel is practically impossible in many places and much of the travel has been detouring on the old Roswell road.

BUYING FROM THE OUTSIDE

The regents of the State University at Albuquerque recently let the contract for the erection of a new building for that institution. Without asking for bids or even mentioning the matter to any of the people doing business in this state, they gave the plumbing work to an El Paso house. Now the Albuquerque plumbers are seeking an injunction to prevent the carrying into effect of this contract. They contend that it is wrong in principle to expend public money in this way without making an effort to see where the best prices and services can be had, and that if preference is to be shown it should be to those people who live in this state and help to support its institutions by paying the taxes.

With all of which contentions all fair-minded people will agree. Buying away from home is injurious to the community and is wrong in principle even when done by private individuals; but spending public money with outside business institutions when the same or better service and prices can be had at home is a crime against home institutions. They help to bear the burden of taxation, while the outside institutions pay not one penny for the support of either state, county or city government.

But this is nothing new, nor is the practice limited to Albuquerque nor to the plumbing business. No class has suffered from this kind of unjust discrimination as much as have the printers of this state. A horde of peddlers from printing houses located in various Texas cities and in Denver and Kansas City are traveling up and down throughout New Mexico taking orders from public officials for printing which could and which should be done by printing houses located in the county and owned by men who help to pay the taxes for the support of all the public institutions of the county and state. In most instances, too, these same printers are among those who devote the most time and money for the upbuilding of their home communities, while these outside houses limit all their contributions to the upbuilding of competitive places outside the state. In most cases these orders are given without any thought as to the injustice of the act.

If New Mexico is to prosper as New Mexico should prosper, New Mexico people must learn to patronize New Mexico institutions and the local printing office is a good place to begin. When merchandise is purchased from out of the home town only the profit on this merchandise is lost to the home town, but most of the money paid for printing goes to pay for labor and all that money is kept at home.—Lovington Leader

BUSINESS STRAWS

There are increasing signs of a slight slow-down in industrial production. There are no signs of a serious and prolonged business depression. If the country will distinguish between these two things and not confuse intelligent caution from calamity howling dangers involved in a temporary transition from an exceptionally long period of high prosperity should be mitigated.

In addition to the unhealthy stock market and credit situation these straws are worth watching.

"The index of industrial production which makes allowance for unusual seasonal changes, showed a decline," according to the August summary of the federal reserve board issued recently. "There was a reduction in the output of iron, and steel and copper, and a slight decline in the production of automobiles—as compared with last year (construction) contracts were five per cent lower in August."

Steel ingot production trend is now downward in contrast to the upward trend at this time last year, the Iron Age points out.

General motors deliveries last month were 173,834, compared with 187,463 units in August 1928.

Perhaps these straws don't mean anything. Perhaps they do. Either way, caution is the wise course.

So far as the government is concerned this seems a poor time to pass a higher tariff law, which would cause boycotts of our foreign exports and wipe out that 10 per cent production differential in our present prosperity.—State Tribune.

Artesia is getting to be, in fact has been quite a Saturday night town. Traffic becomes somewhat of a problem in the evening, but so far we have escaped any serious accidents. There are two streets, Third and Roselawn that is a continuous menace to the local pedestrian because of their width. If the town ever adopts a traffic regulation system, we suggest that these streets receive attention first.

Fall weather is usually ideal in the Pecos valley and many look forward to this season with pleasure.

PROPER UTILIZATION OF LAND

One of the most important elements of the farm problem is the proper utilization of land. Here in the Southwest land selection for particular crops is not generally practiced. The cotton farmer plants cotton anywhere and everywhere. Many of them plant cotton on lands that have never produced the cost of seed and labor. He may have another field that by itself would prove profitable, but his average produces a loss.

On nearly every farm there are fields that should be in grass. Side hills should be terraced and made into permanent pastures. Other lands will fit other crops than cotton. By proper land selection each crop would be made to produce its maximum, and with unsuitable land in timber or in pasture, the total acreage in crops would be so reduced that surplus production would be the exception. Better yields per acre would reduce the cost per unit. Our farms would be better balanced. According to the Department of Agriculture, there is a vast acreage in cultivation which does not pay expenses. Out of 505,000,000 acres of so-called improved farm lands, 155,000,000 acres merely serve to increase the total production without adding one cent to the farmer's net income. As a matter of fact, the production of cotton in the south on lands which do not yield cost of seed and labor serves to create a surplus of low-quality staple which reduces the price of all.—Farm and Ranch.

INVITING CAPITAL

How the attitude of legislatures toward capital is reflected in the industrial progress of their respective states is illustrated by some recent occurrences in Louisiana, as discussed in the Arkansas Gazette.

The governor of Louisiana has been active in seeking the passage of laws placing more drastic restrictions and heavier taxation on industries, it is said, with the result that capital seeking investment was inclined to shun the state.

Bankers and others who were trying to locate a $20,000,000 chemical plant at Monroe, La., formally asked the governor to forego his taxation program, pointing out the harm it was doing the state, and the governor agreed. Immediately a large oil company announced its intention to spend $9,000,000 in additions and extensions to its Baton Rouge plant, and other developments are said to be in prospect for the state.

While business and industry should bear their fair share of taxation, their harassment by burdensome legislation often defeats its purpose by "killing the goose that lays the golden egg." Capital avoids states and communities which are unfriendly or openly hostile, and seeks those which invite it through according reasonable treatment and cooperation to enterprises already established.—Clovis Journal.

MONUMENTS OF PRIVATE INITIATIVE

Individual prosperity and attainment must always come before general progress. It is the aggregate results of private initiative and enterprise in many fields that has made our modern industrial age possible.

The great progressive movements in this country have been started and given momentum by individuals—not by government. When the government goes into business, forcing out the private citizen, the result is economic and social paralysis.

We had an instance of political domination during the war when the railroads were taken over by the government. The tremendous losses sustained and the retrogression of standards of service are well remembered by our citizens.

Our telephone, railroad and electric facilities are supreme and give the best service at the lowest rates. They are a living testimonial to the wisdom of public regulation rather than ownership and operation of business by the government.

THE PUBLIC DOMAIN

New Mexico needs not only the surface rights to her public domain, but the mineral rights as well. While state officials and others interested make an effort to follow up the recent proposal of the secretary of the interior's suggestion that the western states be given the surface rights, they should go a step farther and make a fight for the sub-surface rights also. Home people should know their needs better than a national administration located several hundred miles away and certainly they should be able to administer their own affairs better than a governmental agency that knows nothing of our local conditions.

New Mexico, like many other states with less than a third of its area subject to taxation is placed to a distinct disadvantage in maintaining an efficient school system, an efficient county and state government. We do, however, but its rather hard on the tax payer.

BAD MEMORY

Editor Paul Dodge of the Tucumcari News is of the opinion that a man's memory becomes treacherous after forty-five years of age. We'll agree to this with the amendment that some people's memories go bad just a lot earlier, especially with reference to courtesies and favors accorded by friends and neighbors. Some people are prone to forget the bills they have made and after an extended time they work up a hate against the creditor. With others the little courtesies which should cement the ties of friendship a little closer, are oftentimes forgotten.

We believe the man with a capacity to make friends also possesses a good memory; not only in the matter of fixing a mental picture of the folks he meets in his own mind, but in remembering the courtesies and the thoughtfulness shown him.

IT'S HIS TURN TO LAUGH

The life insurance salesman is the butt for a good many jibes and jokes. Some of them he deserves, most of them he does not; but anyhow, it occurs to us that it is the life insurance salesman's turn to laugh now.

A survey just made by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents shows that life insurance in force in the United States passed beyond the $10,000,000,000 mark this summer, with policy holder numbers more than 65,000,000. The amount of insurance now in force is practically double what it was six years ago.

Those figures are impressive. They speak volumes about the prosperity and thrift of the average American—but they also speak volumes about the sales ability of the average life insurance salesman.—Amarillo News.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Never discuss a child's eating habits with others in his presence.

When making apple jelly flavor a few glasses with mint and add vegetable green coloring. This will be appetizing to serve with lamb.

Take it for granted that your child will eat happily everything served to him, and be sure that he becomes acquainted with a variety of foods.

In roasting tender cuts of meat do not add water and do not cover. Sear the outside of the roast first at a high temperature, then reduce the heat and continue cooking more slowly. A thermometer in the meat will remove some of the guesswork as to when it is done.

Try baking sweet potatoes and apples together. First boil the sweet potatoes in their skins. Peel and slice. Arrange in a baking dish with alternate layers of sliced apple. Then sprinkle each layer with brown sugar and dots of butter. Put about half a cup of water in the bottom of the baking dish. Finish the dish with a layer of sweet potatoes, over which brown sugar and buttered crumbs should be spread. Bake until the apples are done and the top is brown.

Grape juice can be used for a fruit gelatin, either pure or diluted to taste. To make a quart of gelatin, soak one envelope of gelatin in half a cup of cold juice for a few minutes. Put one cupful of juice on the fire with half a cup of sugar and when boiling dissolve the softened gelatin in it. Add the rest of the quart of grape juice, one tablespoon of lemon juice, and strain into a mold. Serve with plain or whipped cream when set.

Almost any combination may be used for fruit cup or fruit salad, but there should be included if possible something pleasantly acid, such as orange or grapefruit, or tart sliced apple. Some of the best fruits to include in such a mixture are pineapple or peaches, fresh or canned, canteloupe, cherries, fresh or canned, apricots, dates, prunes, figs, and grapes with seeds removed. A few nut meats are an agreeable addition, and also berries in season. The fruit should be cut in small, attractive pieces, and they should not be stirred about or they will look mushy and shapeless. Fruits for salad are not sweetened, those for fruit cup generally need a little sugar sprinkled over them shortly before serving time.

How to Raise Poultry

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V. S.
St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1922. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and popular lecturer.

Johnny, in his bath, with all of soap and soul full of fun, undoubtedly has no use for the doctrine that cleanliness is next to Godliness. To him a pain in the neck—a development of grown-ups to keep from his rightful occupation. Left to himself, he will most likely have as little as possible with that particular kind of soap.

Grown-ups recognize the delicacy of personal cleanliness and common sense sanitation in their own places of business. It is comfortable to be clean after one has reached maturity and too resistant to suffer the expensive result from unsanitary surroundings. When it comes to their own homes, however, that is quite different. It is not as easy to keep things sanitary as it is to let them go to pot, but it does keep down disease and THAT PAYS.

Hens that are healthy, robust, strong and free from parasites and disease are better layers, better breeders and are worth more on the market than those that are neglected and compelled to get along as best they can. Maintaining sanitary conditions may mean work, but it is neither difficult nor as trying as fighting disease and it is infinitely more profitable.

SANTA FE.—Mark L. Requa, chairman of the Colorado Springs oil conservation conference of several months ago was in Santa Fe Monday and had a conference with Francis G. Wilson of Santa Fe and other oil men.

Mr. Requa left Santa Fe Monday night without making his destination known. After the conference, Mr. Requa was quoted as saying that there was nothing to make public.

CROPS ARE UNDER TEN YEAR AVERAGE SAYS OCTOBER 1ST REPORT

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The department of agriculture in its October 1 report on the agricultural situation Monday said the total yield of crops this year probably will run about six per cent below the ten year average because of severe drought during most of the summer.

Although September rains finally broke the long dry spell the situation in the Pacific northwest, the department said, is still serious and ranches have had difficulty preparing their land for winter wheat.

Effects of the dry season, the report added, are evident among the vegetable crops also. The potato crop is estimated at about 350,000,000 bushels which is one of the smallest crops in ten years. Total car

MANN-HENSON

On Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mann, on Roselawn avenue occurred the marriage of their second daughter, Miss Helen to Mr. Ralph M. Henson.

The attractive Mann residence was artistically decorated for the occasion with beautiful dahlias and other fall flowers, mostly in pastel shades. Suspended from the arch between the hall and the living room was an ivy vine with cosmos giving a charming effect as a setting for the nuptial ceremony.

As the hour of seven-thirty approached Miss Catherine Clarke at the piano playing the opening notes of the "Sweetest Story Ever Told," and Mrs. Fred Cole, elder sister of the bride rendered that beautiful vocal selection, following it with "O Promise Me." Mrs. Theodore Russell, of Daigan, Texas, aunt of the bride taking her place at the piano, began the Lohengrin wedding march.

The officiating minister, the Rev. Arthur Boyd, of Plainview, Texas, uncle of the bride, came from the hall and took his station beneath the arch. He was followed by the groom with the best man, Mr. Fred Cole. Then appeared from the dining room the flower girl, Lela Bess, small sister of the bride in a dainty pastel green flat crepe dress, strewn with flowers in the path of the bride made by white streamers held by the two ushers, Mrs. Carl Joiner and Mrs. Stanley Blocker, one in rose the other in pastel blue taffeta gowns. Then came the little ring bearer, Janice, tiny sister of the bride, sweet and dainty in an orchid flat crepe dress. Following her was the maid of honor, Miss LaRue Mann, sister of the bride, gowned in pastel blue taffeta and carrying a boquet of pink roses and last the bride on the arm of her father, who gave her away.

The bride was charming in a beautiful oyster-white satin gown with a wide border of real lace embroidered in seed pearls with tiny velvet flowers. She wore ivory satin slippers, and a lovely headdress of orange blossoms from which was suspended a filmy tulle veil, and carried a shower bouquet of cream roses and baby breath and ferns.

During the impressive ring ceremony Mrs. Russell softly rendered McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," and followed it with the Mendelssohn wedding march. Miss Clarke taking her place at the piano played softly during the reception and while punch and wedding cake was served to the company in the dining room. Mesdames J. H. Jackson and Mrs. E. T. Jernigan presided at the punch bowl and the Misses Ruth Bigler and Lola Gray, charming in lovely evening gowns, as were also the musicians, assisted in the serving.

Following the reception the bride changed to her going away gown a beautiful royal purple transparent velvet ensemble suit with metallic blouse with hat and accessories to match and the happy couple left immediately for a honeymoon trip to Denver, Colorado and Laramie, Wyoming.

There were some sixty guests present, who inscribed their names in the bride's memory book. Those from out of town were Dr. and Mrs. Fred Westfall of Carlsbad and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Simon of Maljamar and Miss Ella Brown from Hope.

The young couple received many handsome gifts for the new home which they will establish on their return about the fifteenth of the month.

The bride, who has lived all of her life in Artesia, is a graduate of our high school and of the music department of the Simmons College at Abilene, Texas. She was instructor of piano at Wayland College, at Plainview, Texas last year. The groom has lived here a number of years and has a good position in the office of the Illinois Pipe Line Co. A host of friends join in best wishes.

FALL PLEADS HIS OWN CASE; ASKS DISMISSAL OF BRIBERY CHARGES

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Justice William Hitz in the District of Columbia supreme court yesterday took under advisement the plea of Albert B. Fall that the bribery indictment against him should be dismissed on the ground that the case had been closed by Fall's acquittal for conspiracy in connection with the Elk Hills, California, oil leases.

Justice Hitz after hearing argument on the motion of the former interior secretary, noted that the case was set for trial on its merits next Monday, and said he would dispose of the motion on or before that day.

Fall's trial is scheduled to begin next Monday but the former secretary of the interior was arraigned at his own request. He filed four special pleas, contending the indictment should be dismissed as one constituting double jeopardy and violation of his constitutional rights, since he and Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, were previously tried and acquitted on a conspiracy indictment based on the Elk Hills lease, in connection with which he was indicted on the bribery charge.

Doheny, who is charged with having given former interior secretary $100,000 in the celebrated "Little Black Bag," was in court as were Mrs. Fall and the defendant's two daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. Jouett Fall Elliot.

Atlee Pomerene, special government counsel in the oil cases, argued that the conspiracy indictment based on the Elk Hills lease represented a distinct offense from the bribery charge.

Fall's pleas were contained in a printed pamphlet to which he made affidavit. Two of the pleas argued the exact fact involved in the present case had been involved in the case three years ago and that the fact had been fairly submitted to a jury. The other two pleas contended that to retry Fall constitutes violation of his constitutional rights.

275 TONS OF ICE WASTED IN ARTESIA THROUGH FAULTY REFRIGERATION

Artesia poured 275 tons of melted ice down the drain pipes of its refrigerators during the last year without its housewives getting any good of it.

This amazing figure, arrived at by the Leonard Institute of Food Preservation, is the annual ice waste in Artesia due to faulty refrigeration. It is based on a survey of ice melage in Rochester, N. Y., showing a per capita waste of 500 pounds of ice. The American public is literally pouring water into seive, the water being in the form of ice and the seive being the leaky uninsulated refrigerator that does not keep out hot air.

The average family should use about 8,000 pounds of ice a year if the refrigerator is well insulated and the doors fit tightly, according to food specialists. This provides for keeping the ice chamber well filled in winter as well as summer. Although the average family uses only half this amount, the survey at Rochester, a typical American city, showed that an alarming portion of the ice purchased is wasted each year in the average home. For the nation this involves a loss of millions of dollars in ice alone, besides the even greater loss in spoiled foods caused by poor refrigeration.

Purchasers of refrigerators too often consider price alone, say food preservation experts. Like an automobile, the refrigerator should be purchased on performance as well as appearance. The use of modern all-steel refrigerators with approved insulation would go far toward doing away with this heavy loss, they state.

In selecting a refrigerator, one with neither the minimum or maximum ice melage should be chosen, according to the Leonard Institute. The refrigerator that consumes the most ice is, naturally, too costly to keep filled and will not maintain the desired temperature of 50 degrees or less, while the one that consumes the least ice probably has faulty circulation and will not do its job of keeping the food in perfect state of preservation. A reasonable rate of ice melage is essential to keeping food good. The ice should never be covered with a blanket or paper to retard its melting.

SPECIAL OPERATORS TO HANDLE POLYGLOT CALLS

In a cosmopolitan city like Chicago, where so many different languages besides English are spoken, it has been found necessary by the Commonwealth Edison Company to employ among the fifty-two telephone operators for their private branch exchange switchboard girls who speak other languages. Among these operators there are girls who speak seven languages besides English. Two of them speak German, two Polish, one Yiddish, one Norwegian, one Swedish, one French and one Italian. It is said that hardly a day passes by what some of these girls are called upon to make use of their linguistic ability.

Successful 30-telephone communication established recently between Paris and Batavia (Java), a distance of about 6,200 miles.

NEEDED FIVE TRUCKS TO CARRY BOND ISSUE MAIL

When the stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company were notified of the company's offer of $219,000,000 worth of Ten-Year Convertible 4½% Debenture Bonds, it required five trucks, each with a cargo of forty well-stuffed mail bags, to carry the notifications to the New York Post Office, which is one of the biggest single batches of mail the post office had ever received. In order not to swamp the office entirely the bags had to be distributed to several branches. The mail bags contained over 450,000 circular letters addressed to stockholders, of whom all but one per cent reside in the United States.

"Knee-Time"

There's a Land of Used-to-Be Time,
That is radiant and fair,
Where a little boy at knee-time
Piles upon me in my chair.

And my happy arms enfold him,
While his cheeks are pressed to mine—
And upon my knee I hold him
While his eyes with laughter shine!

And as I sit here, a-dreamin',
In that same old chair, tonight,
I can see his face a-beamin',
And his teeth of snowy white.
I can hear his happy chuckles,
Sweetest sound in all the lands!
I can see the dimpled knuckles
Of his little pudgy hands!

I can see his feet a-swingin'
As he bounces on my knee,
And his hands to mine are clingin'
As we drive away in glee!
"Git up there, horse!" I say severely,
While I squeeze his hands and frown;
Then, we drive until we've nearly Reached the place called Sleepy Town.

"Whoa-oa, there, horse!" I now am saying.

For the ride is done at last;
And the Knee-Time years of playing
With a little boy are past.

Oh, the Land of Use-to-Be Time,
Where the children still are small!
Oh, the olden, golden Knee-Time
That is gone beyond recall!

Attorney O. O. Askren of Roswell who is defending Quinn is expected to file either a demurrer to the indictments or a motion to quash them, as the next step in the case. Such action will probably be taken and heard in court within the next two or three weeks.

CHEVROLET CO. GIVES FACTORS TO CUT DOWN CONSUMPTION OF GAS

DETROIT, Michigan.—Millions of dollars could be saved annually by the automobile owning public through a more strict observance of the factors that control the gasoline mileage offered by the average automobile, it was revealed in a survey on fuel economy completed recently by the Chevrolet Motor Co.

A gain of from two to five miles on the gallon of gas could be effected on the average, it was shown, if the motorist paid strict attention to the elements that govern fuel consumption.

The matter of economy has always been a factor of the uppermost importance with Chevrolet in the designing of its cars. Having brought the mileage to the highest point ever offered in a six cylinder car, Chevrolet sought to corral in this survey, the many seemingly unimportant details, which through carelessness or indifference on the part of the driver cut down the mileage that might be obtained through more intelligent handling of the car.

Manufacturers have been doing their utmost to make gains in the direction of greater mileage and now it is felt that with greater cooperation from the driver, motorists may ride millions of miles yearly at no extra fuel cost if the matter of watchfulness can make a sufficiently strong appeal.

Just how this attention to fuel economy brings its reward is illustrated in records of performances coming in to the company's offices, which show that although the Chevrolet six is expected to run approximately 20 miles to the gallon, motorists in various sections of the country are getting 23, 24 and 25 miles through just a little added attention to the matter.

The majority of items to be watched are rather obvious to the average automobile owner, but through an inadequate appreciation of their importance are commonly overlooked. The survey sets down specifically a number of factors, which, if observed, should increase your mileage two to five miles to the gallon. They are:

1. When standing or waiting for the light to change, don't race your motor.
2. When you are to make a stop for more than a minute, turn off your motor.
3. Don't drive at excessive speeds unless the occasion demands. High speed traveling burns more gas.
4. Remember that the faster you drive the more gas you consume. So when you find that you are about out of gas and are heading for a gas station, take it slowly and your chances for negotiating the distance will be greater.
5. When starting watch the choke. Don't drive with the choke out a moment more than necessary.
6. Be sure that your brakes are not dragging. This cuts down your mileage. Get your brakes inspected frequently.
7. Have your valves ground when they need it.
8. See that the idling adjustment on your carburetor is set at the proper point so that the mixture is not too rich. If it is not at the proper point it gives you inefficient idling performance and wastes gas.
9. Don't fill your gas tank full to the cap, some will escape through the vent in the cap.
10. Don't ride the clutch.
11. Watch gas line for leaks at joints. Check it periodically to see that fittings are tight.
12. Be sure that spark is in fully advanced position.
13. Avoid excessive use of brakes in traffic.

Observance of these suggestions, the survey points out, will save money for the motorist and, add considerable mileage to your driving and reduce the number of necessary stops at the gasoline station.

Oak Flooring Proven Best by Hard Test

A young man consulted a friend of his who was in the lumber business about building a home. They went over the plans carefully, and when they had finished the lumberman turned to the young man and said:

"Of course, you will want oak flooring."

The young man had not thought a great deal of the floors—he was too occupied with other details. The "of course, you will want oak flooring" seemed so much like a foregone conclusion the young man wondered why he would "of course" want it.

As an experiment he talked with another man who was well known for his business ability and his sound judgment. During the conversation the older man remarked:

"You have forgotten to specify oak flooring."

There it was again, that taken-for-granted remark.

When the young man built his home his floors were oak, and years later as he looked at their unchanged beauty he knew why if he built again he would want oak flooring, "of course."

That was not an unusual happening. It has been years since the supremacy of oak flooring has been disputed. Oak flooring has grown to be a necessity to the majority of home builders. The permanent beauty and durability of oak flooring, the perfect floor, have made it highly desirable and almost indispensable in the plan of a home.

The reason it has enjoyed popularity, besides those mentioned above, is that it is so easy to keep oak floors in a state of high finish. In the floors lie a great part of the charm of the interior of a home.

Upon entering a room one of the first things that meets the eye and leaves either a favorable or unfavorable impression is the floor. If it is an oak floor that has been given the little, though necessary attention, there will be recognition of its beauty that cannot be described, but is felt by all—a feeling of quality and richness that speaks of refinement and taste.

Floors are not only a part of the house, but they are a part of the furnishings as well. Yet they are subjected to daily service far more severe than any piece of furniture. To withstand this service and still look well they must be considered as to material, methods of laying and finishing, and attention given their upkeep.

Everything connected with obtaining a satisfactory floor merely is a matter of doing the right thing the right way.

In the first place, oak flooring, although a highly finished product, dressed to a satiny surface accurately machined and side and end matched carefully, is not perfectly uniform in quality, as there are many companies manufacturing it, but it is as nearly "right" as it is possible for nationally known and accepted manufacturers to make it. The laying and care of the floor necessarily must pass to other hands.

But other hands are just as capable in acquiring a permanently beautiful floor as the manufacturer is in furnishing the material.

It merely is a matter of following the few but essential rules of laying and caring for the floor that are more or less necessary to any floor. Those rules are obtainable from any lumber dealer and are in a clear, concise form that eliminates worry and study on the part of the home owner. Another aid in the selection of oak flooring is to buy flooring of a well-known and proven brand.

However, whether the home owner studies oak flooring or not, as the years pass on oak floors will teach him a lesson in flooring that will keep him marveling at its lasting beauty.

WISCONSIN TELEPHONE FACILITIES EXTENDED

Telephone facilities were greatly increased in the State of Wisconsin during the year 1928. A new toll cable was opened between Milwaukee and Madison, many toll lines were reconstructed, a new Long Distance cable was built between Lake Geneva and the Wisconsin Illinois State line, additional loading for one of the cables to Chicago was installed, and additional circuits were constructed between cities of the state. There was a net gain of 19,000 Bell telephones in the state during the year, with the result that the Wisconsin Telephone Company was providing service at the beginning of the new year to 340,200 telephones, and the 573 telephone companies or associations whose lines interconnect with the Bell System were providing service to 201,400 telephones, making a total of 540,600 interconnecting telephones in the State.

Tudor Beauty Found in New Style Roofing

For many years comparatively few persons recognized the interesting qualities to be found in Tudor architecture, but recently there has grown in this country a widespread appreciation of the graciousness and charm of this old English style.

When the art and design of one country are transplanted to another certain modifications and changes are likely to take place. The English roof was made of natural stone, and the first thought of the American architect was to use only that material. But American inventiveness is not satisfied to follow along the old lines, when some new product can be developed that will add superior qualities. Consequently there has been produced a new and fascinating roofing, tapered asbestos shingles, made in random widths and graduated thicknesses. In a wide range of rich but subdued colors.

The shingles are composed solely of portland cement, pure asbestos fiber and mineral oxides for coloring. They combine the beauty of a natural product with features achieved only by composition material. Instead of possible deterioration, age improves them. They possess a remarkable insulating value and may be had in various types to suit the type of building on which they are to be used.

Water, Sewer and Gas Cost $25 a Front Foot

The cost of utilities, such as sewer, water and gas mains, the necessary service pipes inside of curb line, cement walks, curbing and paving is about $25 per front foot.

As to the increase in values that these improvements have upon land, this depends greatly upon local conditions.

The usual size subdivision lot, whether urban or suburban, is of little, if not practically of no value, without utilities.

A subdivision lot is increased in value one to two times the cost of utilities—in other words, the cost of all utilities being $25 per foot, a subdivision lot is increased in value up to double that amount, or $50 per front foot, and in some cases it may even be more because with these utilities you have a piece of useful property—and without them a piece of useless property.

HEALTH NEWS

The Eddy county health officer has visited all the schools in the county, except six mountain schools, and vaccinated all children against smallpox. We have our goal set for a hundred per cent successful vaccinations among schools for this school term.

We are starting examinations of school children. All Carlsbad school children have been sent to the dentist for complete dental examination and to the oculist for thorough test of eyes. We hope to get better results from these examinations than from those made by the health officer or nurse at the school building.

Nine cases of malaria have been reported to the health department in September. Seven of which the diagnosis was verified by microscope. Other cases reported prior to September. In two, symptoms were so plain a blood examination was not made. One case was in a boy eleven years old who was born in Carlsbad and has lived here all his life. Another case was in a man that had not been in malaria district for nineteen years. It seems that malaria is likely to be a health problem soon.

We are still having diphtheria, widely scattered, over the county. Two positive cases among adults reported for September. Twenty-five children have had three doses of toxin-antitoxin.

Lalla, Her Son's Sweetheart

By CLEVES RUDYARD

(Copyright.)

THE girl came riding in on a mighty wave that crashed on the beach in a smother of foam. She emerged, gloriously alive, her arms flashing through the water, her orange-colored cap glowing like some bright tropical blossom on her lovely head. The receding wave left her panting on the sands.

Mrs. Mordaunt looked up from her book as the wave broke, and she received a faint shower of spray that brought the salt savor of the sea to her delicate lips. She smiled impersonally at the bit of floatsam left by the wave and would have resumed her reading but the girl's low, thrilling voice held her attention.

"Oh, oh!" she exclaimed. "It is the broken shell, madame, see I have cut myself." She sat down, displaying a small wet foot, with a crimson stain on the sole. "If I had a handkerchief—" she shrugged, and reached for a wisp of sea grass.

"Take this," said Mrs. Mordaunt, graciously, tossing a snowy bit of linen into the lifted hands; "I believe I have another one—here." She drew out another handkerchief and watched the girl deftly bind the little cut, tying the corners of the handkerchief in little upstanding ears. The girl laughed.

"The rabbit ears are droll—thank you so much for your kindness, and the handkerchief—I must return them some day."

"It does not matter. I hope the wound is not painful."

"Very slight, thank you. May I sit here in the sun for awhile; I am rather tired?"

"Do not go until you have rested. Are you stopping at one of the hotels at the point?"

"Yes, the Harraden."

"Did you swim that distance?"

"Yes, but it is nothing—only the surf is strong here—and I fought it. I have to rise above obstacles when I can."

"I have friends stopping at the Harraden Mrs. Mordaunt said at last; 'the Sandersons.'"

"Ah, yes, I have seen them, but I am not acquainted; they are very rich and fashionable, and I am a poor, little mouse."

"They are delightful people—" she hesitated and her fine face colored painfully. "Miss Amy Sanderson is very dear to me—almost as a daughter."

The girl's face seemed to grow smaller as the happy light died out of it. "Miss Sanderson should be very happy," she said with wistful eyes.

"Why?"

"So well-beloved—so welcome as a daughter."

Mrs. Mordaunt laughed kindly. "I am sure you will be as gladly welcomed some day."

"I am afraid not," said the girl slowly. "I am quite a humble person, Mrs. Mordaunt."

"You know who I am?" asked the older woman, startled.

The girl nodded. "I have seen your picture. I am what you would call an actress—I entertain children of the rich—they love me—they love my stories and songs. My people are French—heroes, many of them—honorable—all of them—and I come here, and fall so foolishly in love with a young man."

"What is your name?"

"Lalla Cabot."

"Lalla?" The older woman's face paled and her eyes grew cold. "Do you know my son?"

"Yes, madame, we—we—love."

"Anthony?" her voice shook—she had planned so much for Anthony.

"Yes, madame; do not be distressed; I have told him I could not marry without your consent—I have pride." But, with a winsome smile, "I much desire your consent."

"You came—here—to ask it?"

"No—no—please do not believe it; your son does not know you are near! He would come to you at once—but I was swimming and weary and came here and recognized you."

Mrs. Mordaunt smiled, but her heart was cold towards this girl who had spoiled her plans for Anthony's future. Anthony had written her of some girl, Lalla, but his mother had thought little of it—the girl was fine and open and honest—but no match for Anthony; still Anthony was quite capable of marrying without her consent.

Her face had settled into stern lines and Lalla, seeing it, made for the water.

She would have vanished had not Anthony's mother suddenly missed her and followed.

"Wait!" she called.

The girl turned a weary face. "I go, madame—thank you for your kindness—and allow me to wish you much joy in your son's wife." She gave herself to the embrace of a great wave and went floating away with a white smother of foam streaming out behind like a wedding veil.

Mrs. Mordaunt felt a pang of remorse; she thought of the times she had snatched her son from death; she had watched over all his illnesses from babyhood, and now was she to snatch him away from happiness?

"Come back!" she called. "Lalla, come back to me."

The girl swam around and came near.

"You called, madame?"

"Yes, my dear—tell Anthony to bring you to see me tonight," said Anthony's mother.

The girl waved a joyful hand, and now the foamy wedding veil became a path of airy bubbles that reached all the way from Anthony's mother to Anthony himself.

EARLY FUMBLE COST
 BULL DOGS FRIDAY'S
 CONTEST—SCORE 6 TO 0

Under the boiling rays of a summer sun and in a cloud of dust, disturbed by every play of the game,
 the local high school football team lost the first game of the season to the United States Indian school eleven of Albuquerque by a score of six to nothing.

The Indians kicked off to Artesia and the ball was put in play near the thirty yard line. After one or two plays and within three minutes after the initial whistle of the game,
 an Artesia halfback juggled the ball,
 which was captured by Pretense
 Eagle, fleet Indian end and captain, who raced thirty yards for the only counter of the game. The forward pass attempt for extra point was incomplete.

From this stage of the game, both teams fought desperately and resorted to the aerial attack for gains.
 Both teams made several successful passes for long gains with the margin being in favor of the Indians.
 Under the leadership of Captain Clayton, the locals advanced the ball within a few yards of the goal in the second quarter but could not push it over for a touchdown. The Indians opened up a passing attack in the third and last quarters and advanced the ball within the five yard line on three occasions but were unable to score. An attempt to place kick was blocked by their own men and the locals held them for down on the other two occasions.

Captain Clayton proved the steller performer for the locals especially on the defense. Pollard and Brown were given much credit for their work in the line. Captain Pretense Eagle on end and Levi and Yazza in the backfield were the outstanding performers for the Indians.

GIANT TOADS IMPORTED

Giant toads, three times as big as ordinary American toads, have been imported by Texas farmers to fight the boll weevil.

This species—scientifically known as the surinam toad—outrivals Mark Twain's famous "Jumping Frog of Calaveras County." In spite of its size it is much more active than the ordinary toad.

It boasts of a tongue five inches long. When within reach of a victim, the giant toad's tongue shoots out so fast that it cannot be seen by the human eye. The insect is thus pulled into the toad's mouth and devoured in a fraction of a second.

In this manner the surinam toad covers an area twelve inches in diameter without the necessity of exerting himself into such a prodigious hop as the Calaveras county wonder developed.

These giant toads have hopped their way into the affections of the farmers and ranchers of Texas, and soon may prove the agricultural saints of the nation. The toads already have begun a devastating campaign against the boll weevil, the cane borer, mole cricket, Harlequin bugs and other insects which have cost southeast Texas alone an annual loss of several millions of dollars.

Thirty-three of them were brought to Texas because of their fondness for the very insects that cause such destruction to crops. Now farmers throughout the country are ordering them from the government.

The toads were first brought to Porto Rico eight years ago from the Barbadoes islands. Several millions of them are now doing their work among the Porto Rican crops, devouring bugs and worms at a tremendous saving to the farmers.

According to George William Hunter, noted biologist, no less than 83 species of insects, mostly injurious to crops, enter into the dietary of the giant toads. A toad he writes in his book, "A Civic Biology," has been observed to snap up 123 flies in half an hour. Thus, at a low estimate it could easily destroy 100 insects a day and do immense service to the garden and farm.

CONSERVATION TO BE OBJECTIVE WHEN BIG GAME SEASON OPENS

SANTA FE—The greatest effort in the history of the state game department to control hunting will be made during the big game season, which opens November 10 for 10 days.

It was decided at a conference of the six permanently employed deputies with State Game Warden E. L.
 Perry Saturday to put on a force of more than 40 temporary deputies to patrol the big game hunting grounds this year. There were 30 last fall.

Game Warden Perry expects an unprecedented influx of hunters.
 Deer are coming back to the foothills in all parts of the state, the deputies reported at the conference.
 Years ago before a conservation program was adopted, they were driven back into the mountains. Now they are so numerous that they have returned to the foothills in search of forage.

Mr. Perry was in Jemez country Sunday and learned that deer are repopulating the mesas where for many years they have been seen but rarely.

Turkeys are plentiful also.
 At the checking points for hunters
 the gateway to the big hunting grounds, cards are to be distributed among the nimrods to spread conservation propaganda.

This year the hunters will be asked to report not only their kill, but what game they have seen. An effort is to be made to get a more accurate census of the big game taken during the season.

FAMOUS COLUMN

Last Thursday was a memorable day in Artesia. It was the usual publication day for the Advocate and the birthday of Chester Dexter, who has seen twenty-eight summers. Chester says that he received lots of vegetables as a remembrance of this momentous occasion, including cabbage, onions and tomatoes, some of which came through his office window, however, owing to the state of preservation of the latter vegetable it was of little use to him. We respectfully recommend that the honorable mayor set aside Friday, September 26, 1930, to properly observe Chester's birthday.

Artesia is soon to have a new enterprise, an elevated railway running from the post office to the new hotel. Backers of this move have decided on an elevated railway rather than a surface railway, since they expect Artesia to grow rapidly. Officials of the new concern are: M. W. Evans, conductor, Chester Dexter, porter; Jim Berry, engineer; Perly George, treasurer; W. L. McAtee, train butch.

We always have an anxious feeling when any of our country boys go to the city until they return safely. During the past week our anxiety was justified because when Dave Runyan and J. B. Randolph went up to Roswell to see the monkeys at the circus, they are reported to have lost their coats. They did manage to escape the pick pockets and the city slickers, as J. B. kept the money in his sock.

Abe Conner is authority for this one: Two Irishmen had just arrived in America and espying a persimmon tree nearby decided to refresh themselves. Instead of eating the ripe persimmons on the ground, they ate the green persimmons and proceeded down the road some distance, when Pat remarked: "Mike?"

"What?"

"If yez have anything to say, better say it now, because I'm going to be closed in a few minutes."

A retired colonel advertised for a man servant. An Irishman came after the job.

"What I want," explained the colonel, "is a useful man—one who can cook, drive a motor car, look after a pair of horses, clean boots and windows, feed poultry, milk the cow and a little painting and paper hanging."

"Excuse me, sor," said the applicant, "but what kind of soil have ye here?"

"Soil?" snapped the colonel. "What has that to do with it?"

"Well, I though if it was clay I might make bricks in me sphare toime."

A man in a hospital for the insane sat fishing over a flower bed. A visitor approached, and, wishing to be affable, said, "How many have you caught?"

"You're the ninth," was the reply.

DILLON TO MAKE STATEMENT

SANTA FE.—Governor R. C. Dillon said Tuesday that he will make a statement Saturday regarding the recent report of the grand jury which recommended that Charles Springer, chairman of the state highway commission, and W. C. Davidson, chief highway engineer, be removed from office.

The governor has made no statement since the grand jury report and the indictment of Frank Quinn, equipment engineer was given out nearly two weeks ago. He would give no indication Tuesday of what stand he will take, and merely said that there will be a statement for publication Saturday afternoon.

Mr. W. C. Martin, Editor.
The Artesia Advocate
Artesia, New Mexico
Dear Mr. Martin:

Some one from Topeka, Kansas sent me a clipping of your editorial of September 12th, headed, "Another Need," and I congratulate you on this timely article and sincerely hope that you will endeavor to carry on a fight through your paper on behalf of a work that will do much to save to society thousands of potential criminals through the proper training and education in a place other than a reformatory.

Twelve years ago I started this fight single handed after years of work with delinquent children in juvenile courts and in the neighborhoods and opened at that time a home for such boys. During the past twelve years 2500 boys have come through my home and I am convinced that 98 per cent of them can be saved to society for these boys are not delinquent but pre-delinquent and have in them the possibilities of criminals or good citizens. It all depends on the way society will treat them.

I am taking the liberty of enclosing some literature concerning our home which I hope you will find of interest and if at any time I can be of any assistance to you in your fight to protect erring boys by providing for them the proper training and education outside of reform schools you may be assured of that support.

Respectfully yours,
Father Flanagan's Boys' Home.

Simon Marquez, of Loving, an employee of the Otis Gin and Warehouse company at Loving, was killed Thursday night when he was crushed in a cotton linter press.

The machine is the slowest motion machine in the plant, and just how the accident happened could not be explained. Apparently Marquez either suffered from a heart attack or was somehow rendered unconscious as there would have been sufficient time for him to get out of the way of the press.

THE STATE AUDITION CONTEST TO BE HELD IN LAS CRUCES OCT. 12

LAS CRUCES—The Atwater Kent radio audition contest for New Mexico will be held October 12 at State College. Contestants from six districts will participate in the contest which will be put on the air by the college radio station KOB.

The contest is a step in the selection of the best radio talent among the young musicians of the United States. For several years, the Atwater Kent foundation has sponsored such contests, offering attractive prizes in an effort to discover talented radio entertainers. The contests are open to persons between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five.

The two contest winners, one young man and one young woman, will earn the right to compete in the national district audition, and if winners at the district contest, will be listed among the ten national finalists who will compete at New York City in December.

Winners in the local New Mexico audition who will compete are Mary Ellen Sevens and Theodore Norris of Albuquerque, Mary Nette Reed of Carlsbad, Mrs. Josephine Lucero Finigan of Las Cruces, Alfred Richardson of Carrizson, Mrs. Edmond Lacerre and Fred Pulliam of Las Vegas, Miss Pearl Castnehill and Richard Jenks of Silver City, and Mrs. Louisa Pino and Nicholas Escalada of Santa Fe.

The young men and women will sing over KOB between the hours of seven and nine p. m. Each contestant will sing two numbers and will draw for his place on the program. The winners will be selected by a two-part judging team. Ten judges, selected by Mrs. George Frenger, state chairman, will listen in at State College. Their vote will count forty per cent. A vote of the radio audience will be taken by mail. This vote will count sixty per cent.

The contest at State College will be handled by Dean R. W. Goddard, state manager. The contestants will be housed and entertained by members of the college staff and other friends of the college. Following the contest, there will be a reception for all contestants at the home of Mrs. George Frenger in Las Cruces.

The Atwater Kent foundation is offering this year a total of $25,000 in cash and ten musical scholarships to the audition winners. Each of the ten who sing in the final contest at New York City will be awarded a prize. The scholarships include the payment of all expenses connected with one year's work at one of the best conservatories of music in the United States.

"All young men and women between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five who did not have an opportunity to take part in one of the local contests, should write to me at once," said Mrs. George Frenger, state chairman. "It is possible that permission to enter the state contest at State College may be granted to such singers." Letters to Mrs. Frenger should be addressed to 955 Alameda, Las Cruces, N. M.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE AS AN AID TO ADVANCEMENT

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

The thrift of personal appearance is of more importance than at first may be realized. For instance, we are influenced in our judgment of others by appearance.

If a young man applies for a position, he is at a considerable disadvantage if he is slovenly attired or likewise if he is flashily over-dressed. It is not so much the amount of money that is spent for clothes that counts, as it is the general impression of neatness, cleanliness, self-respect, success, ambition, and recognition of the opinion of others, given thru the medium of one's apparel.

One of the outstanding characteristics of the miser is his slovenly, ill-kept appearance. One of the predominant characteristics of the spendthrift is his tendency toward flashy clothes.

In this day and age no man especially the youthful one with hopes and dreams of great success can afford to neglect his personal appearance. Clothes do not make the man, but a good appearance is part of one's equipment for the battle of life.

Any movements which has for its object merely making people spend more money for clothes is economically unsound, but any educational movement which seeks legitimately to encourage practices in these matters is worthy of praise.

It is good thrift to dress sensibly; money spent to present the individual at his or her best is not wasted.

WILL ROBINSON RESIGNS

Will Robinson, veteran newspaper man of Roswell has resigned from the editorial staff of the Southwestern Dispatch, according to an announcement appearing in the Southwestern Dispatch of Saturday. For several months, Mr. Robinson conducted a daily column in the Dispatch under the caption of "WilRob's Opinions."

Loose-leaf Binders, Special Ruling and Stock Forms.—The Advocate.

Some bulkiness in the dairy ration's grain ration aids digestion. Then heavy feeds such as corn meal are used, a bulky feed like bran should be included to lighten the mixture.

Now is the time to treat livestock for lice, sheep ticks, true ticks, and mange. These pests will be more troublesome when cold weather comes and it will be too late then to dip or spray stock.

A fair outlook for the sheep industry for the next year, due partly to high prices of competing meats and the fact that the 1929 lamb crop is smaller than that of 1928, is indicated in a recent sheep and wool outlook report issued by the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A recent report of the Better Sires—Better Stock Campaign conducted by the bureau of animal industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, shows forty-seven states and more than 17,000 members enrolled in this work. In the eradication of undesirable bulls Kentucky heads the list with three counties free from all grade and scrub bulls.

Many growers of common vetch in the southern and Pacific states have found that early fall seeding of this plant which is less hardy than hairy vetch reduces the damage from winter killing. Some growers make heavy seedings to reduce injury from winter killing, but where the winters are mild the resulting thick stands are detrimental to the yield of seed.

Concentrated buttermilk has been found to be an excellent poultry feed. This product is usually marketed in barrels or kegs, and may be fed either in a diluted form by adding 2 or 3 parts of water to 1 part of buttermilk and giving it as a drink or fed in concentrated form in V-shaped troughs. If fed in concentrated form, allow 3 pounds to 100 laying hens daily.

The urge to seed a new lawn usually comes to people in the spring, but early fall is the time when northern lawn grasses should be sown. Fall sowing enables the grass to stand out before winter arrives and to combat weeds better the following spring. After the soil is thoroughly worked preparatory to sowing, the surface should be firmed with a rake or similar implement, and bone meal applied at the rate of about 20 pounds to 1,000 square feet. The bone meal helps the grass to make enough growth to get through the first winter in good condition. The seed should be sown evenly and covered uniformly but lightly. Light rolling after covering is often beneficial.

Though Bermuda grass is an extremely persistent plant, it may be eradicated when the land is wanted for other purposes by taking advantage of its peculiarities. Bermuda grass will bear almost unlimited heat, drought, or sunshine, but it can not live when shaded. To clear a field of Bermuda grass, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, plow in September and plant oats, rye, barley, or some other winter crop. When the crop is harvested, the ground should be disked or plowed at once and then planted to cowpeas or velvet beans. When the pea or bean crop is removed, there will be little or no Bermuda grass left. This gives two profitable crops during the year and leaves the ground in prime condition for corn or cotton the following season.

SALVAGING SCRAP MATERIAL SAVES MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Huge Magnet Picking Up Scrap Metal at Factory

Recovering Platinum from Waste Material

THE handling of scrap material is today an important part of large scale manufacturing. At the Hawthorne plant of the Western Electric Company the systematic salvaging of what would otherwise be largely waste product is carried on in the most efficient way.

The plant at Hawthorne covers 200 acres, with 95 buildings, having 87 acres of floor space, utilizing raw material in 18,000 shapes and sizes, and manufacturing 150,000 parts. The process of manufacture produces a vast quantity of scrap material and the reclamation and disposal of this, together with a large amount of obsolete and worn-out equipment which comes from the field through the branch distributing houses and the telephone companies, is an important part of the plant activities.

At Hawthorne about 75 people are employed; 40,000 square feet of floor space and $50,000 worth of machinery are devoted to handling scrap material. Some 75,000,000 pounds of scrap are handled in a year's time, the sales value of which approximates $6,000,000. About 25 per cent of the scrap is reused in the plant.

BULLDOGS WILL MEET ROSWELL FRIDAY AT THE BRAINARD PARK

The Bulldogs will enter Friday's fray with strengthened confidence of victory against their ancient foe, Roswell Hi, when they meet the Roswell Coyotes at Brainard park, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 p. m. The locals will endeavor to wipe out the past records of defeats against a stronger and heavier team with a substantial margin in the coming gridiron struggle. The opposing teams appear to be more nearly matched this season than in previous years and this combined with the fact that the Bulldogs look unusually promising should add considerable interest in the coming contest.

A comparison of the opposing teams reveals that the average weight of the Roswell players is 145 pounds, while the Artesia average is 143 pounds. The Roswell line average is 150 pounds as compared with Artesia's average of 150. Both teams lost their initial games. Roswell lost to El Paso 50-0, while Artesia lost to the Albuquerque Indians 6-0. Roswell will bring twenty-three men while Artesia will suit out the same number.

WHAT EDITORS SAY OF TELEPHONE

Consider the telephone man who builds the lines that connect town to town, the line from the central office to your home; who installs the telephone or works on the big cables, splicing together the myriad wires; who keeps the instruments and switchboards in repair and maintains the service. He is an outstanding example of the man who is proud of his job—a true artisan. —Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record.

Telephone company courtesy in panics is treated with courtesy and their employees are trained with that object in view. Politeness is becoming more and more a business asset and nowhere is it more helpful in keeping the wheels of commerce running smoothly than in the telephone service. Officials of the companies state that on the whole the public is polite, too, and the gronchy exceptions stand out conspicuously. —Philadelphia (Pa.) Record.

OIL PRODUCTION IN 1929 INCREASES 11 PER CENT OVER 1928

NEW YORK—Valentine R. Garfias manager of the Foreign Oil Department of Henry L. Doherty & Company estimates that the world's petroleum production this year will approximate 1,647,000,000 barrels, an increase of about 145,000,000 barrels or nearly 11 per cent over 1928. Last year's gain over 1927 was 2½ per cent.

In a survey made public yesterday Mr. Garfias reported that production in the United States this year should reach 1,010,000,000 barrels, or 12 per cent above the total last year. He attributed the increase to deeper drilling in the California fields and to the discovery of new pools in Oklahoma and Texas.

Venezuela will probably show the largest increase in the foreign field with an estimated gain of 29,000,000 barrels, or more than 25 per cent above 1928 production. Mexico, Mr. Garfias believes seems almost certain to fall behind in oil output.

CLEVELAND HAS USED TELEPHONE HALF A CENTURY

Average Number of Calls Daily Increases 10,000 Times in Fifty Years

Back in 1879 when Cleveland's first telephone call was made, service was inaugurated with an original list of only 76 subscribers. In those first years in Cleveland a traffic load of more than 100 telephone calls a day for the entire Cleveland area was regarded as a bit of rushing business, but since then the daily average has been increased nearly 10,000 times, so that at present, on the average, 980,000 local calls are made every day, or more than 100 calls every ten seconds, as compared with 100 calls every day back in 1879 and 1880. In the same period the number of telephones has increased from 76 to a little over 200,000, so that 100 calls every ten seconds means an average of nearly five calls a day for each of the telephone subscribers in Greater Cleveland.

In the early days, of course, Long Distance telephoning was unknown, and it was indeed some years before Cleveland could communicate with many other cities in the state. Today, Cleveland residents can talk to any other Bell telephone or Bell-connected telephone in the United States and, in fact, communication is possible with 80 per cent of all the telephones in the world, and Cleveland's daily average of Long Distance and out-of-town calls is now given as 9,160.

In those early days, Cleveland's first telephone system was handled by eight employees. Now the Cleveland operating force alone includes 2,550 local operators, 295 operators who handle out-of-town calls within the state of Ohio, and 220 other operators who handle service to and from territory outside the state, making a total of 3,065 operators. In the same time the telephone plant of the city has grown from what might be termed today a system no larger than a private branch exchange in a large mercantile establishment to one having enough miles of wire to encircle the earth more than thirty-three times. Approximately 837,000 miles of telephone wire cover the Cleveland area.
