1ST FOOTBALL GAME OF SEASON RESULTS IN A SCORELESS TIE

Artesia opened the football season with a scoreless tie against Lovington, Friday afternoon. The game was somewhat lulling owing to the heat. Both elevens appeared to be about evenly matched, except Artesia probably excelled in the offensive. The Bulldogs made some pretty end runs, including a forty-five yard run by Brown. The visitors were more successful in straight line bucks. A spectacular bid for a touchdown made by Artesia in the last minute of play was cut short by the whistle with the ball on the fifteen yard line of Lovington.

EDDY COUNTY TAX RATE IS 24.985

Taxes in Eddy county for the coming year will be $24.935 state and county per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, it was announced at Santa Fe Saturday by the state tax commission.

The amount to be raised by taxation in the county is $282,902 state and county. The school levy remains unchanged at $12.662 per thousand dollars valuation.

Last year the tax rate was $24.935 per thousand dollars of taxable property, 31.3 than this year. The amount raised last year was $282,045 lower than for this year by $47,143.

The total assessment for last year was $11,311,211. This year the assessed value is $10,505,250, a decreased valuation of $805,961.

There has been a 14 per cent drop in valuation but this is not shown in the total valuation due to the increase to nearly $500,000 of the property of the U. S. Potash Company from the $45,000 of last year, the county treasurer stated.

EDDY TO GET SHARE OF RELIEF FUNDS

Jack Clady, adjutant of the Clarence Kepple post, American Legion has received a letter from Miss Margaret Reeves of Santa Fe, director of the state bureau of child welfare, stating that Eddy county would get her quota of the $240,000 relief funds applied for by the state. So far as known further information has not been received on whether the state has been granted $240,000, but when the funds are received, the money will be apportioned to the various counties.

None of the mohair from this section has been sold for several months. The clip this fall is being stored at Roswell and will be sold through the State Co-operative Wool Growers Association if the demand increases. At present there are about 450,000 pounds in storage in Roswell.

Mr. Harbert struck a rock which broke his back when he was thrown from his horse while hunting coyotes.

MORE THAN 25,000 LAMBS TO BE FED IN VALLEY THIS FALL

Feeders Make Plans To Prepare Large Number Lambs For The January-February Market.—Few Out Easter.

Plans have been made to feed out more than 25,000 lambs in the Pecos valley this year, if the feeders can make proper financial arrangements, according to recent estimates made here. If the present plans are carried out approximately 6,000 lambs will be prepared for market in the Hope section, 5,000 to 6,000 will be fed out in the Artesia area, about 5,000 in the Carlsbad sector and the remainder of the feeding operations will be located around Dexter and Roswell. One feeder at Roswell is preparing to feed out from 6,000 to 8,000 lambs four miles south of Roswell, we understand.

Most of the lambs to be fed are April born and will be offered on the market in January and February. A few of the growers are preparing wheat and oat pasturage. Feeding of lambs for the Easter market has also proved to be quite profitable in the past and will likely be tried again this year, although not on as extensive scale as heretofore.

WORLD IN THROES OF NEW REVOLUTION SAYS A. O. BOWDEN

Dr. A. O. Bowden, president of the Normal University and district governor of the 42nd district, Rotary International, made his official visit with the Artesia Rotary club Tuesday.

Dr. Bowden gave an interesting address on "Our Twentieth Century Revolution." Dr. Bowden believes that the world is now in the throes of the greatest revolution in the history of civilization. Prior to the last revolution, which isn't used in the sense of actual warfare, two other world wide changes occurred and the first of these successfully met. These, however, were not as far reaching in consequence because there were not so many people involved.

The first two revolutions in the history of mankind emanated, Dr. Bowden contends, from man's quest for food. We have plenty of foods now, but the seriousness of the whole situation relates to distribution.

The speaker contended that not only this nation, but the world as a whole is shifting into socialism, in the sense of government ownership and control of all fields of human endeavor. Illustrating this thought, Dr. Bowden pointed to the numerous governmental bureaus and commissions existing in the country, which control every field of business and industry.

Dr. Bowden did not criticize conditions nor policies. He merely cited indisputable trends in the thoughts and actions of peoples and policies of governments.

A change in the attitude of people toward leaders was brought out in Dr. Bowden's talk. No public official nowadays, he says, is without his quota of public criticism. Leaders in our government do not command the respect and confidence of the people as they did a generation or so ago.

At no time in the past, he says, have public leaders commanded less respect and confidence from the public.

Dr. Bowden did not attempt to predict the future or the time when conditions changed by the present revolution will settle.

GOOD RAINS FALL OVER NORTH VALLEY — ALMOST INCH HERE

A general rain is falling over the north Pecos valley as we go to press this morning. The first rain this morning did not reach the rural section a few miles south of town, but rain clouds passed to the south and from all information available the moisture has been extended beyond Carlsbad.

The first rain started falling here about 4:00 o'clock this morning and up to 7:30 approximately .20 inches or rain has fallen. The moisture since that hour has brought the total precipitation up to the inch mark.

Today's moisture has seriously interfered with the cotton gathering operations, but will be very beneficial to the range in aiding fall and winter grass.

SULPHUR TEST IS TO BE STARTED SOON ON UPPER COTTONWOOD

Acres is being blocked for another sulphur test on the Cottonwood, it was learned here recently. Plans have been made to put down a test on state land and should the first test uncover commercial sulphur, an extensive exploration campaign will likely be undertaken. The project is to be financed by Albuquerque men according to our information and work will start on the test within the next two or three weeks. Complete details of the new undertaking will not be known for a few days yet.

COMMISSIONERS ASK ESTIMATE OF NEW ROAD SOUTH EDDY

The Eddy county commissioner's court in session at Carlsbad Tuesday, passed a resolution asking the state highway department to send an engineer to Carlsbad to make an estimate of the cost of building six miles of road from the refinery of the United States Potash Company, east of Loving to the junction of the Pecos highway near the Loving oil mill. The commissioners acceded to the wishes of a delegation of Loving people that the road to the potash refinery be routed through Loving rather than east of the river.

It was also announced at Tuesday's meeting that a reduction on the assessment for the county agent's salary from $1,350.00 to $1,000.00 had been granted.

The commissioners also certified to the tax levy received from the state tax commissioners in order that the county assessor might start on the tax rolls.

Central Committee Has Get Together Meeting Here Last Night And Lays Plans For Roosevelt-Garner Clubs.

Members of the Democratic central committee with their guests, about sixty in all gathered at the roof garden of the Artesia hotel last night for a get together and "pep" meeting. Jess Truett, county democratic chairman, presided at the meeting and explained its purpose. An important feature of the national campaign stressed by Mr. Truett was calling a meeting in every precinct in the county to organize a Roosevelt-Garner club. The first precinct meeting has been called next Wednesday and plans have been made to meet every week until the general election. Mr. Truett also called attention to the fact that the Eddy registration list was the largest in history.

Other speakers on last night's program were Carl B. Livingston of Carlsbad, who made a short talk on voting a straight ticket. C. Bert Smith of Artesia discussed the various phases of individual voting and Col. A. T. Woods discussed the financial side of the present campaign and told of economies effected by the present county and state administration.

Caswell Neal of Carlsbad, who was recently appointed as attorney to assist in purging the registration list called attention to necessity of prompt action if further additions were to be made to the registration list, as the time limit for such additions expires today at 5:00 p. m. Mr. Neal also deplored the tendency on the part of some Anglos to scratch the names of Spanish-American candidates on the ticket.

Mr. Neal in closing made a motion that the assembly endorse Jess Truett, county chairman for the position of state land commissioner. The motion of Mr. Neal was carried unanimously.

Will Robinson of Carlsbad with the Carlsbad Current-Argus made a short talk on the economies of the present state administration, stating that the tax rate had been reduced about twenty-four percent.

The assembly also passed a resolution to forward John N. Garner, democratic vice-presidential nominee a message of sympathy, the occasion being the death of his aged mother.

He is making a special introductory offer, the details of which will be found on page 8.

Morrison Livingston operator of the North First Magnolia station has been transferred to the South Side station and Harry Jernigan formerly with Phillips has taken the North First Magnolia station.

MORE ABOUT COTTON SELLING THRU CO-OPS.

Our article last week on selling cotton thru the cooperatives may have been misinterpreted, so we are making another explanation in order to make our first explanation more clear. Farmers who borrowed money thru the federal crop loan act are free to sell their crops either to individuals or to the cooperatives, provided a previous agreement had not been signed by the borrower to market his crop thru some cooperative. If a farmer had previously signed an agreement with the cooperatives to market his crop thru such organization, then the agreement must be carried out.

SMALL TOWN IS NECESSARY

Two things have come out of the depression that are worth noting. The large centers of population have discovered that they cannot get along without the country. The small communities have discovered that they can make their own life without much worrying concerning large cities. For long it was a habit of big cities to display airs of superiority to the so-called "rural communities." They have pretended to believe that the small town was passing into eclipse, and that people would flock to big cities and make them more and more important and influential. And, also, a lot of "country" people, lured by the glamor of the cities, have left the countryside. They have discovered, many of them too late, that life in the small communities has a thousand advantages not possessed by large centers, and that the mushroom development of big cities has been a bad, not too good thing. Today the small city is taking on a new dignity and individuality. We see everywhere the proof that the small community is realizing its possibilities, forgetting to ape the manners of the more artificial "centers of population," and attending enthusiastically to the duty of building a destiny for itself. As the small community becomes strengthened, and as the farm community becomes more independent, the large city will prosper too. What we need in America is vitality of individual effort, and this is what the small city will give in the next generation as it did in the past. The disillusioned folk who thought that the bright lights were what made life worth while, will be drifting back to the country, eager to capture once again the peace, the sincerity, the integrity, the gladness that abides where neighborly comradeship is possible.—Herald, Slayton, Minnesota.

AFTER SOCIALISM WHAT?

There is a decided tendency toward socialism in practically every country that has given national leaders some concern. Even though we believe our government to be the most democratic in the world, industrial leaders twenty years ago would not have dared to predict that we would have embraced as many socialistic ideas and as much government interference as is existing today. The world is shifting into government regulation, government control and government ownership. This condition is no doubt largely due to world wide financial conditions, but we may be setting a pace that will be difficult to change even with the return of normal times. This condition certainly isn't conducive to a greater individual effort on the part of the citizenship because the responsibility can be too easily shifted on the government and the greater the government activities in business the greater will be the financial burden on the few that is left outside of the government pale. Already the belief exists that if one has a government job, he is on easy street with nothing to worry over. Naturally with this view point, we could not expect much efficiency from the operations of the government and there is grave danger that the conditions in Russia might find a parallel in America, but worst of all the financial burden would be too great on those outside of government employment.

Recently we heard several complaints issued against the farm board and some of the co-ops for dumping on the market after a promise to hold off the market, all of which may be propaganda, but it isn't the first kick registered against the farm board. If we were seeking the office of president we would make a platform of one point: to rid the federal statutes of its most colossal blunder, the federal farm board.

Writing in his column in the Baltimore Sun, Frank Kent, one of the wisest and most dispassionate of Washington newspaper correspondents, says: "The indications are that this (presidential) campaign will not be very enlightening to the thinking voters. . . . The policy on both sides is to attack and ignore, attack and ignore. That is the trouble with politics. Invariably it is an appeal to prejudice, never to reason. . . ."

"The highest opportunity for constructive statesmanship does not lie in the direction of cutting down the profits of the utilities, but in fostering intelligent and progressive administration of their affairs with a view of expanding their fields of service to the utmost."—C. Elmer Brown.

Over in Texas the slate is set to open up the east Texas oil field as soon as the Ferguson regime starts and Governor Bill Murray of Oklahoma threatens to retaliate by opening wide every field in Oklahoma in the event proration is lifted in east Texas.

City affairs in Chicago have been taken entirely out of the hands of responsible citizens and it looks like the federal government will have to intervene especially if Big Bill Thompson is again elected mayor.

The Florida Times-Union says: "Massachusetts is raising a row over a portrait of a governor with his hands in his pockets. Well, that's better than showing him with his hands in the treasury."

The government first taxes the people to build a track for trucks. Then it taxes them some more to save the railroads from truck competition. Ain't life grand?—Flivver Sam.

A good many people thought they saw the corner, which had been hiding prosperity, but recent market developments lead us to believe it might have been a mirage.

Good government comes from good management and this is possible only when the best citizens take an active part in running the governmental affairs.

PICKED UP ON MAIN

The latest degree to be conferred here, which by the way is given by the University of Hard Knocks is H. H. H. H. H., meaning: "Hell How He Hates Himself."

We expect to announce our candidacy for justice of the peace soon on the mugwump platform and will submit ourselves to the dear people by advocating a twelve point program. Running for office now days is like hunting deer, it depends on how many points you get as to how successful you may be.

If it were not for the fact that we are living under prohibition which ought to make us sober, we might conclude that business would be just a little tottery standing on its just legs when good times come again.

Reports say there were 45½ delegates present at the republican convention at Carlsbad, which means that somebody is just half as important as he thinks he is. We've been trying to find out who the half delegate was.

H. Q. Haley is "hopped up" over the report that there is a bumper acorn crop reported on the range this year and says he's going to slip the good word to every Ex-Arkansayer.

Republicans are generally given credit for being good political strategians (get your dictionary Dexter) but they are not or else their numbers are few in north Eddy county. Every delegate named from Artesia had his wife named with him and even the democrats learned long ago that you can't have a good convention with the wife along.

AND HERE'S A GOOD ONE WE'LL PASS ON

You say taxes are too high, But do you vote? About extravagance you sigh, But do you vote?

"How long," you wail, "must we endure This state of things that keeps us poor?" How long? I do not know, I'm sure, But do you vote?

The lights are bad, the streets a mess, But do you vote? Your imagination you express, But do you vote?

You say that bosses rule the show That graft is reaching high and low, And doubtless all you say is son, But do you vote?

You growl at rotten politics, But do you vote? You howl at bosses and their tricks, But do you vote?

You rant, O Decent Citizen We've heard you time, and time again, We want things run by business men, But do you vote?

Unless you do, (I wonder, do you?) You've got just what is coming to you.

JUST DIFFERENT POINTS OF VIEW

A Melton, filling station operator at Mountainair, who was here recently after a truck load of gasoline tells a good one on Texas and California tourists. A car bearing a Texas license stopped at his station not long ago and soon a California car came rolling in.

"I see you are from Texas," said the Californian. "And where are you going?"

"I'm going to California," replied the Texan.

"What are you going to California for?" asked the Californian.

"I'm leaving Texas to get out from under a petticoat rule," he replied.

"Well, that's the reason I'm headed for Texas to live," the Californian said.

TO SURFACE EUNICE ROAD

Frank Butts, chairman of the State Highway Commission, was a Hobbs visitor Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, inspecting the work done on the Eunice cut-off road, and conferring with local people in regard to the future progress of the work.

While here, Mr. Butts pledged the surfacing of the Eunice cut-off, with caliche, with assurances that the work would not be long delayed.

Up to the present time $12,000 has been expended in grading this road, between Hobbs and Eunice. It will require between $15,000 and $20,000 to surface this section of the highway.—Hobbs News.

Use This Laxative made from plants

Theford's BLACK-DRAUGHT is made from plants that grow in the ground, like the garden vegetables you eat at every meal. NATURE has put into these plants an active medicine that stimulates the bowels to act—just as Nature put the materials that sustain your body into the vegetable foods you eat. In Black-Draught you have a natural laxative, free from synthetic drugs. Its use does not make you have to depend on cathartic chemical drugs to get the bowels to act daily. You can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN.

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

WHOOPIING COUGH

Although 1931 was a diphtheria year in New Mexico, more children died from whooping cough than from diphtheria. Of the forty-seven whooping cough deaths thirty-one were of children five years of age. Forty-two of the forty-seven were less than two years old.

These figures tell very plainly an important truth: Whooping cough is a terribly dangerous illness to babies.

Since the most infectious stage in whooping cough is the stage before the whoop appears it is practically impossible to control its spread by quarantine.

There is only one safe rule for mothers when whooping cough is about. That is to keep baby away from all children and especially from those who have any sign of cough or cold.

Some day we shall have a whooping cough vaccine that really does protect children against whooping cough. At present most of the vaccines obtainable are ineffective. A few experts have been able to make a whooping cough vaccine that worked. They find that the protective action develops very quickly being at its height about a week after vaccination.

Seven Reasons For Encouragement

(1) Banking as a whole is more strongly capitalized today than at any time in history, that is, the capital structure represented by capital stock, surplus, undivided profits and reserves is relatively greater to the deposit.

(2) Scarcely a city or county can now be said to be over-banked.

(3) The City Correspondent banks are showing a willingness and have the facilities to distribute needed funds quickly.

(4) Banking and all business will benefit from an era of intensified local financing—and one of the surest means of making this possible is the discontinuing of hoarding by the public and the calling in of investments that take community funds out of this locality.

(5) Bankers have profited by sharp lessons regarding diversification and liquidity of investments.

(6) There will be less irresponsible competition for banking business in the immediate future with consequent increased safety for depositors and stockholders.

(7) Only competent bankers have survived the depression and these are more competent than ever before.

GREEN CHILI MAKES VARIATION IN MENU

Green chile, raw, canned or as a pickle, makes a very desirable addition to the menu, says Miss Veda Strong of the New Mexico State College. The canned chile can be used in combination with a number of other food materials, such as eggs, meats, etc., and the pickle, either sweet or sour, makes a pleasant change from the ordinary pickles, if one likes chile. The following directions for canning chile are taken from extension circular No. 120, entitled "Home Canning."

Canned Chile
Wash chile pods well. Roast on top of the stove or in a hot oven until the skin blisters. Peel, place in a covered pan, with a small amount of water, and steam for 10 minutes. Pack in containers as tightly as possible. Add salt. If not packed tightly, when processed the jars will only be half full. Add water in which chile was steamed to within 1/2 inch of top of jar. Seal and process for 25 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Half pint jars are recommended.

Chile Currido

Select chile and wash thoroughly. Sterilize the jars by putting them in cold water, letting them come to a boil, and boiling for 10 minutes. Pack the chile tightly in the jars, add whole spices, about a teaspoon to a quart jar, add enough strong vinegar to come to the top of the jar. A knife should then be passed around the inside of the jar to take out air bubbles and make sure that the vinegar covers the chile. The jars should then be sealed, using new rubbers. If preferred, the vinegar (if very strong) can be diluted, using one cup of salt water to two cups of vinegar. For salt water, use one table spoon of salt to one cup of water.

Chile Sweet Pickle

Wash the chile well. Roast on top of stove or in a hot oven. When blisters begin to show, wrap in a wet cloth and let steam for five minutes; the pods will then peel easily. Peel, cut around the stem with a sharp knife and remove seeds. To two cups vinegar, add one cup sugar (scant) and whole spices, and bring to a boil. Add chile and let boil five minutes. Pack, boiling hot, in sterilized jars and seal immediately, using new rubbers.

SHORT SUBJECTS

Semi-Precious Stones

Chemically the beryl, and its varieties, is described as a silicate of beryllium and aluminum. It is found in a good many gardens of the globe. Royalston, Mass., and certain parts of North Carolina supply the best aquamarines found in the United States. Some are found also in New Hampshire, California and other states. Older sources are the gem gravels of Ceylon, certain Russian and Siberian localities and Brazil.

Sign of Evil

The "mark of the beast" as it appears in the twentieth verse of the nineteenth chapter of the Revelation of St. John the Divine, refers to following the path of evil as distinguished from following the path of good. Those who take the latter course are said to have the seal of the lamb, in contradistinction to the mark of the beast.

Cross-Word Puzzles

The first genuine cross-word puzzle of the modern type was composed by Arthur Winn, and appeared in a supplement of the New York Sunday World on December 21, 1913. The outbreak of the World war arrested the cross-word puzzle craze temporarily, but it was revived as a feature in the World in 1916.

Long Held in Esteem

TAKES GUESSWORK OUT OF MEAT COOKERY

Here's good news for the housewife!

Recently, much experimental work has been done in meat cookery by the United States Department of Agriculture and by various college home economics departments. One of the greatest benefits gained from all this study is the simplification and standardization of meat cookery. There need be no problem and there need be no guesswork.

Cook According to the Cut

"The whole problem in cooking meat may be expressed in one short sentence—cook according to the cut," says Inez S. Willson, director of home economics of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

All kinds and cuts of meat may be cooked by either of two general methods, according to Miss Willson; the tender cuts by dry heat, the less-tender cuts by moist heat. Recipes are only variations of these few simple methods; some suggest different flavors, different food combinations, but essentially they are examples of one or the other of the general methods.

Cooking by Dry Heat

Broiling, panbroiling, and roasting are the methods of cooking by dry heat. The cuts which may be cooked by dry heat are the tender cuts, those which contain a smaller amount of connective tissue. Since connective tissue is developed by exercise, generally speaking those cuts which lie along the back bone are most tender and the cuts become less tender as they approach the fore and hind shanks and the flank.

Cooking by Moist Heat

Those cuts which are less tender are most successfully cooked by moist heat because moist heat has the effect of softening connective tissues. Therefore the less-tender cuts, since they contain more connective tissue, are made more tender by cooking by moist heat. Braising (browning meat in a little hot fat, then cooking slowly in a small amount of liquid); stewing (cooking small pieces of meat at a simmering temperature); or cooking in a large amount of water are ways of cooking by moist heat. However, meat even though cooked in water should never be boiled, it should be cooked at a simmering temperature in order to have the most tender product. Miss Willson says that the temperature of the water should smile, not laugh—just a little gentle movement under the surface, no violent bubbling.

The Cottonwood Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Rambo last week and witnessed a demonstration on the proper way to prepare school lunches by Miss Veda Strong, state demonstration agent. Three visitors were present, Miss Velma Borschell of Roswell, district home agent, Mrs. Mamie Stroud and Mrs. Paul Terry of Atoka. The next meeting of the club will occur at the home of Mrs. Bradley on Upper Cottonwood.

OLD GUARDS BELIEVE ITS SIMMS-DILLON

Dick Dillon vs. John Simms! That is the gubernatorial forecast by old guard republicans and anti-Seligman democrats at Santa Fe.

Old guarders at Santa Fe believe both Dillon and Simms are already in. They can start their campaign now and let the formalities of the conventions follow their routine course the old guard believes.

With this lineup, the present political alignment would be demolished, regardless of which party won the election. That is what both the old guard and the anti-Seligman forces are working for.

Action of the Seligman leaders in Bernalillo county which handed Mr. Simms Bernalillo county's delegation of 77 "on a silver platter," has aroused the ire of many administration leaders.

While they believe they will control the convention by a wide margin, those 77 votes are a block that any political faction would covet.

GARNER WINS DEATH RACE

DETROIT, Texas—Jno. N. Garner, democratic presidential nominee, Sunday won a race against death threatening his aged mother, Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner.

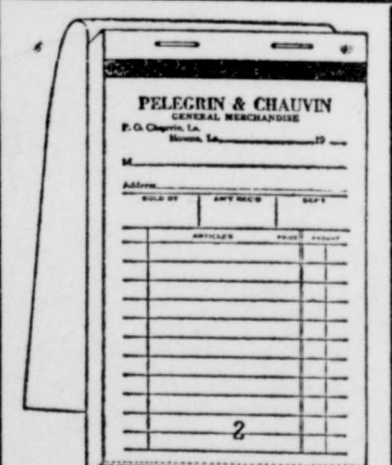

Arriving at Detroit at 4:30 p. m., after a hurried trip from Washington, the speaker of the house of representatives went immediately to the home of his mother who recently became seriously ill after having been in failing health for many months.

In a virtual state of coma, the 81 year old woman apparently did not distinguish her son when first he spoke to her, but about 5:55 p. m. she rallied and faintly acknowledged his greeting.

Bending low over his mother, Garner asked: "Do you know me, ma?"

"Yes," she whispered. Garner drove to Detroit by automobile from Texarkana having journeyed by train from Washington to Texarkana.

FINANCIAL REFORM FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS PROPOSED RECENTLY

SANTA FE—A proposal for education financial reform within the state is made in the current issue of the New Mexico School Review, published by the New Mexico Educational Association, by George Sanchez, director of the division of information and statistics of the state department of education.

Commenting upon the attempts of taxpayers associations and other tax bodies to cut schools expenses in the state, Sanchez said:

"Because of the fact that school funds are derived entirely from property taxation and because approximately 60 cents out of every property tax dollar goes to the support of education, it has been inevitable that educators should be placed in the position of defending the schools from the attack of a few large property owners, made hysterical and palpably short sighted by the press of economic upheaval and to whom curtailment in education means nothing more than saving a few precious dollars and cents. At the same time public taxing officials, catering largely to the dictates of these interested property owners, have been forced to view with a certain amount of unbelief the demands of educators for greater financial consideration of school needs."

A scientific survey of conditions, Sanchez said, shows that "not only are educational costs in New Mexico far below the figure essential to efficient figures, but increasing demands made upon the schools by the public, together with increased enrollment necessitate substantial increases in the amount spent for education in the state; that present sources of school revenue under the present unit-tax system are not only inadequate and uncertain, but present an undue burden upon a limited portion of the state's population."

FRANK E. GILBERT DEAD

Frank E. Gilbert, age 52, a resident of the Cottonwood community died Friday after a brief illness due to ptomaine poison. Mr. Gilbert and family had lived in the Cottonwood community for three years and were well known in that section.

COTTON STOCKS IN U.S. ON THE DECLINE

The 1932-33 cotton season began with a carry-over of American cotton in the United States of 9,585,000 running bales, according to the bureau of census. At the end of July, 1931, total stocks of American cotton in the United States amounted to 6,263,000 bales. Of the 3,322,000 bale increase in the carry-over, stocks in public storage and at compresses accounted for 2,179,000 bales of the increase, stocks 'elsewhere' (which includes cotton for export on ship-board but not cleared; cotton coastwise; cotton in transit to ports, interior towns, and mills; and cotton on farms, etc.) for 1,143,000 bales, and mill stocks for 242,000 bales.

Stocks at mills have been larger a number of years than they were this year but stocks in public storage and 'elsewhere' were the largest on record and the total was the largest on record. The previous record carry-over was in 1921 when the total reached 6,361,000 bales.

The only estimates of the world carry-over which are available at this time are those of the New York and New Orleans Cotton Exchanges. Garside of the New York Exchange has placed the world carry-over at 13,266,000 bales compared with his estimate of 8,919,000 bales a year earlier and 9,674,000 bales in 1921. Hester of the New Orleans Exchange estimated the world carry-over at 12,911,000 bales whereas in 1931 and 1921 he estimated 8,710,000 and 8,699,000 bales respectively as the total carry-over.

With the 1932-33 crop forecast at 11,306,000 bales and a carry-over in the United States of 9,585,000 bales, the Aug. apparent supply of American cotton for domestic consumption and exports during 1932-33 is 20,891,000 bales compared with a final 1931-32 supply of 23,361,000 bales. At this time last year the crop was forecast at 15,584,000 bales so that the apparent supply at that time was 21,847,000 bales.

The two-world carry-over estimates given above and the present estimate of production indicate

LOST 20 LBS. OF FAT IN JUST 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs, until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.—ADV.

a world supply of American cotton for the 1932-33 season of 24,200,000 to 24,600,000 bales. In 1926-27 the world supply was approximately 23,300,000 bales.

During the twelve months ended July 31, 1932, all foreign countries took 8,708,000 running bales compared with 6,760,000 bales in 1930-31, an increase of 1,948,000 bales or 29 per cent. With the exception of 1926-27 the season just closed is the only one since 1913-14 in which total exports exceeded 8,323,000 bales.

SAVE WITH SIX CYLINDERS

—with more than six you sacrifice economy
—with less than six you sacrifice smoothness

IF YOU'RE careful about the way you spend your dollars for a low-priced car, you'll be extra-careful about the way you count cylinders. Because if you count more than six, you're not going to get the lowest all-round motoring cost that is saving so many thousands of dollars for Chevrolet owners every day.

And if you count less than six—you won't be any better off from a dollars-and-cents standpoint. Six is the smallest number of cylinders you can have, and still get Chevrolet's built-in smoothness. And built-in smoothness saves you money. It guards against the insidious workings of excessive vibration. It holds repair bills down to rock-bottom. So—if the car is a Chevrolet Six—you'll SAVE!

ESPECIALLY AFTER 5,000 MILES

What's more important—you'll keep on saving. There's nothing temporary about

Chevrolet economy. It lasts! Especially after 5,000—10,000—15,000 miles, when the cost of operating other low-priced cars goes up, Chevrolet's cost stays down. More economical to start with, Chevrolet is more economical still, after long usage!

Best of all: you can save with six cylinders, and not sacrifice one important advancement. You enjoy Free Wheeling, Syncro-Mesh gear-shifting, roomy Fisher bodies. Considering these facts—do you honestly think it's wise—or economical—to keep that old car any longer?

RESUME OF CHAMBER COMMERCE DOINGS GIVEN AT LUNCHEON

The general interest was good at the monthly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon, despite the small attendance. In the absence of Mark Corbin, president, Fred Brainard, manager of the Chamber of Commerce presided and read a resume of the activities of the organization during the past month.

The Chamber of Commerce with Col. A. T. Woods has been active to secure a branch of the regional farm loan bank in the state, but failing so far to do this they have asked that eastern New Mexico be placed in the Ft. Worth district which has been done. An El Paso banker has been made a member of the board of directors for this agricultural venture and the organization has hopes that a branch bank will either be located in El Paso or the state.

Mr. Brainard also announced that the Red Cross had notified the welfare committee that 750 yards of cloth had been shipped here to be used by the needy and that an additional shipment of 750 yards would be made soon.

There will be no welfare drive made here this year. It is hoped that funds secured from the various agencies will be ample to care for the local needs.

Mr. Brainard read a letter from Miss Reeves state welfare director to Jack Clady of the American Legion, stating that Eddy county would be taken care of out of the funds applied for by the state from the national relief organization.

Proposed highway improvements to the mountains were also discussed. Our readers are no doubt familiar with the subject matter and a mention of this would be a repetition of the articles in last week's Advocate.

Mr. Brainard also announced that despite the experiences of the past year in planting cantaloupes, the farmers were not downhearted and had pledged 200 acres to be planted another year.

W. E. Ragsdale, who has made a study of the various forms of taxation was asked to address the members on his findings. Mr. Ragsdale is convinced that New Mexico must adopt some form of the sales tax system if our homes are to be saved from confiscation. The speaker said he had written a number of officials in other states and from information gathered he was satisfied that the sales tax system would lift the burden from real estate which now pays from 85 to 90 per cent of all state taxes.

LOUIS A. JOHNSON, National Commander

Louis A. Johnson, an attorney of Clarksburg, West Virginia, was elected national commander of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. S. A. Blackburn, of Versailles, Kentucky was unopposed for national president. Five new vice-presidents were elected without opposition. They were: Mrs. Callie B. Heider, of Sheridan, Oregon, western division; Mrs. Charles S. Schall of West Haven, Connecticut, eastern division; Mrs. A. C. Corbin, of Poplar, Montana, northern division; Mrs. Roland B. Howell of Thibodaux, Louisiana, southern division; and Mrs. O. H. Allbee of Marshalltown, Iowa, central division.

The national executive committee of the Auxiliary elected Mrs. Malcolm Douglas of Seattle, Washington, national historian and re-appointed the following national officers: Mrs. Gwendolyn Wiggin MacDowell of Indianapolis, Indiana, national secretary; Mrs. Cecelia Wenz, of Indianapolis, national treasurer and Mrs. J. J. Doyle of Toledo, Ohio, national chaplain. Mrs. Pat Allen, of Portland, Oregon, was named American vice-president of Fidae Auxiliary.
