GAME DEPARTMENT TO OPEN SEASON FOR KILLING DOE SOON

Area 15 Miles Southeast Of Alamogordo Will Be Opened From December 1st To 15th—Must Have Permits.

The State Game Department announces that a special season on does and antlerless deer on a restricted area 15 miles southeast of Alamogordo has been authorized by the State Game Commission to relieve a congested, overstocked condition there.

The season will be from December 1 to December 15 and applications for permits will be received at the office of the State Game Department up to November 22. Permits will be issued to the first seven hundred persons filing applications. If seven hundred applications are not received by November 22, permits will be issued thereafter until that number is reached. Only seven hundred permits will be issued, and these to holders of regular 1932 hunting licenses only. The permittees will be authorized to enter the area in three separate groups for a period of 5 days each. The date each permittee may hunt will be specified upon the permit. Where parties are going together the applications should so specify. The first group will enter the area on December 1 and check out not later than December 5. The second group may enter on December 6 and check out not later than December 10. The third group may check in on December 10 and must check out not later than December 15.

Hunters will be required to check in to the west side at Alamogordo, to the north side at the Woods' ranch and to the south side to the forks of the road to Shelton's ranch.

No charges for the permit will be made, but applicant must hold a regular 1932 hunting license. Only persons actually intending to go there to hunt should apply, and it will be expected that everyone to whom a permit is issued will go and get a deer.

COUNTY ELECTION IS SPIRITED IN NORTH END--DEMOS WIN

The election over Eddy county was a spirited one Tuesday with a heavy vote polled in practically all boxes. Unofficial figures indicate that the total vote this year will exceed the 1930 vote by slightly over 1,500. The democratic ticket led in all boxes of the county, but the majority was more decisive in the southern portion of the county. Parties lines were largely disregarded in the north end of the county and at Artesia, where only a small number of straight ballots were cast. Three Artesia candidates, Floore and Ragsdale, candidates on the citizens ticket and Pearl Morris candidate on the republican ticket were able to carry the Artesia box over their democratic opponents. The governor's race was also spirited here with a majority of 176 for Governor a majority Lucile Johnson, Seligman. Miss Lucile Johnson, Seligman candidate for county republican candidate for county clerk also furnished plenty of competition for her democratic opponent, Mrs. Ruth Nye in the north part of the county and led the republican ticket in the south end.

WINTER RANGE BEST IN SEVERAL YEARS AS RESULT OF RAINS

Range conditions over this section are described as excellent by stockmen. Plenty of stock water is available in all parts of the country where livestock are dependent on upland water reservoirs. The late fall and warm weather have made lots of grass and green vegetation. Both cattle and sheep have thrived as result. Little winter feeding will be necessary in many places.

DIXON BOUND OVER TO JURY IN CUTTING SCRAPE SATURDAY

H. L. Dixon, is being held in the city jail on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The charge grew out of a cutting affray in the Cottonwood community Saturday night at the home of Bryan Whitley. At a preliminary hearing Monday before Justice W. H. Ballard, it was alleged that Dixon was intoxicated and was disturbing the peace and when Whitley called Dixon down a fight was started in which Dixon drew a knife and cut Whitley on the arm. Dixon was bound over to the action of the Eddy county grand jury and at the last account had not been able to make bond. The charge against Roy Hollis which also grew out of the cutting affray was dismissed.

LIVESTOCK LOANS TO BE READY SOON FOR FARMERS-STOCKMEN

Federal loans for stockmen in Chaves county and southeastern New Mexico will be available as soon as inspections can be made and the applications can be approved by the Agricultural Credit Corporation at Wichita, Kansas, B. C. Culp, director of the corporation for the states of New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas announced at Roswell Tuesday.

Mr. Culp returned to his home at Wichita Tuesday after a short visit here completing the local setup for the loans. Mr. Culp announced the appointment of three inspectors in this district, Harry Thorne, B. C. Roney and Frank Strickland.

"Nine inspectors have been appointed in the state of New Mexico, all of whom are making the inspections as fast as possible after the applications for loans have been received," Mr. Culp said. He announced one loan for $25,000 on sheep in this area had been consummated. The name of the borrower, however, was not revealed, this information being against the rulings of the federal government.

Mr. Culp also said a number of federal loans had been completed during the past few days, all to stockmen in this immediate area. Mr. Culp was accompanied to Roswell by his brother, C. S. Culp, of Salt Lake, with whom he is engaged in the sheep industry on a large scale. These loans are made direct from the government to the stockmen. They run for a period of one year on range stock and for the duration of the feeding period on feeders. They bear an interest rate of 7 per cent annually and are most liberal.

A total of $3,000,000 is now available for stockmen in the four states of this district and in the event this money is exhausted before all applications are taken care of, additional loans may be made by rediscounts through the federal reserve bank, Mr. Culp announced.

Democrats Win Nat'l Contest By Landslide

Roosevelt Carries All But Six States — G. O. P. Gets 59 Electoral Votes To 472 For The Democrats.

The press election result tabulation at midnight last night, with 95,531 of 119,714 voting districts in the country complete, gave:

Hoover 13,513,652, Roosevelt 18,872,321.

Roosevelt had taken 472 electoral votes with 59 for the president. None were in doubt. Voting in that tabulation in the six states which Hoover carried was as follows: Connecticut 169 districts complete, Hoover 287,841, Roosevelt 281,360. Delaware, 208 of 226 districts, Hoover 50,062, Roosevelt 43,314. Maine, 609 of 632, Hoover 163,500, Roosevelt 126,055. New Hampshire, 294 complete, Hoover 103,185, Roosevelt 100,621. Pennsylvania, 7,254 of 8,199, Hoover 1,350,564, Roosevelt 1,191,510. Vermont, 248 complete, Hoover 77,665, Roosevelt 54,751.

Michigan went democratic. So did Iowa, birthplace of Herbert Hoover; California, where he lives; Kansas, home of Vice-President Curtis and among others, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Minnesota.

That was only part of a countrywide political upheaval. The result was substantially the same whether one looked at the senate, the house, gubernatorial races or even returns affecting prohibition.

The opposition of anti-prohibition organizations and of devoted followers of Al Smith, combined with the ordinary republican opposition, did not prevent William Gibbs McAdoo from winning easily in California. There were 34 senate seats at issue. The democrats captured 25 of these to give them 56 seats in the 73rd congress. The republicans took five. The others were still doubtful.

On the house side, already democratic, the tale of republican disaster was repeated. The winners have 218 seats there now. They are certain of about 260 after next March 4—and 78 house races are still in doubt.

Ruth Baker Pratt of New York lost to a democrat. Republican floor leader, Snell was re-elected, however, from upstate New York. The tabulations tell another sad republican story in gubernatorial races. There were elections in 34 states. The democrats won 18 of these and on the basis of votes compiled late were leading in eleven others. They displaced eight republicans. Floyd B. Olson, farmer-labor, was elected in Minnesota.

47,000,000 VOTERS REGISTERED IN U. S.

WASHINGTON. — Forty seven million persons have qualified to vote in next Tuesday's general elections, exceeding by four and a half million the record shattering registration of 1928.

A state by state survey by the Associated Press shows exactly 46,967,230 persons eligible to participate in the 1932 presidential balloting. This compares with a national registration of 42,338,254 for the Hoover-Smith contest four years ago and is an increase of 10,166,561 over the actual vote cast in that peak year of ballot marking.

The unprecedented determination of both sexes to take part in next week's ballot march is indicated in virtually every state.

Unofficial figures of the survey showed registration in New Mexico this year has increased to 200,000 from a total of 150,463 in 1928. The state's total vote in the Hoover-Smith election four years ago was 117,807.

While registration had to be estimated in many states because of the lack of an official statistical collection agency, the figures reveal decreases only in six states—Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Pennsylvania, and Texas—and the same estimate as in 1928 for Minnesota and Wyoming. In some of these cases the 1932 estimates may be more conservative than four years ago, but in others the registration actually has dropped off for various reasons.

Excepting Pennsylvania, all states with large electoral votes show higher registrations. Segregation of eligible voters according to parties was not possible in most states, although in Pennsylvania the democratic registration fell off, while the republican figure established a new high. Women registration there accounted for the entire decrease. On the other hand, in President Hoover's home state of California, the republicans gained only 29,000 while the democrats rolled up an increase of 570,000.

All of those entitled to vote will not do so, of course. A study of previous elections reveals a normal stay-at-home vote of 15 per cent. This year the experts differ as to the percentage who will not exercise the voting privilege. Some figure it higher, others lower. If the 15 per cent normal basis is used, the actual vote next week would be close to 40,000,000 or 39,920,425, an increase of more than 3,000,000 over 1928.

However, William Tyler Page, former clerk of the house and an authority on elections, believes the stay-at-homes this year will exceed those of 1928, and the actual vote may be smaller despite the rise in registration.

Ruth Nye's Record Exposed

Of the more important county offices that stands high. No office is so much used by the public officials and the semi-official class, as is the office.

The importance of absolute accuracy in records cannot be too greatly stressed. The county clerk with the public is an exacting man which can be handled only by persons who are permanent, training and experience to satisfactory public in the countless contacts.

Ruth Nye has for two years served Eddy County in that office. She has an office, the system for less troublesome contacts for the public, the business which all citizens at some time or other have with the county through the clerk's office.

Her records are in perfect shape and she has gained in the office doubtless means that she is to do the work than she was two years ago or other line of business.

The re-election of Mrs. Nye means assurance of her fine record, continued economy in the office of the particular office will give best results.—Editorial in Carlsbad Current-Argus.

SPORTSMANSHIP

There is no more time honored phrase of human tradition than that of sportsmanship. A true sportsman is a man of integrity, who can give and take—who can fight against odds and win. It is not the blood which he sheds on a hunting trip that gives him the thrill, but rather the excitement of the chase, and the realization that he is stalking game that is in its native element, equipped with keen ears, sharp eyes, and unerring sense of smell.

A professional guide was telling us this week of a deer slaughter that was provoked by the opening of a game sanctuary which had been a place of refuge for eleven years. The guide in question said that he watched a man walk straight up to a buck and shoot him at a distance of not over ten feet, while the animal looked at him without fear. Each year sees the influx of parlor sofa hunters, who are at the best, mere butchers, and at the worst, hysterical fools, who will shoot at any movement, whether the animal making it has a red cap on his head or horns. The early American Indian, while cruel in some ways was an angel of mercy, compared to some white men of today. The Indian wouldn't wait at a salt lick and shoot deer. Why? It was an advantage which he scorned. He wouldn't kill a rattlesnake. Why? Because the snake was fair enough to warn a man with his rattles before he struck. The New Mexico Indian would go into the mountains and find a squirrel's nest and rob it of pinons. But he would always leave a bushel or more of acorns so the squirrel wouldn't die of starvation. Contrast this with the ruthlessness of some white men.

The purpose of this writing is not to glorify the Indian, but it is to emphasize that in human nature which causes man to kill for the sport of shedding blood. World wide attention has been turned toward France, where in one "high society" resort, 25,000 pigeons are shot each year by men with high powered rifles—in a "sportsmanship" event. The pigeons are placed in a small iron cage, and their winged cropped. Then, when a boy strikes the cage with a stone, the frightened birds fly into the air, where they flutter almost motionless while the riflemen shoot them to the ground. And France calls this sportsmanship. In Mexico, a blindfolded horse is led into the arena and left while a maddened bull goes him to death, as a prelude to the bloody bull fight. And Mexico calls this sportsmanship. In America, game refuges are established and left until the wild animals lose their sense of fear of man. Then, these places are suddenly opened up, and so called hunters slaughter the creatures in an orgy of blood.

And, some people call this sportsmanship.—Hagerman Messenger.

SCANDAL GETS THE HEAD LINES

Another reason why people do not advance faster is because they spend too much time talking about the short comings of their neighbors, rather than trying to assist the neighbor who may need help or who may have erred. Usually we let the bad points of a man outweigh the good points, which is human nature. This point was also illustrated by an Artesia minister Sunday, who gave an illustration the story of seeing a man passing the house on a mercy mission. Were an attempt made to advertise the fact, not over six people in town would know of the good deed by nightfall, but on the other hand let the same man slip around as though he were trying to avoid suspicion on account of being involved in a scandal and the act would spread so rapidly that not over six people would be ignorant of the scandal by nightfall.

Several months ago a number of people read about a man who slaved and saved, a life time to pay his father's debts, amounting to about $50,000. It was a difficult task of course, but the man got no headlines and very little praise for this worthy deed.

NO RED RIOTS

We do not anticipate any red or communist riots the coming winter, such as may be experienced in the population centers. That's one advantage in living in the "great open spaces," so to speak. The bright lights and teeming millions may have an appeal during the more prosperous times, but in financial stress the cities find it difficult to adjust their population because the people and more especially the laborers can not get close to nature.

Here the farmers and ranchers and all other classes of business have managed to reduce expenses to meet or nearly meet a small income. The farmers are realizing slightly more for their cotton this year than last and the market combined with the fact that they have made the cheapest crop in years will enable the farmer with a few exceptions to go through the winter without suffering from lack of food or shelter. The one factor that hurts is the debts made two or three years previous, but creditors generally have exercised more generosity than in the more prosperous times.

PUBLIC EXPENSES

Eddy county taxes have been reduced despite the shrinkage in property valuation, which has helped, but the average tax payer is in about the same condition as the average consumer as expressed by an Artesia resident the other day. She said: "When commodities were high many things I would like to have had were too high to buy. Now these same articles are cheap, but I still haven't the money to buy them."

In speaking of the results of the election Will Rogers assures the public that the loser in the presidential race may be the winner in the long run, if the pressing times continue. Time will probably soften the harsher phases of the campaign. Those we heap abuse upon now may be heroes within fifty years. Rogers further remarks that the American people did not honor Washington and Lincoln until they were sure the two statesmen had died.

Now that the election is over business ought to pick up. Maybe those who have been laying their troubles on the other fellow will take for a little self inventory. Check up on yourself and take a look at your short comings. Most of us will find that it isn't what the other fellow has done to us, but what we have done to ourselves that has really hurt.

Inquiring Into Dumping Charges

In response to numerous complaints from representatives of various industries of dumping of foreign merchandise upon American markets at ruinous prices, F. X. Eble, commissioner of customs, began a sweeping investigation of the charges. The photograph shows Mr. Eble, at right, with two manufacturers, examining some foreign rugs.

PICKED UP ON MAIN

He was standing on the corner paying absolutely no attention to anyone. He shook his head and mumbled to himself: "No, no, no—no, no, no!" He paid no attention to the crowd that gathered but just kept on saying, "No, no, no!"

An officer shook his arm and said: "What's the matter, My friend?"

"Nothing at all," came the reply. "I'm just a 'yes' man taking a day off!"—Safe Worker.

The Scotchman had fallen into the well and, while swimming around in it, called to his wife. She came running to him and asked, "Shall I call the servants from the field, that they may pull you out?"

"What time is it?" he inquired. "Eleven-thirty," said his wife. "Well, never mind," he said, "I'll swim around till dinner time."

Warden: "You are a big expense to the state. It will cost $500 to electrocute you."
Key: "Don't do it. Gif me feefty dollars and I'll do it meself."

The other day we saw nine men standing under one umbrella and none of them got wet—it wasn't raining.

Among the things we have to be thankful for before Thanksgiving is that we can tune in on the radio now without hearing some candidate tell how he proposes to save the country. Not long ago one guy proposed to keep his feet on the ground and his eyes on the stars . . . a mighty good way to get a chin "busted," or a bad fall.

He told her that he was staying at home tonight. He said: "I've made up my mind to stay at home with you, darling."

She answered modernly: "Sorry, old dear but I've made up my face to go out."

The cross-examining lawyer asked the witness a question. "I think—" he began.

"We don't care what you think; we want to know what you know," remarked the lawyer.

"Well, I may as well get off the stand, then," said the witness. "I can't talk without thinking. I'm no lawyer."

Lecturer: "Statistics show that the modern, common sense style for women's dress length has reduced accidents on street cars by fifty per cent."

Voice from rear of hall: "Why not do away with accidents altogether?"

FRED SUTTON IS FOUND GUILTY

Fred Sutton arrested in Carlsbad by Eddy county officers following a gun fight with local officers several months ago, was found guilty last week of bank robbery at Poteau, Oklahoma and was sentenced to 15 years in the Oklahoma state penitentiary it was learned last week.

Sutton was recently arrested in Kansas City on a postoffice robbery charge after he had escaped ail at Poteau while awaiting trial on the bank robbery charge.

Sutton was with Gene Walker and W. H. (Buzz) Tarrant when the three opened fire on deputy sheriffs Sam McCue and Homer Dunagan north of Roswell when the officers attempted to stop them in connection with a robbery at Elida.

Sutton later escaped and was arrested at Carlsbad. He was in jail at Roswell when it was learned he was wanted in Oklahoma on bank robbery charges and was later turned over to Oklahoma authorities to face this charge on which he was convicted and sentenced this week.

TEACHERS CLOSE CONVENTION WITH SESSION IN CAVERNS

Final sessions of the forty-seventh annual convention of the New Mexico Educational association that convened at Roswell Thursday were held Saturday afternoon in the big room of the Carlsbad cavern with President S. P. Nanninga presiding.

The closing session Saturday afternoon was opened with convention singing led by Mrs. Grace Thompson, director of music of the university of New Mexico. There were a number of selections presented by a male quartet from the state university.

The teachers entered the cavern Saturday in two groups, one at 10 o'clock and the other at 11 o'clock, and met in the big room at 12:30 where special facilities for the convention had been arranged.

Closing remarks were made by Dr. S. P. Nanninga and the convention was brought to a close by the singing of "Oh, Fair New Mexico." President Nanninga in officially closing the convention yesterday stood on a bench of rock which Colonel Tom Boles said had been standing in the particular place for more than a million years.

A lecture on the various formations of the cavern by Colonel Boles, superintendent of the southwest's great underground wonderland and Uncle Sam's newest national park, was the outstanding feature of the closing session of the convention.

Twelve-hundred teachers entered the cavern Saturday for the closing session of the convention, all being guests of the National Park service.

SITTING BULL FALLS TO BE IMPROVED

Vance Thomas has made arrangement with the Eddy County authorities for co-operative work for improvements on the highway leading west from Carlsbad to "Sitting Bull" falls. The forest service will supply the equipment and the county will furnish men, according to an announcement made at Alamogordo recently. About eight miles from the main highway to the falls are to be improved. Reports are that there is a constantly increasing number of people desiring to visit these picturesque falls. The forest service plans to institute some improvements at the falls.

the American federation of labor and the committee's chairman, said in a statement, replies to questionnaires to all congressional candidates and holdover members were the basic of the prediction.

Had Done His "Bit"

Stories of absent-mindedness were being related in the smoking room of an Atlantic liner.

"I'm very absent-minded myself," said a hitherto silent man. "I often find names and telephone numbers written in my notebook, but can't remember what persons they represent. Recently I had a general checking up. The name and address of one man baffled me, so I wrote to him asking if he had ever heard of me, and if I was supposed to do something for him.

"He wrote back a cordial letter, saying I had already done it. Wife's first husband."

Girls

Some girls are like angel food cake—a little bit of sweetness puffed to their seeming proportions by the good old principle of the expansion of hot air. With either, if there is the least slip in the making we have no use for the result, but if done to the proper turn we excuse the lack of substance because of the smooth, delectable fluffiness. — Indianapolis News.

Peace Memorial

The Portal of Peace is a massive concrete structure in the form of a gateway. It is located at Blaine, Wash., and was dedicated September 5, 1921, in honor of the peace between the United States and Canada, which had lasted for more than 100 years without a break. The memorial, which cost $40,000, stands 100 yards from the international boundary, where the forty-ninth parallel meets Boundary bay.

Three Species of Bass

It is known that there are at least three species of black bass in America. In addition to the familiar large-mouthed and small-mouthed species, the Kentucky bass was discovered in 1928 by Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, ichthyologist of the University of Michigan. This species is now receiving considerable attention from fish culturists in Ohio, Arkansas and other states.

Tin Enameling

It is contended that tin enameling made its bow in England in the Elizabethan age, an Italian, Jasper Andries, having migrated from Antwerp and started activities in Norwich, to move later, in 1570, to London. Little is known of this project or of other later potteries around Lambeth running in the first days of the Seventeenth century.

Initiative

Initiative is doing what ought to be done, planning to do what you think ought to be done, without waiting around for some one to tell you to do it. Initiative is always about two jumps ahead of the present job, and this is the reason why the man who has it is about two jumps ahead of others in progress.—Grit.

Old Frescoes Discovered

In the work of renovating the "Eulenburg" in Heppenheim, Germany, the former residence of the archbishop of the old Electoral Mainz, frescoes dating from the Thirteenth century were discovered in one room. They are now being restored by experts. A museum is to be established in this room.

Sign of the Times

The emotions, worry, fear, hate and jealousy, affect every cell in the body. Some organs are stimulated; some inhibited; all are disturbed; waste products are increased; foundations of certain characteristics of human diseases are laid.—Dr. George W. Crile, Cleveland Clinic.

Natural Law

Ferrel's law is to the effect that if a body moves in any direction on the earth's surface, there is a deflecting force arising from the earth's rotation, which reflects it to the right in the northern hemisphere and to the left in the southern hemisphere.

The money will be distributed according to the amount of national forest area in each of the twenty counties and will be used by those counties of school and road purposes.

Relieved By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Baranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous. I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor. My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health. I took seven bottles in all." Cardui is sold at all drug stores.

POLITICAL SIDELIGHTS

There were several mad republicans yesterday morning. They claim they were not in on the election Tuesday.

Dick Clowe admits that he thought up until Tuesday night that November 8th was the general election, but after listening to a few of the national returns, he concluded nobody voted except the democrats.

A voter raised "hubb" with the election officials, because he claimed he never had the opportunity to vote for either Hoover or Roosevelt, because their names were left off his ballot.

A Mexican lady said she put in one for Pearl Morris, but said she never had a chance to vote for Roosevelt.

A radio listener Tuesday night heard a partial Mississippi return giving Roosevelt 2,600 and Hoover 2 and remarked that the two for Hoover must be post masters.

A republican said yesterday morning that in two years from now the people of the nation would look back on 1932 as a year of prosperity compared with conditions at that time.

The republicans claim the drop in cotton was due to the election of Roosevelt, but the democrats say it was due to the crop reporting board playing politics. They say the cotton crop ought to have been estimated at 12,000,000 bales all the time.

Sundial in Existence

Before Time of Christ A sundial in the garden, and an open fireplace in the house, are luxuries which have descended to us from distant generations, and, of the two, probably the sundial is the most ancient.

In Biblical days, Aahaz, king of Judah, had a sundial. It is mentioned in the twentieth chapter of II Kings; and again in the thirty-eighth chapter of Isaiah: "Behold, I will bring again the shadow of the degrees, which is gone down in the sundial of Aahaz, ten degrees backward."

This was about 700 years before Christ, and there is no record of how it was constructed. The first of which there is certain knowledge, was made about 400 years afterwards, by the Chaldean astronomer Berossus; and his principle appears to have been followed by Arabian astronomers as late as A. D. 900.

Berossus' instrument consisted of a hollow hemisphere, placed with the flat side upwards, and the rim in a perfectly horizontal position. A bead or globe was fixed in the center, and the line of shadow defined by the sun on the inside of the hemisphere was divided into 12 equal parts, and called "temporary hours."

AN ARMY

Of Salesmen Who Take Little Time

When a salesman calls upon you, your subconscious question is, "How much time will he take?"

Yet every day an army of salesmen comes marching into your living room. They take your time only when you can spare it. They present their products to you briefly and politely, without a single interruption during your moments of consideration. They retire at your wish, or tell you more if you desire.

Are you learning all you can from these salesmen—the advertisements in your home paper! They come from the market places of the world. They bring the latest facts about the things you want and need, suggest other things you might want or need. They can make life more pleasant, efficient and economical. But you—and you alone—are the judge!

Can you afford to deny an audience to THESE salesmen? They do more than try to sell you something. They bring you the news of what your neighbors and your countrymen are doing in the world of business

Advertisements do not ring doorbells—but they receive cordial reception from intelligent, discriminating people everywhere. Again and again they point out the only true bargains—sound merchandise at fair prices. When you read the advertisements you are helping yourself to better things!

BAKING CIRCULAR IS NOW AVAILABLE

Practical helps for successful baking in the home may be obtained from a new Extension circular on home baking prepared by Grace B. Long, State Home Agent, of the Extension Service of the New Mexico State College.

The art of home baking is one that requires considerable information and is only obtained through practical experience in applying such information, says Miss Long, but the art of baking can be mastered if directions are carefully followed and care is taken with all processes in the preparation and baking. Due to difference in the atmosphere many cakes baked by common recipes used in lower altitudes of other states are not successful in the various altitudes of New Mexico.

The recipes and instructions given in Extension Circular No. 115 on home baking are practical for different altitudes of New Mexico and also give definite instructions for adapting these recipes to the different altitudes. The circular gives practical recipes for light bread products, quick breads, cakes, cookies and pies of many kinds. The more common troubles with home baking are discussed and remedies for each problem given.

The information which is given in this circular is based on research work conducted by Marjorie W. Peterson at the Fort Collins, Colorado Experiment Station. A special room was constructed where the pressure of the atmosphere could be changed to that of the different altitudes. In this room the recipes were tested in many ways until the most successful ones were found and the principle of adapting the recipes was discovered. The principle changes in recipes for the various altitudes consist in varying the amounts of sugar, fat and soda or baking powder.

Copy of this circular may be secured by writing to the Extension Service, State College, New Mexico.

Brave Youngster

Buddy, age six, could think of nothing he desired more for Christmas than a tool chest. His two uncles, young men, teased him, saying: "You're too little for tools; you'd cut yourself first thing." Santa, however, brought the tools, and after the Christmas dinner, Buddy planned away on a pine board in the midst of the family group. As prophesied, he planed his hand, but said nothing; only slyly kept wiping away the blood. After a bit, grandma said: "Buddy, what in the world is that red on your hand?" Buddy, feigning surprise, said: "That must be some of the cranberry juice from dinner."—Indianapolis News.

MA FERGUSON ELECTED

DALLAS, Texas—An avalanche of ballots in the general election Tuesday returned Texas to her ancient place in the ranks of the national democracy which she had abandoned temporarily four years ago.

In a contest of absorbing state interest, Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, the state's first woman governor, ran well ahead of her republican opponent for the governorship, Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls, George W. Armstrong of Ft. Worth, who left the democratic party to campaign as an independent, trailed far behind.

The Texas election bureau early estimated Mrs. Ferguson, democrat, had defeated Bullington by a majority of from 160,000 to 180,000.

The cattlemen of Lea county are making fall delivery of their calves this week. Already many such deliveries have been made and other shipments will be made during the coming week.

Calves have been contracted on a weight basis, steer calves bringing from 4 1/2 to 5 cents, and heifers selling around 4 cents. Calves are running a little below their usual weight especially with range conditions as favorable as they have been this year, but those ranchmen who contracted their calves early in the season are feeling good over the money they are bringing.

But it is difficult to find buyers at anything like a fair price for calves which are not contracted earlier in the season. It would seem that so far as the cattle market is concerned there has been no indication of any break in the depression. —Lovington Leader.
